The last of the 75 cent and dollar hats for 50 cents are in the window. All there are in Boys' Sailor Hats, 75 for 50c, are with them. We've saved the best till the last.

The very newest things in fancy plaids are down to close. Young men's suits are seen in window, reduced from $20 to $15.

A good, decent suit for $3, another at $5. Young Men's Pincheck Worsteds Suits, would be cheap at $10, are down to $6 to close. Gray Corkscrew Suits $10 and fine Pincheck Worsteds down from $18 to $12. Two other lines in all wool fancy mixtures have dropped to $9.

Understand, please, that this sort of business ends with "dog days." Our purpose in cutting so low is to close the summer stock prior to filling in with heavy weights now making at our factory.

For too few who indulge in made-to-measure suits, let us say we are getting further and further away from ordinary merchant tailors' prices, and nearer and nearer to the very bottom of the market. Let $27 or $30 stand for their $45 or $50 suits.

Handsome fall overcoats are ready, $9, $10, $11, $12.

Norfolk Jackets are going down today. What are left will receive a heavy discount.

Fine Globe Mills Cassimere Pantalons are a dollar higher.

THOUSANDS VIEW THE DEAD GENERAL'S REMAINS.

Removal of General Grant's Body From Albany to New York—Received by an Immense Crowd and Escorted to the City Hall—The Procession.

New York, Aug. 6.—The special train bearing General Grant's body arrived at the Grand Central depot shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A heavy rain had fallen for an hour before the arrival, but as the heavily draped train, which consisted of the locomotive and ten cars, rolled into the depot, the clouds lifted and the sun shone brightly through the glass roof of the building. A heavily-draped pilot engine had preceded the train a few minutes. As the coffin was removed from the car the people in the depot uncovered and stood in respectful silence. The transfer from the funeral car to the waiting and drenched catafalque in Forty-second street was speedy and moist without delay. Only a few people had been allowed admittance to the depot, and outside there was an immense but perfectly orderly crowd of people. Regiments of soldiers with their colors in mourning were in every street in the neighborhood. The procession to the city hall was one of the most imposing ever seen here.

Never before has there a more absolute and impressive silence, so far as human utterance was concerned, than fell upon the people when the catafalque approached. Every hat went off, every head was bowed and the only sounds to be heard were the soft rolling of the drums, the rattle of the caissons of the catafalque and the sound of marching feet. The silence was not broken until the Seventy-first regiment, bringing up the rear, passed, and as the low, soft notes of "Rest, Spirit Rest," from their land died away, the incense was cast off, the great, giddy world asserted itself again.

As soon as the purple-covered caasket, with its silver trimmings, had been placed beneath the canopy, thirteen members of Grant's staff took their seats, six at each side and one at the head. They stood like statues, their gaze concentrated on their charge. Sharing their watch were seven members of the Loyal Legion, of whom the ranking officer was Brigadier General J. J. Mallow. General Hancock and the members of the remains to the municipal authorities. The work of the embalming was done by 8:30 o'clock, and the lid of the coffin was replaced and the face arranged to meet the gaze of the thousands who will view it for the next ten days.

At 9 o'clock the caasket was opened and a steady stream of people kept coming until 1 o'clock. It was found by special count that 5,800 persons an hour passed the coffin.

The public will be permitted to pass the remains from 6 o'clock every morning until 1 o'clock until the 11th of August.

PEOPLE WAITING ALL NIGHT IN THE PARK.

People loitered in the City Hall park all night. They were first in the line that soon after 6 o'clock this morning began filing past the remains of Gen. Grant. There were no great throngs waiting admission. Two lines of policemen were placed across the plaza in front of the City Hall entrance to the park. These two lines formed a passageway, through which four men might walk abreast, and along which all day the visitors to view the remains should pass.

