Shenandoah Breaks Her Long List of Defeats With a Good Victory.

HAZLETONS WERE DOWNED

A GAME IN WHICH THE SPECTATORS TOOK GREAT INTEREST AND BOTH TEAMS PLAYED WELL.

It was Exciting Up to the Retirement of the Last Man—Shenandoah Also Won a Game at Freeland Yesterday.

About four hundred people saw the Shenandoahs break the line of their defeats at the Trotting park, Saturday afternoon, and down the Hazletons. The small crowd cheered and shouted in a manner that would have done credit to the lungs and enthusiasm of a crowd comprising a thousand or more people. Base ball took an instantaneous boom and the club will undoubtedly receive good encouragement during this week. It should, at all events. The players have shown that they can play ball and will do so, and that was all the people wanted to start in and give the management encouragement.

In many respects the game was one of the prettiest ever seen on the grounds and towards the close the contest made the spectators, who hoped for a home team victory, nervously anxious. The Shenandoahs started out in a business like manner and sustained it throughout the game. Clark's playing was a wonderful improvement on his work of the day before and Carey's work with the bat and his base stealing aroused great enthusiasm. In the latter work the player was daring. Despite Westlake's watchfulness he stole third base in the fifth inning, and in the ninth he was prolonged applause for stealing second and third.

McCoach was the first man to the plate and he struck out. Ford got his base on balls and Little followed with a hit. Merriman hit the ball, but was thrown out at first by Shaub. Carey then brought Ford and Little home with a three bagger, but failed to score himself on account of McGarvey going out on a fly to McGarvey. This left the home team with a start of two runs. The Hazletons failed to score. Moran struck out, Ford made his debut as catcher for the home team by making an excellent catch of Rothermel's foul fly close to the front of the grand stand, McVey made a hit, and the side was retired by Sever's capturing Donovan's fly.

Both sides failed to score in the next three innings. The playing was sharp and without an error. In the fourth Carey and McGarvey were retired on a double play by Shields, Rothermel and McGarvey and Clark went out on a fly to Moran.

Nevis started the fifth inning with a hit and while he was being thrown out at second Sever's got his base. McCoach got to first on McGarvey's error and a hit by Ford and a two-bagger by Carey completed a score of four runs, making a total of six before the side was retired. It looked as if the Hazletons would be given another goose egg in this inning, as both McGarvey and Shaub went out on foul flies to Ford, which caused great applause and shouts of joy, but Westlake followed with a hit, Keener followed with another and Westlake scored on Carey's error. Moran was declared out on being hit by a ball batted by Rothermel, after the former had made a hit.

Clark started the sixth inning with a hit and Nevis made one. Sever's was thrown out at first by Keener and McCoach got his base on balls. Ford hit the ball and Clark was thrown out at the plate. Nevis, McCoach and Ford scored on hits by Little and Merriman. Notwithstanding two errors by Merriman in the start of the second half the Hazletons only got one run in. McVey got to first and second on the errors. Donovan went out on Merriman's throw to first and Shields and McGarvey went out on a double play by Merriman and Little. The two errors in the start of this inning led the Hazletons to believe that their salvation was in the weakness of the guardian of the second base and all the balls were sent in that direction, but Merriman fooled them in excellent shape and McVey was the only man who succeeded in getting in, the run being made on the two errors and Shields' hit.

The seventh inning was a lucky one for the home team in the first half and unlucky in the second. Its score was increased to ten by Clark getting to first and around to the home plate on Rothermel's bad throw to first, but in the last half the Hazletons made five hits, got a base on balls and an error by Sever's alone let in three runs, making the score dangerously close. Shaub started the spasm of distress with a hit. Westlake got to first on a hit and Keener went out on a fly to Little. Moran got his base on balls, and then came the error that made Chills run up the backs of the spectators. Rothermel sent a high fly to right field and Sever's ran in for it. He put out his glove with the intention of bouncing the ball towards him, but it bounced out and went to the ground, rolling some distance away. Shaub, Westlake and Moran scored before the ball could be fielded to the home plate. Rothermel scored on McVey's hit and the latter reached home on hits by Donovan and Shields. This ended the scoring, however, as McGarvey went out on a fly to Sever's and Shaub was retired by Merriman's throw to first.

In the eighth inning both sides were retired in one, two, three order. McCoach went out on a fly to Westlake, Ford on one to Shaub and Little was thrown out at first by Keener. Westlake and Keener went out on flies to Little and Moran on a fly to McGarvey.

Merriman was the first man to bat for the home team in the ninth and was thrown out at first by Rothermel. Carey got his base on balls and stole to second and then to third, exerting himself to the utmost to add at least another run to the score, but his efforts were of no avail, as McGarvey went out on a fly to McVey and Rothermel threw Clark out at first. Rothermel did great work in this half. The short stop went to the plate as the first of the Hazletons in the wind up of the game. He and McVey were thrown out at first by Clark. Donovan then followed with a three-bagger and the people who had started to leave the grounds hesitated in breathless expectation. The anxiety was increased when Shields, the next batter, got his base on balls. A few moments later cheers and applause for the home team filled the air, Sever's having caught a fine fly hit by McGarvey, retiring the side and ending the game.

OUR SECOND VICTORY.

Brennan's Batters Won in an Exhibition Game at Freeland Yesterday.

