South Charleston Sentinel: "It will not be long until our County Convention meets to name candidates for the different places, the most important of which is the right man for Representative. We have several good men in Madison township who have been spoken of in connection with the place, viz: A. F. Telf, Seymour Harold, D. T. Colvin, J. C. Fringle, R. B. McColm and John Hemphill. If this township can agree on one of the above named gentlemen, and stand by him we may succeed; otherwise we must fail."

Divorce Petition. In Common Pleas Court this morning E. S. Wallace, Esq., as attorney for Sarah J. Smith, brought suit for her divorce from Strother E. Smith, on the ground of gross neglect of duty and failure to furnish the necessities of life, although, as alleged, abundantly able to do so. The parties were married in Urb. on Oct. 27, 1859. Defendant has been willfully absent from plaintiff for more than the three years last past. He has removed from this State and his present whereabouts are unknown to plaintiff.

Rev. Lucien Clarke's Lecture. The first of a new series of lectures at St. Paul M. E. church, was delivered last evening by Rev. Lucien Clarke, of Pittsburg, to an audience of about 300 people in which Mr. Clarke's former parishioners of High street church were numerously represented. The speaker was introduced by Dr. Buckley. His subject was: "A Sound Mind," and he argued that the real key to perfect happiness in this life was a sound mental equipment, independently of any or all of the fleshly ills to which men are heirs. The elements of a sound mind are a clear head and a good heart. Intellect and education are not absolutely necessary to mental soundness. Numerous illustrations were given, some of a humorous nature, under each branch of the subject, and frequent quotations from the poets made for the same purpose. It was declared that with a sound mind will be sympathy, honesty and many other qualities of perfect manhood.

The next lecture in the course will be at the same place one week from this evening, May 15, by Rev. A. B. Leonard, D. D. Subject, "Wonders of the West."

Grand Army Matters. At the regular meeting last evening of Mitchell Post, No. 45, G. A. R., six applicants were elected and four new recruits mustered in. General orders are to observe of Memorial Day, May 30 (already published in full in this paper) and conveying the testimonial to Post Department Commander H. P. Lloyd ordered by the Encampment at Akron, were read.

The annual inspection of the Post was made by Colonel A. O. Huffman, District Inspector. Comrade Putnam announced that, while it was not absolutely certain Grand Army Day would be at Springfield this year, it was more than likely, and Comrades Putnam, King and Huffman were made a committee to select a date; probably on or about August 5.

It was announced that comrade A. M. Burbank would have charge of the music at the services in U. A. R. hall Sunday, May 27. The Women's Relief Corps was added to the Flower Committee for Memorial Day. An invitation was received and accepted for all G. A. R. comrades to attend the State Convention of Sons of Veterans next Tuesday and Wednesday and it was voted that Mitchell Post entertain the convention at a camp fire and supper in the hall Tuesday evening. Comrades Bartholomew, Grant and Nuffer were appointed a committee to make arrangements.

Comrade A. Nick, Storrer, of Philadelphia, formerly on the staff of Commander-in-Chief Bath, was present and addressed the Post acceptably. Adjourned to meet next Friday evening May 15.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

Meeting of Citizens at the Mayor's Office, Thursday Evening.

At a largely attended meeting of citizens of Springfield held at the Mayor's office, Mr. John W. Parsons, Chairman of the Republican Committee, called the meeting to order and stated the object of the gathering to be to make good promises made to the State Committee, to provide facilities and accommodations for the Republican State Convention.

On motion Capt. Asa S. Buswell was called to the Chair and O. M. Nichols was chosen Secretary.

Capt. Buswell made a humorous and effective statement of the manner in which Springfield's delegation went over to Columbus and captured the State Convention, and of the guarantees given to the Committee. It was now the duty of our citizens to give to the Convention the largest possible facilities and the most ample accommodations.

Mr. J. S. Miles was called upon and responded briefly, but aptly. It was his understanding that neither of the Opera Houses had sufficient capacity to meet the demands of the Convention.

Mr. J. F. Hayward stated that seats for 681 persons could be provided on the first floor of Black's.

Judge Littler stated that the convention was going to be a very large one. There would be 800 delegates and as many alternates. We should have a building to accommodate 2,500 to 3,000 persons. The Western Union company had agreed to put in wires and instruments for the use of the convention.

Geo. H. Frey, Esq., stated that we had no hall equal to the demands of the convention and moved that the citizens proceed to erect such a building as is required.

Geo. Ketter spoke in favor of the motion. Not only strangers but many of our own people would be glad to attend the convention. We shall have no difficulty in finding and caring for those who come, but we must erect a commodious building.

Judge John C. Miller admitted that we had an elephant but we proposed to take good care of it—and must do so. We had an elephant in the State Fair in 1870 and 1871, but the animal was not equal to the preparations made for him. Seventeen or eighteen congressional delegations could be accommodated in the county buildings.

Gen. Ketter said the remainder of the delegations could be accommodated in law offices. Hon. J. K. Mower asked if a tent could not be secured?

Mr. James Foley thought a tent wouldn't do.

Mr. Miles spoke of the dimensions and character of the building needed, which could be erected for $1,500.

