—The Sunday school scholars of the Presbyterian church held a pleasing Christmas entertainment in the chapel on Tuesday evening. Recitations and songs were rendered. A. J. Rehbein added to the evening's enjoyment by giving a few of his slight of hand performances. Candy was afterwards distributed to the pupils of the school.

—The perennial drawing power of "The Old Homestead" is indisputable, and its long success and continuous popularity are due in no considerable measure to the fact that it is a perfect transcript of nature; holding the mirror up to nature as do few other plays of modern times. It was accounted a good play twenty years ago, as far back as 1886, when it had its initial performance at the Boston Theatre and made the most telling success ever scored by a new production in Boston.

—Year after year since then it has repeated that success, and it has even improved with age. Little melodramatic touches and effects have been eliminated until now there is more natural wit and humor in the dialogue and more genuine touches of pathos and sentiment than ever before. In Joshua Whitcomb, the central figure of that circle of familiar types, we have to welcome a perfect representative of the best and broadest type of humanity, a prosperous, warm-hearted, peace-loving, God-fearing Yankee farmer. It will be seen at the Lyric on Thursday evening, Dec. 28. This is a play that everyone should witness.

—Chicken-pox seems to be quite prevalent among the young folks. —Emerson W. Gammell has been elected a director in the Wayne County Savings Bank. —Zero weather is being enjoyed (?) in Colorado.
