The school directors of the Honesdale district will hold their year-end meeting on Monday evening of next week. The board is planning to add another branch of study in the school's curriculum, that of a commercial course. It will include stenography, typewriting, spelling, writing, etc., in fact everything that is included in a regular business course. The board is successful in establishing this new branch of study in the Honesdale High school, pupils who have graduated from other schools will be given an opportunity to take the commercial course here instead of going to cities as is now the case. It will also afford the pupils of the school the same privilege of obtaining a business course, whereas now after graduation, some are unable to take up a similar course in a business school or college. Honesdale is advancing and its school necessarily must advance with it. The proposition is an ideal one and should, by all possible means, be adopted. The tuition that might be received from out-of-town students would undoubtedly pay for a teacher and if properly advertised, there may be a neat sum in the treasury at the end of the school year.

Claims and benefits close to $592,640,000 were paid by life insurance companies in this country and Canada in 1911, according to figures compiled by the Insurance Press.

The largest policy holder in the country was Frank T. Howard, of New Orleans, for $720,288.

Emma L. Darling, of Binghamton, held the largest policy for a woman, $50,000.

All benefits under policies—death claims, endowments, dividends—in the transactions of regular life insurance companies, increased in 1911. The amount of insurance written and revived, by the regular companies alone, was nearly $3,000,000,000, or about $400,000,000 more than in 1910.

White Plains, N. Y., June 27.—Mrs. Mary Thaw and her daughter Alice, formerly the Countess of Yarmouth, were interested spectators when Harry Thaw proved a match for Jerome. The former district attorney tried to bait the slayer of Stanford White into a breakdown in the witness stand.

ANTITOXIN STATIONS.

The 67 tetanus antitoxin stations throughout the Commonwealth have received their supplies from the Department of Health and are ready to meet the usual Fourth of July demands.

The antitoxin will be furnished without cost to the poor and the stations are so located that every part of Pennsylvania is within easy reach of one. It is essential that the tetanus antitoxin be administered within 24 to 48 hours after the wound has been inflicted. C. C. Jadin is the station for Wayne county.

Any physician can secure an immunizing dose of 1500 units free upon applying to a distributing station, on certifying that it is for the treatment of a person too poor to pay.

In urging the prompt use of antitoxin to prevent lockjaw following explosive and other wounds, Dr. Dixon, Commissioner of Health, says: "Do not consider any such wounds trivial, send for a physician at once. If it is impossible to promptly secure his attendance, wash out the wound thoroughly with hot, boiled water, remove every particle of foreign matter and until the doctor arrives, apply a wet dressing; clothes saturated with a solution made by adding a teaspoon full of salt to a pint of boiled water."