The first person to view the remains today was a sperm-oil, sweet-faced little woman who led with each hand a little boy. She was anxious her children should see the general's face, and the children were permitted to halt an instant and gaze over the side of the caasket and into the coffin. The first minute only eighty-four persons passed the caasket. At 6:10 the running average per minute was 91, and the total then passed was between 2,700 and 2,800 persons.

At 9 o'clock nearly 500 policemen were ordered to marshal the crowds into the park, and the procession which passed the remains at a rate of 150 a minute, a rate of 150 per minute was obtained for a time, but was too rapid. At 10 o'clock the line of waiting people extended around the bend at the register's office and down the center of the fountain. At 11 o'clock over 30,000 people had viewed the remains.

A CONFEDERATE GENERAL APPOINTED AIDE.

General Gordon, of Georgia, who at Spotsylvania Court House, Virginia, checked General Hancock's advance on the 12th of May, 1864, and who commanded one wing of Lee's army, and made the last assault upon General Grant's lines at Appomattox, has been appointed aide to General Hancock for the funeral.

DEPARTMENTS TO CLOSE TO-MORROW.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The president today issued the following executive order: It is hereby ordered that the several executive departments and the several bureaus, offices and government printing office be closed to-morrow, August 7, in honor of the late General Grant, and that all business connected with the funeral of the late ex-President Grant be transacted on that day.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—There has been but one newspaper in the South, so far as has been observed here, which has spoken ill of General Grant since his death, and has taken occasion of that event to attempt to revive war memories, using his grave for a rifle-pit. That paper was published at Raleigh, N. C. The ink upon the paper which contained this article was removed, dry, and the edition of the paper had not been delivered at the postoffice, when the editor of the paper who wrote the article died.

This editor was convicted as a klu-klux, and sentenced to ten years at the Albany penitentiary. The evidence in his trial showed that he was the leader of the klu-klux in his section, and had been guilty of atrociously mistreating a republican member or the legislature for his district, who, as the result of whipping and other abuse, was very badly crippled.

The editor remained in the Albany prison for years, when a petition for his pardon was presented to General Grant by the very republican for the abuse of whom he was serving sentence. The president granted the pardon. The man returned to his home and has been in four cities since, but has committed no conspicuous act until he made the recent assault upon the memory of General Grant, which was so quickly followed by his own death.

OLD COINS FOUND AT GENERAL GRANT'S TOMB.

New York, Aug. 6.—While digging at the tomb on Monday afternoon William McGivney, a park laborer, found about five feet below the surface, a Spanish piece of silver worth about twenty-five cents, and several George III shillings. The Spanish piece was well preserved. It bears date of 1772, and the profile of Charles III. It is perfectly distinct. The income of the $250,000 grant was $100,000.

New York, Aug. 6.—The trustee of the $250,000 trust fund which was subscribed three years ago have transferred the interest account to Mrs. Grant. The investment is in Watash securities, which are deposited with the Farmer's Loan and Trust company, and guaranteed by the state of the late Governor Morgan. The trustees are George Jones, Joseph Seligman, J. P. Morgan and George W. Childs.

FARQUHARSON TONE TO SPAIN.

DEBRIE, Aug. 6.—The detectives have now ascertained that Robert Farquharson, the defaulting Dublin manager of the Munster bank, sailed for Spain on the night of his flight from this city.

AN INSANE MAN'S BLOODY DEED.

He Wounds His Friend and Cuts His Own Throat in a Desperate Struggle.

ATICA, Ind., Aug. 6.—A shocking tragedy was enacted at Marshfield, Warren county, yesterday. Since the last of April Dr. Orin Aborn, of Marshfield, has been insane. He heard of arrangements being made to take him to asylums and went to Williamsport to stop the proceedings. He was taken in charge by Dr. C. R. Boyer, a life-time friend, who conveyed him back home and to satisfy the family, agreed to stay with them 41 night. During the night, Boyer went out his room of medical instruments and attacked Dr. Boyer with a sharp knife, inflicting serious wounds. A terrific struggle ensued, during which it is supposed Aborn cut his own throat. He is dead. Dr. Boyer may recover.

