LOCAL MENTION.

—The "Millinery Party," at the Presbyterian Chapel, last Friday evening, was a huge success, in affording amusement to those who participated, and financially pleasing to the Young People's Christian Endeavor Society.

—Four eclipses are scheduled for 1909—two of sun and two of moon. The first is a total eclipse of the moon on June 3. The orb will rise more or less eclipsed. Second eclipse is of the sun on June 17, and is visible in the greater portion of the United States. The king of the day will set more or less eclipsed. Another total eclipse of the moon occurs on the evening of Nov. 26th and the morning of the 27th. The fourth eclipse, which is a partial one of the sun, is invisible, and occurs on December 12.

—Martin Caulfield, the Honesdale granite and marble dealer, whose artistic work is so well and favorably known all through Wayne, Pike, Susquehanna, Lackawanna and Luzerne counties, has just erected a granite monument, in the rough, on the Reed-Dorflinger plot, in Glen Dyberry. It weighs fourteen tons; is 8 feet high; 5 feet and 4 inches wide, and 3 feet and 6 inches thick. On the front appears a monogram, "R.-D., and just below it, "Reed-Dorflinger."

—Kreiner Brothers, who own an extensive tract of timber land in Lebanon and Mount Pleasant townships, shipped 125 cords of hemlock bark to Buffalo, N. Y., via the Del. & Hud., during the first of the month. This was undoubtedly the largest and last shipment of bark that will ever be made from this section. In 1862-3 this county had more and larger tanneries than any other county in the United States, and now there is not one in existence within its precincts.

—If you have an item of news or an advertisement which you wish inserted in a newspaper don't wait until the last moment just before the paper is ready to go to press before getting your copy to the office. The earlier you get your copy in, the greater it is appreciated by the publisher. Just before going to press the publisher is crowded with copy of late happenings, and at such times he is poring over it to see what can be left out. At such times it does not make the publisher very good natured to have copy handed in which might have been in the office two or three days before.

—Peter F. Regan, known in the "Tenderloin" of New York by the name of "Kid Regan," which was given him before the family left Honesdale, and who gave his occupation as bartender, arrived in that city Saturday night from Los Angeles, Cal., in charge of Lieutenants Fogarty and Kear. He was locked up at Police Headquarters. The charge appearing against him in the Governor's warrant and the requisition papers is felonious assault. It is said, however, that Regan is wanted to tell what he knows of the killing of Roy Joyce, a youth of nineteen, who was shot and stabbed to death in Tobey's bar room at Thirty-first street and Broadway on April 13, 1905. Joyce was killed in a free for all fight. Regan was there at the time and disappeared from the city after the killing. The police have been searching for him ever since. He was arrested in Los Angeles on some other charge and held at the request of the New York police until requisition papers could be made out. Fogarty and Kear, both of whom knew Regan by sight, were sent to bring him back. When taken before Lieutenant Funston at headquarters Regan said he was glad to get back to face whatever charge there might be against him. "Four years of being a fugitive and never knowing what minute you may be grabbed, afraid all the time that you will be taken, is enough to discourage any man," he said. The prisoner was brought all the way from Los Angeles with handcuffs on. He is a brother of Police Lieutenant Martin Regan, of the city force, and it was charged that he was under police protection. He was never indicted on the charge of killing Joyce, but on an old felonious assault charge. The police will now try to get sufficient evidence to fasten on him an indictment in the Joyce case.

—The next attraction at the Lyric will be "Black Beauty," a play founded on the widely read book of that title. "Black Beauty" will be here on Monday next, Feb. 1st. Further particulars in Friday's issue.

—The dedication of the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran church will take place on Thursday, January 28th. After a brief service at 7:30 P. M., the parsonage will be dedicated by the Rev. R. Lucas of Hawley. At 5:30 P. M. a German supper will be served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church.

—On Wednesday of last week a freight train ran off the track near Livingston Manor, Sullivan Co., N. Y. Although fifteen cars left the rails, only one man was hurt and he was stealing a free ride. He had but one leg, which was broken, as well as two ribs, while his wooden limb escaped injury. He was taken to the Middletown hospital.

