Earthquakes in India.

LONDON, June 2.—Dispatches from Bombay just received say that disastrous earthquakes have occurred in the cashmere country of India. The shocks began Sunday and have continued at intervals of ten minutes ever since. The shocks are very severe at Serenagar, capital of Cashmere, and the barracks in which several hundred soldiers were quartered, was completely destroyed, collapsing so suddenly that nearly half the men were imprisoned in the debris, fifty are known to have been killed while fully on hundreds were more or less injured. A portion of the city was demolished, while very few remaining buildings escaped injury. The people became panic-stricken shortly after the disturbance began, and fled from the city taking refuge in boats and tents and open fields. The damage caused throughout the Vale of Cashmere is enormous. The loss in cattle alone is very great, and the afflicted people seem to be utterly hopeless, and succor is being sent them as rapidly as the Indian authorities can afford relief. The shocks have not yet ceased, and this greatly retards the work of rescuing people who are plied down in debris.

Suicide or Accident.

St. Louis, Mo., June 2.—R. M. Reynolds, late First Auditor, U. S. Treasury, killed himself this morning at the Southern Hotel, falling through an air shaft over the rotunda. Reynolds either jumped or fell over the railing on third story to marble floor of the rotunda. His room was found full of gas; hence the theory that it must have been suicide, and that after failure to apply poison himself he threw himself to the floor below. He was in excellent spirits when last seen alive and no motive can be suggested for self-killing. He was on his way to Kansas to buy land, and had left the U. S. Treasury only a couple of weeks ago. He was about sixty years of age.

Lynched for Rape.

WESTMINSTER, June 2.—At 1:30 this morning a body of masked men rode into the city and went at once to the jail where Townsend Cook (colored) was imprisoned for an outrage on Mrs. Knott, near Mount Airy, a few days ago. They broke down the door, overpowered the sheriff and placed the rope around Cook's neck, put him in a wagon and drove him to a tree, two miles away, with two bullet wounds in his back and his neck broken. A piece of paper was tucked to the tree saying: "This man confessed his crime."

Anti-Jewish Riots.

VIENNA, June 2.—Serious anti-Jewish riots have again broken out. They were renewed yesterday with increased violence. The Carnatic place was filled with a howling mob, and free fights were frequent. Shops of Jews were raided and ruined and their owners violently assaulted. Not less than forty persons were severely wounded. The police made a very arduous, but still they were overran by the rioters and were obliged to call the aid of the military. Other riots of like violence and destructiveness have taken place in Weeden and Nuban districts.

Victor Hugo's Funeral.

PARIS, June 1.—The crowd at Victor Hugo's funeral yesterday was composed mostly of working and middle classes. They treated it even as a holiday, and there was not a great deal of emotion. The police treated those who occasionally showed the red flag, gently, simply requesting—when they were displayed—that the holders should hide them, and upon refusal to comply with that suggestion, the officers snatched them away and allowed the holders to go.

Conflict With Desperadoes.

JACKSON, Ind., June 1.—While attempting to arrest three men named Reeves, father and two sons, near here last night, Deputy Sheriff John Gardner was shot through the body three times, also through the arms and legs. Jno. Cox, brother of the sheriff of Dubois county, was shot through the body by the same parties. The old man Reeves has served a term in the penitentiary. The two sons have, until recently, been employed in saloon at Terra Haute. Gardner and Cox are both mortally wounded.

General Fearing of Riot Through-out Europe Over the Afghan Boundary Question.

BELIEVED THAT PEACE IS SECURED.

LONDON, June 2.—The statement published in yesterday morning's Daily News over the signature of Lord Granville's secretary, concerning the state of the peace negotiations with Russia, has fallen like a wet blanket on the hopes of the Liberals. The explanatory note which accompanies Lord Granville's statement, has apparently failed to appease the indignation which this official statement has aroused. On the other hand the Tories are jubilant over what they assert is one more proof of Liberal double-dealing, as well as additional evidence of the weakness of Mr. Gladstone's foreign policy.

The opening of Parliament on Thursday promises to be a day of great embarrassment, with the flow of embarrassing questions from the Opposition benches, and the absence, meanwhile, of something definite from the Foreign Office concerning the progress of the peace negotiations.

Many Liberals fear that the Premier will experience the utmost difficulty in keeping his supporters in line.

