REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

To the Republican electors of Pennsylvania: The Republicans of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in State convention Thursday, April 23, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., in the opera house, city of Harrisburg, for the purpose of nominating two candidates for representative-at-large in Congress and thirty-two candidates for Presidential electors, the election of eight delegates-at-large to the Republican National convention, and for the ratification of such other business as may be presented.

By order of the State Committee. M. S. QUAY, Chairman. J. B. REK, Secretary. W. R. ANDREWS, Secretaries.

The fact that Mrs. Cleveland now weighs nearly 300 pounds may have something to do with the President's late remark that a stout, middle-aged woman on a bicycle is an abomination.

Is cleaning up do not neglect your collar. Perhaps it has been closed up all winter, and it is damp and clammy. Give it air, and plenty of it, and see that the walls are given a liberal coat of whitewash. Whitewash is a good disease killer, and the collar will smell better after it has been supplied. Drop a few slunks of lime in the corners, and let them air slack. It won't hurt anything.

SENATOR ELKINS is reported to have sounded ex-President Harrison recently on the subject of the Presidential nomination, and to have stated that General Harrison is afraid that the people might accuse him of insincerity and of indiscretion should he now consent to be a candidate. If Mr. Elkins wants to get a straight tip he might apply to Mrs. Harrison.

NOWHERE in the state has Frank Willing Leach more ardent admirers than among the Republicans of Shenandoah county, and it will be a pleasure for us and welcome news to our thousands of readers to record his unanimous election as state chairman by the state convention on Thursday. Mr. Leach has all the qualifications for the position; an indefatigable worker; one who is well versed in all the details of committee work. Shenandoah county is for Leach first, last and all the time.

THE House is on the verge of having disposed of all the appropriation bills, and the policy of Speaker Reed is that no further legislation shall be considered. Congress ought to be able to adjourn sine die a month hence. That would give the members several weeks of rest before the time would be at hand for them to put in an appearance at the President making conventions. If the hot weather continues the disposition to close the doors of the Capitol building and get away will be greatly enhanced.

SOME THOUGHTS ABOUT WAGES.

Colonel Carroll D. Wright, United States Commissioner of Labor, recently delivered a lecture in New York, in which reference was made to the rate of increase in wages. His figures cover a period of fifty years, the most important beyond question in the history of modern times, and show an increase from an average of $247.38 in 1850 to $288.04 in 1860, to $302.08 in 1870 to $346.91 in 1880, and to $449.83 in 1890. Colonel Wright, however, points out that before the real significance of such averages can be comprehended the fluctuating value of money must be considered. He says that the real question of wages or of the amount of the necessities and comforts of life is what a day's labor will buy at any given time.

It is also said that "the figures of averages are remarkable, but they do not adequately represent the increased rewards of productive work. As a result of scientific discoveries and mechanical inventions, which have developed to a greater extent since 1840 than in any previous period, a day's work now will buy more of the comforts of life than could be had for ten days' wages in the seventeenth century." Unfortunately this does not apply to such actual necessities as food, fuel and rent, but it certainly does apply to an indefinite number of comforts—to newspapers, magazines, books, pictures, and nearly everything pertaining to the paper line, to most articles of steel, to machine-turned articles from wood and hundreds of other things. The difference between life in this century (and especially the latter half) of machinery and in any century of hand work is so great that it is almost incredible.

The whole development of railroads and telegraphs, says the Harrisburg Star Independent, has practically taken place in the period covered by Colonel Wright's figures. In 1840 steam had only begun to show its great possibilities, while those of electricity were hardly dreamed of. In the last fifty years the use of the brain to save waste of muscle has increased until at last the world is beginning to realize that brain work, not muscle work, is the real measure of value. The final application of electricity as power will increase indefinitely, or should at any rate, the earning or at least the capacity of nations. The man who thinks is the real worker. To this may be attributed the marvelous growth of the past fifty years. Who can estimate or foretell what the first half of the twentieth century will bring forth.

Uncle Sam a Tardy Paymaster.

PITTSBURG, April 20.—The Sterling Steel company of McKeesport, manufacturers of the Wheeling steel armor piercing projectiles, is in peculiar financial difficulties. For several months past they have been working on a large order of projectiles for the United States government, which has cost them hundreds of thousands of dollars, for which they have received no money in return. They have consequently been compelled to pass their regular pay day and suspend operations. The credit of the company is first class, however, and it is expected the plant will resume in a few days. The government appropriation intended to pay the company has been used for another purpose, and the new appropriation will not be available until congress adjourns.

He was business partner, best man and pall bearer to Thomas Whitridge who was killed last year, with his young wife, by falling from the window of their bedroom during a fire in the house they occupied. CLEVELAND AND CUBA

The President's Attitude Well Known to the Spanish Authorities.

LONDON, April 20.—The Standard's correspondent at Madrid says: Despite the persistent official denials both from Washington and Madrid, it is now an open secret that both governments have freely discussed their attitude towards each other in the Cuban affair. Spain is aware that President Cleveland wishes to be conciliatory, but that he cannot answer for the control of American opinion if the struggle in Cuba be prolonged to the injury of American commerce.

Spain, on the other hand, has informed President Cleveland that she is willing to conciliate the sympathies of sensible Americans, but that she cannot entertain a proposal for the independence of Cuba, or even for a suspension of hostilities to negotiate with the rebels, as public opinion would never tolerate such a humiliation.

Spain has been stealthily preparing to execute a Cuban home rule bill directly the colonial authorities regarded it advisable to do so. No date has yet been fixed for this, however.

The charges against Mrs. Bell was that she had punished the two children, a boy of 14 and a girl of 15, with the most fiendish tortures which malignant ingenuity could devise. Stripping them to thinnest clothing she would soak in water, and then compel them to sit before open windows when the temperature was several degrees below zero until their attire was frozen stiff. On one occasion the boy was kept at work in the cold improperly clad until his toes were frozen and dropped off. They were fed with food mixed with noxious fluids like kerosene, turpentine and worse.

THE PLAGUE'S RAVAGES

Not So Bad at Hong Kong as Has Been Reported.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—The steamer Gaelic arrived yesterday from Hong Kong and Yokohama via Honolulu. Owing to the prevalence of the black plague at Hong Kong the steamer was sent to Quarantine Island. The cabin passengers, fifty in number, were allowed to land, but the 200 steerage passengers were kept on board. A case of small pox developed during the voyage from Yokohama to Honolulu, and there was a case of black plague just before the steamer left Yokohama. There was no sickness on board when the steamer arrived here yesterday, and after the steerage passengers and their baggage have been fumigated they will probably be allowed to land.

The plague news from China is not alarming. There is a great deal of sickness among the European colony at Hong Kong, but nothing very serious. It has rained there constantly for seven weeks, and the city is in an unhealthy state. A fatal cattle disease has broken out which has almost ruined the dairy business. Up to March 30 there had been 294 cases of plague in Hong Kong since Jan. 1. Most of the south China and Island ports have declared a quarantine against Hong Kong. A case of plague is reported from Singapore.

No News of Nansen.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 20.—The police have a report from Ust Yansk, northern Siberia, that nothing is known there of Dr. Nansen. Ust Yansk is the point east of the Lena Delta from which was dated the first report by Kushnaroff, contractor for Nansen, that the explorer had reached the pole and was returning. The report which the police have now received also says that the natives who stayed from May to November on the Lakhoff and Kotelnikoff islands, where Baron Toll's provision stores intended for Nansen's use are placed, saw no wreckage or sign of Nansen.
