Cold is a Blessing.

Many persons regard the winter season as an unfortunate visitation. It is considered both uncomfortable to the body and harmful to the health. This is an error. Cold is the most potent agent for the restoration and preservation of normal activity on the part of the organs of the human body. It is a wise plan of Providence which gives us a change of seasons. The winter cold comes as a tonic to repair the injuries done by the enervating heat of summer. Summer, it is true, has many wise uses in the matter of health. It induces out door life, rids the system of poisons through copious perspiration, and through the scorching rays of sun destroys germ life.

Winter is the great bracer of the system. It stimulates activity in every organ. When cold attacks the surface of the body the blood is set into more free circulation as a means of bodily warmth. It is through the circulation of the blood that the human anatomy is kept in repair. When the food has been digested and converted into liquid form it is taken up by the blood and carried the rounds of the system for the purpose of repairing the waste places. When the cold causes increased circulation it also brings about more perfect nutrition.

Man's face and hands illustrate how weather-proof the body becomes when exposed to air. Continued activity in circulation on the surface, caused by the air coming in contact with the skin, tends to nourish and thicken the skin. Thus man's skin grows thicker in winter, just as animals are supplied with a double coat of fur.—Marienville Express.

such excellent effects as were found there.

Nearly all occupations have been invaded by women and the occupation of landscape gardening is no exception. Just lately a woman has been appointed to take charge of Lincoln Park at a salary of $1,200 a year. Of course few persons receive such compensation for their work, yet the landscape gardener in the future will have a better income and more recognition as a beautifier in the world than he did formerly. Many persons who feel that they have the qualifications are now fitting themselves for this work. So in the twentieth century we may expect better judgment in the decorating of home grounds, and more taste in the arrangement of flowers, and a general beautifying of the whole country.

OBSERVER.

LOCALS.

Miss Mollie McDonald, of the Sub-Junior class, visited in DuBois the latter part of last week.

The advice of a certain member of the High School to the other members is that they should never attempt to try on the teachers coat and hat during his absence.

The following persons visited the Literary Society Friday: Miss Edna Myers, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Thomas. Geometry Student—The sum of the antecedents is equal to the sum of the consequences.

Christine Brown, accompanied by her grandfather, went to Pittsburg Friday.

A. W. Hawks can truly be called "the laughing philosopher." The lecture Friday night excelled in humor everything that has ever been given in Reynoldsville. It always does people good to laugh, and they certainly had the chance Friday. People would live longer if there were more people like Mr. Hawks.

The total amount of money taken in by the lecture course was $500.08. The amount spent for talent, advertising and printing was $289.09. The gain, $210.99, $124.25 of this has been used to clear the debt on the piano and for laboratory purposes. At the present time there is $86.74 in the treasury. An account of the money received and expended will be made to the school board at the close of the school year.

The number of students enrolled at the close of last month was 648. Highest percentage of attendance, which was 96 per cent was in the High School. The least tardiness was in Room No. 11, only three persons being tardy during the month.

We are very sorry to say that our classmate, Sally Montgomery, is unable to return to school on account of injuries received by falling a few weeks ago.

The programme that was rendered in Society Friday afternoon was very instructive as well as interesting. The debate on the South African war was delivered in a pleasing manner by Ira Bowser, Ed. Foster, Fred Smith and Ralph Kirk. Clement Flynn's extract from Shakespeare was received with enthusiasm that expressed the enjoyment of his hearers. Among the others that took part were Misses Ethel Winslow, Verd Dougherty, Effie Mohney and Sophia Heckman.

Found—A valentine entitled "You've only one man on the string." Owner may have it by proving property, paying damages, also paying for this advertisement. Inquire at Bulletin office.

"Where are you going my pretty maid?" "Collecting souvenirs, kind sir," she said; "May I go with you my pretty maid?" "My fads not spoons, kind sir," she said.

One of the Juniors has a friendship heart with the initials P. R. on, which she says stands for Pennsylvania Railroad. Every person is entitled to his own opinion concerning the matter. It is hoped that the "Long" and the "Short" of the Senior class will be able to overcome their curiosity next time that they are told that a pretty little boy is on the landing.

