

THE INSTITUTE'S CLOSE

the mere separation of strangers met for a week. The social features of the week's entertainment had played so important, and such an unusual part, that there was genuine regret expressed at the end of the session, and dozens remained in the town throughout the day, unwilling to leave. The attendance at the session was very large even to the last hour.

Between the county superintendent and his teachers the most cordial relations exist. Most of the teachers are heartily in sympathy with the great work of improving conditions in the country school which Superintendent Jones has laid out for himself, and which he made the dominant note of the present institute. The teachers gave expression of their support and co-operation in this work. In the directors' convention, also, the subject was given deep and favorable consideration, it being the expressed opinion that no more valuable aid could be given the many rural schools of Jefferson county at present than that which the county superintendent is pleading for, the introduction of agriculture and manual training into the schools. The institute was an inspiration to all and directors, teachers and townspeople parted with the sincere conviction that much good had been accomplished during the five-day session in Reynoldsville.

The Friday morning session was given over to instruction by Miss Weller, in drawing, to a talk by Dr. Ellis on "Arnold of Rugby," in which he showed that the theory of boy study he had been expounding during the week could and had been literally applied by the great man mentioned, and the last talk was by Prof. J. S. Briggs, a former superintendent of Beaver county who is now connected with the state agricultural department. His short address was on the value of teaching the children the economic value of our native birds.

Five years ago Charles Schultz, of Dunkirk, N. Y., was so weak and run down that he decided to give up his business. He took Barosma, and in a few months he regained his health, and gained 55 pounds in weight. To-day he writes: "I have been in perfect health ever since I wrote you five years ago."

A Blood and Nerve Specialist.

Man is only as old as he feels. The human mechanism is similar to that of a clock, whose works must be kept in good repair in order to compete in the race with time. How many there are whose sallow complexion and general debilitated appearance proclaims to all the world their physical condition. The brain, however, still works with precise regularity—the same thoughts, the same desires, hopes and ambitions are present; but the will, the power, the ability, the mechanical part of the body needs looking after.

Ne-ro Tablets is the great master mechanic, the marvelous blood and nerve tonic that will find the trouble and repair it; the results are truly miraculous. The weakened parts are toned up and built anew; the nerves become alert and ready to again obey the desires as it is flashed from the brain. New tissues form, rich, pure blood again flows through your veins and you again rejoice in perfect strength and ability.

Do not delay until your case becomes obstinate, take heed of the common symptoms and the uncommon and dangerous ones will not occur.

Ne-ro Tablets are fully guaranteed and are for sale at every drug store in Reynoldsville.
