

CITY MATTERS.

Fred Mason is now in Washington. So is George Alfred Townsend.

Mr. J. M. Potter, one of the skating rink managers, left for his home in Elmira, N. Y., this morning.

Rev. W. J. Coleman addressed the students of Wittenberg last night on the subject of National Reform.

The Sandusky Evening Journal says: "Warren C. Luff is in the city looking after his handsome yacht."

Mr. Spaulding, late of the Boston Store, intends to return to Scotland soon. Mr. Field will go into business in Michigan.

Mr. Frank C. Marley, son of Dr. Marley, of this city, is news foreman in the office of the Sandusky Evening Journal, at Sandusky, and is pleased with his situation.

Judge W. Lawrence, Comptroller of the Treasury at Washington, fell down the steps of the Kellogg building there, yesterday and sustained some serious injuries.

On account of there not being sufficient room at the Arcade, Mr. J. D. Phleger, agent of the N. Y. P. & O. R. R., has removed his office back to the St. James Hotel.

The four-year-old daughter of Constable W. S. Dent died this morning. The funeral will be held at North Street A. M. E. church, Sunday afternoon 1:30. Friends are invited to attend.

Mr. John McLaren, who has come here from Dunkirk, New York, to engage in the dry goods business, has rented Mrs. Sanderson's house, on Franklin avenue, and his family will soon be here to take possession.

The Water Works Trustees met at their office in the Arcade last evening and allowed a batch of bills. No other business was transacted. Back creek is too high to permit of progress being made in the proposed improvements at the pumping station.

A little Spitz dog belonging to Mr. Emil Thiese attacked "Sonny" O'Brien's little girl this morning on East Main street and bit her in the right leg. The dog was not considerably hurt but the wound is not dangerous. The dog was shot.

A party of friends "dropped in" on Miss Carrie Colburn last evening at her home on South Rice street, to spend the evening. A progressive euchre party was gotten up, and the guests enjoyed themselves with this very popular amusement until a late hour.

The Worthington C. L. S. Circle, held a Longfellow memorial meeting at the residence of Mrs. Doolley, East High street, Friday evening, and the exercises were appropriate and exceedingly interesting. There was a Longfellow tableau, with readings and refreshments.

The jury in the Neal damage suit remained out until 12:20 this afternoon, then reporting a disagreement, whereupon they were discharged by the clerk of the court, and the case will come to a second trial. The jury stood six to six from beginning to end of their deliberations.

The jury in the suit of E. E. Neal against the C. & O. & I. Railway Company retired early yesterday forenoon, remained out until 10:30 last night, with intervals for meals, went to the jury room again this morning, and has not since been heard from. As Judge Goode is absent from the city today a sealed verdict will be rendered, if at all. A disagreement is indicated.

A meeting of the managers of the McCall Auxiliary of this city, will be held at Mrs. Dr. Webb's, 81 East High street, next Monday, March 2, at 2:30 p. m.

Business of importance will be under consideration, rendering it necessary to have a full attendance.

By order of the President, Mrs. W. H. WARREN, M. J. COLEBY, Secretary.

At the stated convocation last evening of Palestine Commandery, No. 33, K. P., one petition was received. An order was issued for a series of two or three specials, of which the first will be held next Friday evening, for instruction and rehearsal in the fall work, especially of opening and closing. Past E. G. C. Vance, of Urbana, inspecting officer will be here shortly to make the annual inspection of the commandery, and in preparation for that event these specials will be held. It is imperative that every Sir Knight should attend.

Manager Fisher, of this city, is arranging a base ball meeting at Cincinnati, March 10, in the interests of the formation of an Interstate Ball Association, consisting of clubs in Ohio and Indiana, and probably of the Kentons of Covington, Ky. The number of clubs included will be eight. The cities in Ohio which will probably take hold of the scheme are Dayton, Springfield and Hamilton. In Indiana, Terre Haute, Evansville, Ft. Wayne and Richmond are mentioned. All managers of clubs interested will probably attend the meeting at Cincinnati on the 10th. The plan would make an association of all strong clubs and a good schedule of games could be arranged.

Volume One, Number One, of the new Cincinnati publication, "Sam, the Scaramouch," of which "Ab" Mattox, formerly of Springfield, is one of the editors, has been received and is something new in journalism in more ways than one. "Sam's" colors are black and blue, typical of the hues that are destined to decorate the editorial copies after a couple of weeks or so of free lance practice. While adapted more especially to the political, social and business circles of Cincinnati, in which it is destined to become indispensable, it cannot fail of proving interesting to readers in the Cincinnati "chain of cities," of which Springfield is one. It may be bought of news dealers for a nickel a copy, or two dollars sent the "Sam" Publishing Company, 238 Race street, Cincinnati, will insure weekly visits by mail for one year.

