

Lovers of Warmth. The invention of fire was a great step in the progress of the human race, and it is not strange that so many uncivilized peoples have superstitious notions connected with it. Mrs. Millet, in her account of the aborigines of Australia, has some interesting observations under this head. When the natives camp for the night a fire is lighted in front of each hut—the huts being made of boughs, with the entrance carefully turned away from the wind—so that the feet of those who are sleeping within may be kept warm. If one of their relatives has lately died, an additional and solitary fire is lighted at a little distance from the huts, where the ghost of the deceased may sit and warm itself without disturbing the family hearth. In fact, warmth is so great a necessity to the native that he seems to think that the dead can only by degrees become accustomed to the want of it, and the airing of a grave by kindling a fire within it is a very important ceremony at a funeral.

The same love of warmth creates an aversion to early rising, and natives are seldom seen abroad until the sun has been one or two hours above the horizon.

In wet weather it is usual to carry in the hand, beneath a kangaroo skin, a piece of smoldering wood, which compensates the bearer in some sort for the want of a flannel waistcoat, and enables him to light a fire at a moment's notice.

One of our men had also a plan on cold nights of lying down, rolled up in his furs, upon the ashes of a raked-out fire. He explained to my husband that the advantage of thus going to bed was two-fold, being no less good for warmth than for concealment, especially when passing the night in a strange place, where the keeping up of a fire after dark might attract the notice of unfriendly natives.

Each tribe possesses a territory of its own, and each family of the tribe has its own especial tract of land within that territory. Here a man can light his fire and build his hut without fear of molestation. It is, in fact, his paternal estate, so that the word "fire" conveys to the Australian the same meaning of fatherland or birthplace as the word "hearth" conveys to a European, and is used by the aborigines in the same sense.

Largest Fires on Record.

Chicago sometimes brags that it has had the biggest fire in history; but it seems that Moscow, in 1814, had a bigger one, in which 39,800 buildings were destroyed, valued at $150,000,000. The loss in the Chicago fire of October, 1871, was $125,000,000; the buildings destroyed, 17,450. The buildings by the great fire of London, 1896, were 13,200, valued at $55,000,000. The great fire of Boston, 1872, destroyed $50,000,000, burned over 65 acres and consumed or ruined 776 buildings. In 1870 Constantinople had a conflagration of $24,000,000 and 800 buildings. In 1851, San Francisco lost 2,500 buildings, valued at $17,000,000. In 1852 Hamburg had a fire which consumed 1,747 of the finest buildings in the city. It is hardly to be expected that any fire hereafter will burn more than those at Moscow and Chicago.

Liked Music.

Chief Marshal—Lookee here! You said this horse liked music. The very moment the band began to play he sprang ten feet into the air, and has acted like a cyclone ever since. Lively man—Yes, sir. He's tryin' to dance.—New York Weekly.

Scrofula

Afflicted me four years—blisters all over my body, swelling in my neck, and in less than a year had lost 40 lbs. I was induced by H. L. Tubbs, our druggist, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the blisters appeared, and I soon began to gain in flesh. In 4 months there was none of the disease left in my system, and I was as well and strong as ever. G. W. DORR, Osceola, South Dakota.

HEAVIEST TRADE KNOWN.

Despite the Cholera, Business in all Lines is Booming.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Cholera has landed and the business of New York goes on exactly as if it had not. Cars are as crowded with passengers and streets as badly blocked with cartloads of merchandise as they were one week or year ago, which means that the heaviest trade ever known at this season is now in progress. The same is true of other cities almost without exception, and the outlook for fall trade is at all points regarded as exceedingly good. But many people are afraid that all other people will be afraid and consequently speculative markets decline. The selling of stock has been quite heavy, and the decline in prices has averaged about $2 per share for all the active list. Money is in ample supply and the demand from the interior is less than usual at this season, but large amounts are held out of the loan markets by people who are looking for exceptional opportunities to buy cheaply.

There has been much talk about pestilence as an excuse for low prices of breadstuffs and cotton, but the fact is that the enormous stocks brought over from last year afford a sufficient reason for exceedingly low prices. Receipts of wheat at the principal Western ports in four days of this week have been 5,316,833 bushels, while the Atlantic exports have been only 1,085,435 bushels, and it is not strange that the price has declined. At 77c wheat is lower than it ever has been in New York except in two days in 1884. Corn has declined 1c in sympathy, but it is also the fact that Western advices regarding the growing crop are favorable. Oats have fallen 1c and lard is a shade weaker. In cotton there has been heavy selling. Oil has declined 1c, but coffee is stronger.

At Boston trade in dry goods is unusually large for September, and the market for fur cloths is almost bare, while cotton goods are sold far ahead of production, and in bleached goods some advance appears. Woolen mills are well supplied with orders, and the distribution is remarkably full. Boot and shoe shops are crowded with orders and leather is active. At Philadelphia trade in dry goods is the most satisfactory in many years, and the carpet manufacturers are busy. Western and Southern buyers are liberal in their purchases, and in dress goods, especially an increase in trade is expected, which is in fair demand, tobacco improves and trade in chemicals is active, especially in disinfectants.

