CONVENTION CALL.

To the Republican Electors of Pennsylvania:
After consultation and correspondence with the members of the Republican State Committee, and by their direction, I hereby give notice that the Republicans of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in State Convention at Harrisburg, Wednesday, August 19, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the offices of State Treasurer and Auditor General, for the nomination of eighteen candidates for Delegates-at-Large to the Constitutional Convention provided for in the Act of Assembly approved June 15, 1891, and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented.
Notice is especially directed to the fact that, in accordance with the provisions of the last mentioned act, each Senatorial District is entitled to a representative of the State Committee in said Constitutional Convention, two of whom only can be members of the majority party in said District. The electors of each District are therefore requested to make proper nominations for delegates to said convention, the rules governing the nomination of candidates for State Senator to be applicable.
In this convention the Chairman desires to call the attention of Republican voters to the recommendation of the State Convention of 1892, that "they allow the greatest freedom in the general participation in the primaries consistent with the preservation of the party organization."
WM. H. ANDREWS, Chairman.

CLARKSON ON QUAY.

In an interview with Hon. James S. Clarkson, recently assistant postmaster general, that Senator Quay's resolve to resign the chairmanship of the Republican national committee is not a new fangled idea, but one long entertained and only prevented by urgent requests of members of the national organization. While the senator cannot be blamed for wishing to surrender the trust we again repeat it is not for the interest of the party that he should retire—all the criticisms of the Mugwumps to the contrary notwithstanding. The warfare on the senator has been waged by Democratic journals for the express purpose of securing his retirement and for the reason that they are mortally afraid of his energy and generalship. In fact, it is the boast of the New York World that the opposition to Senator Quay originated in its columns and of course the inspiring cause was Quay's ability as a leader.

Democratic opposition could be expected, but when so-called Republicans join in the attack it looks very much like a rule or ruin policy—a policy on the George William Curtis order which

THE TATTLES OF THE TATTLER.

Gossip That is Dished Up to the Newspaper Man in His Sanctum Mingled With Scraps Caught by Himself.

The other day I was conversing with one of our most influential and prominent citizens, whose opinion on most any subject of public interest I hold in high esteem. During the course of our talk the members of the W. C. T. U. and its raid upon the whiskey traffic was brought up, and the gentleman in question proceeded to criticize its members very severely, and went so far as to style them as altogether too fanatical and visionary.

Now, this is all wrong. While I am not a member of the Union, yet we must recognize the great fact that the women who compose it are an earnest, generous and philanthropic body, working in the best interest of society. They do not act upon the theory of the revivalist, who drives recruits into camp. No. Theirs are the calm and more self-convinced methods, and they'll win by these if the game is to be won at all.

Don't imagine, dear reader, from these remarks that I am a temperance man, in the sense usually accepted by the W. C. T. U. I am not. But, nevertheless, the fact remains that the noble work voluntarily accepted by these women is for our individual good. Every critic of the Union, who pinned right down to it, has been forced to acknowledge that he or she had not gone into anything like a careful consideration and examination of the theories expounded by the W. C. T. U., and that's just where the difficulty lies, and what makes their work the harder.

A pointer to the members of the Union. Turn your attention to the fair sex. Were their batteries directed with the same amount of energy that they have exerted in the cause of temperance in the elevation of fallen women, I think they would be crowned with a greater degree of success. And it would be no new departure, either. I am informed that the women of Wilkes-Barre exerted their efforts in this respect, and met with a great degree of success. What a grand field for them in this town. Protect our girls from the human serpents that infest society. Our courts are too lenient with the wreckers of female virtue. If judges will not mete our proper punishment, then let the laws be made so vigorous that the criminal will not escape just punishment.

And just here a question arises. It is this: What shall be done to shelter the fallen woman? It is not enough that they shall be shown the error of their way, but there must be some sort of provision for them after their reformation. The social system of our various churches should throw its protecting arm about them.

But will they do it? That's the question. On the train the other day I overheard two prominent Democrats discussing the political situation. From their remarks, and the inference to be drawn therefrom, it seems quite probable, if not a foregone conclusion, that the coming Democratic convention will endorse Judge Green for renomination. From a Republican standpoint I don't see what difference it will make, for there is no doubt of his election if he secures the Republican nomination.

