Indications.
Washington, May 1.—Ohio Valley and Tennessee—Fair weather, variable winds, generally northerly, higher barometer, slight changes in temperature.

2

Collars, a pair of cuffs, and a fancy percale shirt all ready to be put on, a dollar. Others 75c, some $1.25. Stripes, narrow, medium, broad, hair lines, dots, figures, which? How many?

"Seal" brand shirts, of Utica Nonpareil Maudie, of the best Irish linen fronts and wristbands, double back and front, well staid, well made, bound all round, continuous back facing. What are they made for? They're made to beat all other shirts made and to keep the shirt trade at home. They're wonderful shirts, everything is beat about them except the laundry. They need re-lauding to give the snowy white appearance. The greatest description is, a $2 shirt in an unwashed state.

The tone and quality of our boy's clothing is the one idea of our business efforts. To be in unison and harmony with the wants of the people our constant study, our low pitched prices as the result of manufacturing our own clothing stocks, denote determination to do business and meet the times, while daily increasing popularity proves our success.

Winter weight overcoats at a discount till May 15th. Spring weights at a profit till heavy weights are more wanted. A man can do without, he may get sick in doing so. It might be economy to buy. It is. Where? Here, for $9. Here, for $10. Here, for $11, and as many more dollars as you wish to add on.

By actual count thirty seven styles in mens and boys working shirts. The measure of all are those at a quarter. They're made for those who won't buy better, who know their wants better than we can tell them. Strength and durability begins at 40c stronger, stouter, 50c and 60c.

It is surprising that four fifths of all the working shirts sold in Springfield are wrapped in blue paper? By the way, working shirts of every sort, overalls and jumper jackets, are ready for trade to any amount.

Of the $1.50 hats we've more blacks than browns $1.75 equal, $2.00 ditto $2.50 all shades and shapes and so many to pick from. Open Saturday night till ten.

The struggle is not one of frontiers or line points, but international morality."

Spring Wheat Crop.
CHICAGO, May 2.—The Times summarizes its special advices from the Spring wheat belts of the West and Northwest this morning as follows: The area sown to cereal is considerably less than reported last year. Seeding in Red River Valley ten days earlier than at this time last year, and the acreage has been largely increased, owing, it is said, to the development of the country and the increase in the number of farmers. In Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, the weather has retarded farm work. The acreage of spring wheat in these States will suffer a decrease of fully 15 per cent., and in some counties the seed already planted will have to be plowed up, water from swollen streams having soaked into the ground and destroyed the germ.

There is a sensation amongst the New York theatre goers, occasioned by Miss Estelle Clayton's truthful delineation of a peasant girl on the boards of the Union Square Theatre. The play is a dramatization of one of Quixote's novels, and the character which Miss Clayton essayed, as that of a peasant girl passing from her homely condition to that of the lady of Parisian fashions. In the first act she comes upon the stage barefooted and legs bare to the knees. It is claimed that the exhibition was too shockingly truthful, yet Miss Clayton, who is beautiful in form as well as face, adheres to her conception of truth. The critics are mildly severe, with just a tone of regret, that her conception is correct. The lady's acting, however, is charming, and the management is congratulating itself on the fact that the audience is large, and that they neither more promptly than ever before.

The GLOBE-REPUBLIC of last evening contained account of the actions of Mrs. Knock, of Huntville, who ran away from her husband and came to this city with another man. It is now learned that this man is S. J. McCartney, a saloon-keeper of Huntville. Last night the woman's husband found out that she was boarding at Brown's, on West Jefferson St. He reported this to Officer Condon, who went to the house and told Mrs. Knock that she must go to the station house. She, of course, didn't like this, and several of the members of the base ball club, who were present, interfered and told the officer he could not take the woman. Notwithstanding the ball tosser's objections, Officer Condon took her to the station house. Here she met her husband, who begged her to go back home with him. The woman refused to have anything to do with him, and would not even talk to him. She told the officers that she left her legs long once before and was too fat enough to go back again, but that she couldn't be coaxed again. Knock and his wife formerly lived here.

Last night Officer Wilson arrested a fellow named William Welsh on the charge of disorderly conduct. Welsh is a hard looking customer, and he very frequently becomes over-balanced from too much bad whisky. At such times he goes home and demands money from his mother, who is a very respectable lady about sixty-five years old. If she refuses him he amuses himself by pitching the furniture out of the house and abusing his mother. This afternoon, in Mayor's Court, Welsh's aged mother appeared and told the Mayor that she had cared long enough for her son, and although she hated to see him in prison, she thought it would be better for him. The Mayor fined him $5 and costs. Welsh begged to be let off this time, and told the Mayor that he would leave town. The latter told him he could leave after serving out his sentence.