Earl Granville's secretary that the statement made by the News to the effect that Russia has accepted the Russian proposal of England concerning the Afghan frontier question was unconfirmed, yet the belief is general that the news is correct. It is thought, however, that the company, the company, and the company, will be abandoned. The statement of the News has produced a feeling of relief throughout Europe, but a slight reaction from Saturday's ravages on the business is expected to ensue soon, as a result of Lord Granville's letter.

The Times and Standard express no confidence in the peace, and they both urge that close attention be continually given to the defense of the Indian frontier. The new frontier, if definitely accepted, will proceed from a point on the Hari-Rod, just north of Zulfikar, and will be the line of demarcation claimed by M. Leszar, with the exception of a slight difference at Zulfikar.

The official papers concerning the Russian incident have been published. Among those not heretofore made public is a telegram from Sir Peter Lumsden, dated on the day before the battle, informing the Government that the British force was in a desperate straits and ought to get the Afghans to fight, that a battle was certain to occur and that the Afghans could not avoid defeat. In his report on the battle forwarded April 3, Sir Peter reported that the British force had planned his attack beforehand.

It is stated that the exact Afghan loss at the fight at Fendeh was 387 killed, 124 wounded, and 70 missing. Eighty-four men and 1,640 reached Herat in detached parties.

The papers show that arbitration was first proposed by Lord Granville. M. de Giers proposed the arbitration, and was very firmly situated to arbitrate was the Emperor William, who would refuse to act. Lord Granville's reply to this was that the Emperor William could not avoid acting if asked to do so.

The Daily News asserts that it has been definitely agreed upon by the Ministry to invite the King of Denmark to arbitrate the dispute between the Emperor William and Lord Granville.

The paper further states that the Danish King has intimated his willingness to act as arbitrator should he be called upon to do so.

It is stated that the rise of fifteen dollars in quotations of the gold.

PARIS, June 2.—The streets and avenues in the vicinity of the Arc De Triomphe, where Victor Hugo's body lay in state, were thronged all night. After midnight rain fell, but this did not diminish the throng. Toward morning a great deal of revelry was indulged in, men and women singing and dancing on the boulevards. The police were everywhere, but they were unable to prevent the revelry, however, and police interference went no further than an occasional warning to some kind of roysterers a little noisier than the rest. Shortly before ten o'clock in the morning the funeral of Victor Hugo was celebrated. The procession of the day began to arrive. Previous to the movement of the procession several speeches were made. The funeral was interrupted at times by voices from the crowd, but the interruption was few and of a character not calculated to excite the passions of the Anarchists present.

At 10:30 precisely, the procession started for the Arc de Triomphe. The cortege moved on shining brightly. As the cortege moved the throng fell into line without demonstration, and everything was quiet and orderly.

The procession, owing to the almost unprecedented throng which lined the streets, moved slowly. The catafalque, bearing the remains, arrived at the Pantheon at two o'clock. The ceremonies were begun at once and proceeded with the funeral of the day.

Just before the procession left the Arc De Triomphe a few persons who attempted to carry red flags were arrested. This was done so quietly by the police that the incident was not noticed by most of those present.

M. Allain-Targue, Minister of the Interior, said last night in reply to a reporter's inquiry, that in spite of the vast concourse of people the funeral of Victor Hugo, yesterday, there had been but few casualties reported by the police. In cases where the police, acting under their general instructions, attempted to seize red flags, the owners destroyed the emblems rather than surrender them. The police were cautioned by an order issued in the morning to use moderation and in many cases they refrained from making arrests where they would have been justified in doing so. This leniency left the extremists very little opportunity for provoking disturbances.

As the close of the ceremonies the people in the rear of the cortege made a rush, which the police were powerless to resist, and seized and bore away the decorations as mementoes of the occasion.

PARIS, June 2.—The funeral of the eminent Belgian statesman, Charles Rogier, was conducted yesterday with elaborate and impressive ceremonies. While the body was lying in state Sunday evening, a riot occurred in consequence of a dispute between Liberals and Catholics in the crowd which had gathered in the vicinity. The police, in attempting to disperse the rioters, were at first unsuccessful, but upon being reinforced they cleared the streets and made several arrests.

