71st YEAR.--NO. 76

HONESDALE, WAYNE CO., PA., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1913.

PRICE 10 CENTS

SMALL VOTE POLLED IN ALL WAYNE COUNTY DISTRICTS AT THE PRIMARY

NO CONTEST ON COUNTY OFFICES EXCEPT JURY COMMISSIONER ON DEMOCRATIC TICKET—O. E. MILLER WINS NOMINATION OVER JAS. MOYLAN—HOT CONTEST REPORTED FOR OFFICE OF SUPERVISOR IN TEXAS.

Republicans Poll Strong Vote Throughout County

CONTEST IN HONESDALE CENTERED ON BURGESS ON REPUBLICAN TICKET, W. J. SILVERSTONE WINNING THE NOMINATION—CONTEST IN HAWLEY OVER ALL BOROUGH OFFICES—MANY NAMES WRITTEN IN—WAYNE GOES FOR COMEGYS 3 TO 1.

A very light vote was polled in Wayne county at the primary election on Tuesday. In Honesdale the total vote was only 183. It was represented by three parties, and divided as follows:

Republican	80
Democratic	59
Washington	44
Prohibition	10

183

In the Non-Partisan ticket for judge of the Superior court there were 180 votes cast, three persons failing to mark their ballot for a candidate. Cornelius Comegys, of Lackawanna county, received nearly half of the total number of votes. Attorney Comegys ran ahead of the ticket in Wayne county at a ratio of four to one.

Owing to the large number of candidates for township offices, the vote from some of the districts was long counting. This was especially so in Hawley borough where the election officers were held up until late counting the vote. On the Washington ticket there was one man named for town councilman and at the election fifteen or twenty names had been written on the ballots and confused the officers. It was the same on other tickets.

Couldn't Convert the Burgess.

An amusing incident connected with the local election happened when Burgess C. A. McCarty appeared before the clerk at the polls. Two ballots were placed before him. The Burgess took one and entered the booth. Opening his ballot he failed to locate the man of his choice, and glancing at the top of the ticket discovered that he by mistake had picked up a Republican ticket instead of the one representing his party. Burgess McCarty returned the ballot to the clerk, remarking that he had voted the Democratic ticket too long to make a change now.

Miller Wins Democratic Nomination.

The two candidates for nomination for the office of Jury Commissioner on the Democratic ticket were O. E. Miller and James Moylan and the result showed that both men were strong in various districts. O. E. Miller wins the nomination by a majority of 50 votes out of 41 districts. The total vote was:

O. E. Miller, D	396
James Moylan, D	346
F. E. Carlton, R	603
L. S. Partridge, W	342

Democrats Poll Big Vote.

Despite the fact that there was no contest on for State Committeeman in the county the total vote for each candidate was comparatively large. The Democratic candidate, W. J. Ferber, received a good vote. C. H. Dorfingler, the Republican nominee, was a close second and F. S. Stephenson, the Washington party nominee, running third. The following is the total vote:

W. J. Ferber, D	620
C. H. Dorfingler, R	606
F. S. Stephenson, W	340

Not All District Returns Given.

On account of the large number of candidates aspiring for nomination at the primaries for township offices throughout the county, we are unable to publish all the returns for all offices, and have taken the districts that lie in the vicinity of Honesdale, only. It would be impossible to print the entire primary vote by districts as it would undoubtedly crowd out all other news matter.

MURDERER CAUGHT IN WAYNE COUNTY TUESDAY

TAKEN FROM CONDUCTOR SNEYDER'S TRAIN AT ARIEL JUNCTION.

Alfonso Giordano Confessed Killing Pasquale Valvano Near Nay Aug—Says Victim Insulted Him—Had Big Blood-Covered Knife and New Revolver in Possession—Was Going to Lackawaxen.

Because his victim, so he declares, made insulting and disparaging remarks about his wife, Alfonso Giordano plunged a stiletto deep into the vitals of Pasquale Valvano, about 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, and Pasquale fell dead in his tracks. The crime took place on the Erie tracks just above Nay Aug tunnel, where Valvano was at work as a section hand.

Alfonso was captured early Tuesday morning on an Erie train, just after it left Elmhurst, and was brought back to Scranton from Lake Ariel, where he was taken off. Chas. Lockwood and Frank Skinner, employes of the Erie, were at the Elmhurst station when Giordano walked into the station and bought a ticket for Lackawaxen. Italian workers told Lockwood and Skinner who Giordano was, and they boarded the same train. They took him into custody as the train sped along, making a handkerchief do good service as handkerchiefs.

