THURSDAY, AUGUST 29, 1918

While one American marine over there was taking a prisoner he ran into two German officers and ten men. He tackled them single handed with his rifle and bayonet, killed both officers and wounded seven men. The chap who could whip his weight in wildcats had nothing whatever on this uniformed dynamo.

A Cologne member of the German parliament wants air raids on open towns ended by agreement, so that the senseless murder of women and children may be stopped. That the murder of women and children is senseless was discovered only when German towns found themselves subject to that atrocity.

However, the walking is good. That's about the only consolation to be extracted from the lifting of passenger fares everywhere by steam and trolley. We may yet derive physical as well as spiritual benefits from all our alleged tribulations. Look pleasant.

Durig May 44 ships were completed, a tonnage of 263,571, or in five months 1,112,807 tons. As this equals about six years' output before the war, American shipbuilders are at least beginning to prepare to get busy.

Various European countries have learned that the affable German agent who comes around to solicit is altogether a different person from the German agent who comes around to collect.

The French officer's invention of a way to make bread without flour sounds a good deal like making bricks without straw; but, then, nobody makes bricks with straw nowadays.

The lounge lizards have not gone to war, but are still enjoying their leisure moments and following their motto: "Eat, drink and be merry."

Nowadays grocers are fined for selling storage eggs as the strictly fresh kind, and yet nobody shouts the advent of the millennium.

Running the government is like running a newspaper. Every man thinks that he could do better than the man on the job.

Next to our boys who are doing the fighting the war mothers are the greatest gift this nation has made to civilization.

Can anybody blame a young woman for looking happy on the arm of a handsome soldier?

The cat in the thrift garden is very much of an enemy alien.

WAR FACTS

Responding to the call of the Ordnance Department for more than .45 calibre automatic pistols, factories are turning them out at the rate of 3,000 a day.

Nearly half the premiums to be awarded by the Kentucky State Fair this year will be paid in War Savings Stamps. The amount represented is about $35,000.

American records for daily production of ammunition for rifles and pistols were broken on June 27, when approximately 27,000,000 cartridges of every description were produced in plants for Uncle Sam's soldiers in France.

The Quartermaster's Department is now supplying gas-proof food-containers to our soldiers in France. These containers, in which the men carry their emergency rations prevent seepage of gas and guard against the contamination of food.

From 80 to 90 per cent of the persons engaged in airplane manufacture in England are women.

The men in the United States Navy subscribed over $18,500,000 to the last Liberty Loan.—From The People's Home Journal.

SCHOOL NOTES

School will open Monday, September 16th. This is two weeks later than the usual time for beginning school, yet it will not shorten the school year for it will be held nine months as usual. However, there will be less vacation during the year. This postponed opening will permit all those pupils who are now working two weeks more to continue their work.

The U. S. government urges that the schools continue with the greatest efficiency possible. It emphasizes regular attendance of all pupils enrolled, and a big enrollment for those above the compulsory age limit. A large high school and college attendance is urged for both boys and girls. The great need after this great war will be "trained leaders." This ought to have great significance to farmer boys as well as to those in the cities. This scientific age needs leaders, highly trained for efficient service.

President Wilson in a special letter on the subject writes as follows:

"I am pleased to know that despite the unusual burdens imposed upon our people by the war they have maintained their schools and other agencies of education so nearly at their normal efficiency. That this should be continued throughout the war and that, in so far as the draft law will permit, there should be no falling off in attendance in elementary schools, high schools or colleges is a matter of the very greatest importance, affecting both our strength in war and our national welfare and efficiency when the war is over. So long as the war continues there will be constant need of very large numbers of men and women of the highest and most thorough training for war service in many lines. After the war there will be urgent need not only for trained leadership in all lines of industrial, commercial, social and civic life, but for a very high average of intelligence and preparation on the part of all the people. I would therefore urge that the people continue to give generous support to their schools of all grades and that the schools adjust themselves as wisely as possible to the new conditions to the end that no boy or girl shall have less opportunity for education because of the war and that the nation may be strengthened as it can only be through the right education of all its people."

Bound to Get Into Fight.

A man giving the name of J. E. Murphy walked into the office of the Canadian recruiting mission in Boston and asked if there was room in the army for a brigadier general. The officers assured him there was, and Murphy told them he was a Canadian, thirty-three years old, who had served in Mexico under General Orozco with the rank of brigadier general. After a physical examination he was rejected on account of web toes. Murphy said he would go to Canada and try recruiting offices there.

Canning Is A Joy

With "Conservo"—the great conserver of food, fuel and time—canning is a joy because the food is canned better, and it is all done without any of the work and uncertainty attached to canning by other methods. "Conservo" works automatically. You do not have to worry about the amount of steam pressure or any complicated bothersome gauges.

Simply prepare the food in cans or glass jars according to your favorite recipes, then place them in "Conservo." The steam pressure does the rest, forcing its way into the contents, sterilizing and cooking the food perfectly in a short time.

Cans all foods—fruits, vegetables, meats, soups, fish, fowl. 100 per cent certain results. By perfect sterilization in "Conservo," long keeping of foods is assured. "Conservo" canning retains indefinitely the flavor of the fresh vegetables and the fruits—also their life-like shape and appearance.
