

THEY DEFEAT ALABAMA.

State Aid Asked for Capture of Gang of Outlaws.

TERROR IN LAMAR COUNTY.

Rube and Jim Burroughs and Their Hand of Thieves Decline to Surrender to the Sheriff—The Birmingham Rifles on the Way to the Scene to Help in the Arrest.

BIRMINGHAM, July 30.—The sheriff of Lamar county, Ala., has telegraphed the governor asking for a company of state troops to aid in the capture of "Rube" Burroughs and his band of outlaws, who are in a little cabin in the wildest part of the county and defy arrest. They have sent the sheriff word that they will never surrender and will do shooting.

Their fortifications are strong and can be approached from only one direction. Twenty detectives and special officers employed by the Southern Express company and Illinois Central railroad company are with the sheriff. Three detectives of this city have returned from Lamar county with the news that Burroughs and his gang had given the officers the slip, but later telegrams from Sullivan and Amery, the nearest telegraph offices, say the outlaws have again been located.

The people of the county are almost afraid to stir from their homes, so great is the terror of these noted outlaws. It is reported that Jim Burroughs, who was supposed to have died in an Arkansas prison, is with his brother Rube. It is said he did not escape from prison by a clever ruse about three years ago.

Rube and Jim Burroughs robbed a train near Tuscarora, Ark., securing $13,000 from the Southern Express company. A detective followed them to the home of their father in Lamar county and was killed by them. They were afterward captured in Montgomery, Ala., but Rube escaped. It is now believed that he is the man who robbed the train on the Illinois Central railroad in Mississippi last winter. Two weeks ago he shot and killed Postmaster Greaves at Gunn, Ala., and since then officers have been on his track. Rewards aggregating $6,000 have been offered for his capture.

Governor Seay has ordered the Birmingham Rifles to Lamar county to assist in the capture of the outlaws and his gang. The company was in camp at Montgomery when the order was received, but have just left for Lamar county.

BOULANGER'S DOWNFALL.

He Carries Only Twelve Out of 1,200 Cantons.

PARIS, July 30.—Returns from the elections for councilors-general have been received from 813 cantons. In these cantons 245 Republican candidates, 245 conservative and 11 Boulangers were elected. In eighty-nine cantons a second ballot is necessary. The government is jubilant over the returns. Gen. Boulanger was successful in Bordeaux, and was defeated in Montpellier and Rouen.

Later.—The results are now known in 1,200 cantons. General Boulanger has been elected in only twelve. The conservatives have gained in the north, M. Wilson, son-in-law of ex-President Grey, and M. Le Herisse, the well-known Boulangist, are defeated.

ON THE ASIATIC STATION.

Movements of American War Vessels in the Pacific.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Rear Admiral Belknap, commanding the United States naval force on the Asiatic station, reports to the navy department, under date of July 8, that the Omaha, the Marion and the Monocacy were at Yokohama, and the Palos at Cebu.

The Marion was expected to sail about July 11 for Kobe and thence to Chemulpo, relieving the Palos at that place. The Palos, on the Monocacy, would sail for Nagasaki. The Monocacy was undergoing repairs.

A KENTUCKY VENDETTA.

The Hall Faction in Danger From John A. Rose's Friends.

LOUISVILLE, July 29.—Reports just received from Clay City, Ky., where John A. Rose, a farmer, was shot from an early car last week, indicate that more than 100 men have gathered in Clay City to avenge the killing of Rose. He was the son-in-law of A. S. Hall, a year ago in a quarrel about Hall's mistreatment of his wife. The trial for this murder has been postponed several times. Hall has many friends and relatives. His brother, Abraham Hall, is county clerk. A band of these friends, it is thought, assassinated Rose.

Rose's friends now claim that the county government is under the control of their enemies and they cannot get justice. It is feared that they will seek revenge for Rose's murder by waylaying and killing some of the Hall crowd.

ONLY A FRAUD.

William Brodie Not a Desperado, But a Suiite.

LONDON, July 29.—William Brodie, the man who, while in a state bordering on delirious tremens, stated that he had committed the murders and mutilations of women in and about the Whitechapel district, was to-day discharged from custody, there being no evidence on which to hold him and physicians pronounced him sane.

