THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE.

Her Majesty Attends the Service at St. George's Chapel.

A MOST IMPRESSIVE SCENE.

Services at Other Churches Attended by the Distinguished Leaders of English Official Life and by Eminent Representatives of Other Nations.

London, June 21.—Queen Victoria began the celebration of her jubilee yesterday, as was befitting her entire career, before the altar of her faith. Throughout London, the United Kingdom and the empire, in every cathedral, church or chapel of the established church of England, were held services similar to those at St. George's chapel, Windsor, where her majesty paid her devotions and offered solemn thanksgiving.

The announcement that the services at St. George's chapel would be private and for the members of the royal family, prevented the gathering of a large crowd. The scene was most impressive, and the service very simple. Her majesty sat in the chair of state immediately in front of the communion rail, and just beside the brass plate whose inscription designates the spot which was the temporary place of interment of the prince consort.

The ladies and gentlemen who are the grand officers of the queen's household entered first, followed by the military knights of Windsor in the full costume of gilded hats and armorial mantles. The Duke of Devonshire, Lord Rosebery occupied their stalls as knights of the Garter. The rest of the choir was empty, the seats of the royal family being near the queen's.

The dean of Windsor, wearing the insignia of chaplain of the Order of the Garter, officiated, assisted by the Lord Bishop of Barry and several canons.

Punctually at 11 o'clock, amid the soft strains of an organ voluntary, the queen arrived from the cloisters at the entrance. Assisted by her Indian attendant, she walked slowly to the chair of state, the congregation standing.

The queen, seated in her chair, except for a white tuft in her bonnet, Empress Frederick of Germany, attired in deep black, took the seat at the right of the queen, while the Duke of Connaught, wearing his Windsor uniform, seated himself at her left. The others pressed themselves closely behind, and looked very like a simple family of worshippers. Among them were the Duchess of Connaught, Prince Henry of Prussia and Princesses Christian, Prince Christian and Princesses Christian, with the grand duchess.

Ordinary morning prayers began with a short exhortation from I Timothy, and the suffrages after the creed contained sentences with special reference to the queen's jubilee. After the first collect, a special collect was read, instead of the usual prayer for the queen and royal family, two special prayers were substituted.

A special prayer for unity was said, and there were special psalms and responses used instead of those for the day, the gospel being St. Matthew, xxii, 10: "Render, therefore, unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's."

There was no sermon, but a special hymn, written by the Right Rev. William Walsham, lord bishop of Wakefield, was sung by Sir Arthur Sullivan, who sang at her children's request. The third verse was as follows: "Oh, royal heart, with wide embrace, For all her children yearning! Oh, happy realm, such mother grass With loyal love returning! Where England's flag flies wide unfurled,

All tyrant wrongs repelling, God make the world a better world, For man's brief earthly dwelling."

Before the benediction special thanksgiving was offered. The choir of St. George's chapel rendered the musical portion of the service, Sir Walter Parratt presiding at the organ. The service lasted 40 minutes, the queen remaining seated throughout and following closely the special prayers and hymns.

At the end there was a pause. The queen, with bowed head, continued in silent prayer. Then followed a touching scene. Summoning Empress Frederick, who bowed low at her side, the queen kissed her on both cheeks. The Duke of Connaught and the others of the family followed, receiving on bended knee a similar token of affection. In many cases the recipient was kissed several times.

The queen was profusely moved, and tears rolled down her cheeks. At last, and evidently with great reluctance, she beckoned her Indian attendant, and leaning on his arm passed slowly out of the chapel, the entire congregation standing.

There were two services at St. Paul's cathedral, at 11 a. m. and at 3 p. m. Immense crowds filled all the approaches to the cathedral at the morning service, anxious to catch a glimpse of the royalties and distinguished personages who were announced to be present, including all the Protestant envoys. The first to arrive and to be recognized with the greatest interest were the archbishop of Finland, in purple and black vestments, accompanied by two deacons and General Kiriloff, in full uniform. Then followed Chang Ying Huan, the Chinese envoy, in the gorgeous celestial garments. He was escorted to the choir, where were seated also the envoys of the United States, Russia, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Brazil and Hawaii. White-label Reid, with Ambassador Hay and Mrs. Hay, General Nelson A. Miles, Ogden Mills, Croighton Webb, Captain Meade and Captain Macaulay came in royal carriages.

Under the dome and behind the richly crimsoned royal pews were the peers and peeresses in full robes, the foreign envoys and five colonial premiers with their families. Others seated in this portion of the edifice were special delegates from various societies, the presidents of the principal hospitals and colleges of London, Sir Richard Webster, the attorney general, and 200 queen's counsel in their wigs and

ECZEMA Another Life.