—If you intend going fishing, ask "Richie"—when, where and how? On Friday last Edward Reichenbacher and Albert A. Grambs went to Beach Lake and caught one of the finest messes of black bass ever captured with hook and line in this region. There were 2, 3, 4 and 5 pounders. For full particulars wait for their latest anglers' guide,—"Where? When? and How?"

—On Saturday evening last Officer Canivan and Detective N. B. Spencer arrested Edward McDonough, of Carbondale. The prisoner was charged with stealing two pairs of shoes and a quantity of meat from Frank Jones, of White Mills. McDonough was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace W. H. Ham, on Monday, and was discharged for want of sufficient evidence to warrant his being held for further hearing. The lost articles were found at the D. & H. depot, on Sunday evening.

—The repaired and regilded weather-vane of the Presbyterian church was restored to its position on the top of the tall spire on Monday morning last. The job was an exceedingly hazardous one, and seemed next to impossible even to the onlookers. The Steeple Jack who did the work must have found it very windy and cold nearly two hundred feet from the ground, and it was noticed that he stopped operations now and then to rub and blow on his hands; but he accomplished his task without a mishap. The vane, which is of iron and copper, is between seven and eight feet in length, and very artistic in design. In the bright sunshine of Monday morning it was a brilliant object and attracted much attention.

—St. Mary Magdalena's Bazaar, which opened auspiciously at Knights of Columbus Hall, Tuesday evening, Jan. 26, will close to-night. A visit to the exhibition cannot fail to impress all who attend that the Sisters of St. Mary-Magdalena's parochial school are doing a good work for the boys and girls of the institution; not only laying the foundation for a comprehensive book education, but training them to habits of practical industry which cannot fail to favorably influence their lives when they come to be men and women. The Hall entertainment comprises drills and music by the children, closing this afternoon for yesterday's contests, with a new program for to-night. The prizes will be open for inspection during the bazaar, and will comprise beautiful specimens of the school's handiwork in burned wood, oil painting and embroidery. The price of admission is ten cents, and a lady's gold watch and a rocking chair are given as door prizes.

—Martin Caulfield has nearly ready for erection in the Hill Top Catholic cemetery, in Mount Pleasant township, a handsome granite monument to the memory of Rev. Paul Edward O'Neill. The base is five feet and eight inches by four feet, and height three feet and two inches. On this will rest a massive cross ten feet high, with arms four feet and six inches across. Near the center of the cross is a medallion chalice sixteen inches long. On the base appears the following inscription:

REVEREND
PAUL E. O'NEILL.
Ordained July 4, 1903,
Died Oct. 30, 1907.

Requiescat in Pace.

Deceased was a son of Patrick O'Neill, and was born in Mount Pleasant, May 20, 1875. At the time of his death he was assistant pastor of St. John's Catholic church, of South Scranton.

—The first real demonstration of the electric railway system as it is now in use in all parts of the civilized world, was made in Scranton in the autumn of 1886. This marvel in electric railroading was the first effort of the Scranton Suburban Railway Company, and it is gratifying to our local pride to know that two Honesdale boys—Thomas F. Torrey and J. Benjamin Dimmick—were members of the board of directors. Edward B. Sturges was its president, George Sanderson, secretary, and Mr. Torrey treasurer. The other members of the board were Orlando S. Johnson, John L. Hull and James W. Garney. The Suburban is now a part of the Scranton Railway company system. The Scranton Times well says that "These men were the pioneers of the electrical railroad development of the world, and to their indomitable courage and foresightedness must for all time be given the honor of showing the world the possibilities of electricity as a motive power for the propulsion of street cars."

—Saturday, February 6th, is the last day for filing applications for liquor licenses.

—In one of the fastest and most interesting games of basket ball played at White Mills this season, the team of that place was defeated by the Honesdale five, by the score of 28 to 16 on Saturday evening last.

—The ice pack that came down the Lackawanna river and gorged against the ice in Park Lake, that the borough council had channeled a few days previously, pushed its way out at 8:30 o'clock, on Sunday evening.