A letter has been received from the "High School Journal" of DuBois. The "Journal" is a magazine of 25 pages, it is published monthly and may be had for ten cents a number, or twenty-five cents for three numbers.

Pearl Barto, '99, visited the school on Friday.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says, "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50c at H. Alex. Stoke's drug store.

CADENZA.

Sing not to me, sweet,
The song that is sorrow,
Hearts that are young beat
With joy of tomorrow,
Gilding the kind heart
With bliss that they borrow.

Hearts that are old fear
Thought of lost gladness,
Not for the diller ear
Music of sadness,
Out and alas, dear,
Memory is madness!

—Harriet Prescott Spofford in Woman's Home Companion.

ODD TOWN OF CULLODEN.

The Liquor Element "Engineered" the Astor Out of the Village.

"I reckon we've got the oddest town in our state that there is in the United States," said a West Virginia man. "Ever hear of Culloden? I don't mean the clans of Culloden described by the poet Campbell. I mean Culloden, W. Va. Well, sir, about half the population of the town doesn't live in the town and can't vote in the town, although they are right in the town.

"I'll explain. The good people, and they are in the majority, too, are down on saloons and liquor in any shape. They got up a temperance meeting and proposed to drive the liquor men out of town. When you find a West Virginian who believes in liquor, you find a man who is ready to fight for it. The liquor people got together and in some way got the confidence of the town engineer. I don't know whether he was a Homer man or not, but they got him on their side. The engineer discovered that the town was not laid out right, and he got authority to change the metes and bounds. When he finished the job, the temperance people found out that they lived just outside of the line of the town, no matter what part of the town their houses were in. A man could stand in his back yard and talk to the man whose place was right up against his place and who was a voter, but the first man had lost his vote.

"The lines of the engineer excluded, as I have said, the temperance people. It took in the license folk all right. The map of Culloden as it is now looks a good deal like a sheet of paper after a fly with ink on its feet meanders across it. You can tell how a citizen of Culloden stands on the liquor question by the place where he builds a house. If he builds one, which doesn't often occur, in spite of its zigzag boundaries, however, Culloden is a contented community."—New York Sun.

A Painful Memory.

A lady who lives on Morgan street took her 5-year-old son to a photographer's to have his picture taken. She was anxious to secure a good likeness at this particular sitting because she wished to distribute the pictures among some friends who were then her guests.

The child's idea of the affair, however, did not apparently harmonize with that of his mother, for when the man with the camera began to adjust the lens and direct it toward little Edward that young person set up what was unprofessionally a howl.

In vain did the mother call into use her utmost forensic abilities. Edward did not want his picture taken.

"Why, my child," she said soothingly, "the gentleman won't hurt you. Just smile and keep still a moment, and it will be all over before you know it."

"Yes, I know, mamma," whimpered the youth, with the tears running down his cheeks, "but that's what you told me at the dentist's."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Model of Joy.

The artist placed the easel in front of his model and worked away rapidly on his allegorical picture of "Joy."

"Uncle Ephraim," he said, "if this picture is a success I shall give you, besides the half dollar I promised, the finest and plumpest young pullet in the market."

A grin overspread the shiny face of Uncle Ephraim, but the artist was disappointed. The result was not quite what he had expected.

An inspiration came to his aid. "Down on South Water street this morning," he went on, "I saw the fattest possum that was ever brought to this town. I am going to get it for you."

"Golly!" And the picture was a magnificent success.—Chicago Tribune.

What Offended Her.

Milk Dealer—What did you say to Mrs. Sharpe yesterday when you called for her money?

Driver—Nothing particular. Why? Milk Dealer—She's sent word that she don't want us to serve her any more. You must have said something to offend her.

Driver—No, I didn't. I simply asked her for the money for the week's milk. She says, "You'd better chalk it up," and I says, "We do that already."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Mentioned as Usual.

Clara—Did the newspapers notice your papa at the banquet?

Freddie—Yes.

Clara—Well, mamma said she could not see his name in the list.

Freddie—No, but the list ends up with "and others." That means papa. They always mention him that way.—Tit-Bits.
