"Habit of Good Workmanship"

A man doesn't have to know very much to get into trouble. But it usually takes a man that knows his business to get him out.

SMALL THINGS OVER-LOOKED usually cause the most trouble. A certain party wanted a sink installed. CHEAPEST MAN, CHEAPEST GOODS. He got them. Up to date he has spent almost ten dollars on that sink and waste pipes. He could have got the best sink we have installed properly for less than what this has cost him—and not have any trouble.

People who take the trouble to investigate usually have us do their work.

REFERENCE—Any person we ever done work for.
