LIGHTNING FRANKS. During a thunder storm last week lightning struck a telephone pole near the residence of Frank Scanlin in Forks township, Sullivan county. A portion of the charge followed a wire into Mr. Scanlin's residence. A sewing machine stood near the telephone and it was struck. One of Mr. Scanlin's sons was struck on the shoulder and along the spine, rendering him unconscious for some time. Edward Kunes, who was in Mr. Scanlin's house at the time, was struck on the back of his head and shoulders, the lightning blowing a few small furrows about his skull, taking the hair off his head at those places. Mr. Kunes was not much hurt, however.—Dushore Herald.

RURAL CARRIERS TO GET A RAISE. The rural mail carriers of Routes 1, 3 and 4, Honesdale R. D., will receive a raise of $100 in their salaries. Owing to R. D. No. 2 not being a standard route, that is it lacks the sufficient number of miles to be so classed, the carrier will not receive an increase. The increase will be effective September 30th. The rural carriers will then be receiving $1,100 per year.

MEASLES GERM HAS BEEN DISCOVERED. Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—Dr. John F. Anderson and Dr. Joseph Goldberg, of the Public Health Service, by inoculating monkeys with measles, have made discoveries which promise to make the malady less general. Hitherto scientists had been unable to inoculate lower animals with measles, and search for an anti-toxin has been retarded.

GET WISE. It takes a rich man to draw a check, a pretty girl to draw attention, a horse to draw a cart, a mustard plaster to draw a pain, a toper to draw a cork, a free lunch to draw a crowd and advertising to draw business. Get wise and advertise in The Citizen. Everybody's doing it.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES. Carbondale Hears From Dixon. State Commissioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon sent a message to the mayor of Carbondale last week calling attention to the spread of their epidemic outside of the limits of that city and saying:

"All petty differences must give way to a united move to stamp out the disease so as to protect the state against an epidemic outside of your city. This is the decision of the State Department of Health."

A huge blast put into the mountain side by contractors on the Lackawanna cut-off, near Nicholson, on Tuesday, blew down hundreds of tons of rock and earth. A mass of rock as large as a passenger coach struck the main line roadbed and swept away rails and ties, stalling traffic on the road for about five hours.

The telephone dispatching system installed on the west end of the main line of the Lehigh Valley Railroad between Manchester, N. Y., and Buffalo, and the management expects the entire main line to be equipped by October 1. Between New York harbor and Manchester, a distance of 360 miles, the despatching of trains is already done by telephone.

Issued a Handsome Paper. The Honesdale Citizen issued a handsome eight-page paper in honor of the firemen's convention held in that town last Wednesday. It was filled with interesting news, with many illustrations and was neatly printed. It was a very creditable publication.—East Stroudsburg Press.

John Gere, Jr., of Syracuse, suffering from terrible thirst on Monday, drank a gallon of water and was found dead a little while after on the roof of a house where he was working.

One of the large boarding houses at Woodbourne, Sullivan county, was broken into the other night and a huckleberry pie and two or three appetizing cakes carried off. The thief left a note saying that he was grateful and would return. The note was signed "Lefty Louie."—Downsville News.

Charles Lesoine, of Marshall's Creek, has harvested his ginseng crop for this year and has 200,000 seed. This is one of the best crops of this kind he has harvested from his field. He intends to plant an additional field this fall the same size as the one planted last year and in a few years this will be the largest ginseng farm in the State. These roots are rare and after they have started they grow rapidly. The seeds are valuable and there is a good market for them.—Monroe Record.

J. B. Beck, the blacksmith and constable of Hainesburg, owns what is called in that section a mule-footed pig. He purchased it last fall at the Stroudsburg fair, when it was but a few weeks old, and now it is as large and promising a porker as any of the ordinary footed pigs it associates with; the only difference is in its feet having uncloven hoofs like a mule or horse.—Phillipsburg, N. J., Press.

Shot 149 Woodchucks. Richard Tansey, a farm hand in the employ of John H. Guile, near Chenango Lake, N. Y., claims that thus far this year 149 woodchucks have fallen beneath his unerring aim. This beats a previous record held by Bradford McNitt, who a few weeks ago stated he had killed 78. Tansey hopes to make his record 200 before the season is over.

The new road between Callicoon and Falls Mills, a stretch of four miles, cost the people over $90,000. It is one of the most expensive roads in existence, not anything equalling it in Europe, where they cut mountain roads mostly out of rock, the cost being not half that amount; $20,000 of that amount was spent for, or at least charged up to surveying. Think of it, $20,000 to survey four miles of road.—Downsville News.

Prepared For It. "Hubby, I'm going in for the simple life awhile." "All right, my dear," said hubby, as he reached for his checkbook. "How many gowns will that require?"

GAME SEASON IS OPEN.

Reports Indicate that the Season Will be a Very Good One.

The game season in Pennsylvania is open. It continues until the close of the final day of the year, but no large game may be shot before the beginning of next month. The season opens for blackbirds, doves, all kinds of shore birds, all kinds of snipe, web-footed water fowl of every kind and raccoon.

Reports from all parts of the State indicate that game is more plentiful than for many years and that the season should be unusually good. A change in the laws of the year makes it unlawful to shoot ducks before sunrise, the time which was favored by sportsmen.

The schedule for the season follows: Bear—Unlimited, October 1 to January 1. Use of steel traps forbidden.

Blackbirds, all kinds and Doves—Unlimited, September 1 to January 1.

Deer, Male, with horns visible above the hair—One each season, November 15 to December 1.

English, Mongolian, Chinese and Ring-Neck Pheasants—Ten in one day, twenty in one week and fifty in one season, November 1 to December 15.

Hare or Rabbit—Ten in one day, November 1 to December 15.

Hungarian Quail—Five in one day, twenty in one week and thirty in one season, October 15 to November 15.

Plover—Unlimited, July 15 to December 1.

Quail, commonly called Virginia Partridge—Ten in one day, forty in one week and seventy-five in one season, November 1 to December 15.

Raccoon—Unlimited, September 1 to January 1.

Ruffed Grouse, commonly called Pheasant—Five in one day, twenty in one week and fifty in one season, November 1 to December 15.

Shore Birds—Unlimited, September 1 to January 1.

Snipe, Jock or Wilson—Unlimited, September 1 to May 1.

Squirrel, Fox, Black and Gray—Six of the combined kinds one day, November 1 to December 15.

Web-footed Wild Water Fowl of all kinds—Unlimited, September 1 to April 10. Not to be shot at before sunrise.

Woodcock—Ten in one day, twenty in one week and fifty in one season, October 1 to December 1.

MONTH OF OYSTERS.

The month with an "R" is here. Oysters, it is said, promise the biggest crop in fifty years. Now, watch the price stay up. Of course, with beef at top notch and all meat prices high, the housewife would naturally turn to patronizing oysters if they were down to 25 cents a quart, as they should be, instead of 35 to 40 cents, as they are likely to be, and generally are in season.