In Pittsburg the iron trade improves with increased demand, though Bessemer pig is weaker. Windy and raw works are resulting, but the Monongahela coal miners are still idle, because of a difference in wages. Trade in Cleveland is good in most lines and fair in dry goods, crockery and drugs, with iron in better demand and money active. Retail trade at Cincinnati is quiet, but the Western lumber trade shows an increase of 20 per cent. over last year. At Detroit orders for freight cars exceed capacity of works for months to come, more grain and iron moved than in previous years and trade prospects are favorable.

At Chicago business increases and nothing adverse appears, though some decrease is seen in receipts of wheat, rye, barley, cheese, dressed beef and 50 per cent. in lard and wool, compared with last year, while in flour, corn, oats, cured meats, cattle and logs considerable increase appears.

The business failures during the last seven days number for the United States 154; Canada, 28; total, 182, as compared with 179 last week, 170 the week previous to the last and 229 for the corresponding week of last year.

MORE ARRESTS AT HOMESTEAD.

The First Woman Prisoner as a Result of the Strike. The Fifteenth Regiment Ordered Home.

Homestead was made lively Saturday night by five arrests, one being a woman, Mrs. Annie Watson, who now enjoys the distinction of being the first woman arrested as a result of the strike. The men, whose names are Jesse Lantz, Otto Greenwood, John McFarland and Archibald Moorhead, are charged with having shouted at non-union men.

After arresting the men, Officers George Rakestraw and David Smith, of the Coal and Iron Police, started down City Farm lane. They were met by Mrs. Watson, and her husband, who accused the officers of having shoved their little boy off the sidewalk. Mrs. Watson, it is alleged, called the officers scabs and black sheep. Rakestraw placed the woman under arrest. The officers and their prisoner were at once surrounded. Major Crawford, acting provost marshal, went to the spot with a squad of men, and gave the officers and their prisoner safe escort to provost headquarters. David Lynch became Mrs. Watson's guarantee, and she was allowed to return to her home.

Shortly after this arrest officers Rakestraw and Smith were placed under arrest by two borough constables for being drunk and disorderly. The officers resisted and were surrounded by a large crowd. Major Crawford again went to the rescue. The Major demanded the release of the men, which was refused. The Major then drew his revolver and at its point rescued the two officers and escorted them to his quarters. Members of the Advisory Board say they are going to make it hot for Rakestraw and Smith on charges of false arrest and being drunk and disorderly.

Jacob Maurer was arrested for shouting at non-union men and was arrested. He had in his possession an ugly-looking revolver. John Price, charged with aggravated riot, was also arrested.

WITHDRAWING THE TROOPS. Adjutant General W. W. Greenwood visited Homestead Saturday, and after a consultation with Sheriff McHenry and General Wiley, decided to withdraw the Fifteenth Regiment from Homestead. The Fifteenth was selected in order to avoid a rearrangement of the camp. The tents of the Fifteenth were struck Monday morning and the Regiment left Homestead. The Fifteenth has been in service at Homestead 71 days. During that time there was only one fatality among the troops, that being the accidental shooting of Private Benninghoff. It is the general opinion among the National Guard Pennsylvania officers at Homestead that the Sixteenth will be sent home some day this week.

The Rev. K. C. Hays, chaplain of the Fifteenth Regiment, preached in the mill Sunday morning on "The Non-Purchasing Power of Money, and in camp in the evening on "The Selfishness of Man."

HUGH ROSS FORFEITS BAIL. Hugh Ross, the Homestead striker, did not appear in the Criminal court on Saturday on "The Non-Purchasing Power of Money" and in camp in the evening on "The Selfishness of Man."

Three survivors of the wreck of the British bark Hope reached Halifax, N. S. The Hope capsized in a gale off Cape Race, and the balance of her crew was drowned. The survivors clung four days to planks before being rescued by the schooner Amelia C., which brought them into port. The lost are: Captain David Jenkins, Mate David Griffith, Cook Richard Edwards and Seaman Humphrey Jones and Robert Hughes, and a boy named James E. Okwibell.

LIVESAVED BY CHOLERA SCARES.

Large Decrease in Deaths as the Result of a General Cleansing Up at Pittsburg.

It pays to keep the city clean whether there is a cholera scourge knocking at the municipal doors or not. This is proven by the latest bulletins issued by the Pittsburg Bureau of Health. It shows that for the week ending September 10 the death rate of the city was 18.35 per 1,000 inhabitants per annum, on an estimated population of 255,000. This is a considerable drop from the figures of the previous week, during which the cholera scare caused a cleansing of the city to be inaugurated. That week the rate was 23 per 1,000 inhabitants per annum. Last week there were only 90 deaths, the previous week 113.

The mortality among infants under 2 years of age was last week only 34, against a total of 63 during the week before. Typhoid fever caused 5 deaths last week and 8 the previous week. There were ten deaths from contagious or infectious diseases last week, of which diphtheria caused 6, whooping cough 3 and diphtheritic croup 1.