Mr. E. D. Jenkins, of Lithonia, Ga., says that his daughter, Ida, inherited a severe case of Eczema, which the usual mercury and potash remedies failed to relieve. Year by year she was treated with various medicines, external applications and internal remedies, without result. Her sufferings were intense, and her condition grew steadily worse. All the so-called blood remedies did not seem to reach the disease at all until S. S. S. was used, when an improvement was at once noticed. The medicine was continued with favorable results, and now she is cured and her skin is perfectly clear and pure and she has been saved from what threatened to blight her life forever.

S. S. S. (Genuine) is purely vegetable, cures Eczema, Scrofula, Cancer, Rheumatism, or any other blood trouble. It is a real blood remedy and always cures even after all else fails.

THE TARIFF MAKERS.

Confident That the End of Their Work is Almost in Sight.

THE DISSATISFIED REPUBLICANS

The Difficulty of Adjusting Differences in Their Own Party is Causing the Managers Great Perplexity. Differences on the Wool Schedule.

Washington, June 21.—The Republican senators in charge of the tariff bill seem to feel that the end is almost in sight. They do not hope to complete the consideration of the bill by the close of the present week, but they expect by that time to be able to say when they can complete the work.

As a matter of fact, the difficulty of adjusting differences in their own party is causing the managers great perplexity at present than in the open opposition to the bill in the senate. It has been found almost impossible to harmonize the contending forces among Republicans on the tobacco and wool schedules. The differences on tobacco have been compromised, though not to the satisfaction of all concerned, and if there should be another caucus before the tobacco schedule is taken up in the senate the question is liable to be reopened there.

The wool schedule confronts the senators with the problem of the season to day, and it is Senator Allard's purpose to press the schedule forward to a close. Hence it will be impossible to postpone for a very much longer time the settlement of the differences on this question. It is expected that if the committee should not be able to announce a determination by some time today the matter will be referred to an early caucus, or a caucus may be called if the committee fixes a rate that is not satisfactory to the wool men. There is little doubt that an advance will be made by the committee, but the advance will be all that the wool men demand. The wool schedule will, of course give rise to an animated debate, but the Democratic senators say there is no disposition on their part to needlessly prolong it.

There are also numerous articles on the free list and in the "mundry" schedule which will arouse differences of opinion, and if the Republicans do not withdraw the internal revenue features of the bill there will be a sharp clash over this. They are practically decided to carry out the provisions of the bill, but it is also practically determined that the house provision in regard to Hawaiian sugar will be continued pending disposition of the Hawaiian annexation treaty.

For the rest, the question of reciprocity and the problem presented by the trusts in connection with the tariff are still undetermined by the Republicans themselves, but there is no doubt that there will be more or less general debate upon any proposition agreed to when presented in the senate. The progress in the house will be the same as during past weeks. There will be two sessions, one today and another on Thursday. It is probable that the committee on rules will bring in a special order for the consideration of the bill appropriating money to repair the dry dock at the Brooklyn navy yard, and the bill will no doubt be passed.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich smell of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. It must, of course, I did not know the matter will be referred to an early caucus, or a caucus may be called if the committee fixes a rate that is not satisfactory to the wool men. A Life Saved.

Frank B. Trout Tells a Reporter of How His Daughter's Life Was Saved. All Parents Should be Interested in This Narrative.

From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich.

Using as a nucleus for his investigation the rumor that the life of the daughter of Frank B. Trout, well known in Detroit, Mich., had been saved, I went to the reporter called on Mr. Trout at his office, 103 Griswold Avenue. Mr. Trout showed some hesitancy in giving his opinion for publication, but finally said: "Circumstances and a father's love for his child forced me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but not until the whole medical profession had exhausted their skill. At the age of fourteen we had to take our daughter from school owing to her health. Before this she had been in the best of health, happy and in the best of spirits. She began to fall away and became pale and languid. She was so weak that she would fall down in a faint every time she tried to walk unassisted. The best of physicians attended her, but she continued to grow weaker and seemed to be gradually falling away."

"When she was fifteen she weighed only ninety pounds, and the doctors said it was hopeless. Several physicians said she might outgrow it, but that it would do her no good. I do not think she uses them now, though I always keep them in the house. My wife and I have recommended them to our neighbors, and sent a few to another young girl who seems to be in the same condition as my daughter. Had not Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my daughter's life, I would not recommend them to any one. I know they do all and more than is claimed for