The Wheat Crop in the West.

St. Louis, Aug. 6.—The Globe-Democrat publishes a tabulated statement of over 300 replies received by that merchant journal, showing the condition of the wheat crop in Indiana and Missouri in relation to the wheat crop of 1885. The inquiry was also directed toward ascertaining the amount of the crop of 1884 in the hands of farmers and in warehouses. Following are the results: Indiana: Old wheat on hand in Kansas 103, Missouri 8, Illinois 9, and Indiana 10. The yield of the new crop as compared with that of last year is 55 per cent for Indiana, 42 per cent for Missouri, 31 for Kansas, and 32 for Illinois.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 6.—The Grand Trunk Railway agents report the crops in Western Ontario in splendid condition, and the outlook for a beautiful harvest never more promising.

Boys Shooting at a Burglar.

New York, Aug. 6.—William S. Cole and Andrew Seguire, two boys, were left alone on Saturday night in Andrew Seguire's house at Prince's bay, R. I. At 11 o'clock they heard, they say, some one at a window of the dining room. Each procured a revolver and went to the window, where they saw a man trying to get through the window. Master Steele sent a bullet toward the burglar. The latter fired back. Then the other boy blazed away. The burglar replied again, and a fusillade was kept up between the intruder and the boys until the burglar fled. No one was hurt, but a bullet passed through the coat of one of the boys. The burglar in running away nearly collided with a neighbor who had started to see what the war was.

Jumped Overboard Weighed With the Gold.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The steamer City of Chicago arrived at Queenstown today and reports that a lady passenger, who was the mother of five children, and who was coming to England with her husband, committed suicide during the voyage by casting herself into the sea. She had previously expressed her husband to give her $500 in gold, and had the money sewn in bags and fastened to different parts of her dress when she jumped overboard. The weight of the coin caused her to sink at once, and prevented all hope of saving her life or of recovering her body.

A New Deal Contemplated.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The discontented section of the cabinet, led by the duke of Devonshire, are making overtures for coalition. Sir William Harcourt, Mr. Forster and the Duke of Argyll are exchanging views with the Duke of Richmond, Sir Richard A. Cross and other anti-Churchill members. It is considered that the duke of Devonshire is the new parliament a majority sufficient to control the radicals and Parrellites.

Milly Charge Against the Fall Mail Gazette.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—There has recently been a startling increase in the number of outrages on girls of tender years. In a single day six missives were convicted at Liverpool, and another reported elsewhere. The increase is attributed to the influence of the Fall Mail Gazette's recent exposure. The Gazette contends there has been no increase, but that the outrages have simply been brought into greater prominence.

New Orleans, Aug. 6.—An accident remarkable because of its fatal ending happened to a colored man named Anthony McGil yesterday. He was passing the French market with a heavy basket on his head, and stepped on a banana peel, slipped and fell, and the weight of the basket broke his neck, and before he struck the sidewalk he was dead.

To Make a Tour of Chinatown.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 6.—A committee from both democratic and republican county committees waited upon Col. Denby, the newly-appointed minister to China, last evening, and invited him to make a visit to Chinatown during both the day and night time. He accepted the invitation.

A Whole Village Destroyed by Fire.

MELBOURNE, Aug. 6.—The village of Melford was almost totally destroyed by fire Monday. It is thought to have been the work of an incendiary. All that is left of the place is a cinder factory and a saloon.

Murdered by a Burglar.

SCOTTSDALE, Ind., Aug. 6.—Early yesterday morning John C. Brody was murdered in his house by an unknown burglar, who escaped. Mr. Brody was a farmer living five miles from here.

Doctor Barry Explains in His Own Behalf.