In an exciting exhibition contest yesterday the Shenandoah State League club defeated Freeland on the latter's grounds. The professionals were badly rattled up to the eighth inning, and were behind in the score. In that inning Pfrom went to pieces and 14 runs were scored by the visitors before being retired. Pfrom is an amateur pitcher, but showed remarkable skill in handling the ball, striking out nine men. In the eighth inning, with Shenandoah at the bat and two men out, the score stood 10 to 7 in favor of the locals. At this juncture Pfrom became rattled over a decision of the umpire, and sent seven men to bases on balls, forcing in six runs. He was then relieved by Breslin, but the lead thus obtained gave the visitors a start, and, before being retired, eight more runs were piled up. Breslin's fielding and Warner's work behind the bat were the features of the game. Score:

THE BOWMANITES WIN

Evangelical Church Must be Vacated by the Present Congregation.

THE END A LONG STRUGGLE.

JUDGE WEIDMAN DECIDES THE CASE IN FAVOR OF THE BOWMANITES AND GIVES THEM THE PROPERTY.

The Congregation Will Re-organize and Secure Quarters for Worship Elsewhere Until It Can Build an Edifice of Its Own.

Judge Weidman today handed down at Pottsville a decision granting to the Evangelical Association of Pennsylvania a permanent injunction against the congregation of the Ebenezer Evangelical church of town. The injunction restrains the congregation from occupying the church, or using any of the property connected with it, and from collecting any rents for the property, or exercising any control whatever over it.

Several months ago the Bowman and Escher factions of the Evangelical Association won a case of a similar character against the adherents of Bishop Dubs at Reading and took possession of the property under a decision of the Supreme Court. Under that decision the Association made a demand for the church and property here, but being refused possession, applied to the county court for a permanent injunction. The congregation continued worshipping in the church pending the decision.

Prominent members of the church received the news of the result from a HERALD reporter at noon today with marked emotion. One of them said, "It is no doubt right, legally, but is a great moral wrong."

The fight of which this decision is the sequel originated in 1891 with charges against Bishop Dubs and counter charges against Bishops Bowman and Escher. The friends of the former say he opposed vesting the bishops with exclusive power and maintained that the layman should have a voice. It is also claimed that the followers of Dubs number about 40,000 in this state, while Bowman has but about 10,000. The congregation here is said to be unanimously in favor of Bishop Dubs.

One gentleman prominently identified with the congregation said today that when the church was started its property was decided to the conference and that is the point on which the decision was rendered. The Bowmanites and Escherites, although vastly in the minority numerically, hold the conference, and consequently the deed. The property is worth about $8,000, but much more has been spent on it in the way of repairs and improvements. It is not likely that an appeal will be taken from the decision. The congregation will undoubtedly re-organize as "The United Evangelical Association of Shenandoah" and seek quarters in some hall for worship until it can erect another edifice. Whether it will worship in the old homestead next Sunday will depend upon developments of the week.

Not Consistent.

Shenandoah's make believe economical Council is having a hard time of it. In one of their fits of spasmodic donkey foolishness they gave the printing of ordinances to a Pottsville paper. It is unnecessary to state that the paper in question displayed more or less avarice in entering in competition with the three local papers of the town. If Council was consistent all would be well. But they are not. The few dollars they beat the home papers out of they appropriate to their own use and with the dining and wining of themselves they often take other funds of the borough to pay their feasting bills. Shenandoah's Council should reside on some isolated island.—Joyce's American.

The Two Morgans

Under the recent deal in Councils our police helmets cost more than they have for several years past, notwithstanding that all such goods have been reduced in cost during the past year. Result of no competition.—"Dickey" Morgan in the Mahanoy City "Record."

The local correspondent of the Daily Record must be suffering from an attack of sour grapes. If he would confine himself to the truth he would find that the borough paid less for the police helmets this year than last.—"Willie" Morgan in the Pottsville Republican.

Mere Mention.

This week will decide the new county business. It ought to have been settled long ago. The suspense as to its final fate is already telling on its opponents.

In behalf of the taxpayers of the borough of Shenandoah, we ask the wooden men in Council to resign. They are neither useful nor ornamental.

We advise our Hazleton brethren to go slow on their new water works. "A stitch in time," etc., you know. Shenandoah's loss may be Hazleton's gain if they will await developments.

Pottsville Council have all their printing and advertising done at home. Catch Pottsville going out of town for anything, oh, no. They are not as thick-headed and spiteful as some of our Councilmen.

Interviewed an Official.

A Pottsville Review reporter interviewed a well known C. & L. official who said Supt. Broughall's collieries pay better than those of any other district, conditions and circumstances considered, that Mr. Broughall has been a boss for more than twenty years and has always stood high. The official admitted an investigation had been made recently that developed incorrect bookkeeping and inability to strike a correct balance in material. Instead of a deficit, however, an account of stock showed a surplus. As to the talk of immorality charging the seduction of employes families by bosses the official had heard nothing.

Caused a Sensation.

Land talking, a tussle and the sight of a woman falling upon the floor, caused a sensation at the store of the "Wreck" Clothing Company at the corner of Main and Centre streets, Saturday afternoon. The affair blew over in a few minutes and parties in the store refused to talk about the matter. The company gave up business Saturday night and left town today. It is said the sensation was created by a woman of flashy fame from Pottsville. That she accused one of the attendants of the store with owing her money and being knocked her to the floor.

Needs Disciplining.

The Shenandoah Council needs disciplining before the treasury of that borough is swamped by being mulcted in court costs and interest. The Councilmen should do two particular things; refit their carriage hire bills by walking to the new water dam and pay just claims without forcing the claimants to sue. Besides the Boyer case, which was long since decided in favor of the claimant, Shenandoah now has the Doyle and Womelsdorf cases to lose, besides a dozen others we wait of. They seem to be playing at running a Borough Council up there in Shenandoah.—Miners' Journal.
