CONVENTION CALL.

To the Republican Electors of Pennsylvania:
After consultation and correspondence with the members of the Republican State Committee, and by their direction, I hereby give notice that the Republicans of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in State Convention at Harrisburg, Wednesday, August 19, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the offices of State Treasurer and Auditor General, for the nomination of delegates to the National Convention at Large in the Act of Assembly approved June 19, 1891, and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented.
Notice is especially directed to the fact that, in accordance with the provisions of the last mentioned act, each Senatorial district is entitled to a representation of three delegates in said Constitutional Convention, two of whom only can be members of the majority party in said district. The electors of each district are therefore requested to make proper nominations for delegates to said convention, the rules governing the nomination of candidates for State Senator to be applicable.
In this connection the Chairman desires to call the attention of Republican voters to the recommendation of the State Convention of 1882, that "they allow the greatest freedom in the general participation in the primaries consistent with the preservation of the party organization."
WM. H. ANDREWS, Chairman.

"STAR" SCINTILLATIONS.

Nobody believes that there will be any lasting reforms until political considerations are dismissed from municipal affairs—until it is known that neither the words Republican nor Democrat are relative terms for honesty and dishonesty.

Nobody believes that politics controlled these recent crimes. Because everybody knows that the "combine," which has managed the people's money in its own interest has been impartially Republican and Democratic. You cannot hit a Republican head among the Treasury thieves without a Democrat squealing. Nothing gave the late Treasurer more impunity in his financial transactions than the failure of the Democratic Governor to look after the State money, or to apply as Governor the knowledge he had acquired as bank president.

Nobody believes that Bardsley is the only one to blame in the financial business—that he has been anything more than a factor in a corrupt system, by which politics becomes a trade for the illegal acquiring of money. His sin was that he was found out. Why did he not walk with prudence like those who preceded him?

Nobody believes that Bardsley told the truth, meant to tell the truth, or would have been allowed to tell the truth in his statement.—Phila. Star.

THE VETOIST.

Governor Pattison is convulsed into spasms over the enormous wickedness (?) of a Republican legislature, representing this overwhelmingly Republican state, which, in its legislative capacity, refused to apportion the Commonwealth in the interest of the Democratic party. His Excellency, therefore, rushes to the relief (?) of the people armed with the veto power, and ruthlessly slaughters the congressional and legislative apportionment bills for no other reason except his determination to serve his party at the expense of the interests of the majority. Mr. Pattison may succeed in wooling a few credulous people, but the masses have him labeled as a demagogue of the first water, a man thoroughly in sympathy with political trickery and all manner of political chicanery provided its object is to defeat the will of the people. In evidence of this assertion we call attention to the fact that he is in thorough sympathy with the infamous legislation of Ohio, New Jersey and Indiana by which and through which the people are absolutely denied a fair and free expression of their choice of lawmakers, both state and national. The specious pleading of such a tin-foil patriot, for fairness and decency, is enough to make a dog laugh and to cause the bones of Castro to rattle in their companion.

HE WAS BURNED!

SMILER'S BODY ON VIEW IN NEW YORK.

TO BE BURIED THIS AFTERNOON.

The Upper Part of His Face Disfigured—Almost Beyond Recognition—The Bridge of the Nose Burned Away.

New York, July 9.—In an imitation rosewood coffin in Undertaker Frederick Hulberg's establishment, No. 285 West 125th street, lies the body of Harris A. Smiler, the murderer electrocuted in Sing Sing prison last Tuesday morning. It was brought from Sing Sing last evening, and shortly afterward Mrs. Smiler, accompanied by her sister-in-law, called at the undertaker's and looked upon the remains.

The body was not as mutilated as might be expected, while the face showed evidences of the work of the deadly current. The cheek bones bore bright scars about an inch and a half to two inches in length, the edges turning up and forming a ridge. The bridge of the nose was gone, while discolorations on the temples showed where the straps had passed. There was also a burn on the chin about the size of a dime. The head was shaved. The body was dressed in the same suit in which Smiler went to the fatal chair. The eyelids were closed, and the eyes appeared to have been removed.

Mrs. Smiler stated that the funeral would take place this afternoon from the undertaking rooms and that the interment would be at Woodlawn.

Dr. McDonald's Official Report.
ALBANY, N. Y., July 9.—Dr. Charles F. McDonald, the official physician of the four electrocutions in Sing Sing prison, informs the press that it will be ready a few days before the autopsy is made. The law provides for its filing with the County Clerk ten days after the execution. Warden Brown will therefore file it with the County Clerk of Westchester county. The complete list of witnesses will be filed at the same time.