In your edition of yesterday appears an article headed "Barry's Trouble," which, to say the least, does me gross injustice, and I would ask that the following facts may be published to correct as far as possible, the injustice and unfair imputation conveyed in said article. First, as to the charge of my embezzling $57 of the funds of the Secret League, I would state that I held in my possession funds of the lodge to that amount, which monies there was no intention on my part to in any way defraud the lodge out of, but the lodge, in their haste to receive the same, did, through an agent, file affidavit against me, which, however, was never served, the matter being satisfactorily settled, and not yesterday morning. Next, as to the charge made in your issue, that I received $75 from the Supreme Lodge for instructing the lodge here is false in every particular, the informant of that alleged fact getting the fact that the cost of a charter for a subordinate lodge is $75. Instead of my receiving that amount, all I received was $10, which in this connection being what was lawfully due me under the laws of the order as its medical examiner. Therefore, as to the $75 was never paid to me, or expected to be paid, the "editor" speaks the whole truth, never was made. I was not "appointed" temporary treasurer by the supreme treasurer, but was elected treasurer of the lodge in this city upon July 1 last—the expiration of the term.

"Notification after notification" was not sent to me, but on "last Tuesday night" I had personal business that kept me away, not outside of the city, but within its limits, I sending to the lodge a note stating my reason for absence.

The last sentence of the article stating that I had been expelled from the lodge is an untruth, as there were not even any charges brought against me in the lodge, or any notice of expulsion, and all members of any secret order will know it is utterly impossible to be expelled from an order without charges being preferred, and then only after due investigation and trial of the member accused.

J. M. BARRY, M. D.

REFUSE TO ACCEPT HIM.

AUSTRIA WILL NOT RECOGNIZE MINISTER KHELLEY.

No Reason Given, but the Rejection Nevertheless—Secretary of Legation Lee Authorized to Act in Kelley's Stead for the Present.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The department of state is in receipt of a telegram from Mr. Lee, secretary of the American Legation at Vienna, saying the Austrian government has positively refused to receive Mr. Kelley as United States minister. The authorities of Austria give no reason for the action and merely say they will not receive the official. Mr. Kelley is now in Paris where he has been for some weeks. He has been informed of the decision of the Austrian authorities. Mr. Lee has been designated to act as charge-d'affaires for the present.

Peccant Effect of Frigid.

LOVELAND, O., Aug. 6.—Word has reached here to-day of a peculiar case at Dallasburg, a small village about two miles northeast of Hill Station, on the C. & W. & B. R. Among the residents of the former village are Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. Loughbrunner, who have several children and some troublesome cows. The cows have been of serious annoyance to the villagers and the women in the winter, and a complaint was made, and Constable Charles McDevitt, of Matineville, ordered to put the cows in the pound.

The constable went to the village to impound the cows, but the women interferred and added a lively fusillade of stones to the resistance. The constable became provoked for his personal safety and drew his revolver on Mrs. Loughbrunner. Mrs. Loughbrunner, on seeing the weapon, fell to the ground in a fainting fit, and was thrown into convulsions. Her actions are similar to those of hydrophobia. Dr. Pampel was immediately called to attend the case. The doctor reports the case as a serious one, with doubtful results.

Maud S. and Jay-Eye-See.

New York, Aug. 6.—It is now thought in sporting circles that Maud S. could go a mile in 2:07. Mr. Bonner has directed that Maud be sent once from Cleveland to Providence. The mile will be timed at Narragansett Park. At a proper time she will be sent for another grand performance over the track on which Jay-Eye-See made his record of 1:58.

The probabilities are that Jay-Eye-See will not come forth this year as a rival to Maud S. The managers of the little horse assign several reasons why they are not working him up to form. One is that they have no engagements for him. Another is that Maud S. is doing so well that they have no hope of beating her record with Jay-Eye-See this season. They believe that if they let him up in his work this year he will do better next. They are endeavoring to spread his heels, and therefore indulge in light exercise. The general belief at Cleveland is that there is something seriously wrong with the horse.