But why bring the judiciary into partisan politics? Every fair-minded citizen, with the probable exception of the political officeholder, will agree with me that the qualifications of a candidate for the Judgeship should not be estimated from a political standpoint. There are other attainments necessary, and which should influence the citizen in summing up the qualifications of a judicial candidate.

Judge Green's ability as a lawyer has never been questioned, even by the men who differ with him politically. But, on the other hand, I have never heard anything but the highest praise for his attainments as a practitioner at the bar. Since his elevation to the bench, he has honored that exalted position, and his decisions will bear the closest scrutiny and criticism of the most learned deities of Blackstone now at the county bar. There is no Democratic candidate who has been mentioned as his successor that is his equal in legal attainments, and his social characteristics are of the highest order.

Honestly, I think it would be a shrewd move on the part of the Democrats to endorse Judge Green for renomination.

Somebody Else's Ox Gored.

The Daily Republican hits Joe Powell, et al., in the following playful strain. It fits a plenty: "A couple of years ago Claude G. Whitstone came to Pottsville for the avowed purpose of showing country editors how to 'run a city journal in a country town.' The newspapers, from the Philadelphia Times and Inquirer offices up through Hazleton, Wilkes-Barre to Scranton, could not slobber too much taffy over his young head, which at that time, lacked only experience in the business of newspaper making. But a mighty change has all of a sudden come over the Luzerne and Lackawanna friends of 'Dear Claude.' They are now telling him to 'go soak his head,' that his 'brain is added,' 'his boots are too big for him,' his 'hat band plays too loud,' 'take him to Danville (asylum) and install Major Warren in his place.' Not one of the Pottsville papers, whose annihilation was predicted by his coming to this town, died or even got sick over his coming, neither did one of the Pottsville newspapers ever say an unkind word of him. Now that his old time friends are opening their batteries of wrath upon him, we shall expect to see his new Scranton enterprise flourish like a Green Bay tree or perish like a Susquehanna shad fly."

Narrow Escape.

Yesterday morning, at the Safflik colliery, while a mine car was being run out on the landing at the head of the shaft, through some unknown cause it again descended the shaft, making a complete wreck of the cage and doing other damage. Had not the men at the bottom heard the noise of the wreck there would undoubtedly have been several lives lost.

WILL HE RESIGN?

POLITICIANS PUZZLED OVER QUAY'S RESIGNATION.

IT WILL BE SETTLED TO-MORROW.

The National Executive Committee to Meet in Philadelphia—Ex-President Cleveland Will Not Stump Ohio.

By National Press Association.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Senator Quay is expected to arrive in town to-day to arrange for the meeting of the National Republican Executive Committee, which meets here to-morrow, and enough of the other members will be on hand, it is said, to make a quorum.

Vice-Chairman Clarkson will arrive to-night and Col. Dudley is already on the way. There is little business to come before this meeting, the most important matter being the probable resignation of Quay as chairman and the selection of Clarkson as his successor.

It is a fact that as yet none of the politicians know whether Quay really intends to drop out, and every one figures it that his chances of doing so are just even.

It is known that Fassett, the New York member; Dudley, New and Congress favor his retention, and it may be that the committee will refuse his resignation if it is offered.

A Republican very close to Senator Quay says that if certain things happen at the meeting he will retire, and if these certain things do not happen he will stick. What these "certain things" are no one seems to know.

CLEVELAND'S POSITION.

He Has Valid Reasons for Not Taking the Stump in Ohio.

BOSTON, July 28.—A morning paper prints an interview with ex-President Cleveland, in which he says: "I have been requested by the Ohio Democrats to make speeches in their State during the pending canvass. I do not expect to take part in the campaign there, nor in any State, and I have never given the slightest intimation of an intention to do so."

"I am convinced that Governor Campbell and all other fair-minded political friends will understand that if I decline to go upon the stump there are perfectly good and valid reasons for my action entirely consistent with a most earnest desire for the success of all Democratic candidates in Ohio, or elsewhere."

"Of course, I anticipate the cry will be raised in certain quarters if such a request is made and declined that I am selfish and indifferent to the success of the cause of my party, but such ill-natured accusations I do not expect to escape in any event."

AN ANTI-CATHOLIC TICKET.