Emory Wheel Hurts. A large emory wheel in the department of the Logans store devoted to the finishing up of malleable iron castings, which, like all such machinery, is run at a very high speed, burst yesterday afternoon, the pieces flying in all directions. One of the largest struck the wall of the building took the machine and rebounding struck a workman named John Booth on the back of the head, knocking him down senseless and cutting a long gash in his scalp to the bone. He was taken to Dr. J. W. Nelson's drug store, and it was at first thought the skull was fractured, but further examination revealed that this was not the case. The wound was dressed, and Mr. Booth will be able to go to work in a day or two. Had the fragment of the solid, heavy wheel struck him where it did, before first striking the wall, the doctor says he "never would have known what hurt him," so that, as it is, his escape is a fortunate one. None other of the men in the room were in-

NEW ARRIVAL! NEW ARRIVAL! We have just received and placed on sale an extensive line of our popular PAUL REVERE!

ROUSE & PARSONS, 26 S. MARKET ST.

A New Mercantile Enterprise. Messrs. John and James McLaren, two experienced and enterprising dry goods men, of Buffalo, N. Y., have leased the two large stores in the Bowman block, Limestone street, now occupied by Spaulding, Mordock & Field, and the other by C. F. Cost, and will immediately convert them into one commodious apartment for an extensive dry goods store. They will do business under the firm name of John McLaren & Bro. The establishment will be legitimately a branch of the great house of Barnes, Bengener & Co., Buffalo, whose business last year amounted to something over $3,000,000, and will have the full credit of that firm in the markets of the East. Mr. John McLaren, a very courteous gentleman, is now in the city. The new store will be open for trade about April 4th.

Amusements. Salisbury's Trapeze artists at the Grand tonight in "For a Kind" and a wealth of fun.

The "Galley Slave" at Black's tonight by a superb company.

Beginning next Monday evening the Wilbur Dramatic Company will appear at Black's in a five night engagement at popular low prices.

Mr. Geo. C. Mills is billed for next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and Wednesday matinee at the Grand. Tuesday evening, "McBeth"; Wednesday matinee, "Romeo and Juliet"; and Wednesday evening, "Othello," with Mills as Iago.

Two men named E. Kelly and Charles Riley were arrested yesterday, the former by Officer Mills and the latter by Officer N. 2002, and locked up for safe keeping. They are thought to be bad characters as they act very strangely and want to get together to talk. They tell different stories as to where they came from and how they came. Kelly went into Syman's pawn shop yesterday with an overcoat and attempted to pawn it. Mr. Syman suspected that all was not right and called in Officer Mills. Kelly claimed that he had the coat made in Indianapolis and paid $22 for it, but local merchant tailors to whom the coat was shown say it is not worth over $8, and that it is not a custom-made coat.

Owing to their inability to make as favorable terms as desired, the Jefferson Club has abandoned the scheme of attending the inauguration of Cleveland, in a body, and those members who do attend will do so in an individual capacity, among them J. A. and Wm. Spanzberger. One detachment left tonight and others start tomorrow night. Sheriff Baker and his son, Deputy Sheriff A. J. Baker, and brother, Ad. Baker, with ladies, propose taking in the "greatest Democratic show on earth," and are moving "on to Washington."

Mrs. Edwin B. Scott, living at the corner of Pearl and Patton streets, had a paralytic stroke yesterday, which affected both arms. She will probably recover.

Mr. H. L. Rockfield says he can't stand two hotels and a moustache; so the moustache had to go. Gaze on him.

Outdoor Life. Man seems planned for outdoor life in a mild climate, with just a leaf or two of shelter for a shade day. His nature will bend for a time to the conventional burdens of an artificial civilization, but replant him on first principles in the outdoor garden of life and his recuperative forces will rebound with the elastic energy of steel springs relieved of their burden.

One fashionable friend would lose caste were they to use their neighbor's second-hand clothing, but they will daily try to purify their own blood with their neighbor's second-hand or ten-times used breath, poisoned as it always is, even when exhaled by young and healthy persons. Man, in common with other warm blooded creatures, generates a surplus of heat within his body. Outdoor sleepers find that no matter how cold the surrounding air may be, if dry, enough of the outflowing heat will be dammed back and retained by suitable clothing to sustain the vital forces in health and comfort. Until domestic art can supply our lungs with cool, first-mortality air, in warm rooms, its vortaries will have an important problem to solve. In the meantime out-campers and hotel dwellers will wear the best graded blood in the land.—American Home.

