Forty-Seventh Anniversary.

The Order United American Mechanics of the district composed of Clearfield and Jefferson counties held a befitting anniversary at Punxsutawney last Friday. A number of Councils were well represented among them was Council No. 304 of Reynoldsville. The town was handsomely decorated, the crowd was immense, the day a beauty and the parade a credit to the O. U. A. M. Hon. Harry White, of Indiana, Pa., made the address of welcome. Three prizes were offered by the Punxsutawney Council to the Councils having the largest percentage of their membership at the reunion. The prizes were awarded as follows: Falls Creek first prize, a handsome silk banner; Cool Spring, second, a silk flag; Ridgway third, a Councillor's silk regalia. The next anniversary will be held at DuBois July 4th, 1893.

A Sharp Hatchet.

Miss Nellie, daughter of S. T. Dougherty, was cutting wood on a chair last Monday at noon and the hatchet missed the wood and Nellie was surprised to discover that the index finger on her left hand had been picked up in two pieces, or so near to it that it is hardly worth mentioning. The girl could hardly believe her own eyes, feeling had nothing to do with it just then. When the blood commenced to flow freely she comprehended the real facts. Medical skill was summoned immediately and everything possible was done to save the finger, but the doctors were unable to say whether they could save it or not. Nellie is very much interested in her music lessons, but the accident will necessitate a vacation for the young player and a short rest for her piano.

Fire Alarm Given.

At four o'clock last Friday afternoon there were few people to be seen on Main street, but about 4:10 an alarm of fire was given and in a minute the street was filled with people. The house next to the Presbyterian church, occupied by John Yarworth, had caught fire on the roof from a defective flue. It was discovered in time that a few buckets of water, quickly applied by Dr. Bowser, Charles Ritzle and several others who were nearby, extinguished the flames. The fire company responded promptly. The hose cart was hitched on to Schultz's delivery wagon and his bay nags made the dust fly. There is a satisfaction in having as good fire protection as Reynoldsville can boast of.

Death of a Pancost Man.

William Delmar, who has lived at Pancost about thirty years, and was well known in Reynoldsville, died on the evening of July 6th, after a short illness, from inflammation of the stomach. In March, 1891, he was injured in the stomach by lifting a log, from which he has been troubled frequently until the afternoon of July 4th when he became dangerously ill. He rallied and showed signs of recovering until Wednesday evening and then died before medical aid could be had. He was about sixty years old, and has been a widower for twenty years. Two sons and two daughters survive him. His remains were interred in the Beechwoods cemetery Friday afternoon.

New Engines.

The B., R. & P. railroad has placed an order for nine engines with the Brooks Locomotive works. They are to be ready for delivery in September and some of them will be used on the Clearfield and Mahoning division. One thousand new cars will also be added to the equipment; 500 are being built by the Jackson & Woodin Manufacturing company, 400 by the Berwick Manufacturing company and 100 by the Buffalo Car company.

Through a Bridge.

Henry Priester had quite an exciting time near Collin's mill Monday evening with his young team of horses. He was on his way home about dusk and got on the wrong road and when driving over an old bridge, eight or nine feet high, the planks gave way under the horses. Some men with a lantern were soon on hand to assist Mr. Priester. After considerable hard work the horses were extricated from their perilous position. They were scratched up some but not otherwise injured.

A Busy Man.

Dr. J. A. Burgoon, formerly of Reynoldsville, now the noted specialist of Allegheny City, passed through on mail Saturday afternoon on his way home, after a few days of angling sport east of Sabula. The doctor had his left hand neatly bandaged in white linen because it had been directly in front of a sky rocket on the Fourth. Dr. Burgoon spends an immense amount of money annually in advertising, and the shekels are rolling into his coffers continually.

Who Was It?

Six young men of this place, Harry King, W. E. Green, Sam Bell, Merton Gray, John B. Whitehill and Will F. Wilson produced some exceedingly delightful vocal music on Grant street last Thursday night. The question arises whether they were serenading the editor of THE STAR or a blonde of Grant street. Will you tell us?

