SUNDAY MORNING MAY 24, 1885.

DAILY WEATHER REPORT.

Table with columns: Date, Time, Wind, Weather. Includes data for May 23, 1885, and a forecast for May 24, 1885.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

Ohio Republican Committee Rooms, Columbus, May 4, 1885. The Republican State Convention of 1885 will be held in the city of Springfield on Thursday, June 11, 1885.

The delegates of each Congressional District will convene at 9 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of electing one Vice President for the Convention and one member of each of the various Committees. The Convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock a. m. for temporary organization, and at 2 o'clock p. m. for permanent organization and the transaction of its other business.

COUNTIES.

Table listing counties and their respective delegates and votes. Columns include County Name, No. Delegates, and No. Votes.

We recommend that efforts be made to secure a large attendance at the meetings to appoint delegates, so that the people shall be fairly represented in the State Convention; that gentlemen be not chosen as delegates unless it be certain that they will attend; and that, as far as practicable, the County Central Committees be appointed at the same time that delegates are chosen, if this has not already been done.

Chairman Republican State Central Committee, A. C. CAINE, Secretary.

Victor Hugo, the great French poet and novelist is dead, and France will never look upon his like again.

We cast a circus joke, so to speak, into the press in order to gain time to make the announcement that the new postal cards will be "pink," not a "day."

If the final act of the Illinois Legislature in re-electing Logan as Senator is to be regarded as a death-bed repentance it is pleasant to note that it is regarded as satisfactory, nevertheless.

Governor Hoodly's candidacy for re-nomination rests upon contingencies, and the nature of the contingencies are of sufficient questionableness as to make his candidacy as absolute certainty. In politics things go that way.

The Democratic revolt against the President because of his supposed hesitancy in dispensing the spoils seems to be doomed to a premature end. The post-masters' heads are falling into the basket at the rate of one hundred per day.

The trouble which has threatened to break out in an open strike, between the manufacturers and the iron-workers belonging to the Amalgamated Association, promises to reach amicable settlement, by mutual concessions.

The best dates for Conventions in Springfield having been taken for the season, our managers are compelled to go over into 1886. The first application comes from the Ohio Pharmaceutical Association, for first Wednesday in June.

The Ohio State Tribune, published by D. A. Rudd, (colored), is very emphatic in saying "Judge Foraker will meet with strong opposition from the colored people and press," and reads the riot act to the papers that insist "that there is nothing in it."

It is understood that Gen. John Beatty will be placed in nomination for Governor at the State Convention by Judge S. A. Ambler, of Salem, and seconded by Col. Allen Miller, of New Lexington. Both of these gentlemen are among the ablest orators of the State.

It has become a very common saying that the last Legislature was the very worst we have ever had. This reminds us of what we say about our winters—the last was the very worst, and the point of the matter is that we believe what we say, and so does everybody else—in both cases.

The Enquirer suggests a disposition of Durbin Ward. It says he should be sent to Kansas, where Democrats are so scarce that President Cleveland and the Postmaster General were compelled to consult with Van Wyck, the Republican Senator from that State, in regard to the official appointments in the State.

Odium, the athletic idiot, who jumped from the Brooklyn bridge and lost his life recalls the famous Sam Patch who, about a generation ago, jumped from the cliff at Genesee Falls. The last martyr is, however, a victim to the value of advertising. He wanted notoriety for his swimming school which he intended to open soon. Free advertising sometime comes higher than the regular rates.

It is said that Senator John A. Logan will oppose many of the President's appointments on the ground that the latter has not given proper recognition to Union soldiers, while the ex-Confederates have been excessively remembered with official patronage. There appears to be abundant room for an effort of this kind, and no one seems to be better fitted for the place than the Senator from Illinois.