At two o'clock this afternoon the patrol wagon made a run to P. A. Lewis's meat store, next the Central Market, on Market square, from which Conrad Lobes, a carpenter, was removed to his home, No. 26 North Mechanic street. Lobes and another man were making some repairs to a large ice chest, used for holding meats, etc. The heavy lid, or door, of the box, weighing several hundred pounds, accidentally fell out and pinned Lobes to the floor, crushing and bruising him badly about the hips. Dr. O. W. Dunlap attended him and found no bones broken and no indications of internal injury. He will be all right in a few days.

Col. Robert Bell, of the C. O. C. & I. Ry., is the "slate" candidate at Cleveland for Collector of the Port. It is blue-red he'll get there.

Consols.
LONDON, May 2.—2:30 p. m. Consols 96.

AFGHANS ENRAGED.

Accusing Sir Peter Lumsden of Deception and Claiming that England Has Deserted Them.

England Wants to Arbitrate the Question Whether Russia Breaks the Agreement—Severe Threats of Retaliation in Austria.

LONDON, May 2.—A dispatch from Turin dated April 30, says that the Afghans seem enraged at the failure of England to support them after their advance to Pulikhist which brought on General Komaroff's attack. They accuse Sir Peter Lumsden of deceiving them and claim that England has deserted them the same way that Russia did in 1878. The representative of Afghanistan who has been at Sir Peter Lumsden's headquarters to advise him of the Afghans' views as to the proposed boundaries has made a formal protest against the course of the British Commissioner. He declares that it was shameful to encourage the Afghans to resist the occupation of Penjdeh and then to abstain from rendering them assistance when attacked. It is believed at Sir Peter's headquarters that this attitude of the Afghans is studied and insincere and that it indicates some new and unfriendly design on the part of the Afghans.

The situation may perhaps be summed up by quoting the usually conservative British correspondent of the Daily Telegraph: "I gave you yesterday to understand," he says, "that the question of peace or war would be decided within a week. I can now add that definite information on this all-important point will be forthcoming on Monday or Tuesday next at latest. It is possible that all suspense will be at an end this week. Everything depends on the answer now awaited from Russia to the firm demands recently put forward by our Government. I cannot, with the data at my disposal, hold out much hope that Russia's reply will be of a satisfactory character."

The Moscow Gazette actually has the face to accuse the British officers attached to the frontier commission of untruthfulness. The intelligence of the renewed advance of the Russian troops tends to confirm the impression that the affair has now passed beyond diplomatic action and into a purely military question, to be solved by force of arms.

It is recalled that the Russian ambassador, Mr. Giers, in a recent interview with the London Standard, said: "War is not likely to break out until both the disputing parties begin to issue documents."

An official announcement is made that it will probably be considered necessary soon to prohibit all consular officers from entering Port Phillip, the port of Melbourne, between sunset and sunrise.

The Daily News (Government organ) confirms the Standard's report that the Russian has proposed arbitration of the question whether Russia broke the agreement of the 17th of March. The News also states that the Czar is favorable to the plan, and that he is despatching a special envoy to one of the disputing parties to the frontier.

Seventy-five Sisters of Charity from Odessa, twenty-five from Moscow and thirty from St. Petersburg have been ordered to General Komaroff's camp to care for the wounded in one of further hostilities.

He has hitherto, in recognition of his eminent services, received the decoration of the Legion of Honor and a pension of 188,000 marks and the title of Doctor of Philosophy.

Colonel Maritz, a prominent disciple and protégé of Field Marshal Von Moltke, is dead.

A motion giving to municipalities the surplus revenue from Imperial agricultural and import duties was carried yesterday in the Landtag against the opposition of the Liberals.

VIENNA, May 2.—Reports from many parts of Austria state that shocks of earthquake or less severe prevailed during the past twenty-four hours. In several places houses have been wrecked and people injured, and in the Province of Styria a dozen or more persons are reported to have been killed. Several shocks were distinctly felt here yesterday.

The Plague-Stricken District.—There is no improvement in the state of affairs at Plymouth. Doctors from this city have been called to the plague-stricken district to assist in caring for the sick. Physicians estimate that there are not less than 1,600 sick out of a population of 8,000. There were fourteen funerals yesterday and eight deaths are reported. People who can get away are leaving for the Province of Styria. Dr. Higgins, a prominent physician of this city, who has been investigating the disease and its cause, says it is typhoid fever, and is caused by the bad water. The doctor advises the people to boil the water before drinking.