Probably Fatal Leap of an Acrobat.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 6.—At Van Amburgh's circus to-day, Belmont, a leading athlete connected with the combination, attempted to turn a double somersault over a large number of elephants, horses, camels, etc. The spring board was wet, belated slipped and was thrown sideways into the air, and he would have accomplished the feat even then, but the bed on which the acrobat struck was not correctly placed, and he fell on the ground. The force injured his spine and head, and he is in a precarious condition. His home is Manchester, N. H.

Revenue and Customs Collectors Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The following appointments as collectors of internal revenue were made today: John Dowler, for the 22d district of Pennsylvania, and Frank Schlaneder, for the 19th district of Pennsylvania. The second revenue collector appointed as follows: John T. Gathright, at Louisville, Kentucky, and Leon Trosdale, at Nashville, Tenn.

Witnesses Afraid to Testify.

GALLATIN, Tenn., Aug. 6.—John H. Bradley, the alleged murderer of U. S. Deputy Marshal W. Lee Miller, and late Bradley, Allen Brown and Henry Moore, charged with complicity in the crime, had a preliminary trial here yesterday, and were discharged, witnesses refusing to testify for fear of being murdered. John Bradley was bound over to U. S. court on a charge of illicit distilling.

Encouraging Emigration.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—It is announced that the Southern Pacific company has arranged a new schedule of third class passenger rates, to take effect on the 7th, which increases rates to eastern points. The greatest difference is on the fare to Chicago which has been increased from $53.50 to $60. The company will shortly announce a reduction in third class fares from the east.

The Salvation Army Attacked.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—A mob attacked the Salvation Army while it was parading the boulevards yesterday evening. The attack was very violent, and the soldiers all tried to do their duty. The mob, however, could do to rescue the Salvationists. The leaders of the mob urged on their followers with the cry, "Down with the English!" The uniformed Britons were locked up in a police station for protection.

Killed His Sister's Betrayer.

VIRGINIA, Ill., Aug. 6.—Thomas Chapman, a former living five miles west of here, was last evening shot and killed by Elias Davis, a young Creek outlaw, who has been in prison for several years being paying undue attention to Davis' sister, and that Davis had repeatedly warned him to desist but without effect.

Destroying Mining Property.

OHIO CITY, Aug. 6.—Some persons to-day cut the ropes attached to the drills in the Welch & McKee oil wells, letting a ton of metal fall over a thousand feet. They then threw in a lot of tools and other obstructions, and have probably destroyed both wells. No clue to their identity has been found.

Executed in Indian Fashion.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 6.—Carrie Barbed, a young Creek outlaw, was executed at McAlester in Indian fashion, being shot to death while seated on his coffin by the Creek light horse guard.

DRATH OF THE COUNTESS MERRAN.

The Humble Peasant Girl Who Became Archduke Johann's Wife.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Countess Merran, the widow of the late Archduke Johann, of Austria, recently died at Assau, in Styria. She was a remarkable woman, and was distinguished alike for her great beauty of person and her remarkable intellectual faculty. The marriage was morganatic, but very happy one. The child of the union was the present Countess Merran. Many stories are told of the courtship which led to this marriage, as a matter of course, most of them, and the one which seems to be most currently believed is as follows: The countess was the daughter of one Plochel, postmaster at Assau. It is related that the Archduke Johann, while traveling in that part of the country, asked Plochel to provide him with a post-chaise to pursue his journey. Plochel did so, but no postman was present, and no one could be found at once to drive the Archduke. In this dilemma Plochel's daughter, with her habitual liveliness and readiness for an innocent adventure, donned the dress of a postilion and offered her services. The archduke was greatly struck by her prettiness and vivacity, and the acquaintance was begun in this singular manner which, it is said, led to the archduke's ardent wooing and the elevation of the postmaster's pretty daughter to the rank of a countess.

CAME TO LIFE IN A COFFIN.