The Chairman made some valuable suggestions. He was in favor of a good building—something a little better than Constock's Opera House. We should seek 2,000 in the auditorium and 500 on the stage. We should have provision for the accommodation of the ladies. We should make such good and such ample arrangements that all who come here will want to come again—and always come here. With the consent of the Council, the structure could be erected on the Market Square. The expense need not exceed $1,500.

Mr. Oliver S. Kelly reminded the meeting of the pledges which were made by the committee—not only to provide a hall, but to meet all the expenses of the convention, provide printing, music, &c., and hotel entertainment at $2 and not exceeding $2.50 per day.

Mr. Frey's motion—amended to provide for the building of a State Wigwam—was unanimously and heartily adopted.

Judge Littler moved that a committee of five persons be appointed to confer with the City Council and with contractors, as to plans, and to take such action as necessary.

Mr. Miles moved a substitute to effect that a committee of three be appointed to appoint sub-committees.

Mr. Mower moved the appointment of an executive committee, with plenary powers. Judge Littler accepted Mr. Miles's amendment.

Mr. George Perkins spoke of the several committees—especially one to take good care of members of the Press—which were needed. Judge Littler's motion, as amended, was adopted unanimously.

On motion of Gen. Ketter, Capt. Asa S. Buswell was made chairman of the committee. Messrs. O. S. Kelly and J. S. Miles were chosen the other members of the committee.

On motion the meeting adjourned to meet at the Mayor's office, Saturday evening, at 7:30, and all are invited to be present.

Probability of the Meeting of Ohio Prohibitionist State Convention in Springfield. For some weeks past prominent local Prohibitionists have been quietly working to secure their State Convention at Springfield, and now feel very confident that they will secure it. Members of the State Executive Committee and prominent leaders have been written to and interviewed, and almost universally express themselves as favorable to this location. This morning, President Colvin, of the local club, received a letter from Hon. Jay Odell, of Cleveland, chairman of the State Executive Committee, expressing his hearty co-operation towards bringing the convention here. The meeting of the committee for selecting time and place will soon be announced, and it is safe to set it down for Springfield and the latter part of June or first of July as the time.

The general feeling is in favor of holding a grand mass meeting in connection with the convention, with such speakers as ex-Governor St. John, late candidate, &c., Hon. John B. Fitch, of Nebraska, chairman of the National Executive Committee, Mrs. Lathrop and others, at least two of those named, and probably all three, being counted on as sure. The Springfield club, at its meeting Friday night, will extend a formal invitation to the State organization and appoint the proper committee to take charge of the matter.

Massachusetts Musicals. The Springfield Massenerchor and a large number of their gentlemen and lady friends spent last evening very pleasantly in their hall, the occasion being the usual monthly social and musical entertainment. During the evening the following programs were credibly rendered:

- 1. Chorus, "The Lord's Own at Home."
2. Quartette, "Mantua's Farewell."
3. Chorus, "At the Altar of Truth."
4. Recitation, "Kindergarten."
5. Chorus, "O'Connell."
6. Quartette, "Serenade."
7. Solo, "The Olden Days."
8. Recitation, "Chas. Duerer."
9. Chorus, "The Water Cure."
10. Recitation, "Chas. Duerer."
11. Chorus, "My Native Valley."
12. Chorus, "The Tailor's Banquet Song."

Some of the songs were very well rendered. The Tailor's Banquet Song, by the Tailor's Banquet Song.

GENERAL GRANT'S CASE.

"Someone Has Blundered"—Can it be Possible?

The New York Herald says: "If General Grant should recover from a disease which should prove not to have been what it has been described, then his medical attendants will be expected to explain the reasons for one of the most remarkable instances of discrepancy ever recounted in the history of medical practice."

The other day an eminent young physician in the last stages of consumption, unable longer to rest, called for pen and paper and indelicately wrote this advice to his physician: "I have been told that the best purpose of General Grant's attending physicians. They were making dying comfortable, but they were not curing their patient. He smoothes them!"

The attending physician's diagnosis and properly to treat General Grant's disorder was a serious blunder, emphasizing what has so often been said, that professional treatment, being purely experimental, is just as likely to be wrong as right.

Had the general an ailment on his arm the physicians would have treated it scientifically, very scientifically. He might have recovered or they might have cut his arm off. Some dear old soul of a grandmother, however, might have been the cause of his ailment, and his physician's remedy, and healed it, but there would have been no "professional science" in such a proceeding, as his remedy would not be one recognized by the code!

The general's physicians excuse themselves, we are told, because the condition of the throat was hidden from sight. There are thousands of cases where disease is hidden from sight, where the symptoms are very obscure and conflicting. The physicians will treat everything where they do not know, and finally the patient dies, and they discover they have made a mistake! A horrible mistake! The other day a prominent merchant in a neighboring city was found dead in bed. A post-mortem examination revealed the fact that one of his other vital organs was entirely decayed, and yet his physicians had been treating him for heart disease!

Some one has blundered. For weeks the American public have been waiting for the disclosure of the general's death. To-day, the general is up and around and riding out.

