REPUBLICAN PRIMARY ELECTION

County Convention Harmonious—J. B. Henderson Elected County Chairman.

The contest for the nomination for president judge of Jefferson county made the Republican primary election last Saturday the most enthusiastic and hottest primary election ever held in Jefferson county, in fact a presidential election never stirred up more interest in the county than this primary election did. There were no Republican "stay at homes" Saturday. Election returns were received at Kirchartz's room, next to Myers' harness shop. Some of those interested stayed up until three o'clock Sunday morning to get the returns.

The county convention was held in the court house at Brookville Monday afternoon. Hon. J. W. Foust, of this place, was elected temporary chairman. The vote was counted and the following candidates were declared nominated: Judge, Hon. J. W. Reed; prothonotary, Cyrus H. Blood; register and recorder, Jos. B. Means; treasurer, Ira J. Campbell; sheriff, Grant Scheafnocker; commissioners, John S. Barr, J. N. Kelley; auditors, G. H. Small, Thomas B. Adams.

Committee on resolutions made their report and resolutions were approved. J. B. Henderson was unanimously elected county chairman. Judge Reed and Ed. A. Carmalt made short addresses. Blood, Means, Campbell, Scheafnocker, Kelly and Barr were called before the convention for speeches, but they did not occupy much time. The entire convention was harmonious.

The official vote polled at the primary election will be found in this issue in supplement form.

Andrew Johnston Dead.

Mrs. E. L. Evans, Mrs. Anna Hendricks and Mrs. Wash Mohny were called to Canonsburg Saturday to attend the funeral of their brother, Andrew Johnston. From the Canonsburg Daily Notes we clip the following: "The friends of Andrew Johnston, a well known contractor of South Canonsburg, were shocked late yesterday afternoon to learn of Mr. Johnston's sudden death, which occurred in Wilkingsburg, where he had gone during the afternoon to transact business. Mr. Johnston fell dead on the street, heart disease being the cause of death.

Mr. Johnston was walking along the street, when he suddenly sank to the pavement. Two men nearby rushed to him, but he was dead when they reached his side. The body was removed to an engine house nearby and a physician called. The doctor made an examination and pronounced the cause of death to be heart disease. It is believed that the effects of the heat was the cause of the attack which caused death.

Mr. Johnston was aged seventy-three years, and had lived in Canonsburg for the past fourteen years. He was a native of Jefferson county, Pa. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Lizzie T. (Gilkeson) Johnston, and one son, Harman. Four brothers and two sisters also survive. Three brothers and a sister live at Rathmel, Pa. The other sisters reside at Reynoldsville. Deceased was an active member of the Democratic party and took considerable interest in political matters. He belonged to the Baptist church."

Grant Scheafnocker, of this place, received the Republican nomination for sheriff, and the past two or three days has been receiving the congratulations of his numerous friends.