No Secret Executions.

New York, July 9.—Assemblyman Stein, who introduced in the last session of the Legislature a bill to repeal the law for electrical executions, said to-day that he would reintroduce the bill next session and use his best endeavors to have it pass both the House and Senate. The bill passed the House last session, but did not reach a vote in the Senate on account of the deadlock.

Buried in Quicklime.

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—With no ceremony, religious or otherwise, the unclaimed bodies of the three electrocuted murderers, Slocum, Wood and Jurgis, were buried in the prison cemetery. Nine convicts lowered the coffins, one after another, into the graves, and the bodies were quickly filled up. The bodies were buried in quicklime.

MRS. THOMPSON INSANE.

A Western Court So Declares the Famous

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 9.—Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, the noted philanthropist, of Stamford, Conn., was adjudged insane in the mental condition of Mrs. Thompson was more than ordinarily interesting proceeding, both on account of the prominence of the lady and the facts brought to light in the course of the trial.

Mrs. Thompson is well known all over the United States. She has probably given away to charitable societies more than any other woman in America. She will be remembered as the friend of abolition during the late war.

Mrs. Potter Palmer's Successful Mission.

PARIS, July 9.—Madame Carnot, wife of President Carnot, granted a private audience to Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago, and this evening, by special invitation, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer will occupy President Carnot's box at the opera. The French newspapers refer at length to Mrs. Palmer's Ladies' World's Fair Committee, which was recently organized here. It is Mrs. Palmer's intention to promote the formation of a similar committee in London, where Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein has promised her aid.

Stole the Countess' Jewels.

LONDON, July 9.—A clerk named Edward Wilkinson is under arrest who confesses to having, with two accomplices, stolen the Countess of Dudley's jewels at Euston Station four years ago. In his confession Wilkinson says that while one of the accomplices attracted the attention of the servants of the Countess, the other stole the parcels, which were subsequently sold in Amsterdam, Wilkinson receiving $10,000 as his share of the proceeds. Since the robbery one of the prisoner's partners in the theft has died. Wilkinson was remanded.

Wounded the Girl and Killed Himself.

New York, July 9.—About noon Ferdinand Reichert fired a pistol at Annie Douglas, wounding her in the neck and wrist, and turning the pistol upon himself lodged three bullets in his own head. Both were taken to the hospital. Reichert's wounds are fatal, but the girl may recover. The shooting occurred in Skuman's restaurant, No. 23 Division street, where both were employed. Reichert was drunk and became angered at the girl because she sent him on an errand.

HE SHOT HIS WIFE.

A Loaded Revolver Among a Lot of New Ones in a Dealer's Store

New York, July 9.—Mrs. Jessala Judd, 44 years of age, was accidentally shot and perhaps fatally wounded by her husband, John R. Judd, a dealer in sportsman's goods at 1384 Broadway.

Mr. Judd was putting up a box of revolvers for a customer at the Catekill, and as he packed each revolver in a box he snapped the trigger mechanically. Mrs. Judd was standing close by her husband while he was engaged in packing the revolvers in the box.

Mr. Judd snapped the triggers of two of them and put them in the box and taken the third one from the shelf, and as he snapped it there was a loud report, Mrs. Judd exclaiming "I am shot," and fell to the floor.

Physicians were summoned who said that Mrs. Judd's condition was critical, and her ante-mortem statement was taken by a coroner. She told the coroner that the shooting was accidental and exonerated her husband from all blame. Mr. Judd was arrested and admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000.

Mr. Judd cannot account for the bullet being in the pistol, excepting on the theory that it was an old one which had been put in with the new ones by mistake.

KILLED BY A BICYCLIST.

An Aged Clergyman Knocked Down While Crossing the Street.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Rev. Dr. William A. Schubert, a retired Episcopalian Minister, 60 years of age, was accidentally killed during the evening by a little boy, named James Gaut.

The old gentleman who was quite feeble, was crossing the street near his home and the boy was riding by on a bicycle. Just as he neared Dr. Schubert the bicycle struck a stone and the boy was thrown with great force against Dr. Schubert, who fell heavily to the asphalt pavement.

He was carried to his home and died shortly afterward. Dr. Schubert came here from New Jersey a few years ago and was widely known as a student and a writer. He was engaged on a religious book at the time of his death.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP TO DAY.

