THE RIGHT SORT OF A GIRL.

"The lass who goes to college, yet knows just what to do with vegetable marrow, and with cockleberry, too; who can muse on the digamma or Ephemerkus-tikon, yet never be unmindful that the porridge pot is on."

The girl who's up in puddings, and in pies and politics, who can compound a gravy or confound church heretics, talk right feelingly of Hegel or knowingly of Kant, yet be with her cookery book as deeply conversant.

The maiden who can charm you with Bach or Mendelssohn, knows when the moon's in Apogee, can quote Anacreon, and yet can boll potatoes, knows when a turnip's done, can mold the restful doughnut and the festive currant bun;

And the mathematic maiden who can criticize Laplace, or whose chemical dexterity can analyze a gas, who can also sew a button where a button ought to be, and if needful wield the duster or the broomstick skillfully.

And she's the best and dearest, whose native commonsense escheweth ice cream blandishments and carmine's expense, who quotheth Dio Lewis, goeth early to her bed, and riseth in the morning with a clear and cheerful head."

"DON'TS" FOR PUPILS.

Don't be in a hurry when studying your lessons; bear in mind that "the more haste the less speed," therefore make haste slowly and bear in mind that one-half page thoroughly learned is worth a dozen pages hastily skimmed over. Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well.

Don't for a moment imagine that you "know it all." Don't forget that the best part of our knowledge is where knowledge leaves off and ignorance begins, and that the best educated people in the world are always learning something new.

Don't scowl and frown when your teacher corrects you and enforces the regulations. A system of regulations is a necessity, and without them our schools would be a failure. Don't forget that your teacher is only doing his duty and laboring for your advancement, and by being obedient you aid in making his labors a success.

Don't be indolent and slothful. Remember that school hours are for school duties only. The plow most used is the brighter for it, and the mind must be active to be bright. "The fire-fly shines only when on the wing. So it is with the mind; when once we rest we darken."

Don't be slovenly. Remember that cleanliness is a virtue next to godliness. Don't enter the school room with hair uncombed, shoes unpolished or carelessly dressed. Be tidy with your books, desk, &c., as well as your person.

Lastly, don't forget that now is the time to take advantage of the opportunities given you to acquire a good education. Don't leave any task for the future. To-morrow never comes, and time once lost can never be regained. Then each day add to your store of knowledge and garner in the golden grain while the harvest is at hand. If you neglect your time now, you will bitterly regret it, as thousands have done before you, when your school days are past. Then don't.

SCHOOL NOTES.

A High School Alumni Association was temporarily organized on Saturday last. The Association will be composed of those pupils who have passed through the schools here and who hold diplomas or teacher's certificates, adding from year to year those who may graduate. A committee, consisting of Prof. Lenkerd, T. N. Keff, Britta Butler and Mrs. W. J. Weaver, was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws for said Association. All entitled to membership will meet at the new school building on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 31, at 2.30 o'clock, when a permanent organization will be effected.

A collection of Colorado minerals was added to the museum this week, the gift of Clifford Kaucher, of Room 13. A reading room has been opened in Room 15, where several tables are supplied with daily papers, magazines, &c., and a limited number from the several rooms may each day at times before school is called enter and cultivate a taste for reading. Any contributions to this department will be gratefully received and appreciated.

Music has been ordered for the orchestra, and the members will meet for practice upon its arrival. It will be composed of six pieces.

It is probable that the schools will give an entertainment between now and the holidays.

The time for monthly reviews is again at hand.

A Short Cut to Health.

To try to cure constipation by taking pills is like going round in a circle. You will never reach the point sought, but only get back to the starting point. A perfect natural laxative is Bacon's Celery King, the celebrated remedy for all nerve, blood, stomach, liver and kidney diseases. It regulates the bowels. Reynolds Drug Store will give you a sample package free. Large sizes 25 cents and 50 cents.