The prisoner was docile and submitted to arrest without any trouble, but a 38-caliber revolver and a long-bladed knife, both new, were taken from him.

Giordano and his captors were met at the Erie station in Scranton by Superintendent of Police Day and Guy Relp, sergeant of the Erie police.

He was taken to city hall, Scranton, where he confessed to Day and Relp that he had stabbed Valvano. Then he was measured by the Bertillon system and taken to a photographer's to be photographed. Afterward he was taken back to the city hall station and locked up.

The police and detectives, several of the latter of whom had spent Monday night scouring the mountains and watching Giordano's home, in Dunmore, were much pleased over the quick capture, for it saved them a lot of hard work.

Valvano was twenty-two years old and lived in Dunmore. Giordano is twenty-five.

According to Vito Valvano, brother of the man who was slain, and who was working a short distance away at the time of the murder, the two had not been very friendly for some time, though they both came here a couple of years ago from the same town in Italy.

Vito was near his brother when Giordano came along, and the two began to quarrel. Vito says that he went to a nearby spring to get a drink, and returned in ten minutes. When he came back, he saw Alfonso lying on the ground writhing in pain and Giordano running through the woods in the direction of Dunmore.

BUSINESS MEN TURN DOWN B. OF T. MERGER

At Regular Meeting Wednesday Evening Consensus of Opinion Was to Remain Separate Organizations.

The proposition of merging the Greater Honesdale Board of Trade with the Honesdale Business Men's Association was presented before the members of the association by the trustees at Wednesday evening's session. The trustees reported their interview with the Board of Trade committee and stated that committee's recommendation. President S. T. Ham then asked for an opinion from the members present. Owing to the fact that the Business Men's Association is a chartered institution and working under the State Business Men's Association, with which is connected fire insurance, it was thought best not to accept the recommendation of the Board of Trade committee. After reading the By-Laws of the association it was feared that satisfactory arrangements could not be made, hence the turning down of the Board of Trade proposition.

BUSY TOWN GOOD ADVERTISEMENT

A town whose industries are busy is a good advertisement for that town or city. In Honesdale the factories are humming from morning until night and the demand for help is great. Employers and companies are advertising for male and female help and could use 100 hands now if it were possible to secure them. Since the article appeared in The Citizen last week the secretary of the Greater Honesdale Board of Trade has received a number of inquiries for help. This not only demonstrates that a number of people outside of Honesdale desire positions, but that The Citizen is a good advertising medium.

WHERE HONESDALE'S TAMMANY HALL IS SITUATED.

"Say, you," said Luke Levy, the man who "wants to see you" to a Citizen man yesterday, "do you know where Honesdale's Tammany Hall is situated?" The newspaperman was obliged to confess his ignorance. Then Mr. Levy pointed to three trees and the corner of the Foster building, and said that the equilateral triangle thus indicated was the spot. That is Honesdale's political center, according to Mr. Levy. Right on that spot more political plans have been laid, more men nominated or defeated and more wire-pulling done than in any other part of the town. Doubtless Mr. Levy is right.

WRECK DETAINED PASSENGER TRAIN

A few coal cars derailed this side of Hawley on Monday prevented the Honesdale passenger train from going to Lackawaxen, making its regular afternoon trip. Conductor Abram Snyder of the Scranton train made Conductor Charles Lord's trip to Lackawaxen and the latter Honesdale train took on the Scranton train's passengers and baggage and made the run to this place for Conductor Snyder.

WAYNE COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The Wayne County Sunday school convention, which was held in Orson on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, was largely attended. From Honesdale, Misses Mary Jones, Stella Hensy and Messrs. W. J. Barnes and W. B. Leshner were in attendance. The different districts of Wayne county were well represented by delegates.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. Otto Appley, of Damascus; vice-president, Dr. A. J. Simons of Newfoundland; secretary, Mrs. Valentine, of Damascus, and treasurer, Merton J. Emery, of Ariel.

The speakers were exceptionally good and left a number of excellent thoughts with the delegates for future digestion. The convention was a success and those who attended feel greatly repaid for having been present. Dr. Appley, the never-tiring president, was present and made a short address. There are few men in dear old Wayne that have the interest at heart for Sunday school work that Dr. Appley has. He is the right man in the right place.
