A Very Sudden Death.
Peter McPharthen, familiarly known as Peter Burns, a resident of the Points, died on Monday afternoon after a short illness. The deceased was not in the best of health for some time but nothing serious was thought of it, and on Sunday he was around as usual. About 9 o'clock on Sunday evening he fell into a stupor. Dr. E. W. Rutter attended him with all the care that his skill could command, but without avail. His funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. The St. Patrick's Beneficial Society, of which he was a member, attended in a body. The remains were encased in a handsome black casket, the like of which was probably never seen before in Freeland. The young man was held in high esteem by all who knew him and leaves a wife and two children to mourn his death.
The Excursion Yesterday.
Yesterday will remain a red-letter day in the memory of those who accompanied the excursion of the Young Men's T. A. B. Society. Promptly at 9 a. m. eight cars pulled out from the Freeland station and arrived at the Glen one hour later. Shortly after thirteen cars from Pottsville and St. Clair arrived, followed by another large excursion from Shenandoah, completely filling the spacious grounds. The officials at the Glen stated that more people were there yesterday than they had ever seen before. The multitude enjoyed themselves with the various amusements and quite a number took a trip around the Switchback. The Freeland train arrived home at 10.15 p. m., and all seemed well pleased with their day's enjoyment. The next opportunity to take in the Glen will be Tuesday, August 29, when the Freeland Citizens' Hose Co. will run their annual excursion.

Council Meeting.

Council met in regular session Monday evening, with Messrs. Johnson, Bachman, McGettrick, Goepfert, Haggerty and Donop present. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved, as also the minutes of the special meeting held July 9. The following bills were read and ordered paid:
A. B. Hower, stones.....$ 6 00
Ponca Globe Gaslight Co..... 31 20
Thos. A. Buckley, making duplicate and printing order book and circulars..... 8 25
At this stage of the business ex-collector James Collins presented a list of exonerations amounting to $13.00, which he claimed could not be collected. After a discussion a motion was made and agreed to that the exonerations be allowed. Mr. Collins paid over to the treasurer the amount due him to the borough, $10.98, which settled his claim in full.
Burgess reported having collected from fines and lock-up fees the sum of $29.50; commission $13.00, leaving a balance of $16.50 due the borough which was turned over to the treasurer. The Burgess reported having had some of the policemen on special duty on July 4, but had not received the time from the chief of police. It was laid over until the next meeting.
The treasurer made the following report of receipts and expenditures from July 1 to August 5:
Balance on hand at last meeting.....$78 15
Received from Wm. Williamson, collector for 1888..... 50 00
Received from James Collins, collector 1887..... 10 08
Received from Burgess..... 16 50
Total receipts.....$154 73
Expenditures..... 371 25
Balance in treasury.....$56 78

The street commissioner's report for July was read. It amounted to $71.94 and was ordered paid. The council took up the sanitary condition of the borough and the nuisance on alley in rear of Halpin and Klines properties was ordered to be abated. The proposed ordinance increasing the license fee for concerts and theatrical companies from two to five dollars per night was taken up and read for the third time and passed.
The street commissioner reported that he had done nothing towards purchasing lumber for sidewalks, and that several parties on Ridge Street had already complied with the law, but that others would not. He also stated that property owners were not inclined to comply with the notices sent out three months ago, and asked for instructions as to how he should proceed. The matter was laid over for the present.
The question of cattle running at large in the streets of the borough was taken up, and High Constable Rinker stated that he could not get dogs to travel over the board walk from Front Street to the rear, and requested that some provision be made to have an opening made in the rear. A committee of two, consisting of A. A. Bachman and A. Goepfert, were appointed to make the necessary alterations and secure from John M. Powell the use of ground for that purpose. Mr. Rinker volunteered to do the work gratis. The Burgess was instructed to have notices issued calling upon all owners of dogs to have them muzzled when running at large in the borough, when in his judgment the same may be necessary. Council adjourned to meet Monday evening, September 2.

An Affecting Death Bed Scene.
Monday afternoon John Kuehnhold, aged 28 years, residing at Hazelton, was run over at Tomblicken while making a flying switch and had both legs and one arm terribly injured. He was conveyed to his home in Hazelton and physicians were summoned. It was seen at once that there was no hope for the young man's life. He called Dr. Casselberry and asked him to tell him whether there was any chance for his life. The doctor replied that there was none and the sufferer never showed any signs of fear for the approaching end. There was not a dry eye in the room as he called his wife to the bedside. Throwing his arms around her, he kissed her, and did the same to his little child and then laid back to await the end. Rev. Aszman was present and gave consolation to the dying man who passed calmly away a few minutes later.