Wellington Before the Peninsula War. He (the Duke) seemed to lapse in a kind of reverie, and remained silent so long that I began to think he was thinking of me. He replied, "Why, to say the truth, I am thinking of the French that I am going to fight. I have not seen them since the campaign in Flanders when they were capital soldiers, and a dozen years of victory under Buonaparte must have made them better soldiers. Their bayonets it seems, a new system of strategy, which has out-maneuvred and overwhelmed all the armies of Europe. 'Tis enough to make one thoughtful; but, no matter; my die is cast; they may overwhelm me, but I don't think they will out-maneuver me. First, because I am not afraid of them, as everybody else seems to be; and, secondly, because, if I want I hear of their system of manoeuvres, true, I think it a false one as against steady troops. I suspect all the Continental armies were more than beaten before the battle of Waterloo, and will not be frightened beforehand."—The Croker Papers, Jennings.

Getting Down to Hard-Pan. They were talking about hard times and the general disinclination to buy large stocks or heavy investments, when a builder happened to be on the crowd and said: "Gentlemen, we have been living beyond our means, and we must get down to hard-pan and begin over again."

"That may be all very true," replied one of the others, "but who will begin?"

"I have already begun," said the bald-head. "I was worth $30,000; I bought $20,000 worth of city lots and started to build a $75,000 mansion. The result is that I am right down to the good book, and I think I have paid $20,000 for the kind of ground given away by the Bible Society to the $50 one bound in velvet and ivory. I have nearly ceased printing other books. As a general thing they don't pay. Unless you can get a work by a great author or a noted politician the sale of any book does not reach beyond a small edition. I paid Alexander H. Stephens $25,000 royalty on the "War Between the States," but only about $5,000 for his "History of the United States."

GLEANINGS. There are ninety different styles of collars in use by gentlemen in this country.

A mine of magnetic ore has been found in Fresno County, California; and a spring near it that cures rheith.

Cheshire, Mass., has two large bald eagles which have their nest high up on the side of a rocky cliff. The hunters and citizens generally, with a sense of pride and patriotism, leave them unmolested.

The mungoses imported into Jamaica to eat up the rats having become mischievous, the burning question now is how to get rid of the mungoses, which the blacks have a superstitious fear of killing.

Massachusetts has 1,973 miles of railway, of which 667 miles are double track. Of street railways there are 209 miles in the state. Last year the former carried 66,517,000 passengers, while the latter carried 35,000,000 passengers.

The statistics of the salaries paid Congregational ministers in Connecticut show that of the 298 churches only fifty pay $2,000 a year or more and 128 pay less than $1,900. The average of all except the first-named fifty is about $880. The lowest salary is about $400 and the highest $6,000.

The Nevada gold-seekers have discovered a nest for owls. The hens are picked-up, and, being hungry, begin to scratch and eat. After three or four days' honest toil they are killed and their claws examined for gold. As much as $8 has been found in one claw.—San Francisco Alta.

Tuscarora, Nev., has a small tree growing in a gulch, the foliage of which at certain seasons is said to be so luminous that it can be distinguished a mile away in the darkest night. In its immediate vicinity it emits sufficient light to enable a person to read the finest print. Its luminosity is said to be due to parasites.

R. P. Stillaber, the venerable Mrs. Patterson, is one of the few friends of the Rev. Adirondack Murray who still has a kind word to say for that notorious back-sider. "He is, as Father Taylor said of his son-in-law, Judge Russell, 'not much of a saint, but a sweet singer.' The world has been much too harsh with him."—Boston Traveller.

That absolutely fireproof building can be built, suitable for any comfortable occupation, is very much of a delusion and a dangerous one. Proper and scientific methods may reduce the danger to a minimum. But what is mostly needed is that the tenants and occupiers should have fireproof observation, diligence and promptness.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The London Truth says: "Wherever there is an aristocracy of birth it inevitably follows that the aristocrat is socially the most pleasant person, for his good status is clearly defined, whereas that of others depends a good deal upon the company they keep; and, consequently, they are ever engaged in seeking to be on good terms with another person. An aristocracy is not so much an evil in itself as productive of evil in others. Every one Lord makes ten thousand snobs."

The consumption of copper throughout the world has practically doubled during the last twenty-five years, having increased from 100,000 to 200,000 tons per annum. Of this amount America produces about 40,000 tons and Chili 30,000 tons. The present low price naturally stimulates consumption, and will cause copper to be used in other directions than has been hitherto the case.

A varnish has been invented in Germany for foundry patterns and machinery. It dries leaving a smooth surface, almost as soon as it is applied. It is made of the best quality of shellac, ten pounds of Manila copal, and ten pounds of Zanzibar copal are placed in a vessel, which is heated externally by steam, and stirred during four to six hours, after which 150 parts of the finest potato spirit are added, and the whole heated for four hours to 67 deg. This liquid is dyed by the addition of orange color, and can then be applied as a paint on wood. When used for painting and gazing machinery it consists of thirty-five pounds of shellac, five pounds of Manila copal, and 150 pounds of spirit.—See cut file American.