"Liberty" has started from France to "enlighten the world" from a spot which she has selected at the entrance of New York harbor. She has taken passage on the steamer Iser, and barring accidents and sea sickness will arrive at the harbor before enough dollars can be raised to furnish a stage for the grand enlightening act. Why not put her in a weighman. That is the way Springfield does with her elephant.

It is said that the property of the late Wendell Phillips, which was said to aggregate $200,000, amounts to only about $8,000. The explanation given is that Mr. Phillips had invested in mining and other stocks that are entirely worthless, although their value on paper amounts up among the hundreds of thousands. The fact will be somewhat of a surprise to the country generally, as the great orator was believed to have good business ability, although somewhat erratic in many of his notions.

Small-pox is raging with great fury in Montreal, and the health department acknowledges its inability to continue the fight against the small-pox fiend. The epidemic is largely confined to the French Canadian population, many of whom absolutely refuse to be vaccinated.

It is a subject of remark that the herding of the lower class of foreigners in quarters by themselves is a constant menace to the health of our cities. They are generally possessed with prejudice against all sanitary measures, and thus furnish ample fuel to feed "the fiends of the air."

By a recent act of Congress, the importation of pauper labor into this country from Europe has been prohibited. It was a wise and timely thing to do. Time and again the Government has been made aware of the fact that inhuman scoundrels by the blackest deception possible, had been engaged in luring laborers from their homes to this country, where they were landed in masses, without means of support, and soon becoming paupers to be supported by the community. Recently it has been discovered that a number of laborers were induced by some means to embark for Guatemala, where instead of the great reward of lands and employment they were really sold into servitude, the producers realizing $10 per head. This illustrates the methods and the success which follows the designs upon the poor laborers. The punishment which such atrocities merit can hardly be too great, and it should be immediate.

A question is to be decided in Boston which may, in some measure, effect the country generally, and that is whether "evangelists" can over-ride municipal ordinances by holding open-air meetings on Sundays in places where no other gatherings to listen to addresses are permitted. If such ordinances are enforced against all other kinds of meetings the "evangelists" have no claim for favors, but should not be singled out for prosecution and the non-religious speakers allowed to go free.

When the contest began the Illinois legislature was a tie in joint session. Three members died during the contest, two Democrats and one Republican. In two instances no political change was made by the election of new members, but in one the Democrats were caught napping and a Republican elected to succeed a Democrat. This gave the Republicans a majority. Through these electoral vicissitudes Logan was finally elected, and, bad as Black Jack has been painted, he says: "This is the Lord's doings."

Riel, the captured leader of the half-breed rebellion, is little better than a sniffling booby. He whines about being influenced by others to go into the rebellion, and is given to carressing the crucifix, and much audible ejaculations to the deity. Mr. Riel ought to be informed that the Canadian Government, now that he is theirs, is in a remarkable quandary as to what to do with him; it would probably ease his mind. By the way, we suggest that Riel have recourse to some of his vocms, which which he was accredited during the hey-day of his late escapade, fire them into the Canadian Government until it gladly bids him depart.

Captain Boynton, the famous swimmer, has succeeded in advertising his torpedo scheme in naval warfare, by way of a joke. He attached the infernal machine to the British frigate Garnet in the night by swimming cautiously to the boat. But it is likely to prove a serious joke to responsible parties on board the Garnet. The sentry who should have discovered the intruder was sentenced to forty-five days' imprisonment, and the lieutenant who captured and released Boynton and his associates is under arrest awaiting the action of the British admiralty. If the British government can find any real use for this male mermaid perhaps they had better take it.

Now there is the National Undertakers' convention, a person would naturally suppose that for sake of real, quiet and truly artistic harmony it might well go to Columbus or Dayton, but it seems to act on business principles, in fact it is a live business organization, and hence comes to Springfield, of course.—Springfield Sunday Globe-Republic.

Wait till those fellows take your measure. You will think it is "a live business organization" then. By the way, we have heretofore failed to get the organization to reduce funeral expenses in the interest of dying in hard times, and we hope our contemporaries of the Champion City will be able to bring about such a reform.—Ohio State Journal.