He has been rearrested, however on a charge of fraud.

WILD RUMORS.

A Dynamite Plot Fanned—The Pope Threatened with Violence.

ROME, July 29.—The Vatican and the Quirinal are doubly guarded owing to the receipt of information of a plot to blow up the Quirinal palace.

It is rumored that the departure of the Pope will be forcibly resisted, and that government secret police watch the exits of the Vatican.

A Lull in the Haytian Conflict.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The state department has received advices from Hayti up to July 15, but they contain nothing new. Minister Thompson makes no allusion in his communication to the request of Legation that he (Thompson) use his good offices with Hypolite to bring about a cessation of hostilities, which he has declined to do. Legation either thinks Mr. Thompson declined to act, or that nothing came of his efforts with Hypolite.

Chicago Will Try to Get the Fair.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Mayor Cregier has made up his list of the committee of 100 citizens who are to use their endeavors to bring the world's fair to Chicago. The list comprises congressmen, ex-mayors, foreign consuls, government officials and the military.

Where Faith Abounds.

OLD ORCHARD, Me., July 30.—The Christian Alliance Convention of Divine Healing, in charge of Rev. A. B. Sampson, of New York, is holding a ten days' session on the camp ground. Prominent workers are at the convention from Boston, New York, Toronto and other cities.

A Boy Impaled on a Weather Vane.

ROCKFORD, N. Y., July 30.—An eight-year-old boy, named William, fell 30 feet from an apple tree at 103 Scole street and his body was impaled on the sharp point of a weather vane, which had been taken from a barn and was on the ground.

A SHIP-BUILDING SYNDICATE.

Ready to Purchase Britain's Docks on Vancouver Island.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—The recent arrival in this city of Theodore Cramp, of the Philadelphia ship-building firm, has resulted in much speculation as to his business on the coast.

With the manager of Spreckels Brothers' ship-building interests Mr. Cramp has left for the north. It is said that the gentlemen are to visit Esquimault yard, on Vancouver Island. It is rumored that the British government has too small for its purposes and is willing to sell.

Mr. Cramp is reported to have organized an eastern syndicate representing $4,000,000, which proposes to buy docks, as Cramp is certain it will be a paying investment. Rumor has it that the purchase price is about $1,000,000, and it is estimated that the plant will represent a value to the syndicate of $5,000,000 within the first two years. The syndicate is said to comprise such well-known firms as William Cramp & Son, of Philadelphia; Neale & Levy, Harlan & Hollingsworth, of Wilmington; Pusey & Jones, of Delaware River; the Union Iron works, of this city, and the Leaches.

DR. EARP'S FINANCES.

He Managed to Get From His Various Victims, $50,000.

DETROIT, Mich., July 30.—The retirement of Rev. Samuel Earp, to the Battle Creek sanitarium is the cause of much discussion here. The majority of the people believe he is insane, or at best, a monomaniac. Others believe that the revered gentleman has been guilty of gross wrong, and that his eccentricities were assumed solely to aid him in securing immunity when the exposure came.

Before leaving for Battle Creek Dr. Earp said to a reporter that it was nobody's business what he did with his money, but he explained that he had incurred heavily for his brother in Danville, Va., and that the brother's sudden death had shipped the responsibility upon his shoulders. Dr. Earp's brother died in Danville, insolvent, but investigation shows the estate owed the clergyman about $700, including all indebtedness. New victims are being discovered hourly, and it is probable the aggregate amount of Dr. Earp's peculiar acquisitions will reach $50,000.

DUBBED BRITISH NihilISTS.

Mr. Morley Causes a Sensation in the House of Commons.

LONDON, July 30.—In the house of commons Mr. Morley moved an amendment to the Royal Grant bill reciting that according to the opinions expressed by the Royal Grants commission no adequate reason is shown why the younger members of the royal family should be further provided for by the government.

Mr. Morley made an able speech demanding that a pledge be given against appropriations of the character indicated.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain replied in a bitter speech, vigorously attacking Mr. Morley and opposing his amendment. He said that the younger members of the royal family were Nihilists, and that the government should not be expected to support them.

British Authorities Tamper With a Letter of the President.