Beware of the Slippery Gypsies.
Peter A. Connolly of Ashley came to town Monday morning armed with a warrant which he placed in the hands of Constable Quigley for the arrest of one Wm. Bates, a traveling gypsy, who sometime last week sold a horse to him and guaranteed the animal to be sound in every respect. Upon trial the horse proved to be balky and defective in other respects. Rather than face the music before Justice Thomas of Ashley Bates agreed to return the purchase money upon condition that the animal was brought here and to be in the same condition as when sold to Connolly. Later on a compromise was effected whereby Elisha Bates, a brother of the prisoner, agreed to purchase the animal at a reduction of fifteen dollars on the original price, and as a guarantee of good faith deposited the money in the hands of Squire Buckley until the horse could be brought here. Tuesday morning Connolly arrived with the horse and upon examination the gypsies declared the horse lame and wanted their money returned. The threatened re-arrest of Billyson brought them to terms, but not until Connolly agreed to give them the blanket with which he rode the horse from home. Connolly returned home by rail on Tuesday evening a trifle poorer, but a great deal wiser than before he bought the horse.

R. Co. The consideration of the latter is $100,000. These deeds are also recorded in Carbon, Monroe and Pike Counties, through which the proposed road is to be built.

Evicted on Sunday.
Saturday morning the wife of Barney Conhlin, who resided at 88 Lincoln Street, Wilkes-Barre, applied to Poor Director Marx Long for relief and told a pitiful tale. She stated that her husband had gone to Philadelphia some time ago to look for work. On August 7 a month's rent, $12, was due, and she was not able to pay it. Thereupon the landlord issued a landlord's warrant and on Sunday morning the constable came there, levied on all the household furniture and effects, and sold the whole lot for $7. Everything in the house was taken away and the wife and her little child were left without even a chair to sit upon or a bed to lie on. They were in absolute destitution, without any means whatever, and having no friends who could render them any assistance, the poor woman was compelled to apply for help to the poor authorities. Mr. Long relieved her immediate necessities, and made provisions for her until her husband can be heard from.

Freeland Defeated by York.
The game on Sunday between the York club of the Middle States League and Freeland was witnessed by nearly nineteen hundred spectators, who saw the professionals held down to two runs until the seventh inning. York holds the position of third place in the league and has been strengthened considerably during the past few weeks by several new players. Four of those, namely, Hovetter, center field; Hutchinson, second base; Hudson, pitcher; and Armstrong, catcher, were transferred from the Delaware State League, where they had in their respective positions. The remaining portions of the club were filled by Gittinger, right field; Sterling, short; Young, third; Jasper, first; and Gill, late of St. Louis, left field. Freeland was composed as follows: Welsh, pitcher; Simmons, catcher; Carr, short; McGeevan, first; Bray, second; McGarvey, third; Moran, left; McGeedy, center, and Ward, right. Promptly at 3 o'clock umpire Shoenlin called the game and Freeland went to the bat. This was the home team's great inning and three runs came in, owing to Hudson's erratic pitching and a wild throw to second. A wild throw in the third by McGarvey gave York their first run and a fumble by Carr in the sixth gave them another. The seventh opened with the score 3-2 in favor of Freeland and ended 4-3 in favor of York. The cause of this is hard to explain, but when fate decides that Freeland is to be beaten some player comes to her assistance and does it in the seventh. In the beginning Hudson was extremely wild while Welsh was in perfect condition. Toward the latter part of the game this order of things was slightly reversed, Hudson becoming steadier in every inning and obtaining better control of the ball. Ten strike outs are credited to Hudson and five to Welsh. Simmons found the ball for a single once and was the only Freeland batter that succeeded in doing so. Four hits were made by York, with a total of seven bases, but they were scattered too much to prove of any account, and not an earned run was made of either pitcher. Piffing of bases was not indulged in to any extent, each club having only one stolen base to their credit. The score by innings was:
Freeland.....3 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—3
York.....0 0 1 0 0 1 2 0 x—4

Another Railroad Bound to Come.

