

COREY RESIGNS.

Steel Corporation to Do Without a President.

HAS SERVED SEVEN YEAR.

In 1907, When He Married Mabelle Gilman, the Actress, It Was Rumored That He Would Quit—Latest Move Came Suddenly.

New York, Jan. 4.—William Ellis Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation since the resignation of Charles M. Schwab, the first president, seven years ago, tendered his formal resignation at a regular meeting of the finance committee. To all intents and purposes the resignation has been accepted. It will come formally before the board of directors at their regular quarterly meeting Jan. 25. They will accept it.

Even to some of the directors of the company Mr. Corey's resignation came as a surprise. To other men in the financial district connected with the company it was as great a surprise as was the announcement of George W. Perkins' retirement from the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

In 1907, when Mr. Corey married Mabelle Gilman, the actress, it was widely reported that he would be succeeded as president, and there was a faction of the board which rather openly favored his retirement. It is understood that his retirement now has no relation to his domestic affairs.

The office of president will remain vacant for some time, if not forever. It long has been subordinate to the chairmanship of the board and the chairmanship of the finance committee.

Up to about four years ago George W. Perkins was chairman of the finance committee, but was then succeeded by Judge Elbert H. Gary, who was then, as now, chairman of the board of directors. Judge Gary since has been the actual head of the company.

Mr. Corey was born in Braddock, Pa., in 1863 and was educated in the public schools. At the age of sixteen he went into the chemical laboratory of the Edgar Thomson Steel works at Pittsburg and from there went on to Homestead, and in 1887 he became superintendent of the plate mill at the Thomson works. His next change was when he went with the Carnegie Steel company. He followed Mr. Schwab as president of the Carnegie company and in the summer of 1903 became an assistant to Mr. Schwab in the United States Steel corporation and then succeeded him as president.

Mr. Corey's first wife was Laura Cook of Braddock, Pa., whom he married when he was a young man in Braddock. Mrs. Corey got a divorce from her husband in 1906 in Nevada, and the following May Mr. Corey was married to Mabelle Gilman, the actress. The second Mrs. Corey spends much of her time at her chateau at La Verriere, near Paris.

WILLIAM T. WARDWELL DEAD

Former Treasurer of Standard Oil Company Was 84 Years Old.

New York, Jan. 4.—William T. Wardwell, ex-treasurer of the Standard Oil company and Prohibition candidate for mayor in 1897, died in the Hotel Latham of neuralgia of the heart, in his eighty-fourth year.

Educated as a chemist, he took to refining oil and started a company on Long Island. This company prospered until the time of the forming of the Standard Oil company, when it was taken over and Mr. Wardwell became associated with the Standard.

At the time of the Spanish war Mr. Wardwell, Levi P. Morton, Dr. Lesser, the late Dr. George F. Shradley and the late Bishop Potter were commissioned by President McKinley to establish the national Red Cross committee.

Jewel Lost Last Summer Is Found In Rooster's Crop.

Saratoga, N. Y., Jan. 4.—Through a little detective work Mrs. Joseph B. McConnell is $75 richer. Last summer, while on a visit, Mrs. McConnell's mother, Mrs. K. V. Lutz, of Guttenberg, N. J., lost a diamond which systematic search failed to locate. Since then Mrs. McConnell as she has killed her chickens has opened the crops and searched for the missing stone.

On killing the last survivor of the flock for the New Year dinner she found in the rooster's stomach the diamond, which was valued at $75.

SUNDAY FUNERALS STOPPED.

Coach Drivers' Union of Passaic, N. J., Won't Work on Sabbath.

Passaic, N. J., Jan. 4.—Sunday funerals in Passaic are a thing of the past, for the Coach Drivers' union has given all undertakers notice that at a recent meeting the drivers decided to no longer work on the Sabbath.

The Coach Drivers' union is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Representative Moxley's Fine Stands. Chicago, Jan. 4.—Congressman William J. Moxley's oleomargarine company today in the United States circuit court of appeals lost its fight against payment of a $29,000 fine because of failure to pay the 10 cents a pound revenue tax.

Starve a Cold.

Nature, as a rule, takes the appetite away when one is coming down with a cold or other infectious disease, and nature is wise. Don't coax Mary to eat when she has a cold. Don't allow the neighbors to tempt Johnny with calf's foot jelly or other dainties. When suffering from a cold the digestive organs are in no condition to care for food. The digestive juices are altered or entirely absent. One or two days' comparative fast will often assist in averting a severe siege of cold. A more convenient and enjoyable form of fasting would be to subsist for one or two days upon fruit or fruit juices perhaps, with the addition of a little toast. An exclusive fruit diet has all the practical advantages of complete fasting, while it satisfies the appetite and supplies sugar from which the liver can manufacture glycogen to sustain the white blood corpuscles in their continuous warfare against microbes.—William S. Sadler in Designer.

PRaise Their Townsman.

Friends of James E. Martine Held Meeting in Plainfield, N. J. Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 4.—A largely attended meeting in the interest of the candidacy of James E. Martine for the United States senate was held in Reform hall. The meeting was arranged chiefly to give the friends of Mr. Martine in his home town an opportunity to express a popular opinion of him. This was done in ringing speeches by A. H. Atterbury, chairman of the meeting; Joseph Tumulty of Jersey City, Assemblyman Calvin E. Broadhead of this city, Assemblyman Hugh McLoughlin of Elizabethtown and others. Mr. Atterbury made a bitter attack on James Smith, Jr.