We hardly have time to provide for "dying in hard times," and if we make the effort to reduce the expense, it will be simply a neighborly act, for the benefit of Columbus and other municipal invalids.

Russia seems to be very slow to allow a definite settlement of the Afghan boundary question. One time it is this and then it is that reason for delay, and in the meantime she is cross, very surly, and painfully (to England) independent. The ceaseless worming with which she seems to delight in afflicting the British mind is lacking any visible signs of abatement—in fact, "the gaping wounds are torn afresh," and while England dances in pain, Russia keeps up a roaring laugh. The Czar certainly has it in his mind to divert Mr. Gladstone from his amorous flirtations with the ladies at present, also to give the inhabitants of the "right littleisle" ample justification for an exalted respect for Russia's diplomatic as well as her military resources.

Not four days ago a horse standing opposite this office was noticed as suffering acute pain. The poor brute's head was reined tight with an over-head check and the efforts made by the horse to gain some ease by a change of position was painful to see.

As late as the Eighteenth Century, Irish farmers fastened their plows or harrows to the tail of the horse, evidently to save the expense of harness. The terrible barbarity was suppressed by Parliament in a law, "Against plowage by the tail." It cannot be regarded, even by Mr. Ingersoll, as one of the mistakes of Moses when he forbade muzzles for the oxen that were threshing out the wheat.

The over-check is as cruel as the Irish "tail" plowing, and less humane than the barbarity of the ancients.

Today Her Majesty Victoria, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, Empress of India, is sixty-six years old, forty-seven years of her life she has wielded the scepter of England. Outraining Elizabeth, and outraged three Kings, Henry III., Edward III., Plantagenet, and George III., the Hanoverian.

Under Victoria the great inventions of modern times have appeared, and she has outlived the great ruling minds of the Age in all departments of the great World's activities—Wellington and Garibaldi, Paganini and Wagner, Talleyrand and Beaconsfield, Bentham and Darwin, Sydney Smith and Carlyle.

The good Queen has lived her great life well, and will no doubt lay down her scepter at the end without a single crime to tarnish her good name. "Long live the Queen."

Wittenberg Commencement Exercises. The final examination of the Senior class was given Friday, and next morning the members were assigned their subjects for commencement day, which will be the 26th of June. The exercises will take place in the college campus, beginning at 9 a. m. The programme of exercises is given below:

- PROGRAMME. MUSIC. PRAYER. MUSIC. May Breckenridge, Ophelia. Bruce Chorpington, American Politics. Frank R. Dean, Political Indifference. H. H. Follen, Intellectual Fiction. Noble C. King, Possibilities of Electricity. J. C. Lower, The 15th Amendment. F. Newton Shaffer, The Jingo Policy. Sallie M. Shaffer, Savannah. Jas. W. Shannon, Anthracite Coal. Henry A. Williams, Letters and Life. First Honor. James M. Gregg, 62 years of age, was taken to the county infirmary Friday, from Greene township, and it is believed cannot live long. He is an old soldier of the Union army and afflicted with rheumatism contracted in the service on his first enlistment. The government refused him a pension on a technicality, a surgeon passing him for re-enlistment without a clean bill of health. He was a member of Capt. Stewart's company. It is "hard lines" for such a man to go to the poor house.

ABOUT OUR OWN PEOPLE.

Buchwalter, of Superior Drill Co., left this morning for Chattanooga, Tenn., on business.—Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hershey are congratulated upon the arrival of a daughter.—Robert Johnson has returned from Pittsburg.—Mr. W. Kelly spent Sunday in Xenia.—Mr. Eugene Steward entertained his friend, W. G. Wilkinson, of Urbana, Sunday.

The public schools will close the last week of May.

Chas. J. Pretzman writes from the Hartz mountains in Germany that it is very chilly and that he is utilizing a copy of the Cincinnati Com. Gaz. between his undershirt and his outer garment.