DUBLIN, July 30.—President Harrison has sent a letter to Lord Mayor Sexton in reply to the Dublin corporation's expression of sympathy for the sufferers by the Johnstown disaster. In it he says: "I highly appreciate the exceedingly kind spirit that prompted your action. Please accept the warmest thanks of the president and the American people for the touching expressions of sympathy and generous gifts of the citizens of Dublin."

Mr. Sexton states that the official envelope which the letter was inclosed bore plain traces of having been tampered with. The seal had been melted and the envelope refastened with another kind of gum, and the American crest on the envelope was defaced.

On the Eve of a Battle in Egypt.

LONDON, July 30.—News of a decisive engagement with the dervishes in Egypt is expected very soon, as the arrival of Col. Kitchener at the front with reinforcements will undoubtedly be the signal for aggressive operations on the part of the British and Egyptian troops.

ONE MILLION IS LOST.

That is the Amount of Damage Done in Chicago by the Storm.

MANY PEOPLE DESTITUTE.

A Relief Fund Started—The Injured Persons All Doing Well—Delaware Visited by Heavy Storms of Rain—The Town of Laurel Flooded—Fears of Another Dam Bursting.

CHICAGO, July 30.—One million dollars is a conservative estimate of the loss from damage done to property by wind, water and fire during the terrible storm which has visited this locality. The loss was heaviest in the southwestern portion of the city and suburbs, and is said to comprise such well-known firms as William Cramp & Son, of Philadelphia; Neale & Levy, Harlan & Hollingsworth, of Wilmington; Pusey & Jones, of Delaware River; the Union Iron works, of this city, and the Leaches.

The Inhabitants of the Inundated Districts.

The inhabitants of the inundated districts were mostly poor families, who owned their houses, which were destroyed, and many of these are now homeless as well as penniless. The poor unfortunates who rented houses in the pathway of the storm are in an even worse plight, and immediate relief is needed to keep them from starvation. These homeless ones have sent a vigorous letter to the mayor, complaining of the neglect of the authorities to remove the debris of the storm.

Many Narrow Escapes from Drowning.

Many narrow escapes from drowning were reported to the police. The living members of the Ferdinandus and the Book families, and the other unfortunates who were injured, are doing well at the hospital. The bereaved families are utterly destitute, being unable to pay for their funeral. The building inspectors examined the ruins of the Ferdinandus house where the horror occurred, and exonerated the contractor of the unfinished house which was blown away. The families in this district, the coroner's jury did likewise, and recommended an immediate change in the sewerage system of that part of the city. Relief has been started for the benefit of the suffering, homeless families.

Wilmington, Del., July 30.—Continued rains on the lower part of the Delaware-Maryland coast have culminated in a regular deluge, which has done thousands of dollars worth of damage.

Fields and orchards were inundated, and fences and bridges were swept away.

Several washouts occurred on the Delaware railroad, delaying both the north and south bound New York and Norfolk express trains about three hours. The town of Laurel was flooded to a depth of three feet of water stands in its streets. Fears are entertained that Adams' dam will burst and create a second Johnstown disaster, although the state has ordered the state to growing crops. Corn is ruined and the small estimate of the prospective peach crop is cut still lower by this storm. The state of Maryland, however, and the poor prospect for peaches brings many farmers in that section to the verge of ruin.

SABOTAGE, N. Y., July 30.—A wind and rain storm has deluged this region.

In about fifty minutes over one inch of half inches of rain fell, and the streets bore the appearance of small rivers. Considerable damage was done to telegraph and telephone wires by falling branches. Cells were flooded, and the lower sections of the village. Adjoining towns report heavy visitations from the same storm and also record numerous washouts, by reason of inundations and washouts.

NORTH WILBRAHAM, Mass., July 30.—A cyclone, followed almost immediately by a terrific rainstorm has visited this place, doing considerable damage to property.

Processes of Lead Pencil Manufacture.

"Why is it?" asked the scribe, as he looked timidly over the desk side at the big manufacturer, "when you first begin to sharpen a lead pencil, that the lead is so good and it sharpens so nicely, and as you get nearer the other end, or the rubber or metal tip, the lead gets worse and worse?"

