One of our prominent citizens had business at Brookville Friday, intending to go down on the 8:08 a. m. train, but arrived at depot too late to catch the train. To punish himself for missing the train he walked to Brookville, arriving there at noon. Rheumatism has been punishing the man since for making the long walk.

A lady who was fortunate enough to have a railroad pass and was traveling from the east to Pittsburg, thought she would make the trip over the Bell's Gap from Tyroce to Punxsutawney, thence via trolley to Reynoldsville and down the P. R. R. from this place to Pittsburg. When she arrived here at noon last Thursday she learned her pass was "n. g." from here to Pittsburg and she returned via trolley to Punxsy, back over Bell's gap to Tyroce and from there over the "Pennsy" to Pittsburg. She had a side trip at least.

According to our wishes, Mr. Chandler gave us "Humorous Experiences Abroad." The lecture was well received. I enjoyed it fully as much as Dixon's "Backbone," and regard him as the latter's equal in all respects. A discriminating and intelligent lady in my congregation volunteered the opinion that it was the best lecture ever given in the town. The night was stormy and the audience the smallest since the course started, but its appreciation was keen and the interest in the nearly two hours that he spoke never flagged.—Rev. Metzler, Emporia, Pa.

OVER STEEP EMBANKMENT.

John Benson and Team of Horses Have Narrow Escape.

Councilman John Benson, of West Reynoldsville, had an experience and narrow escape last week that he will not soon forget. Mr. Benson was hauling a load of coal to residence of Henry Herpel in West Reynoldsville and at the point where the turn is made off the street to drive up to Mr. Herpel's coal house there is an embankment of about 60 feet that slopes rather precipitous to the railroad. To make the turn at that point Mr. Benson attempted to back the team a little, but backed to far and wagon, team and driver went over the embankment. Mr. Benson was thrown off the wagon at top of the embankment, but the team and wagon rolled over and over to the railroad and the wagon landed on top of one of the horses, but miraculously Mr. Benson and the horses escaped without injury. The wagon was more or less damaged.

People will be Given Choice.

It has been announced that Hon. W. M. Chandler, who lectures in Assembly hall on Wednesday evening of next week, will repeat the lecture by request, he gave here four or five years ago. "The Trial of Jesus From a Lawyer's Standpoint," but a large number of the public school lecture course patrons do not want to hear the lecture repeated and Prof. Hepler has concluded to give the people the privilege of deciding the matter by vote after the audience assembles on the night of the lecture. The lecture Mr. Chandler delivered here before is a great lecture and its repetition may be enjoyed by a few, but the majority would rather hear another lecture. "Humorous Experiences Abroad" is highly spoken of. Why not have him deliver that lecture?

Football Notes.

The Reynoldsville high school football team went to Indiana Monday to play the high school boys at that place and were defeated by a score of 21-0. The first half was a walk over for Indiana, gaining practically all their scores in the forepart of the game. Towards the close the Reynoldsville boys pulled together and put up the genuine article of sport, but too late to count for anything. The local high school team was weakened by the refusal of Indiana to play unless Bohren and Foust were taken out. Their places had to be filled by strangers.

The Punxsutawney high school football team will be in Reynoldsville today, Wednesday, for a game with the home club. Punxsy has been putting up a fast game this season and the contest this afternoon should be worth seeing.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

Thomas M. J. Rea and Miss Edna O. Keagle Join Matrimonial Ranks.

At eight o'clock last evening, Nov. 19, 1907, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Keagle in Rathmel their daughter, Miss Edna Olive Keagle, and Mr. Thomas M. Rea, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Rea, of Winslow township, were united in marriage in the presence of a number of invited guests. It was a very pretty wedding. The ring ceremony was performed by Dr. A. J. Meek, pastor of the First Baptist church of Reynoldsville. A sumptuous wedding supper was served. The wedding presents were fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Rea have started on a wedding trip to Buffalo, Niagara Falls, N. Y., Toronto, Canada, Corning, N. Y., and eastern part of Pennsylvania. They will reside at Edri, Indiana Co., Pa., where Mr. Rea holds a position in a store.

Mrs. Lulu Doubles Scott, of West Reynoldsville, was found guilty in the county court last week of assault and battery and was sentenced to pay costs and a fine of $50.00. She was given quarters in the county jail until the costs and fine are paid, or to serve a certain time if the money is not produced to liquidate her indebtedness and fine.

Large Sum Paid Out.

During the past week the paymasters for the Rochester & Pittsburg Coal & Iron Company and the Jefferson & Clearfield Coal & Iron Company plants in this district made their rounds and an unusually large sum of money was paid out. In fact it is said to have been the largest amount ever paid out by these corporations at one payday.

The paymasters distributed nearly $150,000 and the money was given out among employes at the mines at Mahoning, Dayton, Chambersville, Seneca, Frances, Ernest, Iselin, Yatesboro, Walston, Adrian, Eleanor, Florence and Anita. The clerical force in the offices at Punxsutawney also came in for their share of wages. The pay at Earnest was the largest, taking about $30,000 to satisfy the employes at that place.—Indiana Gazette. Big Soldier, Rathmel and Wishaw miners were included in the above.

DISMISSED THE APPEAL.

Affirm Decision of Jefferson County Court in Second Trial for Criminal Offense.