The following additional Assessors' reports have been made: J. V. Purcell, for Donnellsville precinct, $204,474, a decrease of $33,000; John Connelly, for First ward, $309,317, a gain of $20,000; J. K. Parker, for Fourth ward, $201,417, a decrease of $37,800.

Sunday fishermen and base ballists from the city held their carnival in the neighborhood of Logans Games of ball were played on the lands of W. H. Berger, Morris Zimmerman and Thos. Haley. These gentlemen give fair warning that they intend to take legal steps at once against any future Sabbath desecration on their premises.

Among the many who spent Sunday at the Yellow Springs House are: Mr. Thomas McGrew, wife and son; Mr. Abbott and Miss Nellie Baldwin, Mr. Charles Driscoll and wife; Messrs. Barney McGrew, C. Jeffries, Ralph Bartholomew and Mert Heiges. They all speak very highly of the manner in which Mr. Grove conducts the house.

Patrick Mullahy, by his attorney, Randolph Coleman, Saturday filed a damage suit for $10,000 against the Indiana, Bloomington & Western Railroad Company for having his rail smashed and three toes amputated by a rail breaking while attempting to bend it, the rail falling on his foot. Plaintiff alleges a defective rail and careless management on the part of defendant.

The repairs and decoration of the chemical extinguisher have been completed, and the machine is ready to leave the shop, but will remain there a week or two longer while the projected improvements at the Central engine house are being made—new board ceiling, fresh paint, etc. The Central boys had a sermon preached to them exclusively last Sunday. A workman in one of the shops who has a gift at street preaching entertained a crowd at Main and Market streets during the afternoon. Somebody told him that as the sermons were constantly on duty they could not go to church, and, taking the hint, he went up and gave the boys a talk all by themselves.

The following assignment of cases on the criminal docket were made in Common Pleas Court Monday: Tuesday, May 26, State vs. John Liggins, burglary and larceny. Wednesday, May 27, State vs. John King, same. State vs. Charles Meyer, grand larceny. May 28, State vs. Cooper and Meyers, grand larceny. May 29, State vs. Wm. Jobs, embezzlement. Monday, June 1, State vs. G. F. Bauer, perjury. State vs. Ella Smith, indecent exposure of person. June 2, State vs. Sweeney & Norton, liquor. State vs. James Malone, same. State vs. Thomas Burke, same. June 3, State vs. George W. Osborne, liquor. State vs. Metzger and Weaver, same. State vs. George C. Steele, assault and battery. All for and following June 1 are cases holding over from the last term.

In Common Pleas Court, before Judge White this morning, Wm. Jobs, the slippery squire from Catawba, whose arrest in Indiana is elsewhere noted, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty to the charge of embezzlement. His bond was fixed at $1,000, and in default he was committed. There are three indictments against Jobs, one as treasurer of Division No. 90, Sons and Daughters of Temperance, for embezzlement of funds in his keeping as such officer to the amount of $41.91, a second for appropriating a note of $113.50 placed in his hands for collection by Henry McClintock, and the third for embezzlement of the $113.50 proceeds of the note. Jobs has secured E. S. Wallace, Esq., as his attorney, and some interesting questions are likely to be raised on trial of the case, as to the nature of the alleged offense.

TUESDAY.—A. G. Bethard has gone to Zanesville to represent the I. O. F. lodges of this county in the Grand Lodge of Ohio.—Her Billy Diehl sent his daughter, Mrs. C. M. The Pleasant Township Assessor made his final report today to the County Auditor. Total personalty, $252,970, against $298,260 last year, a falling off of $45,290.

Letters patent were granted at Washington to Springfield inventors last week as follows: Christian Hauka, adjustable cresting. John J. Hoppes, feed water heater. Fuller Trump, crank shaft. Also to D. N. Tarbox, Cedarville, tree fastener.