MADRID, June 2.—The report circulated here Sunday that the Cabinet had concluded with United States Minister Foster a general commercial treaty between the United States and Spain, is premature. Negotiations are still in active progress, but are understood to be approaching conclusion.

CONFERENCE, June 2.—Sir Peter Lumsden in an interview with the Standard stated that the present semi-peacelike state of affairs between England and Russia may exist for weeks and perhaps for months, but that the powers are certain to again become embroiled before long. The oil frontier line, which interposes eighty miles of desert between the disputants, is the best that can be decided upon.

BEASTS, June 2.—It is stated on credible authority that the Emperor William has taken a fresh cold and is suffering again from intestinal pain. The facts, however, that the real condition of the patient is a mystery, all outside the palace and it is impossible to get accurate information on the subject.

THE DOMINION.

The Seizure of Patent Medicine at Montreal—An Attempt to Defraud the Government Out of Revenue—Message From a Montreal Vendor.

MONTREAL, June 2.—Last week the customs authorities here seized a large consignment of patent medicine from the establishment of J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. The officers claim that the firm has defrauded the Canadian revenue out of at least $35,000 a year for the last ten or fifteen years by undervaluing their consignments. The firm defended their action by saying that the medicines were not compounded, and were therefore sent in bulk and valued merely at cost.

A sample of the firm named Young testified, however, that the goods were compounded and ready for sale at a price fifty per cent. higher than they were invoiced at. This witness gave some extraordinary evidence and swore that in order to prevent his coming to Canada to testify, he was arrested at Nashua, N. H., locked up for 150 hours without any charge and after he had been searched from head to foot, he was liberated and advised to return to Lowell. The goods now under seizure are valued at over $150,000.

Sir Henry Tyler, who arrived here Saturday night, says that during the past year the Grand Trunk Railway has lost over $2,000,000 of gross revenue, on account of excessive competition and commercial depression here and in the States. The following message was picked up on the beach at Digby yesterday morning, in a bottle:

NEWBURN BANK HOUSE, MAY 2, 1885.

We were out this morning by an un-known vessel, during the night, and the vessel was wrecked in two, and the ship's crew and passengers were all drowned. God bless us. The person who picks this up will make it known as soon as possible. We were bound for Halifax. A. N. LATIMAN, Commander.

Strike of Railway Employees.

CINCINNATI, June 2.—The reduction of ten per cent. in the wages of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad employees which took effect yesterday developed into a vigorous strike on the Kentucky Central Railway. All the conductors and crews handling freight trains quit work yesterday morning. As a consequence, no freight passes over the road, and the engineers and firemen of the freight trains are thrown into enforced idleness. The strikers avow a determination to prevent the freight trains from running and intend to stop all traffic until their demands for United States mail. Locomotive engineers on the road are trying to avoid the reduction so far as they are concerned by consultation with the Chesapeake & Ohio management. If they fall probably they have their own system will have its own drawn.

A Prize Fight that Ended in a General Row.

NEW YORK, June 2.—A savage prize fight with almost transparent gloves, took place last evening on the banks of Long Island Sound, almost opposite Fort Schuyler. The contest was for a purse of $100 by James Glynn, of Williamsburgh, and John Lynch, of New York. A few minutes of the desperate struggle, a free fight ensued among the spectators. When order was partially restored it was found that Glynn had disappeared. Falling upon the ground, he was found by the light and pursued by the referee. The referee was a well-known sporting journalist, and while the uproar was at its height some one stole his stop-watch.

Collision at Youngstown, Ohio.

YOUNGSTOWN, June 2.—Target man Mahoney at the target where P. C. T. and A. P. roads cross, went to sleep. A train on the former track blew for the target and Mahoney gave it to that road, while a train was approaching on the other. The engines came together with a terrible crash, and were smashed to pieces. The firemen and engineers jumped from both engines and were not hurt. No estimate has been made as to the amount of damage. Mahoney became frightened and fled from the city. The track is clear and regular trains are running again.

General Grant's Condition.

NEW YORK, June 2.—After his restless night General Grant spent a comparatively quiet day yesterday, though he continued to suffer considerable pain. Notwithstanding the fine weather prevailing yesterday it was deemed best to keep the General indoors, so he did not drive out. Dr. Douglas stands the situation in relation to the administering of brandy during the recent crisis of the General's life as a pure misrepresentation of facts, and says that Drs. Sherman and Sigsbee never made the statement attributed to them.