—Miss Ora Bond, of North Main street, entertained eighteen of her girl friends on Saturday afternoon last, in honor of her 9th birthday. Various games and amusements were indulged in, after which the merry little party were served with delicious refreshments.

—On Thursday afternoon last, from four to six o'clock, Miss Helen Burns was given a surprise party at the home of her parents Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Burns, on Tenth street, the following Misses being in attendance: Margaret Charlesworth, Elsa Jacob, Elsa Prosch, Laceta Hawken, Louise Bishop, Louise Kraft, Charlotte Mills, Jeannette Burns, Annie Lambert, Priscilla Lambert, and Bertha Leine. There were games and refreshments and a guessing contest, in which Laceta Hawken took first prize; Charlotte Mills, second, and Louise Bishop, third.

—On Friday, January 22d, 1909, the five shares of stock of the Irving Cut Glass Co., held as trustee by the Peter A. Crockenberg estate by John Kubbach, were purchased and assigned to George H. Reichenbacher, for the Irving Cut Glass Co. The five shares included the one-eighth interest of the five shares purchased by John Kubbach for himself, the same being the interest of John Crockenberg in said stock and recently transferred and assigned to Frank Mang. The purchase of the five shares includes all and every interest of every kind which the said Peter A. Crockenberg estate had in the said Irving Cut Glass Co. at the time of his death, and all and every interest of any kind which may have accrued to his estate by reason of his membership therein since his decease. The transfer was made by the legal representatives of the Peter A. Crockenberg estate.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Lewis Hausman, aged 89 years, died at her home in East Honesdale, Saturday morning, Jan. 23, 1909, after an illness of five years. She is survived by her husband. The funeral services were held on Monday afternoon, Rev. W. F. Hopp, pastor of St. John's Ev. Lutheran church officiating. Interment in St. John's Lutheran cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Truscott died at the home of her great niece, Mrs. John N. Sharpsteen, of West Park street, on Saturday evening last, Jan. 23, 1909, aged 86 years. She was born in Cornwall, England, but has resided in Honesdale for many years. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, services being conducted at the house by Rev. Dr. W. H. Swift.

Oliver Quick died at his home in Callicoon, N. Y., on Wednesday morning of last week, aged 78 years. He was born near Barryville, N. Y., his parents being David and Phoebe (Bishop) Quick. He married Miss Rachel Conklin, of Damascus, this county, and is survived by the following relatives: Two sons, Harrison, of Middletown, and Lester, of Callicoon, one daughter, Mrs. Della Geer, of Lake Como, Pa., one half-sister, Mrs. Caroline Stage, of Barryville; two nieces, Mrs. D. L. Dewitt, of Lackawanna, and Mrs. John Bartle, of Somerville, N. J.; two nephews, George and Albert L. Stage, of Port Jervis.

Miss Anna C. Armbruster, aged 34 years, died at the Hahnemann hospital, Scranton on Sunday, Jan. 24, 1909, following an operation for appendicitis, with which she was stricken last Wednesday. She was the daughter of Chas. G. Armbruster, former sheriff of this county, who, with his wife, deeply feel this loss of their oldest daughter. She was born at Mauch Chunk, and for years lived at Hawley, where Mr. Armbruster conducted the Keystone hotel. In 1899 he was elected Sheriff of Wayne and the family came to Honesdale. For several years past their residence has been in Scranton. Besides her parents, Miss Armbruster is survived by eight brothers and two sisters. Interment in Dunmore cemetery.

Rev. A. A. Marple, who, during his pastorate of thirteen years in Scranton, frequently visited Honesdale, and made many warm friends here, especially in the Episcopalian circles, died at his home in Norristown on Friday night last at the advanced age of eighty-seven years. The aged clergyman was born near Philadelphia and attended the Theological School of Virginia. He married Miss Harriet McKelvey, of Bloomsburg. He had been in good health up to his latest day and passed away at midnight with an attack of heart failure, of which there was no warning. He is survived by his two sons, William A. Marple, of Scranton, Chas. Marple, of Omaha, and two daughters, Mrs. Morgan R. Wells and Miss Mary Marple, of Norristown.
