REAPING THE WHIRLWIND.

The people of Colorado are just now in the enjoyment of an object lesson. How costly it is to be in the disturbance of peace and order, the demoralization of business and trade and possibly in the destruction of life and property remains to be seen.

AUDACITY.

One of the most audacious open violations of the law perpetrated in this community for some time was the affair of last Friday night—the holding of a socking man in a ball room in one of the most prominent buildings on the main street of the town.

THE WEEK IN CONGRESS.

Outline of the Business to be Disposed of This Week.

THE CONTESTED ELECTION CASES.

They Will Follow After the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill is Disposed of, Which Will Probably be Done Tonight, and Are Likely to Occupy the Week.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—As soon as the sundry civil appropriation bill is disposed of, which will probably be done tonight, the house will take up the four contested election cases which are pending.

The O'Neill-Joy and English-Hilborn cases, which were both decided against the sitting members (Rep.) by strict party votes in the committee on elections, are the most important and will require the major portion of the time.

English's contest rested on the claim that in one precinct the returns had been manipulated beyond doubt, and his attorneys charged that while Hilborn was not responsible for he had been the beneficiary of that manipulation.

In the Williams-Settle case the contestant alleged that the sitting member had been elected by the bulldozing and intimidation of negro voters by the Republicans, but most of the Democrats of the committee refused to sustain his election.

In the Wistley-Cobb case the committee unanimously decided against the contestant, who was a Populist, and his case has no standing in the house whatever.

If the contested election cases are disposed of this week, which is hardly probable, as the Republicans will doubtless insist upon the passage of a Democratic quorum to unseat their colleagues, the house will proceed with the consideration of either the military academy or consular and diplomatic appropriation bills.

The present week will, so far as the calendar reveals, be devoted by the senate to routine business of no general interest. It is probable that the fortifications appropriation bill will be reported from the committee, and if it should be it will probably be taken up for discussion and put upon its passage.

Injured While Coasting. Impure Blood Asserts Itself. But Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures the Disease and Restores Health.

Wm. Johnson, Normanville, Pa. I was injured on one limb while coasting. It did not trouble me much at first, but soon became more painful, my strength began to decline and I could not rest at night.

I Would Not Live until spring. During all this time I had tried many different medicines but did get relief. In the meantime to give me relief, the several bunches around my knee were lanced and later every effort made to heal the running sores but all in vain.

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla CURES decided to have me give it a trial. I have taken it regularly, using exactly ten bottles. All the sores but two are healed and these are nearly well.