Judicial Election in Illinois.

CHICAGO, June 2.—The judicial election in this State yesterday passed off very quiet, and the indications are that a very light vote was polled. In a great many counties there was no opposition, and the present incumbents were re-elected. In this city there were no crowds about the polls, and in fact of the precincts neither ticket peddlers nor police could be seen.

Presbyterian General Assembly.

CINCINNATI, June 2.—Yesterday morning the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church selected Minneapolis, Minn., as the place for the annual assembly, to be held in Westminster Church in that city. The morning session was devoted to a discussion as to whether fermented or unfermented wine should be used at sacrament.

Grant Powder on the Track.

DENVER, Col., June 2.—The track wacker Sunday night discovered several sticks of grant powder on the Rio Grande Railroad track in the outskirts of the city and removed them safely. This is the fourth ineffectual attempt at destruction since the strike terminated.

THE INDIANS IN NEW MEXICO.

A Dispatch From Indian, N. M., States That Evidence of Indian Holders Have Been Found in That Vicinity.

ENLAK, N. M., June 2.—Two Mexican firelighters who left here Sunday with a sixteen mule wagon loaded with freight for Palomas, returned without either mules or wagon and reported that they found the trail of three Indians on this side of the river, between old Fort McRae and the ferry. They went to the ferry to cross and they came back on this direction to camp away from the river, when they discovered the fresh trail which had crossed their own trail after they had passed down. Thoroughly alarmed, they unharmed the mules and turned them loose.

A Reliable American, who also went down to cross with a light wagon, met them at the river and brought them back to Enlaka. He, too, saw the trail and corroborates the story of the Mexicans, that it was that of Indians. The firelighters say their mules were too poor to travel fast or to be run by the Indians. While there is a disposition here to believe the trails were made by sheep herders, still there is no proof that such is the case and no reason to discredit the statement that they were made by Indians, except the reluctance to believe that the Indians have crossed to this side of the Rio Grande.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The following dispatch dated Wednesday, N. M., June 1, was received at the Indian Office yesterday from the agent at that place: "Hostile Indians are reported within twenty-five miles west of here headed this way. Three troops of cavalry under Major Yea, Horn started Sunday to intercept them. Forty Mesquero scouts accompanied the troops at the request of Major Van Horn. The Mesqueros and Tokarillas are all quiet and there is no fear of their joining the hostiles."

The commanding General of the Department of Arizona telegraphs to the War Department Lieutenant Davis, with scouts, west of Silver City, N. M., trailing the hostile Indians who were moving in the Black Range towards Fort Bayard, near which place they would probably pass on the 30th ult.

General Crook has asked and received authority from General Pope to go to Fort Bayard, where he can best observe the movements of his own troops along the western line of New Mexico. General Pope has authorized him to go to whatever point he can be of most service in operating against the hostile Indians.

IRON MILLS CLOSING.

The Mills at Cleveland, Youngstown and Chicago Refuse to Sign the Scale and are Closing—Fears of a Strike.

CLEVELAND, June 2.—The employees of the Union Rolling Mill, ward Eighteen, were surprised Monday morning. For weeks past they have been very confident that Superintendent Coleman would sign their scale, and in consequence they have been very jubilant. A brass band had been secured and it was all arranged to pass the streets red in the vicinity of the Union mill. The scale book was presented to Coleman last Tuesday, and Saturday the Amalgamated Association committee called upon him for his giving. He refused to sign the document, citing as his reasons that he did not wish to sell from the Manufacturers' Association. However, he offered to sign the scale of 1884 with conditions to make it good until July 1. This was refused by the committee and the concern opens on Monday.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 2.—All the rolling mills in the Mahoning Valley with the exception of the Russia sheet mill at Niles, O., will be closed yesterday. Workmen are making repairs.

CHICAGO, June 2.—The old scale of the Amalgamated iron and steel workers expiring yesterday, the Calumet Iron and Steel Company concluded to shut down their mills and accordingly paid off nearly 700 men Saturday. The mills will be probably closed until August. The new scale for puddling is fixed at fifty cents a ton more. The company thought they could not afford to pay the advance and shut down to avoid a strike.

The G. A. R. Demanded as Know-Nothings.