If the death rate was so reduced by the cleaning up of streets, back yards and the homes of the people in one week it would seem not expecting too much to reduce it one-half by carrying on the cleansing process to a finish and keeping it there. That is what the Pittsburg city officials declare to be their intention.

Will Not Hurt the Encampment. In contradiction of the report that cholera would likely cause the abandonment of the Grand Army encampment at Washington, D. C., Chairman Edison, of the citizens committee, announced that the encampment would be held, cholera or no cholera. The city is in excellent sanitary condition.

Weaver and Field Accept. Generals Weaver and Field, the People's party candidates for President and Vice President, made public a joint letter of acceptance. They see a menace to the public weal in both old parties, and say that the success of their party alone will prevent the overthrow of the nation.

The religious outlook is never so good as the religious outlook.

WILL HE GET THERE?

Great interest centers in the question, "Will Captain Andrews, the Sapollo Columbus, reach Pales in his little boat?" Last week we told of his start, and how puffed he wrote by an incoming sailer which placed him many hundred miles from shore. Now we can add to that report the following news item just as it was published in the Commercial Advertiser, of New York:

SPOKE THE SAPOLLO.

CAPTAIN ANDREWS MAKING HIS WAY HUELVA AND PALOS.

LONDON, Aug. 19 (Daily Special News).—Advice received to-day from Corunna state that the steamer Vera Cruz, which arrived there on Aug. 11, from Havana, reported that on Aug. 5 she fell in with a small boat named Sapollo, manned by Captain William A. Andrews.

In answer to questions of the Captain of the Vera Cruz, Andrews said he had sailed from Atlantic City, N. J., with the intention and hope of arriving at Huelva and Palos de Moguer, on the Rio Tinto, by next October, in time for the occasion of the public festivals in connection with the Columbus centenary.

The Captain of the Vera Cruz offered Andrews any provisions he required, but the latter replied he did not want any, and only desired to be reported.

It will be recalled that it was from Pales that Columbus sailed in 1492 when he set out on his discovery of America.

The above report was later confirmed by cables from Madrid, one of which said:

The Captain of the Vera Cruz describes Captain Andrews as hale and hearty. Captain Andrews, he says, presented a question as to whether he wished to be taken aboard the steamer, declaring that he was certain that he could reach Huelva without assistance in time for the October fete. He asked only one favor—that the Captain of the Vera Cruz should hand a letter to the American Consul at the first Spanish port he entered. Captain Andrews then tied his letter to a piece of scrap iron and threw it aboard the Vera Cruz, and after mutual farewells and wishes for a prosperous voyage the two vessels parted.

On the following day, August 6th, the "Sapollo" fell in with the German ship "Adolf," Captain A. Schepewa, who writes that on that date he supplied Captain Andrews with "fresh water, fresh bread, eggs, and claret, also with a lantern and a length of line, captain and boat being all right." We give it just as written, showing that our German friend can be as liberal with his letters as with the fresh bread, which must have proved so grateful to the daring voyager who carries no fire, and on whom the baker does not call in the morning.

The New York Herald, in an editorial article on August 20th, rather unjustly commented on Captain Andrews' trip. It said: "The cable dispatch published yesterday giving news of the intrepid Captain Anderson, of dry fame, has given encouragement, if not assurance, to his friends. There can be no scientific value in voyages of this sort and no results can come from them that are of much interest to the general public, says the proof that a sixteen-foot boat may in exceedingly calm weather cross the Atlantic. Were Captain Anderson to prove by his attempt that a transatlantic voyage was infinitely more pleasant and rapid in a small boat than in an ocean palace, then the community might be grateful. Most interesting now centers in the possibility of his finishing his trip alive."

Just how Captain Andrews (not Anderson, as the Herald has it) could select sixty days of "exceedingly calm weather" remains for the Herald weather makers to show. If this voyage draws out such an extraordinary contribution to marine science, it will almost equal the discovery of gravitation. But there are other things to be claimed in behalf of the venture, some of which are well stated in the following letter written in reply to this article:

Editor N. Y. Herald:

Admitting that Capt. Andrew's voyage may not benefit science, add that he may not convince travelers that a small boat is superior to an ocean palace; I would contend that every passenger in an Ocean Grayhound should sleep easier in his comfortable berth when he knows that the great sea has been successfully crossed in a cockleshell; and may not many lives be saved by this plain object lesson, showing that a wooden boat is unsinkable? On lake, and river, and bay, hundreds go down annually who lose presence of mind because they fail to realize this simple fact. And is there not a lesson to be learned in courage, in endurance and good seamanship? Does not any man who successfully controls the elements add to man's confidence and benefit the whole community?

Visitors to the World's Fair, at Chicago, will eagerly seek out this American Columbus and see for themselves his little folding boat, the "Sapollo," with which he is scouring the seas to show the world that modern men and modern methods are far ahead of the year 1492. W. A. HAZEN.