The following is a description of a submarine torpedo recently invented by Mr. Milton. "The boat invented by him was of the cigar shape, not unlike the Whitehead torpedo. Its peculiarity was its power of carrying men below water. The boat could be propelled with funnels without either steam or electricity, and the 'conning tower' was above water. When within gunshot of an enemy's ironclad it could be sunk to any distance below the surface, and guided by the electric light, could be brought within thirty yards or less of the ironclad, at which range a percussion shell fired from the good book, and it would explode a hole of several feet in the ironclad, large for any pump to remedy and sufficient to sink it."

"There is more money in Bibles than in anything else," said Mr. J. R. Jones of Philadelphia, one of the largest Bible printers in the United States.

"There is a steady, reliable trade for the good book, and I think I have made 2,000,000 of the different grades since I have been in business. I have nearly ceased printing other books. PREFERRED NOTICES. Mr. J. D. Phleger, agent N. Y. P. & O., has removed his ticket office to No. 46 Arcade building.

The luxuries of the times. Naturally these screens are lighter than fans. Some of delicate gauze are mounted on kamboos and exquisitely painted with subjects from opera bouffes. Hero holding the torch for Leander; Diana in a hunting dress, taller than her attendant nymphs, with a bow in her hand, a quiver suspended across her shoulders, a silver crescent over her forehead; birds, butterflies, flowers, are also represented, painted or sometimes embroidered on gauze, silk or kid, and mounted on sticks of tortoise shell, bamboo, ebony, ivory or violet wood. Others are of plain silk or gauze decorated with a dot and dash spray or quite covered with a piece of antique lace and conventional knots of ribbon do tied about, or spray of flowers.

The Phoenicians, who were a great commercial people in the young days of the world, are thought to have given the present name of most of the countries around the Mediterranean Sea. The Phoenician language contained the words, Europe, Asia, Africa, Italy, Spain, Gaul, Britain, Etna, Sardinia and Siberia, as well as many others now used as the names of minor places. Europe, in Phoenician meant "white complexion," and was applied to the country north of the Mediterranean because the natives wore a lighter complexion than those of Asia or Africa. Africa signified "the land of corn," and Asia meant "the middle land," being so named because it was between Europe and Africa. Italy was the "country of black pines," Spain was "the land of tin," and Britain, the "land of yellow hair." Britain, the "country of tin," Etna, "the smoky fur row," Sardinia, "a man's foot," and Siberia, "thirsty land," because it is so dry.

Lawyers. Lawyers are the most trusted and distinguished of men. They are the men who make contracts and unmake them; who give advice and sell counsel; who make money out of trouble and make trouble out of money; who create estates and distribute them legally; who live by buying money and often subsist on borrowed capital; who hear and conceal marriage secrets, and later drag out faded love letters in bitter divorces; who are pleased and persuaded by the lucky, but often go out of court branded and dispraised by the side defeated—and, with one side always the loser, and generally both, what wonder that the stars of character fall to the current lot of a lawyer!

Without the smiles of the merchant's customers, he meets the frown of business men in trouble. Fortunes are to be saved or lost. He must win the victory or bear the blame forever. The lawyer is like the builder who constructs that, be it ever so perfect, the elaborate house he has finished can never quite suit the proprietor.

He carries the double burden for self and clients invited to win what others have failed in, urged to mend the broken pieces of a foolish contract, bound to account for confessions in letters, asked to replevin goods already sequestered, to attach the effects of a malicious merchant, to unearth fraudulent elections, to reclaim (numbered) estates from vexatious tax-titles, to keep one for years in plenty by restored possessions and broken wills—all by a lawyer's art and eloquence!

He is fated from the start to uncertainty, where clients exact no less than absolute victory and long wish it reasonable, while they know it is only probable. By logic and argument, on the theory that their client, with the facts only partially stated, and that part deeply shaded, they are to explain away their defeat, if it come in the end, by a tirade on the perjury of opponent's witnesses and the depravity of human nature.

Happy lawyers! They are men who live so easily, flourish so long on the bounty of a grateful people, make the laws and settle the titles, defend the weak and enjoy the rich fruits of the world's praises and abuses, mingled and commingled in such rare harmony that it is hard to deliver, let alone defend and approval commences.—J. W. Downman, in the Current.

Some of our local Jenkins have adopted the new style of writing "So City news" as follows: "I dropped in to Mrs. Astor's reception, etc." "I looked in at Mrs. Lorillard's ball, etc." "and I happened in at Mrs. Golet's tea and so forth." "so forth!" If they "dropped," "looked" or "happened" in it was to deliver, let alone defend and approval commences.—J. W. Downman, in the Current.

A Minnesota man tells Gath that prairie chickens are even more abundant there now than formerly, but that the race has changed; the legs are feathered, and their meat, from feeding in the wheat-fields, has become a delicate white.
