SOME OBSERVATIONS

Concerning Nothing Very Serious But Worthy of Thought.

Peace at any price would make a bigger hit with the women, if a price were given it, and announcement made that it had been reduced to $2.48.

Mr. Edison says there will be no poverty in a hundred years. There certainly won't be any for us.

Our army is to be increased by 80,000 men, one-tenth of the number Germany has at Verdun alone. What's the use?

You certainly couldn't call a photograph of Justice Hughes a speaking likeness.

Whoever said forewarned is forearmed never heard of an American Congress.

What with a British blockade and a Mexican blockhead, Washington is up against it.

Caruso says he is willing to fight, and he certainly ought to be a wonder at charging.

When a fat girl has a rich father she is not fat. She has a Becoming Embenpoint.

Your friend across the way is nearly ready to electrify you with the news that he has pulled his first mess of radishes.

Beef is said to be selling for $1 a pound in Berlin. At this news American packers will weep copiously because they are not on the ground in Berlin.

People in England are to get up an hour earlier. They should have got up about twenty years earlier for their present peace of mind.

The worst examples a small boy encounters are in his arithmetic.

Every day of the Mexican peril helps to show up the anti-preparedness outfit.

Just a degree or two lower and we'd had to start the furnace again.

Pacifists who want unpreparedness at any price seem to imagine that our next war will be a flivver.

As a feature of naval equipment the "dreadnaught" is no longer accorded the deference that its impressive title suggests.

That Dublin affair may have jarred Great Britain to the point where it will now exert itself to find a more satisfactory solution of the Irish question.

LOOK GOOD—FEEL GOOD

No one can either feel good nor look good while suffering from constipation. Get rid of that tired, draggy, lifeless feeling by a treatment of Dr. King's New Life Pills. Buy a box today, take one or two pills tonight. In the morning that stuffed, dull feeling is gone and you feel better at once. 25c at your druggist.—Adv.

THE BIG CENTENNIAL

One Hundredth Anniversary of An Important Event.

The date for the celebration of Perrysburg's Centennial has been set for Thursday, August 24th.

A meeting of the Civic Association will be held on this (Thursday) evening, June 8, to perfect plans and appoint committees for work necessary for the big celebration, which it is proposed shall be made high class and fully in keeping with the importance of the event which gave to the great state of Ohio its most beautiful village.

The cheap, side show features of carnivals and summer festivals will be notable for their absence.

The program will include an address by Attorney F. E. Rheinfrank, an eloquent orator and a product of Perrysburg.

Dr. Dwight R. Canfield, who is one of the best posted men of the state in matters pertaining to the early settlement of the Maumee Valley, has been chosen to read a sketch relative to the history of Perrysburg's early days.

Miss Bertha Hillbrand has been invited to drill 100 school children in songs for the occasion.

It is also expected that a pageant representing ten decades of Perrysburg's history will be one of the big features of the celebration.

Many other features of entertainment will be added to the program which will make it a credit to the town and the people.

The following poem by Dr. Canfield is worthy of preservation:

Eve at Old Fort Meigs.

By DWIGHT R. CANFIELD

The evening sun had just gone down,
Behind the curtain cloud,
That rose from out the darkened west,
Light a sightless funeral shroud;
The cattle grazing in the field,
Their young beside them feeding,
Had to the barnyard taken path,
The faithful watch dog leaping.

Voices from the distance borne,
By the fragrant air of flowers,
Had, one by one, ceased to be heard,
Disturbed by the threatening showers;
But like a specter in one's life,
That o'er the path comes stalking,
And as quickly receding from the sight,

Or seen as illusions walking,
The storm cloud hid its ugly head,
The stars came out so tender,
That the muttering thunder ceased to roll,
And the moon shown down in splendor.

So all was still in the hush of night,
Not even the cricket was deeming,
To disturb the pall of the quiet scene,
And I was alone, in my dreaming.

By magic the ramparts seemed to stand,
The block houses strong at each angle,
While below, the moonlight lit the stream,
That shone like a golden bangle;
And from the flag staff's airy height,
I saw the colors flying,—
Me thought I also heard strange sounds,
Weird moans, like some one dying.