Bright Prospects.

Reynoldsville is now the largest, most prosperous, the best and the leading town of Jefferson county, but if present indications are not false inside of a year she will outstride her present flourishing condition. The business men of the place need have no timidity in making improvements. The town is solid and the business is bound to increase. Place your advertisements in the papers of your town, as the business men of other towns do, and show to outsiders that you are alive. There is not a town within a radius of a hundred miles of Reynoldsville that its business men do as small amount of advertising as is done in our town. We have a number of business men who appreciate and know the value of printers ink, while there are others who do not advertise at all. Do you think the business men of other towns advertise merely to help the newspapers along? No. They realize by increased business that it pays to tell the people what they have to sell. Strangers often size up a town by the amount of advertising found in the home paper. Come, experiment for a year and you will be surprised at the return for the money invested in printers ink.

In Paradise.

The corner stone of the St. Peters Evangelical Lutheran church, near Noah Strouse's, in the Paradise Settlement, was laid with appropriate ceremonies last Sunday morning. When the hour for services arrived the church was packed, the seating capacity being inadequate to accommodate the large number of people who were present. Rev. J. J. Kerr, of Brookville preached an able sermon, taking for his text the fourth chapter and sixth verse of Nehemiah: "So built we the wall; and all the wall was joined together unto the half thereof; for the people had a mind to work." He also preached to a large congregation in the evening. A basket collection was taken at the morning services which amounted to something over $45.00. This new church will be about 40x60 feet, brick cased, and will cost in the neighborhood of $4,000.00. When completed it will be a very pretty place for the Lutheran congregation to worship in, and will be a credit to the people of that section.

Not to be Fooled With.

On Wednesday two drunken hoodlums promenade the streets making a great deal of noise and spoiling for a fight. Nearly every one they encountered came in for a volley of abusive language. The constable was away, and the hoodlums proceeded along their course unmolested. Finally they brought up at Joseph Strauss' store, where their conduct became unbearable. Mr. Strauss resented it in such a vigorous manner that after one of the hoodlums had adjusted his torn clothing, wiped the blood off his face and brushed the dirt from the back of his coat, the pair concluded that the Brockwayville residents could wake up when they had occasion to, and become peaceable again. They had all the fight they wanted that morning.

The Big Guns.

A special train from the B., R. & P. hauling the following officials of that road, was in Reynoldsville last Wednesday night: President A. G. Yates; Geo. E. Merchant, the president's assistant; Chief Engineer W. E. Hoyt, and General Superintendent Geo. W. Bartlett. These gentlemen were out on an inspecting tour. They visited the twenty mile loop being built around the Kinzua, upon which over a thousand men are now at work. It is expected that the extension will be completed about the first of September. They were also making investigations on the new line from DuBois to Clearfield. Inside of a year trains will be running from Reynoldsville to Philadelphia via Clearfield.

Almost Minus a Finger.

Charley Hartman, young son of Ezra Hartman, the blacksmith, came very nearly amputating the index finger on his left hand last Friday afternoon with an axe. He was carelessly handling the sharp tool and it accidentally came down upon his finger and came within a sixteenth of an inch of severing the member from the hand. Drs. Neale and Reynolds pasted the finger on and think they can persuade it to again become attached to the hand. When dressing the wound the lads thumb was in the doctors way and some one told him to stick it in his pocket. The boy, who was bravely undergoing the surgical operation, said, "cut it off. It is in your way."

Result of Bug Juice.

A Ridgwayite of some twenty summers while on his way out from Reynoldsville to see his mother, and being somewhat overcome by reasons of the reaching and staying qualities of the bug juice taken in on the 4th, lay down in a fence corner to rest. When he awoke the bran new shoes he had on when he laid up for repairs were gone. He had also been relieved of all the spot cash he possessed, and had the proud satisfaction of hoofing the homestretch in his bare feet. In future the young man will not monkey with the wine cup, when he goes to see his mother on July 4th.

