WHO HAS LIVED HERE THE LONGEST?

We would like to know who has lived longest in Wood county. Write us a letter, if you are an old resident, and tell us some facts about your early days. We will publish the letters from the oldest residents. We wish to secure as many interesting facts as possible. The publication of one incident will remind other old-timers of other incidents, so let the letters come.

To the person showing the longest continuous residence in the county, absence of less than one year, or service in the army or navy not counted against the pioneer, we will send The Journal free for the remainder of his or her life. To the second oldest pioneer we will send the paper for five years free, and to the third, one year free.

STILL MORE HORSES.

That "horseless age" so often talked about as very near and sure, fades back into the distance when the statistics of farm animals in the United States are given a little consideration. The facts presented by the latest reports of the department of agriculture do not point in that direction. It seems that in 1913 the number of horses in this country increased by about $95,000. Their aggregate value rose more than $13,400,000. Yet in the same year the scarcity and high cost of food for live stock made it more burdensome than usual to keep horses and the number of automobiles used by farmers was materially larger than ever before. While there was a gain of $95,000 in horses on farms and ranches the number of cattle, including milk cows, increased only 120,000, and there was a loss of 1,783,000 in sheep and $2,450,000 in swine. The effect of the short crops of corn and hay was clearly shown in these figures, but the demand for horses was strong enough to offset all adverse conditions. In any survey of the prospects for draft animals mules ought not to be overlooked. Their number is more than one-fifth as great as that of the horses and their average value is higher by about $14 a head. It is a significant fact, for this reason, that there were 65,000 more mules at the end of last year than at its beginning.

A Cure for Sour Stomach.

Mrs. Wm. M. Thompson, of Battle Creek, Mich., writes: "I have been troubled with indigestion, sour stomach, and bad breath. After taking two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets I am well. These tablets are splendid—none better." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

According to one of the war aviators, they have to fly high in order to be safe. Yes, and then they are not disgustingly safe.

Those who claim that nature never made a mistake should explain the existence of the man who wears a feather in his hat.

After a man has read a page full of contradictory war news it's a relief to turn to the sporting page. The "dope" there can be relied on.

With the war censor working overtime these days, it is pretty hard to live up to the adage that the pen is mightier than the sword.

A Pennsylvania doctor has issued directions for a eugenic kias. There would be no use in explaining it, as it is bound to be a failure, anyway.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