He Goes to the Blue Fishing Grounds on the Cutter Hamilton.

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—Capt. H. T. Blaks, of the revenue cutter Hamilton, received positive sailing orders from the Secretary of the Treasury to-day and left Philadelphia at an early hour in the morning for Cape May Point, where the cutter will take aboard the President and party to go on a fishing excursion.

The President has heard so many stories of the wonderful sport afforded by the blue fish in the deep sea fishermen's paradise of Anglesa that he has been anxious to try his luck and will leave this afternoon for that place. The grounds where the President will probably fish lie about eight or ten miles to sea off Five-Mile Beach.

THE SUMMA BURGLARY.

Circumstances that Throw Guilt on Town Parties.

No arrests have been made in connection with the burglary and safe blowing at Paul Summa's on South Main. It has been learned that the miners' tools left behind by the burglars were stolen from Alexander Kincaid and another carpenter employed by the Plank Ridge colliery. The tools were stolen during the latter part of last week. Among the pieces taken was an excellent house belonging to Kincaid. A few days before the safe was blown open in the Shenandoah Feed and Lumber Company's office a few months ago tools were stolen from repairmen of the Plank Ridge colliery. And just prior to the blowing of a safe in Ringtown tools were stolen from the same colliery. These circumstances strongly suggest that the burglar party who committed the Summa burglary are not unacquainted with the workings of the mine mentioned.

It is said that Summa, contrary to advice, has been harboring strangers of suspicious character. They have been playing upon his piano and have amused his patrons with songs in return for liberty of the house. Between certain falls they have studied the host's habits and, with the assistance of town toughs, wound up their career with the grand finale of yesterday morning.

America and Labor Day.

EDITOR HERALD:—I notice in the county seat papers there seems to be quite a lively controversy between the members of the G. A. R. and the Sons of America over the date decided upon by the former organization for unveiling the monument dedicated to the defenders of the Union in the late rebellion. The day selected for the dedication is Labor Day. On September 23, last, at a county convention of the Jr. O. U. A. M. and P. O. S. of A., held in this town, it was decided that the next parade and convention of these two organizations, representing a membership of over 10,000, should be held in St. Clair on Labor Day (September 7) and not, as has been erroneously stated, on September 1st. Inasmuch as this date was decided upon one year ago, and was generally known by the public, we think the members of the G. A. R. of Pottsville should arrange another date for the dedication. It would be for the mutual benefit of all parties concerned, and, besides, these two organizations should be the last for the G. A. R. to antagonize. It was from their organizations the G. A. R. received its greatest assistance and encouragement in their noble undertaking. For the benefit of the members of all the organizations concerned north of the mountains, who desire to participate in both the joint parade at St. Clair and the dedication at Pottsville, I trust the matter will be amicably settled. Get together, gentlemen.

That Parade Notice.

EDITOR HERALD:—I was somewhat surprised in my perusal of yesterday's Herald to find you implied to give an explanation of the origin of the joint parade notice published in your paper last week. It is, to say the least, a sad commentary on the fair-mindedness of our townpeople, that there should be any necessity for this. But was not all the talk about the notice really much ado about nothing? Nothing but the choicest narrow-mindedness would prompt any person to find fault with it, or to criticize those whom they supposed to have originated it. As if the Herald, the Columbia Hose company, or "Competition," issued similar calls heretofore and whose business it is, anyhow, when the call is issued in good faith and for a laudable purpose, to bring the matter into question? What's the motive? Is not the Fourth of July a universal one in this land of ours, and dear alike to every one who accepts our citizenship? Had the Herald originated it, it would have been but another one of its progressive moves in the interest of home enthusiasm and advancement. Had the Columbia Hose company, that has always labored in the interest of the town at the most hazardous moments and with so much personal sacrifice, deserves well of our people in everything, the company under-takes to better its condition. He who furnished the notice to you has no apology to make, but rather prides in having taken up what had been overlooked by others, for there are certain unalienable rights possessed by all of us in this land of the free and no irrepressible selfishness or intolerance that may crop out here and there in the least interfere with well-merited and appropriate exercises of those rights.

Rocky Mountain Cure.

The druggists claim that people call daily for the new cure for constipation and sick headache, discovered by Dr. Silva Lane while in the Rocky Mountains. It is said to be Oregon grape root (a great remedy in the far West for those complaints) combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring on boiling water to draw out the strength. It sells at 50 cents a package and is called Lane's Family Medicine.