I stood stark still upon the scene,
Which enchantment lends to story,
The field, none living now, were saw,
Then, as now made gory.
Then o'ped the mouths of Britain's guns,
From o'er the stream's dark water,
And they bellowed forth their hellish lead,
With a fiend-like love for slaughter;
Till the Heavens flamed with bursting shells,
And the earth in terror trembled,
The picture of a meteor's storm,
A pageant of demons assembled.

Then I heard the order, firm and strong,
To the brave from the "Bloody Ground"
"March across the stream and spike the guns,
But return at the bugle's sound;"

COMMENCEMENT WEEK

Filled With Exercises of Interest to Pupils and Parents.

The Perrysburg village schools closed last week in a very spirited manner. Besides the general routine and rush which characterizes the close of school, the attention of the people was attracted to the school by five programs in three days, preceded by the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, May 28th.

More people saw and heard these programs than have witnessed such occasions for some time. For the three night programs, the auditorium lacked capacity, and especially on Thursday night, when at least 100 more people were present than there are seats in the auditorium. This speaks volumes for both the public interest in the school, and for the effective work done by the children. Throughout all the school spirit ran high.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered in the Presbyterian church by Dr. Wm. H. Pheley. He took for his subject the motto of the class, "Building Character, not Fame." The sermon was filled with inspiration and advice, not only for the class, but for all present.

Wednesday night the High School Dramatic Society presented "A Strenuous Life." By most it was pronounced the strongest and best play ever presented in Perrysburg. The characters played well their parts, and especially Tom Harrington, played by Edmund Shuster, Reginald Black by Carleton Finkbeiner, James Wobberts by Donald Pheley, Dan Davenport by Raymond Spilker, Chia by Mildred Witzler, Dulcie by Violet Kazmaier, Marian Davenport by Helen Amon, and Ruth by Janice Leydorf attracted attention.

Thursday afternoon the senior class exercises were held. Simplicity was its charm. It began with a piano solo by Gertrude Shuster, followed by able class productions. The president's address was given by Carleton Finkbeiner, History by Josephine Davis, Prophecy by Gertrude Shuster, Oration by Raymond Spilker, Poem by Gladys Simmons, and Vaudeiory by Myrtle Franz.

Thursday ended with a great feast to a great audience. Digressing from the usual custom of having everything given by the high school, a charming entertainment was given by the grades, all grades below the eighth participating. The audience was enraptured as the various drills, choruses, recitations, folk dances and musical productions were beautifully rendered. All were interested, all were pleased. The compliments given speak well for the pupils and teachers.

The eighth grade exercises took place Friday afternoon, and were well attended. The program consisted of three symposia—one on Stevenson, one on agriculture, and another on Michael Angelo—recitations and national anthems, all of which were well rendered.

This large and brilliant class of eighth grade graduates speaks well for a large freshman class next year. Those passing in all branches received certificates of promotion, but those failing in one (Continued on Eighth Page.)

HEAPS OF TROUBLE

Rain and Accidents Prevented Ball Game Last Sunday.

No game last Sunday and the fans were disappointed.

The Oak Harbor team started for Perrysburg in an auto truck, but a break-down prevented the boys arriving here on time.

Arrangements were then made for a game with Maumee, but when the locals appeared on the ground they were greeted with a cloud burst and the hopes for an interesting game were drowned.

Next Sunday the Future base ball club will be here for a game. The Futures have a fast team and play real base ball. Last year they lost and won a game here, and they are anxious to do better this season.

Come out and enjoy a good game and give your encouragement to the home team.

A household remedy in America for 25 years—Dr. Thomas' Eucletic Oil. For cuts, sprains, burns, scalds, bruises. 25c and 50c. At all drug stores.

THE INDIAN BELL

Will Return to Its Former Home at Perrysburg.

The old Indian Bell is now on its way from Maryland and will soon arrive in Perrysburg where its musical tones first excited the attention and admiration of the natives.

The ladies of the Civic Association have purchased the bell and expect to give it a home—possibly erecting a log cabin for it on the Way Park grounds.

BOWLING GREEN RACES.

Two more days of splendid races at the Bowling Green fair grounds race track promise great sport for lovers of good racing.

Horses from Montana, Canada, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Ohio are there and the public is assured of fine entertainment.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This is a remedy that every family should be provided with, and especially during the summer months. Think of the pain and suffering that must be endured when medicine must be sent for or before relief can be obtained. This remedy is thoroughly reliable. Ask anyone who has used it.