The Bicycle Club met Tuesday night but did not complete their programme for the coming State meet of wheelmen. They meet for this purpose next Monday evening.

Prof. Billy Love's quintette was out on a serenading tour Monday night, and among others called upon C. E. Hill, of the GLOBE-REPUBLIC. The quintette comprises Messrs. James, tenor; Roberts, second tenor; McFarland, leader; Barnett, alto, and Logan, bass. Their music was highly appreciated.

Washington specials say Charlie Constantine's features are familiar around the White House. There is a prospect that First Assistant P. M. General Malcolm Hay will have to resign, his health not improving by his southern tour. In that case our Charlie is going to get the coveted place or know the reason why.

Springfield seems to be the center of much public attention, just at present at least, as the following, among other things, would indicate:

A. J. Wilson, of the Bloomington, Ill., Daily Pantagraph, has written here to say that an excursion party, composed of solid citizens of Bloomington and vicinity, which party will number from thirty to sixty persons, has been organized there to arrive in Springfield via the L. & W. railroad, at 9:45 a. m. Thursday, May 28. The Illinois brethren will, as a body, remain with us but one day, having engaged accommodations at the Arcade Hotel, but there will be abundance of time for them all to visit the manufacturing establishments and other points of interest in and about the city, and some steps should be taken by our representative men toward the reception and proper entertainment of the visitors. Among them will be, it is now expected, Congressman Rowell, Mayor Funk, of Bloomington, Judge Bledsoe, Geo. P. Davis, Esq., only son and business manager of Ex-Vice President and U. S. Senator David Davis, City Clerk S. Waddle, a Clark county boy, T. F. Howard, of the Bloomington Gas Co., S. Noble King, the great land owner and others of prominence. As your older business men are pretty busy just now with other matters, why could not some of the younger ones—say Ed. S. Kelly, Will S. Thomas, Theo. Troup, Jerry Hunt, John Kinnade, Thos. J. Kirkpatrick, Chas. G. Rowley, J. F. McGrew and others like them in enterprise, ability and loyalty to the city's interests—take up the matter and organize a reception?

TUESDAY.—Thos. F. McGrew and wife went to Cincinnati this morning.—G. W. Nourse, of East, Foss & Co., is in Michigan, in the interest of the firm.—Mr. and Mrs. John Bean, and Miss Nettie, have returned from California.—E. A. Morgan, of the Gazette, left today for the Magnetic Springs and Northern Ohio.—Mrs. Teegarden and Mrs. Gardner will spend the summer at the seashore.—Mrs. A. G. Bradenburg, see Minnie Wright, and little daughter, started today for Kansas City, Mo., to join her husband.—Mrs. Cynthia Davis, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. Davis, of Clark street for months, has returned to her home in Montpelier, Vt.—Judge Littler is reported on the sick list today.—Dr. Barry was called to his home at Blanchesville, O., today on account of the illness of his mother.—Dr. F. U. Raynan, of this city, has been elected vice president of the Mad River Medical Association.—Mrs. Oscar T. Martin went to Cincinnati today.—Mr. Frank Fullerton, of the Hanika Iron Fence Co., has been quite sick for some days.—Mrs. Harriet Hammond is the guest of her sister Mrs. J. M. Derrickson at Logans.

—Miss Nettie Swartbough, of this city, visited in Vienna last week.—Tom Moore will plaster Mr. Detrick's house at Vienna.—Harry Tavener and Harry Frock spent Sunday in Vienna.—Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hartman are visiting friends at Vienna today.

The chemical extinguisher engine, which has been rebuilt and made as good as new after the break-down last winter, was run out of the shop yesterday and is again in commission at the Central engine house. It has been painted a dark maroon and striped in gold to correspond with the truck and hose reels at the Central, and Capt Duffie is very proud of it and spoiling for a run. Chief Simpson came out in a new light road wagon yesterday, fitted for fire duty. The alarm gong is attached underneath the body. When it sounds, get out of the way.