BELL'S SMITH BELL.

Will H. Bell and Miss Helena A. Smith Caught in Cupid's Meshes.

It seems to be the delight of a young man now-a-days (the girls are willing,) in fact always has been from the days of Adam and Eve, to enter a home, win the affections of a fair daughter, "pop" the question of life-long partnership, ask papa, set a day, engage one vested with authority, the words are said and the twain become one. Love, which is defined as "Two souls with but a single thought, Two hearts that beat as one," entwined around the lives of a Reynoldsville swain and lass and they consequently decided to employ a Divine and before him make the matrimonial vows. At 11.30 A.M. to-day, Wednesday, July 13th, Will H. Bell, of the firm of Bell Bros., clothiers, an energetic and promising young business man, and Miss Helena Addie Smith, the handsome and accomplished daughter of O. F. Smith, were married at the home of the bride's parents, East Main street. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. H. G. Furbay, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in the presence of a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. After the nuptial ceremony the guests were invited to the dining-room where a table had been spread with a bountiful supply of all the delicacies of the season. The presents received by the bride were beautiful. The bride and groom will leave on the 1.42 P. M. train for a wedding tour to Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Atlantic City. They will be absent about two weeks.

Miss Smith undoubtedly got the most charming Bell of Reynoldsville for a husband, one who has the ability to make a success of the business in which he is engaged, while Mr. Bell has won a partner in life's journey who will surely make home for him a happy place.

THE STAR, with their many friends, wishes them all the joy and happiness this world affords as they travel life's pathway together.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Bell, Hugh McCullough and Bruce McCreight, of DuBois, and Miss May Morrison, of Smithport, were the out of town people who attended the wedding.

A Real Artist.

"A prophet is not without, honor save in his own country," was uttered over eighteen centuries ago, and to-day it has its significance with the human race. A man may be a silvery-tongued orator, or a skilled practitioner, a genius of the highest grade, but his ability will not be fully appreciated at the place where he was born and reared. The same is true of women. No matter what talent a woman may possess, whether she can sing like a nightingale, or wield a poetic pen, or handle the artists brush skillfully, they are not always valued at their true worth by those who have been acquainted with them from their youth. Reynoldsville has a real live artist genius in the person of Miss Ella E. Seeley, daughter of Ed. D. Seeley, the hardware man, of whom we should feel proud. Miss Ella has been producing pictures for public view for several years. Last fall she went to Pittsburgh where she remained all winter under the instruction of a skilled artist. The young lady has a number of pictures at her home that speak plainly of her ability. She can do work in water color, oil or crayon. Those who see the work done by this young lady—who, if she continues to develop the artist talent, is destined to become famous—will agree with us in the statement that she has the real artist talent.

Counterfeiters in Jefferson County.

A gang of counterfeiters were discovered in the woods near Schoffner's Corners, this county, week before last. The money-makers had their paraphernalia for the spurious work secreted in an old shanty and were ousted from the nest by a Johnsonburg gentleman who was travelling in that section and in taking a near cut through the woods had become lost and accidentally came to their mint. Three men were in the shanty at the time and on hearing a noise ran as if the sheriff and a posse of assistants were after them. The guilty men awaited not to see who was paying them a visit. The visitor found part of the shanty fitted up for habitation. There was a small stove with a charcoal fire burning in it. On top of the stove was an iron ladle containing a quantity of melted metal. The room also contained a quantity of glass, babbit metal, plaster paris, and small pieces of other metal which had the ring of genuine silver. Among other things found was a pair of moulds which had recently been used in making half dollar pieces dated 1854. This may be a solution to the counterfeit money that has been in circulation in the county recently. Although detectives are in quest of the game they have not been able to get them yet. A visit was made to their place of business, but they were "out" at the time.

Card of Thanks.

I am exceedingly grateful to those who have been so kind and liberal to my family and I since our house was destroyed by lightning, and I take this method of expressing my thankfulness to all who assisted us, and assure you your kindness has been appreciated. GEO. TAPPER.