A Priest's Valn Struggle to Escape a Melancholy Fate.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—A terrible incident in the cholera epidemic is reported from Spain. A devoted priest, who has labored strenuously among the stricken people, was finally prostrated by the scourge himself. The disease passed through all its regular stages and the priest apparently died. The frightened people who were about him made only a hasty examination of the body and placed it in a coffin, screwed down the lid, and left it overnight, to be buried in the morning. When the bearers came in the morning to remove the body a fearful sight presented itself. The coffin had been upset and fallen from the table to the floor. The body was twisted around and partially doubled, showing that he had been writing in mortal agony. The face was appalling in its expression of hopeless horror. The hands were bleeding.

It is feared that many cases of premature burial may have occurred during the present epidemic in consequence of the great fright among the people, which causes them to get rid of the dead at the earliest possible moment.

Horror of the Cholera Scourge.

MADRID, Aug. 6.—There is no decrease in the number of deaths from cholera, and the number of new cases of cholera. In the city of Madrid the cholera is confined now to the popular districts inhabited by the poor.

The populace in Granada to-day brutally assaulted several doctors who had declined to give more attention to patients. The hostility to the doctors has resulted in an alarming spread of the disease among the lower classes, by whom doctors are always compelled to take the medicines they wish to administer.

The commander of the militia has ordered officers, privates and nurses succumbed to the disease, attacks of which are most fatal at nightfall and during storms.

Religious General Grant and Jeff Davis.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 6.—At the annual reunion of ex-confederate soldiers here, Hon. John H. Reagan, in an eloquent speech, paid a high tribute to General Grant. He alluded to the great friendship between the two great men, and said that the following telegram was sent to Davis at Beauvoir, Mississippi: "For Wm., Aug. 5. The ex-confederates, in reunion assembled in this city, send a cordial greeting to yourself, their beloved and trusted leader in the great struggle for your country's unity and continuity of blood and property."

HIS HEAD COMPLETELY REVERED.

D. B. Crozier Instantly Killed by an I. & W. Freight Train.

The I. & W. freight train, Ohio division, going south, killed instantly one of its employees at daylight this morning just south of Bellefontaine. As far as is learned the particulars are as follows: Daniel B. Crozier, an extra conductor of the I. & W., was running along the top of the box cars of which the train was composed, when, in some manner, he stumbled and fell between the cars. Nobody saw him fall and the only way they knew anything had happened was by the jarring of the train as the wheels passed over the fallen body of the unfortunate. Conductor Stonor signalled to stop the train at once, and the employees hastened back to the scene of the sickening accident. They first came upon the ghastly head, which had been completely severed from the body, and crushed past all human semblance. A short distance of a mile further back they found the headless trunk, with the left arm mangled to pulp. The remains were carefully collected and taken to Bellefontaine where they were brought to this city on the 5 o'clock train. The body was placed at Schiller's undertaking rooms on Fisher street, where they were cleaned and composed for the view of the relatives and friends. The sad news was broken gently to his wife, who is in poor health, but the shock almost killed her. Mr. Crozier, the victim of the merciless wheel, had been a railroad for twenty years, during most of which time he was a conductor on the N. Y. & O. He resided with his wife and five small children on the corner of Fisher and North streets. He was about forty years of age, and was liked by every one who knew him, and is spoken of as one of the kindest of husbands and fathers.

How They Love the Soldier.

The following from the Dayton Journal bears additional evidence of the great love the democratic party bears for the old soldiers: "We have a protest against the change of postmasters at Johnsonville, but it is useless. The change has been made and will be made. The facts are that William Kelper, republican, who was postmaster, gave the control and proceeds of the office, $100 per annum, to George Nicholas, a one-legged soldier, who was a prohibition voter until last year, when he voted for Blaine and Logan. With his little store and the postoffice veteran Nicholas, who lost a leg at Chancellorsville, made a moderate support for his family of four children. Mr. Wyrick, the new democratic appointee, is represented to be "in good circumstances," owning a farm and a good store in Johnsonville, the whole stock in Nicholas' store not being worth more than $200. Democrats pretended to be opposed to a change, but worked for it slyly. As Mr. Wyrick has been appointed the game is closed."