At the meeting of the Ohio Pharmaceutical Association in Sandusky, Thursday, Springfield, O., was chosen the next place of meeting, on first Wednesday in June, 1886.

FRIDAY.—Miss Ella Baker, daughter of Sheriff Wm. B. Baker, has gone to Chillicothe to visit Mrs. Mickeljohn.—Mrs. Flora Goucher, formerly of this city, now of Chicago, is the guest of Mrs. L. M. Doup, of South Factory.—Mr. Claude Meeker, of the Enquirer, was in the city today.—Dr. Virgil Coblenz, of this city, read an important paper before the Ohio Pharmaceutical Association.—Mr. Wm. Grove, of the Yellow Springs House, was in the city today.—Miss Esther Simpson will take part in the Naad Queen opera.

Hayward, of Kansas city, is in the city.—Mr. F. Piper, of Philadelphia, is in the city.—Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hosterman left this morning for Sioux City, Ia.—Miss Lizzie Steele went to Dayton today.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT BY WHICH NIGHT YARDMASTER BARNEZ, OF THE OHIO SOUTHERN, MET HIS DEATH LAST NIGHT.

A steaming and fatal accident deprived Adrian Barnes, night yard-master of the Ohio Southern Railroad, at this point, of his life Friday evening, several cars passing over the trunk and crushing the right shoulder and arm into a horrible mass of mangled flesh and bone. The accident occurred at 9:10 o'clock on the siding running along the East street Champion shop warehouse, just at the point where a sawing-like structure is built over a doorway to the outer edge of the platform, to protect men engaged in loading freight cars. A reporter for the GLOBE-REPUBLIC rode out in the patrol wagon when the call from Box 50 was answered and learned from parties who witnessed the accident that Mr. Barnes was in the act of descending from the top of a box car, by the steps or holds on the side of the car, one of which gave away and let him drop. A switchman who was on the next car, not ten feet distant, says that as Barnes raised himself to get another hold and save the fall, he was struck by the projecting roof, or wooden awning, and knocked off, falling to the ground between the platform and track, four cars passing over his prostrate body, the train moving westward, across East street. There is some disagreement on the part of other witnesses, two of whom were on the platform, as to whether or not the man was struck by the awning, but Mr. Bohrer, the switchman, is positive on that point. When found the trunk of the body lay flat on the back, close to the platform, the head lying between the rails. It was severed diagonally, taking off the lower jaw and exposing the brain. The flanges of the wheels had also cut the right shoulder and arm through and through. The coroner was not notified until the patrol force arrived and the remains were covered with a cloth, where they lay until the men were ready to place them in the wagon. They were then taken to Coroner Coleman's undertaking rooms at Main and Factory streets, where an inquest will be held this evening.

The deceased came here first several years ago, with Wm. Thornburg, from Cleveland, and held a position on the O. E. R. while it was a narrow gauge. When Mr. Thornburg became superintendent of the Tuscarawas Valley road, he went with him and had charge of the yards at Bridgeport. Eight weeks ago he returned here and was night yard clerk for two weeks, and since has been night yard-master. He was a first-class man and was held in high esteem by his employers and those under him. He leaves a young wife and one or two children, residing at the corner of Liberty and Pearl streets. He was also a member of Ephraim Lodge, No. 146, I. O. O. F.

It is said he has been quite unfortunate, having met with a number of accidents at his work; none very serious however.

There is this additional to say regarding the manner in which the accident occurred. It is impossible that Barnez could have been struck by the shed, or awning. As stated, the train was moving west and his body, when found, lay beyond the west end of the roof. Besides by actual measurement, there is over two feet of space between the edge of a box car would come. Affidavits have been taken that two other employes fell Friday, or about that time, because of the same defective step or hand hold which caused Barnes to fall. The car was photographed to show the defect.
