Said the pretty maid in the old English ballad. Eyes make or mar many a face, the other features may be ever so comely, a pair of weak, red inflamed or twitching eyes will spoil its beauty. Properly adjusted glasses will cure most of these troubles by removing the cause. But don't get the idea that anybody or everybody can do the "proper adjusting." We have made a study of the eye.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Brilliant Silver Plating Given to a Nuptial Chain.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kinkaid at 214 South Jardin street, was the scene of a brilliant gathering last evening, in celebration of the silver or twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. About sixty guests were present, including friends from New Jersey and several parts of this region. It was an event that will always be pleasantly remembered by the guests, and particularly by the couple who have journeyed together so happily for the past quarter of a century.

The events of the evening commenced with a silver wedding ceremony, which took place in the parlor. Rev. H. W. Koehler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of town, took a position in a corner of the room and before him stood the bridal couple. Mr. and Mrs. Kinkaid were attired in the same gown and suit they wore when married twenty-five years ago. Their five children stood behind them. At the side of Rev. Koehler stood the venerable Rev. R. C. Kuhn, of Alburtis, Pa., who was pastor of the First Presbyterian church of town for fifteen years, and who officiated at the nuptial ceremony that had such a brilliant and happy sequel in last evening's celebration. Another member of the group was Mr. Thomas H. Ramage, of Mt. Carmel, a brother of Mrs. Kinkaid, and who was groomsmen at the original ceremony. Mrs. Oliver Zerby, of Buck Glenn, Columbia county, who was the bridesmaid, could not attend last evening, owing to ill health. Mrs. Zerby was formerly Miss Anna Love, of town.

The ceremony was both unique and impressive. It consisted chiefly of the reading of a poem which embraced delicate humor in its opening lines and closed with congratulatory terms addressed to the bridal couple upon the completion of their voyage of twenty-five years upon the matrimonial sea, and assurances to them of the esteem in which they are held by those who assembled at the ceremony. The ceremony closed with benediction, after which Mr. and Mrs. Kinkaid were showered with rice and congratulations followed. A few minutes later couples were formed and the assemblage proceeded to the dining room where arrangements of elaborate order had been prepared for their reception. Plates had been laid for seventy people. The tables presented a strikingly beautiful appearance. A mound of ferns and roses and pretty center figures, three feet high and very pretty, with shades of lovely, delicate tints provided illumination. Old Glory hung in graceful folds at one end of the dining room and the whole scene was an exhilarating one. The repast was fully in keeping with the rest of the arrangements and was heartily enjoyed. It was followed by the re-assembling of the host, hostesses and guests in the parlors and the closing hours of the evening were spent in musical and literary pastimes, which concluded with the sterling old Scotch song, "Auld Lang Syne," in which the entire assemblage joined with a spirit showing that each heart was in full accord with the sentiments of the lines.

Before the march to the banquet tables took place two flash light photographs were taken by Miss Mahala Fairchild—one of the bridal party and one of Mr. and Mrs. Kinkaid and family. The present received by the couple on this large silver table included innumerable articles of silverware for table, toilet and ornamental use. Many of the pieces were massive and costly, and all reflected a generous spirit on the part of the donors.

Among the guests were Rev. F. E. Kolb, of Alburtis, Pa.; Mr. Ann Bent, Trenton, N. J.; Messrs. Thomas H., William H., and James Ramage, Mt. Carmel; Mrs. John Mair, Shamokin; William Goodman, Girardville; David Williams, Brownsboro; Miss Clara Metcalf and Messrs. William Malinwaring and M. S. Langford, Lost Creek. Among the town residents in attendance were Rev. H. W. Koehler and wife, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. William Stein, Mr. and Mrs. John Watson, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dusto, Mr. and Mrs. James Watson, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Broghall, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Beldall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Fairchild, Mr. R. A. Glover, Mrs. Susan Fairchild, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Thomas Watson, Misses Agnes Dodson, Grace Graham, May Deary, G. L. Ploche, Hardy, Sadie Daniel, Mary Johnson, Laura Acker, Kate Glover, Tillie Howe, Mahala Fairchild, Dr. G. M. Hamilton, Elwood Jacoby, Roy Haak, Solomon Haak, and John, Mary, Jennie, Andrew and William, children of Mr. and Mrs. Kinkaid.

From the manner in which Attorney J. W. Carlin questioned Constable Joseph Peters about pool tables in West Mahanoy, it is now known that Mr. Carlin has some inside information. Peters caused a laugh by remarking that he didn't see how a speak easy could exist in a township where almost every house gives out free beer on Sundays.

SEEKING REAL ESTATE. A bill in equity was filed to-day by Henry Freeman and his wife, Henrietta, of St. Clair, against Franklin W. Berger, of Schuylkill Haven. Mrs. Freeman was a daughter of Berger's second wife, now deceased, who was Mrs. Harrison Simmons. The latter's first husband was killed in the Civil war.

Mrs. Simmons received pension money and with this, and savings, she purchased a half interest in a property at Schuylkill Haven. She already owned the other half. She finally became possessed of all the property, which is valued at $1,300. Mrs.

Simmons died on December 31, 1907. Mrs. Freeman has learned since that time that Berger had a wife living when he married her mother, and that wife is now living, therefore the marriage to Mrs. Simmons was void. Mrs. Freeman is the only heir of her mother and she asks that the property be conveyed to her, she having sold her interest in it to Becker for $400 on January 31, 1898. Upon the death of his second wife (Mrs. Simmons) Berger entered a plea for divorce from his first wife. This was on June 4, 1898. This could not be found and the plea was published in the newspapers. This was the means by which Mrs. Freeman learned that Berger was married when he married her mother.
