A TRAMP OUTRAGE.

Two Humans Check a Little Girl and Shockingly Guard a Lady. Two tramps conducted themselves in an outrageous manner yesterday afternoon at the residence of Harry Richardson, the west end crossing flagman, living at 800 West Main street. No one was at home at the time but Mrs. Richardson, who is a bedfast invalid, and a little five-year-old daughter. A young woman who acts as domestic in the family had gone to the grocery after some provisions. The little girl answered the knock and the tramps sprang upon her and choked her villainously. Mrs. Richardson, hearing the child's screams, crawled painfully to the door on her hands and knees, almost dead with fright, and inured the inhuman ruffians to go away. They replied with the most shocking curses and blasphemy, calling the sick woman the vilest names imaginable and demanding coffee. A great big double bedstead, which the tramps finally left, leaving the child with finger marks still on her neck, and the sick woman dead on her back. Richardson came home soon after, and learning the report of that committee on city printing, accepting the bids of the Republic and Journal, and designating those papers as the ones to print all legal "ads."

FORAKER.

Continued from First Page. REPUBLICAN, and it followed very naturally that it should be generally adopted. There is a ripple of public curiosity to know who this Tom Fowler is, anyhow. Foraker says he has lost ten pounds. He could add that he has gained 20,000 votes. There was a conspicuous display of national baiting. No rebel flags for republicans. The best of the drama, and interestingly repeats the old story of villainy foisted by virtue. Mr. Byron was manly and effective in his rendition of the unfortunate hero, and Miss Byron made a hit in her part of a strolling rag vendor. They were both called several times before the curtain.

Secure your seats at Harris'. KELLOUGG AT THE GRAND NEXT FRIDAY. When Goumard's "Faust" was produced by Mr. Douglas, the manufacture of his celebrated $3 shoes, by the introduction of improved lasting and other machinery, by which they are made not only seamless, but without laces or heels. This shoe has now about reached perfection, and notwithstanding the large expense necessary to make these improvements, Mr. Douglas is perfectly satisfied if he can furnish a first-class article at a low price.

We especially recommend our readers to try this shoe once, and we are satisfied they will use no other. The $2.50 shoe for gentlemen, and the $2 shoe for boys, made by Mr. Douglas, still hold their standard of excellence.

Hero of a Resemblance. Of all the reflex celebrities, the man who looks or thinks he looks like the late President Arthur, and who travels on the strength of such resemblance, is the most complacent. He is large and florid, and wears his whiskers and mustache after the manner of the late president. He has a good taste, and is a very successful attraction. Why, I knew one young man who used to sit after day after day in his office waiting clients and at night drive a hansom cab to live. Chicago News.

DRAMATIC NEWS.

The Byrons in "The Inside Track"—Clara Louise Kellogg in "The Inside Track"—A "Parlor Match."

Tomorrow (Thursday) evening Oliver Byron, supported by Miss Byron and a fine company, will be at the Grand opera house in "The Inside Track." The New York Herald says of the performance and the piece:

"An enthusiastic audience of large size welcomed the reappearance of Mr. and Miss Byron last night at the New Windsor theatre, where they appeared in the respective characters of 'Harry Denbigh' and 'Terry Twiddle' in 'The Inside Track.' The play is a good type of the drama, and interestingly repeats the old story of villainy foisted by virtue. Mr. Byron was manly and effective in his rendition of the unfortunate hero, and Miss Byron made a hit in her part of a strolling rag vendor. They were both called several times before the curtain."

SKETCH CLUB.

Successful and Enthusiastic Meeting Last Night. The regular meeting of the sketch club was held last evening at Miss Stierlitz's studio. While the attendance was not so large as that of the last meeting there was no lack of artistic enthusiasm and all present felt it to be a very profitable club night.

Mr. H. Denison Thomas was the director chosen for the evening. Mr. Thomas possesses to a marked degree the faculty of imparting his artistic knowledge to the novice. He was particularly successful in his selection of a model—a little boy black—the typical "ragged Dick" of story-book fame, whose thoroughly natural posing made him a very desirable subject and resulted in some extremely clever sketches.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday evening and a large attendance is urged.
