POSSIBILITIES OF MISHAPS.

What McCallan Said of Grant's Good Luck—Porter in a Ballroom.

The possibilities of what might have been at all times (even an interesting speculation) in his own mind. It has been gravely asserted that the nod of a peacock's head changed the destiny of the world on the field of Waterloo by concealing from Napoleon the impossible condition of a snicker road.

From all that it appears that the apparently trifling fact of an Ohio general missing his train, on the morning of the 17th, probably played the most conspicuous figure of the civil war in a position where he would never have been known.

The Professional Diner-Out. It would probably be impossible for any social scientist to define exactly the line of demarcation between the diner-out and the professional diner-out.

Death from Diphtheria. Died—At 8 o'clock last evening, at the residence of Dr. T. R. Potter, of diphtheria, Norval C. Douglas, only son of Mrs. T. R. Potter, aged 10 years.

Savannah's Colored Population. A very considerable portion of the population of Savannah is colored. What progress the colored people have made, and what they have done toward securing homes since they began to look out for themselves, can be easily seen by visiting the city's suburbs.

The Globe's Rainfall. From 34,000 to 35,000 cubic miles of rain fall every year upon the surface of this globe. The rivers carry off barely one-half, the rest disappears by evaporation, by the absorption of the earth, and by being taken up by plants, animals and mineral solution.
