

Daily Edition. DAILY WEATHER REPORT. FOR THIS LOCALITY, AS RECORDED BY J. DEWITT, REPLYING FOR THE GLOBE-REPUBLIC.

CITY MATTERS.

Mr. B. B. Law, of Cincinnati, is at the Loggins House.

Miss Kate Myers, of Dayton, is visiting friends for a few weeks.

Mr. Frank Hermann, of Urbana, is in the city, the guest of his friend, Mr. Herman Flynn.

The Misses McMorris, of West Main street, are entertaining their cousin, Miss Morris, of Mechanicalburg.

Miss Adra Hutchinson, of Clifton street, is visiting her cousin, Miss Forbes, of near Yellow Springs.

The patrol wagon made three runs last night, in drunk and disorderly cases. Nothing of special interest.

John O'Connor has brought suit in court to recover money paid into the county treasury under the Scott law.

There will be two or three theater parties attend the 5 and 40 Blackbirds and the ladies will all appear in full dress.

The next meeting of the Eclectic Medical Association will be held at the Loggins House on the third Wednesday of February.

Mr. and Mrs. Mankin, nee Florence Flack, have returned to their home in Washington, D. C., after a pleasant visit to Mr. Mankin's parents.

Mrs. John W. Parmenter, nee Della Moore, of Bowling Green, Ohio, is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. George W. Moore, of South Market street.

The members of the Eclectic Medical Association, at the meeting in this city Wednesday, all agreed with Dr. Rummel in his report on the disease of Dr. Maxwell's brain.

The case of Fehl, Johnson & Co. vs. Joseph Sheets, suit on account part of which defendant claims to have paid, is in hearing in Common Pleas court to-day before a special jury of six men.

A pleasant social party was given last evening at the residence of G. W. Caywood, West Main street, in honor of Miss Kit Smith, of New Burlington, who is visiting Miss Lizzie Cartwright. About thirty young people of the city attended.

A committee of the Legislature reported unanimously yesterday, against the passage of the bill providing that transfers of real estate shall be made in office of county records, deeds not passing through the Auditor's office at all, as at present.

The congregation of Wiley M. E. chapel are arranging to hold an art loan exhibition on a grand scale, in Alpine rink, South Center street, for ten days or two weeks, beginning March 16. This is something quite novel and never before undertaken by the colored people of the city.

J. Guilford White, Esq., of this city, is now in Washington, D. C., as private secretary to Hon. R. S. Stevens and clerk in the Auditor's Office of the District of Columbia, besides attending to some law business. His official duties and other business will keep him at the National capital until about the sixth of March.

It has been decided by the management of the 5 and 40 Blackbirds entertainment to sell gallery tickets for the performance this evening at 50 cents each. This will enable many to attend who might not otherwise do so, and it is believed that this will still further swell the handsome returns for the benefit of the poor.

Some of the water-pipes in the Arcade building burst last night and flooded one corner of the postoffice below, happening to be in a place where no damage could be caused. The water-works people have had about the usual amount of trouble from this source during the cold snap this month. A street pipe connecting with the Main street mains near Market burst last night, flooding the gutter on the south side of the block.

Xenia Gazette: "It is generally supposed that had the City Council offered the $100 reward for the arrest of the attempted murderer of Officer Harner, he would by this time have been arrested, as some of the persons who knew of his whereabouts would have told. It is said also that the Council had as much legal right to offer the reward, as it has to refund money paid in on account of Opera House rent. We don't know, but so it is said." A penny saved is a penny earned, you know.

Urbana Citizen, January 22: "A wreck occurred on the I. B. & W. Railway last night near Carv, in which nine freight cars were thrown from the track. The wreck occurred at 11 o'clock and two of the cars were turned over an embankment and demolished, while the others were damaged to some extent. A message went through late last night to Sandusky to send the wrecking train and a good force of men to the scene of the wreck. The rails on this road were broken in four places, along the line north of Urbana."

James P. Goodwin, Esq., last evening filed in Common Pleas court, as per instructions of the trustees, a petition for change of name of the Republican Club, of Springfield, Ohio, to the "Lincoln Club, of Springfield, Ohio." The reasons assigned in support of the proposed change are: "The same will better subserve the interests of said corporation and will better express the intentions and objects for which the organization was formed." You pay your money, $5 initiation and $4 annual dues, and take your choice. "There is no doubt of the granting of the petition."

Superintendent Fleming, whose trip to Lorain county to look up the case of a man injured there was noted yesterday, has returned. The name of the man is John C. Voick, and he was employed about three years at Moore's quarries, near here. In November he went to Lorain county and was employed by the Nickel Plate Stone Company as a quarryman. One of his thumbs was smashed by a block of stone falling upon it, and lockjaw set in. He suffered in this manner until December 27, when the spasms ceased, and he is now doing well. He has been cared for at the Lorain county infirmary, the directors of which present a big bill for this county to pay. It remains to be seen whether or not it can be collected, the law not having been complied with in the case.

THE REFORM SYSTEM.

As introduced and carried out at the Station-House - The Drill - Better Food for Less Money.