At the April term of Jefferson county court last year, 1906, Genaro Mezenotte and Dominic Raumano, of Sykesville, were convicted of assault with intent to kill, and were sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

Their victim, John Slezewicz, who had been shot and stabbed near his home at Sykesville in January, 1906, died soon after the two men were convicted and taken to the penitentiary. Tony Loretto, who was implicated in the crime and escaped, was arrested at Dunkirk, N. Y., after Slezewicz's death, and brought to the Jefferson county jail and at the January term of court in 1907 was convicted of murder in the first degree. Mezenotte and Raumano, by habeas corpus proceedings instituted by District Attorney Jas. V. Murray, were taken out of the penitentiary and brought back to Brookville and tried at the April term of court in present year on charge of murder. Raumano was found guilty of murder in the first degree and Mezenotte was found guilty of murder in second degree, and in view of the fact that Loretto and Mezenotte did the stabbing and Raumano fired the fatal shot, the Commonwealth assented to have the verdict of first degree against Loretto lowered to second degree, same verdict given Mezenotte, leaving Raumano the only one of the three convicted of murder in first degree.

On the grounds that the habeas corpus proceedings, by virtue of which Soldier and Mezenotte were taken from the penitentiary, were unlawful, and was a bar to a trial for murder, the case was appealed to the Supreme Court, but the Supreme Court last Friday affirmed the verdict of the Jefferson county court.

Sheriff Scheafnocker will likely have the unpleasant job of executing Raumano before the expiration of his term as sheriff.

Mothers' Conference.

Last Friday a number of ladies of Reynoldsville visited their children in the different departments of the public schools from 1.30 to 3.30 in the afternoon. After the schools were dismissed these ladies met with the teachers in the auditorium and organized a Mothers' Club by electing Mrs. Wescott president, Mrs. Fisher vice-president, and Mrs. Patterson secretary.

The club will hereafter meet on the second Friday of every month in the auditorium at 3.30. The teachers will meet with the mothers and in this way we believe much good will be done in school work.

The attendance was not so large as it would have been had their not been another meeting of the ladies the same afternoon. It is hoped that a much larger attendance will mark the next meeting.

Following are the names of those present: Mesdames Hannah Yenewine, Olive Reed, Frank C. Wescott, Harriet L. Morrow, K. C. Schuckers, H. E. Phillips, E. A. Hull, J. D. Patterson, Albert Strouse, F. H. Gallagher, James A. Tyson, E. C. Davis, Tamar Sayers, W. C. Henry, M. H. Caldwell, J. F. Hinderliter, W. J. A. Kocher, A. Katzen, D. H. Breakey, J. R. Hillis, J. V. Young, H. F. Lavo, M. M. Fisher, C. F. Hoffman, J. W. Cunningham, Richard Bone and S. Friedman.

A Great Lecturer.

Hon. W. M. Chandler, of New York, will lecture in the public school auditorium on Wednesday evening, Nov. 27, at 8.30. Mr. Chandler is conceded to be one of America's greatest orators, and should be heard by every person. The Senior class of our high school is striving to raise funds with which to purchase apparatus. By patronizing the lecture course you will also be helping the schools. We trust every citizen of Reynoldsville will strive to hear Mr. Chandler.

CAUGHT IN FLAMES

Two Infant Daughters of William Morton Burned to Death.

House Caught-Fire While the Children Were Alone in it and Perished While the Agonized Mother Stood Outside, Powerless to Aid Them.

About two o'clock Thursday afternoon, November 14, 1907, a sad, distressing and heart-breaking calamity befell Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morton, a young couple of Soldier, when their two little daughters were burned to death and their home and all their household goods were consumed by fire. Nothing has ever stirred the sympathy of the citizens of Soldier and community before as has this great sorrow and loss that came to Mr. and Mrs. Morton on the 14th inst. They were not only left childless, but also homeless and without any clothing save that which they were wearing the afternoon of the fire. Mr. Morton, who was working in the mines when his children and home were burned, had only his working clothes and had to borrow a suit to come to Reynoldsville to arrange for burial of his children.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Morton took her two daughters, Ethel, aged three years and a half, and Esther, aged two years and a half, to a neighbor's and left them while she went on to another neighbor's house to see about a dress pattern. Shortly after the mother had gone the two little tots slipped off home and soon after the neighbors discovered Mr. Morton's house was on fire. The mother rushed frantically into the kitchen to look for her darlings, but was driven back by fierce flames. Mrs. Morton thought she saw the face of one of the girls at the dining room window and she and one of the men, who had hastened to assist in any way possible, broke in the window, hoping to rescue one or both of the children, but the fierce flames drove them back. After the flames had accomplished the awful work of destroying life and property, the charred body of one of the little girls was found near the dining room window, where the mother had gotten a glimpse of the child's face, and the other little charred body was found near the kitchen door, where the mother had first been driven back by the flames.

The origin of the fire will never be positively known, but Mr. Morton thinks it was started from a defective flue. Before Mrs. Morton left her home that fatal afternoon, she stirred the fire in the heating stove and closed the stove door and the supposition is that when the little girls entered the house the building was then on fire and that they were unable to escape and thus met a horrible death.

Funeral service was held at the Soldier Hotel, Mrs. Alex. Watson being a sister of Mrs. Morton, at 2.30 Friday afternoon, conducted by Dr. J. A. Parsons, pastor of the Reynoldsville M. E. church, and the charred trunks of the two little girls were buried in one casket in Beulah cemetery.

Mrs. Morton's maiden name was Ellen Carney.
