Two other ways are open, however. One is for the city to advance to a city of the second class, second grade, in which grade it would be entitled to a beard of police adminssioners. There are almost insurmountable obstacles to this plan. Besides taking a year or more to make the advance Springfield would be in the same class with Dayton, owing to a high valuation of property, is able to run the city on a tax of eight mills. It is said that although Dayton, owing to a high valuation of property, is able to run the city on a tax of eight mills, this city cannot get along with more less than twelve mills. Dayton would certainly object to giving its council the right to levy taxes to the extent of the second class, and the extended of the council the right to levy taxes to the extent of the council the right to levy taxes to the extent of the council the right to levy taxes to the extent of the council the right to levy taxes to the extent of the council the right to levy taxes to the extent of the council the right to levy taxes to the extent of the council the right to levy taxes to the extent of the council the right to levy taxes to the extent of the council the right to levy taxes to the extent of the council the right to levy taxes to the extent of the council to right of the council to the council to rig council the right to levy taxes to the extent heard of horses running away with the of twelve mills, as would other cities in wagon, but never before heard of the

MR. CORCORAN. Mr. Corcoran is one of the most noted out of paying the Dow law tax.

Yesterday I asked Mr. Earnhart whether the construction which he placed on the Dow law and on the statutes, would permit a manufacturer to establish local agencies for the sale of his products without paying the tax, and in violation of a local option ordinance.

"I do not believe," he replied, "that the letter or spirit of the statutes will authorize a manufacturer to establish a place of business removed from his manufactory and out of the city treasury, but out of the city treasury, but out of the tits now to the interest of the mayor to have the police him and a they will remain the same. It is now to the have the police him and a they will remain the same. It is now to the interest of the mayor and the mayor and products with no fee attachment, and that interest will be gone and the number of arrests and convictions will soon fall away. By the present arrangement, although the mayorality is a fat office, the money he receives does not come business removed from his manufactory and out of the city treasury, but out of the tits now to the interest of the mayor to have the police liberal as he grows older. Among his charities here is the Louise flome, a home for reduced gentiewomen. This is situated in the most fashionable quarter of the city, and every square foot of the ground on which it is located is worth $3. It is a magnificent four story and mansard brick building, with vines crawling over it and with many rooms within it. I don't suppose there is an institution out of the city treasury, but out of the tits now to the interest of the country. He has given and I doubt not the supply would be enough for ten most fashionable quarter of the city, and most fashionable quarter of the city, and most fashionable quarter of the city, and that he had wasted a fortune most fashionable quarter of the city, and most fashionable quarter of the city and the ites here is the Louise flome, a bound of the city and I doubt not the supply would be enough for ten. out of the city treasury, but out of the pockets of criminals and offenders against the municipal laws.

Gen. Logan's death continues to be one of her presence that lighted up the boarding house where she lived before she opened Calumet place. For some time at least she will not be in Washington society. She will hardly stand here in the same position as she did during the general's life, and though she may, like Dolly Madison, hold a court of her own in the years to come, she will never be the same as when she was playing the gama in which the stakes were the presidency and the cards were rien. The great incentive for her to attain social popularity, namely, the success of her bushand, is gone. I doubt whether she will care much to go into society in the future, and she has been so closely wrapped up in Gen. Logan that life will be indeed dreary for her when the excitement wears away and she comes to realize that the half of her soul is indeed gone.

I see that Private Dalzell is writing some war articles. Dalzell would die if he could not get before the country at least once every year. He is one of the queerest cranks in America. Tall, thin and lean, he has struggling red whiskers over his face and a long. limp mustache hanging from his upper lip. He has pale blue eyes with white brows, and he has the most nervous nature that God ever put into a skin. Dalzell comes, I think, from Pennsylvania. He began his literary carrer by writing for The Waverly Magazine and has continued it by scribbling for the newssavers. ALL MEDICAL AUTHORITIES agree that estarch is no more nor less than an inflammation of the lining membrane of the flasal air passages. Nasal catarrh and all catarrhal affections of the head are not diseases of the blood, and it is a serious mistake to treat them as such. No conscientious physician ever attempts to do so. It is held by eminent medical men that sooner or later a specific will be found for every disease from which humanity suffers. The facts justify us in assuming that for catarrh at least a positive cure already exists in Ely's Cream Balm.

WRITTEN BY HIS WIDOW

He never lawed in all his life. He never was unkind. And (though I say it, who was his wife).

I never changed my single lot. I thought 'twould be a sin ; I thought so much of Deacon Bedott

I never got married again. If ever he spoke a word in heat His anger soon was o'er ; He always dressed in garments neat

That came from J. M. Knote's store. A wonderful tender heart he had That felt for all mankind : He told his friends that honest goods

At J. M. Knote's store they'd find. Whisky and rum he tasted not Twas sinful, I suppose: And, being saving, Deacon Bedott

Went to J. M. Knote's for his clothes. But, poor man, he died all the same, My grief I can't control :

He left good clothes and an honest name His widow to console. The finest, most complete and cheapest