Painters Injured.
BOSTON, Mass., May 2.—At five o'clock last evening a heavy falling standing in the millinery department of the general post office fell twenty-five feet, tearing down the gas piping and fixtures and the electric lighting apparatus and completely wrecking a mailing table. Three painters were carried down with the falling timbers. Of these, Henry Fannum was probably fatally hurt; Powell Kunze had his right leg broken. The fifteen clerks who were working at the table escaped serious harm.

A Profit of $350,000.
YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 2.—Fayette Brown, receiver for Brown, Bonnell & Co., an iron manufacturing firm, has made a statement showing that the mills in this city have made a profit of $350,000 since February 28, 1885. The statement causes surprise in iron circles, and will be of assistance to the iron workers who are demanding that the scale of wages shall not be reduced.

Mail Storm in North Carolina.
HICKORY, May 2.—A severe hail and rain storm visited this section of the State yesterday and was followed by a cyclone. A large number of trees were blown down, and in this town the railroad depot was unroofed. No lives were lost.

Shot by an Ex-Convict.
COLUMBUS, O., May 2.—John Shaffer, a well-known lively stable keeper, was shot dead yesterday morning by Riley Brown, an ex-convict. Several shots were exchanged, and Brown was wounded in the foot. The trouble arose over Shaffer's intimacy with Brown's wife.

RUSSIAN CORVETTE STRELOK.

Visited by a Large Number of Persons in New York Harbor—Enlisting Able Seamen.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Quite a number of people visited the Russian Corvette Strelok yesterday despite the rain. They were cordially received. The vessel has a fast but not very powerful appearance. Engineer Vennik, when asked if the crew feared a brush with the Garnet, said: "O, no. She is stronger and larger, but we have courage."

The looks of the men seemed to warrant the remark. Nearly all were above the average height and of intrepid appearance. They were all very courteous.

A small pigeon house filled with African birds modified the warlike appearance of the ship. All over the ceiling of the cabin were hung heavy revolvers and around the floor were stacks of muskets. The men were stretched in sheltered places, half asleep. A painting of Christ behind a little altar occupied one of the cabins. Opposite the pictures of the Czar and the Empress of Russia, Captain Skryloff was not aboard. It was understood at the Russian consulate that he was in conference at an up-town hotel with Consul General Fosen. Some stalwart young Russians stood around the door of the consulate. One who spoke English told a reporter that the Strelok was short of seamen and that enlistments were being made. The men were notified to be aboard not later than seven last night.

Consul General Fosen was seen later and asked about the Strelok's mission. He laughingly confessed his ignorance of the matter, and merely following orders, he said. "The captain is as independent of me as I am of the English Government and he has told me nothing. As to the Strelok's guarding Russian merchant vessels it is all look. There will be no war. The reports of battles and of this and that place being seized are the inventions of speculators in wheat."

Mr. Booker, the British Consul General, told a reporter that he had received no advice regarding the Strelok nor the Garnet from any source. His judgment of their intentions was no better, he said, than any other man's. He did not know whether or not the Garnet was coming here.

An Insane Woman Savagely Attacks Her Husband with Her Teeth.
BALTIMORE, Md., May 2.—Barney Call, his wife and five children, have lived in Canton for the past three years, earning a living by keeping a fancy goods and grocery store. Recently Mrs. Call has shown unmistakable signs of insanity, but it was not until Thursday that she was considered a subject for a lunatic asylum. The family retired about eleven o'clock. At midnight Mrs. Call awoke her husband, saying that she started vacantly about the room asked her what the matter was. For answer she made a sudden and savage attack upon him. Being a very large woman, and much stronger than her husband, she soon had him at her mercy. She threw him upon the floor and seized his ear with her teeth and tore it in a dreadful manner. She then fastened her teeth in his breast and badly lacerated the flesh. Mr. Call's face was scratched out of all recognition. The frantic woman was overpowered by neighbors who had been attracted by the man's screams, and she was led from the room. Early in the morning she had another spell. She imagined that her children had been stolen away and armed with a heavy bladed of wood she attacked three police officers who were near the house. The woman was handcuffed and removed to Spring Grove Insane Asylum.

To the Emperor Alexander, of Russia:

Decides That the Dead Should Not be Disturbed.
BALTIMORE, May 2.—In the city Circuit Court yesterday, Judge Brown gave his decision in case of Blanch Ehlen, of Philadelphia, against her father-in-law, John F. Ehlen, in which the plaintiff sought to have her husband's body removed from Greenmount cemetery, this city, to her father's lot in Laurel Hill. The judge held that the body was interred in Greenmount with the knowledge and assent of the complainant. He holds that it is required by public policy and every sense of propriety that the dead should lie where they have been properly buried, and that there could be no more fitting place of burial for the remains of a son than beside his mother's grave.