People get well often in spite of what their doctors say and do. Why? By will power? No. By life force. No.

They live because outside the medical profession medical science there are effective remedial agencies in nature which, though "unrecognized" by the code, have supreme power over disease, and in thousands of cases will triumph over the so-called scientific treatment of a truly fatal.

A prominent ex-cabinet officer is today on the very edge of the grave, suffering from an extreme disorder of the liver. His doctors know they cannot cure him. They simply are making dying comfortable.

The agony of death in many cases is read by surrounding friends in screams of pain, in convulsions of nerve, in spasms of torture—the fit and the chills, the breath, the dreadful coughing, the bloody sweat—the supreme indicia of a failure to cure upon a helpless body,—indicate the limitations of professional skill.

Never-tenth of the deaths of this country every year are from hepatic and renal disorders, over which physicians have no little power. They are curable, and it is the other thing to make dying comfortable, but they know they cannot cure, and yet they will not permit the use of remedies "unauthorized" by their code, whether they are altogether allopathic.

If the system, as is common at this time of day, has its tone, and one has tired and depressed feelings, the doctor will tell you that the blood needs purifying, but he will not tell you, what he knows to be true, that the blood is impure because the kidneys are not performing their blood-purifying function.

The failure of the physicians in General Grant's case ought to have an eye-opening effect upon the public. It ought to see the futility of trusting entirely in a profession whose practice is largely experimental. The test of merit is success, and when any agency has won a record proved by the testimony of prominent men and women in all ranks of society, it stands to reason that such a preparation is worthy of universal confidence. Who has not heard of it? Who has not used it? Who can gainay the statement that it has wrought greater benefit for mankind than anything ever discovered in the ranks of the medical profession? And yet many physicians do not bound hand and foot to their code with its low, but they prescribe the use of Warner's safe cure. Nevertheless, some of their small-minded bigotry, it multiplies instances of its singular merit by thousands every day, resists satisfied with the record it has won, and challenges comparison with the record of the most reputable physician.

It is a terrible thing to lose our friends, especially if we find out afterwards that they might have been saved. General Grant is getting well. We are glad General Grant is getting well. He deserves to live and in living he will emphasize the fact that physicians do not have a monopoly over disease; that "scientific medicine," so called, is not infallible; that all remedial agencies were not born with doctors and will not die with them.

Tribute to a Teacher. The death of Miss Mary Buford, one of the corps of teachers at Pleasant street school, has been announced in this paper. The following embodies the action of the surviving members in view of the sad event:

WHEREAS, It hath pleased Almighty God, ruler of all things to summons from labor to reward our esteemed friend and associate teacher, Mary C. Buford, one who by her kind and loving disposition, her friendship of all who knew her; therefore be it resolved,

1. That it is a just tribute to the memory of the departed to say that in regretting her removal we mourn for one who was in every way worthy of our highest respect and regard.

2. That while we bow in humble submission to the will of God, we can not but feel that the church has lost a faithful Christian, the profession a faithful teacher and we a mutual friend.

3. That we sincerely condole the parents and relatives of the deceased in their sad bereavement and commend them to Him who is refuge and strength in affliction.

4. That this testimonial of our sympathy and sorrow be forwarded to the family of the departed and submitted to the press.

Offered in behalf of the teachers of Pleasant Street School.

May 5, 1885.

The handsome gold watch at St. Joseph's Church Fair was sold last Saturday evening, and was won by Miss Maggie Kearns, of 299 East Pleasant street, for selling the largest number of combination tickets. The number sold by Miss Kearns was 483 tickets.

A St. L. us bachelor sat down to a table in his room to write a letter, when an insignificant black spider advanced toward him on the table. He took a straw from a broom and drew it gently over the spider's back and legs for ten minutes, when it went away. The next evening the spider reappeared and went through the same thing with the broom straw, to his evident pleasure. This was kept up to the winter, the black spider coming out regularly every night for a frolic with the broom straw.

SPRINGFIELD DROPS A GAME.

Youngstown Wins the First of the Series in a Close and Hot Contest—Good Sport at the Hall Park—The Erie To-Morrow.

It was a cold day and Springfield got left. That's all there is of it, and disbanded Dayton is welcome to make the most of it.

All the same, good ball was played, and the 300 or 400 shivers on the grounds were given something to applaud and did applaud both sides liberally. Up to the fifth inning the first of the Inter-State Championship series between the Springfield-ids and Youngstown played yesterday on the home grounds, was as pretty an exhibition of ball tossing as ever was seen here. The totals are against us, four to three, but should have been the other way by a score of two to one.

Springfield's error column is the full score given herewith shows what did it. To be home team was simply outplayed and came near being outplayed, to put the thing in a nutshell. The Youngstons were as fine a team as ever came to town; quiet, gentlemanly, well-disciplined ball players. Their fielding is nearly perfect with first-class team work; they are fair batters and generally better at running bases than our own men, with individual exceptions. They have the advantage, at this early stage, of more and better practice than the Springfield-ids have had. They have with them Toole and Weir of last year's Springfielders. Overbeck pitches a slow twister which is puzzling, and it was some