POSTAL BANKS ARE OPEN.

Trial Offices Report That Their Start Was Successful.

Washington, Jan. 4.—In forty-eight representative second class postoffices branches of the new postal savings system have been opened. All individual depositors were welcomed. These offices are scattered all over the United States, one in each state and territory.

From more than a dozen of the new postmaster bankers Postmaster General Hitchcock received telegrams saying that the new banks had opened and that the depositors were busy putting their currency under the safeguard of Uncle Sam.

LOST BOYS COME BACK.

Spent Night at Lighthouse Aiding Exhausted Keeper.

New York, Jan. 4.—Raymond Collins and William Rothkrantz, two Larchmont boys believed lost, cut their way through the fog wall over the sound back to their homes after searching parties on land and water and messages through the air had probed the muddling white bank all night to find them. The two came home only after they had worked all night as auxiliaries in the government lighthouse service.

They kept the horn going. They held in their hands the safety of ships at a time when the tender of the horn was worn almost to collapse by thirty-six hours of ceaseless strain alone in the lighthouse. Though lost themselves and knowing that their parents must be searching for them, the two youngsters from Larchmont stuck by the light until relief came to the tender. Then they groped their way through the white wilderness to their home.

NO POMP FOR DR. WILSON.

His Inauguration as New Jersey's Governor Will Be a Simple Ceremony.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 4.—The Democratic victory in New Jersey has led to a situation in connection with the inauguration of Dr. Woodrow Wilson as governor on Jan. 17 that is somewhat new in recent years.

A member of the senate has usually been chairman of the joint legislative committee of inauguration, but when the present committee organized Assemblyman Allan B. Walsh, Democrat, of this city, was chosen chairman over Senator Harris B. Leavitt, also of this city, who is a Republican.

The details for the inauguration of Dr. Wilson were completed by the committee, and the ceremony will be devoid of much of the pomp and show that marked some of the inaugurations in past years. There will be no parade.

The Maggie Ceiling.

One of the apartments in the ancient royal palace at Cintra, Portugal, is known as the Hall of Magpies. Painted in the arabesque ceiling is to be found a swarm of magpies. Each has in the mouth a scroll, on which, painted in red on a white ground, are the words, "Por bem." The story runs that King John of Portugal was making love to one of the maids of honor in this chamber and was surprised by the queen. His majesty made the best of the circumstances and explained to the queen, "E por bem minka sacre" ("Oh, it is nothing at all. It is quite right. There is no harm in it."). As to whether the queen was satisfied the legend is silent, but the ladies of the court were deeply interested and were constantly saying to one another with a smile, "Por bem! Por bem!" The king thought it time to act, so he commissioned an artist to paint on the ceiling as many magpies as there were talkative ladies about the court, each holding in the beak the ribbon with the words, "Por bem."—London Globe.

Fate of Portugal's Homer.

"The Lusiad" is one of the noblest records ever written of national glory and success. Camoens, its gifted author, determined to do for Portugal what Homer had done for Greece. The great poem was written in the sixteenth century, which has been called the heroic age of Portugal, and its main feature is the rounding of the Cape of Good Hope by Vasco da Gama, while a most interesting episode is the crowning after death of Inez de Castro as queen of Portugal. "The Lusiad" took its name from Lusius, who was said to have founded Lisbon. Its author was born about 1520, and his career, which began brilliantly, was blighted by the death of a broken heart of the lady of his love, for whose sake he was banished from the land. He wrote "The Lusiad" in his banishment and was recalled in 1571, losing on the way all his property except his poem. Pensioned at first by the king, this great epic poet of Portugal died in great poverty in 1570, when his patron was also dead.

DOUBLE VOTES

WILL BE ISSUED ON ALL SUBSCRIPTIONS THIS WEEK

IN THE CITIZEN'S BERMUDA TOUR CONTEST.

THIS OFFER CLOSSES

Saturday Night, January 7th,

AT 9 O'CLOCK.

ONLY GOOD FOR TWO MORE DAYS.

This offer announced here is most liberal. Exactly twice as many votes as usual will be issued on each and every subscription sent in during this period. This means 2,500 votes on a six months' subscription in place of the usual 1,250 votes; 5,000 on a yearly subscription in place of 2,500. BOTH OLD AND NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL COUNT FOR DOUBLE VOTES DURING THIS PERIOD. This offer will positively not be extended or repeated.

IMPORTANT TO CANDIDATES!

The remaining days of the Contest have been divided into periods, with a vote schedule for each period. By referring to the vote schedule printed below, it will be seen that it is to the advantage of candidates and subscribers to bring in their subscriptions as early as possible. The schedule of votes for all subscriptions decreases each period as printed below. The wise candidates will secure their subscriptions before Saturday night, so as to obtain the benefit of the present vote schedule—5,000 votes for a yearly subscription. Last week we told you that never again during the contest would so many votes be given on subscriptions. When we told you that we meant exactly what we said. We are now making a DOUBLE VOTE OFFER, but it is not quite so good. We propose to keep our word.