From time to time within the past three weeks this paper has noted the changes and improvements at the station-house, and now that the work is completed, a full account of the system of reform will be of interest. When the bill for supplies for the station-house for the past month was presented it was enormous, and the Police Committee, consisting of Messrs. Jennings, Driscoll and Hickey, determined to investigate it and see where expenses could be reduced. With this object in view they visited several cities to see the systems in vogue and returned with a full determination to make a number of changes. The first thing to be done was to put the station-house in repair. Carpenters were put to work in the female department fitting up the old cells and the women are now locked up all the time instead of being allowed to roam all over the second story of the building and hover at passers-by from the front windows. In the north-west corner of the large room on this floor a room was made for the use of the cook as a bedroom, and directly opposite is another room, which is used as a store-room for supplies. This is fitted up with shelves, and the only key to the room is carried by the station house keeper on duty who deals out the supplies to the cook. After all these changes had been made the rooms up stairs were papered and wood work newly painted. On the lower floor also the work of improvement was carried on. The cell room and office were newly whitewashed, the woodwork painted and the cells thoroughly cleaned.

Have You Seen the Bargains on the CHEAP TABLE at Murphy and Bro., 48 & 50 Limestone Street.

POISON AT THE FRONT DOOR.

No article entering so generally into the food of every family has been found more villainously adulterated than baking powder. For the purpose of underselling the "Royal," whose absolute purity and wholesomeness has never yet been questioned, hundreds of dealers are putting up baking powders with cheap and adulterated cream of tartar, which contains lime, earth, etc., adding strength by the free use of alum.

These adulterated powders are "shoved" upon the public with the greatest persistency. They are first given away - left in samples at private residences, with circulars containing bogus analyses and certificates, and false representations as to their value, etc. This fact of itself is sufficient to condemn them. A first-class article will sell on its merits. No manufacturer whose goods are of value can afford to give them away, and none but the cheapest make and most inferior or unmarketable goods require to be distributed free in order to get the public to use them, and this method is adopted only by parties who have failed to dispose of their wares through the ordinary and legitimate channels of trade.

Free samples of articles of food left at the house should be regarded with suspicion. There is no guarantee of their wholesomeness, while there is real danger that they contain a fatally poisonous compound. Many instances of poisoning from the use of such samples are recorded.

The Royal Baking Powder is never given away, sold by means of lotteries, nor accompanied by chromos, spoons, crockery, or other gifts, except the gifts of absolute purity, wholesomeness, full weight, and superlative leavening power. These gifts are guaranteed with each package. Its own merits have been its chief advertisement, and they have secured for it the constant patronage of the American people to an extent beyond the combined sale of all other baking powders. The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure and perfect.

Disenchantment befell the young man who, seeing the effulgence of a handsome actress - Nannie Braham - at the Bijou Opera House, she shows in the splendor of burlesque songs an acquaintance. The ceremony of introduction was so carelessly performed by an attaché of the house that Nannie understood the fellow - really a member of a Fifth Avenue family - to be an actor.

"You are doing finely with your role," he remarked. "Oh, I seem to have caught on," she glibly replied. "The part isn't all ginger - there's more guff and chum in it than I thought to play for all it was worth. I had the advantage of showing 'up well in my lead role, and so -"

"At this point she saw the horror in his face, and guessed the mistake she had made. "Oh, I beg your pardon," she demurely added, with a sudden resumption of the shy modesty which had originally bewitched him; "I inadvertently used some of the dreadfully shocking language of the stage."

But the shock had been irrevocably given. The ardent admirer was lost to her forever. - New York Cor. Utica Herald.

A BAKING POWDER TRICK. All kinds of schemes and tricks are resorted to by unprincipled persons to obtain unfair advantages over their neighbors. The latest and most dishonest of these that has come to our notice is one by which certain manufacturers of baking powder have sought to prejudice consumers against the use of other brands that have an established reputation as the best and purest in the market, for the purpose of introducing their own. Their method, we are informed, is to least a can of baking powder of a well-known brand over a lamp or stove, when, if there is a gas given off having the odor of ammonia, the powder is considered as being made of ammonia and unfit for use. The prejudice of the unsuspecting are thus excited against the baking powder submitted to the so-called test, and the grocer who has a quantity of it on hand suffers a serious loss in consequence.

If the intelligent consumer will stop a moment to think, she will readily perceive that this "test," if successful, proves nothing but the superiority of the baking powder tested. The aim of all baking powder makers is to produce an article that shall most readily, under use, give off its leavening gas. The powder that does this with a moderate heat, at the same time evolving the largest quantity, is scientifically the best, for the food that cannot be manipulated to prove that something is wrong about it; and when a person goes into a kitchen or before a housekeeper who is not to be presumed to understand chemical relations, and performs an experiment of even the simplest character, it is not difficult to impress one that something awful is the matter. As to baking powders, we could suggest a dozen tests that would be as ridiculous as giving a fair idea of their relative merits to an uneducated mind as the one here mentioned.

The true domestic value of a baking powder consists in its purity, wholesomeness and leavening power. It is only the chemist, with his chemical appliances, who can determine these qualities, scientifically and exactly. Aside from this, the best test for a baking powder is to try it in making bread, and see which makes the most and the best. To this practical test all the established brands have been put, and housekeepers have very generally made up their minds which they prefer, and the tricksters will find ultimately that a brand that has been a household favorite for years will not be displaced by reason of any tricks they may show.