"You only find that phenomenon in an ordinary grade, not in the best pencils," answered the big manufacturer, much more suavely than the scribe had expected he would. "To find out why it is, we use just how lead pencils are made. The wood of a pencil, you know, is cedar, the lead, as it is called, graphite. White wood is sometimes used, but only for inferior grades. In general, the quality of the wood can be determined very largely by its color. The redder the better quality; the more yellow, the poorer. The cedar is used for all from Florida—in slabs, each exactly a pencil's length and of six pencils' width. A machine makes six lengthwise grooves in each of the slabs, and in these grooves is the graphite laid. The grooved and graphitized slab is glued to the other end of the pencil, so that the line of joining cannot be seen. Now comes in the answer to your question. This combination of graphite and board must be cut into six pencil shapes. It can be done all at once, or in six separate cuttings. Mark the difference. If the machine of six saw blades is used, just after the middle is passed, the line of joining cannot be seen, already out to spring and bend to either side. Parts of the wood below are, in consequence, tightly compressed, and the graphite within softened or broken. With the single saw blade all this is avoided. Of course, using the single saw blade, the cost is much increased. And so in the high-priced pencils it is the lead the same all the way through.

"The shaping of the pencil, the making it round or hexagonal, is done at the same time the slabs are sawed into their parts. The better grades of pencils then go through an immense amount of smoothing and finishing. The varnish is then put on, the pencil being forced by machinery through fixed brushes wet with it. This particular process is repeated several times. The polishing thereafter is done mainly by hand."

So saying, the big manufacturer returned to his desk and correspondence.

A European Hair Mart.

The demand for false hair at the present day is very great. We can get some idea of the magnitude of the traffic from the fact that the hair merchants of London alone import five tons of hair annually, and that the Parisian dealers harvest upward of 200,000 pounds of hair a year. It is mostly black hair, and is collected in Brittany and the south of France. The market cannot be supplied simply by chance clippings; there must be more ample sources and regular seasons for obtaining the supply. There are itinerant dealers who purchase hair, paying for each head of hair from one to five francs, according to its weight and beauty, the weight ranging from eleven to sixteen ounces. The peasant girls are willing to part with their hair, and will accept silks, lace, cheap jewelry, etc., with which the traffickers are well supplied. The latter attend the fairs and merry-makings as the best place to ply their vocation, and the girls bring their hair to market, just as they would peas, cabbage, or other produce.

The girls stand in a ring waiting to be shorn, with their caps in their hands and their long hair combed out and hanging to their waists. The dealer, who is often a man, but sometimes a woman, ties up each crop of hair in a ring by itself and passes it into a large basket. The girls scruple at some of their vanity along with their hair, but it does not worry them long. They want the money, feel more comfortable, and the closing fitting caps they wear hide the loss. Then, too, will not the hair grow again?

A hair is washed and sorted in the wholesale houses, and sold to the hair workers at ten francs a pound. The retail dealer, in turn, obtains a good profit, knowing that if one customer refuse to pay it another will readily buy. Light hair is almost exclusively a German product. The dealers claim to be able to distinguish the nationality of hair, whether French or German, English or Irish, Scotch or Welsh. Nay, more, they assert that they can name the province in which the hair was gathered—even between two districts of Central France, though they may not be many in less than a mile. The difference is so very slight that the ordinary physiologist would not be able to detect it.

Her refusing to return caused the shooting.

She Tells Him the Secret.

An Editor's Experience.

Major Sidney Herbert, a well-known journalist in agricultural circles, writes April 18th, 1880: "Some five years ago I wrote a letter stating that Swift's Specific had cured me of severe rheumatism. Since that time I have had no return of the rheumatism, although frequently exposed to the influences that produced former attacks. Several of my friends had a similar experience, and are firm in their conviction that S. S. S. brought a permanent cure. The searching power of this medicine is shown in the fact that it developed a scrofulous taint that was conspicuous in my blood over thirty years ago, and has removed the last trace of it. I have also tested S. S. S. as a cure after a severe attack of malarial fever, which kept me in bed for three months, and am convinced that its curative and strengthening properties insured my recovery from that illness, as I was in a very low condition of health."