Nominations Made by the Patriotic Sons of America.

BOSTON, July 28.—It is reported that Lieut.-Gov. Hale was put in nomination for Governor at a secret meeting of the Patriotic Sons of America held in this city. Councilor Arthur W. Tutts was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor.

It is understood that A. E. Pillsbury was favorably mentioned in connection with the Attorney-Generalship, but only the nominations mentioned above were determined upon. The organization is anti-Catholic.

Gen. Draper's Narragansett Dinner.

Worcester, Mass., July 28.—General Draper, on his arrival here from Narragansett Pier, was asked about the sensational reports in reference to the Narragansett dinner. He did not consider them worth discussing. "You may say, however, that the dinner was not given to any one in particular; being simply an informal gathering of my personal friends. Miss Winnie Davis was one of the guests, and I took in Mrs. Carlisle, wife of the Senator. There was nothing unusual about it in any way."

Three Months for "Sheeny Al."

LOSPON, July 28.—At the general session of the criminal court held at the Old Bailey, Edward Pinter, alias "Sheeny Al," the American "alchemist," who is charged with having attempted to obtain $40,000 from Edwin Streeter, the Bond street jeweler, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment. Pinter claimed that he had discovered the "Philosopher's Stone," and could convert a sovereign into a piece of gold three times its weight.

Cut in Two by a Train.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 28.—Theodore Jansard, aged 24 years, a brakeman on the New York Central, residing at Savannah, N. Y., was thrown from the top of a caboose on Byron grade last night while his train was being pushed up the hill. He was cut in two and horribly mangled.

Mrs. Searles' Funeral To-morrow.

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 28.—The late Mrs. Mark Hopkins Searles' funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, of which Mrs. Searles was a member. The interment will be in the family vault recently erected in the small graveyard opposite the Searles residence in Methuen.

THEIR BLOOD WAS EVIDENTLY INFILLED.

St. Paul called the Cretons "abor bellies, confere, Bl-disposed and mischievous." Cactus Blood Cure would have remedied all that. His of the flesh vanish before pure blood. Scrofulous and specific blood poisons are now curable.

THEIR HEADS CUT OFF.

Herland struggled Desperately With His Executioners in Paris.

PARIS, July 28.—The double execution of young Herland and Dora was a most exciting and horrible scene. When Herland was being taken to the guillotine he fought the prison guards like an incarnate demon, pounding, tearing and scratching them every foot of the way, from the condemned cell to where the shadow of the great knife fell upon the still struggling group.

Even after the miserable wretch had been forced into a recumbent position he made furious efforts to break away. The united efforts of three assistants were necessary to hold the young murderer still long enough to permit of the executioner doing his duty.

When the blade finally rushed downward it did so to send out of the world one who left it shrieking, cursing and struggling to the last.

Dora submitted quietly to his fate.

Three hundred policemen on foot, 250 infantry and 100 mounted officers surrounded the guillotine.

No sooner had the heads of the murderers rolled into the basket than the crowd surged forward and with a mighty rush broke through the cordons of soldiers and policemen stationed around the guillotine.

An American who was anxious to see an execution by the guillotine paid $400 for the use of a window commanding a good view of the place.

PARNELL SPOKE FOR DALY.

He Said the Life Prisoner Ought to be Pardoned.

LONDON, July 28.—In the House of Commons, upon the vote for the support of the prisons, Mr. Parnell argued that certain convicts under life sentence, and especially John Daly, ought to be pardoned, or treated as political prisoners. He said there was every reason to believe that Daly was guiltless of having dynamite in his possession with intent to cause an explosion.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the Liberal leader expressed himself opposed to any relaxation of Daly's punishment.

Home Secretary Matthews said that the alleged proofs of Daly's innocence had been examined, and found to be inventions. The sentence, therefore, must stand.

JEM SMITH'S DEFEAT.

Ted Fritchard Wins the Contest in Ten Minutes.

LONDON, July 28.—The boxing match last night between Jem Smith and Ted Fritchard for $5,000 was easily won by Fritchard in ten minutes, Smith behaving in a cowardly manner.

No surprise was shown at the result, which had been anticipated, Smith's backers having done all they could to put the fight off.

It was not thought, however, that Smith would be beaten so easily.