The talk of the past few months of another railroad being built to tap the anthracite coal regions promises to find by now a more being built to reality. The Philadelphia Inquirer on Monday contained the following article relating to this subject, which may prove important to the people of Freeland, through which the new line will pass:
A new railroad through the anthracite coal regions is projected, and it backed by men of so much wealth and business experience that its construction is regarded as certain. It will be an independent line, about fifty miles in length, and will be a competitor with the Lehigh Valley Railroad for a considerable amount of tonnage. Indeed, a business of 300,000 tons of anthracite coal annually is said to have been guaranteed the road by individual operators along the line, chief among whom is the firm of Coxo Bros. & Co.
The project of a man in the new enterprise is Herman Clark, a New York contractor, whose name is connected with the new aqueduct now being built for that city. Mr. Clark is a contractor and bridge builder by profession, and he hopes to make a considerable profit out of that construction of the road. A great opportunity of this, however, he expects to secure a good investment. Working hand in hand with him is Eckley B. Coxo, who wants a new railroad from his mines to market. Others who are associated with these gentlemen make up one of the strongest combinations that has been formed in the anthracite region for many years.
The road is to extend from Tomblicken on the Philadelphia and Erie's Wilkes-Barre branch to Portland on the Delaware River, where it will join the line of the Pennsylvania, Lehigh and Eastern R. R. Co. It is, of course, to reach the New England market over the Poughkeepsie bridge. The line will be about fifty miles long, as before stated, and will be an expensive one to build. A number of streams will be crossed, necessitating the construction of bridges, and in one particular objection in the eyes of Mr. Clark, who expects to furnish the bridge work. The grading will also be expensive. Altogether it is calculated the construction work will cost at least $5,000,000 per mile or about $1,500,000 for the whole road, and the equipment and other necessities will swell the cost to a figure considerably greater. At least $2,000,000 is thought necessary to build and equip the road and put it in first class condition for operating.

PARALLELING LEHIGH VALLEY.
The new road will parallel an important branch of the Lehigh Valley, among which are situated a large number of collieries belonging to individual operators. Coxo Bros. & Co. have no less than eight collieries which can be easily reached, and other operators in this district are Kemmerer & Co., Markle & Co., Pardee & Co., Edwards Coal Company, Stout Coal Company, S. W. Co. and J. C. Hayden & Co. Some of these are tied up to the Lehigh Valley Company by investments in railroad stock or by contract, but it is understood that the others are glad to see a new line in the region which will give them more than one outlet to market. The new line, however, has the great load of their New England tonnage over this new line is said to be definitely agreed upon.
Coxo Bros. & Co., who are active in the scheme, have lately been a thorn in the side of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. The officials of the railroad company have endeavored to force the route of the new line, which are not understood, and the firm is making things unpleasant for the railroad company. First a suit was brought against the company before the Interstate Commerce Commission, which is as yet undecided, and it has caused all the coal companies to hold their breath. Then several new lines have been projected into the Lehigh Valley's territory, all stimulated by encouragement from Coxo Bros., and the prospects of securing their coal business. The Reading is now building a branch to Drifton, and Coxo Bros. have the great deal of it is authoritatively announced that the firm has pledged itself to send a large amount of business over the Reading lines. The New Jersey Colliery at Onondia, which will be one of the largest in the region. Now comes along this new scheme which will do a great deal of New England business. The firm produces 1,500,000 tons of coal a year, and when the projected lines are finished it will be able to reach every market in the country without shipping a pound of coal over the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

IMPORTANCE OF THE ROAD.
As a factor in the anthracite coal trade the new line will be of great importance. It will be the shortest route from the Beaver Meadow section of the Lehigh Valley to the Poughkeepsie bridge. It is considered possible that the Pennsylvania Railroad may use the line for the tonnage of its Nanticoke and Wilkes-Barre collieries destined to the Eastern New England market, and there is a chance that some of the business which is now done by the Philadelphia and Erie will be done that way. It is intended, however, as an anthracite coal road and any other business that may come to it will be regarded as so much additional traffic.

A Borough Council Arrested.
The Burgess and members of the borough council of Edwinstown were arrested on Friday and brought before Alderman Donohue of Wilkes-Barre on complaint of the High Constable of Edwinstown, William P. The P. O. charge against them is maintaining a nuisance, the nuisance being a pool of standing and stagnant water. Davis being sworn testified to the existence of the nuisance and to the fact that he had notified the Burgess and come to have it abated, but they have neglected to do so. The alderman held them all in $500 each to stand trial at the next term of Quarter Sessions and in order that they might be no backing out put the prosecutor under $300 bail to appear and prosecute.

N. T. A. 135 to Meet in Wilkes-Barre.
Master Workman Rae and Secretary Waterhouse announced that the fourth annual session of the National Trade Union Laborers' National Trade Assembly No. 135, Knights of Labor, will meet at Wilkes-Barre on Wednesday, September 18. All divisions will take notice and elect delegates, as this session promises to be one of the most important of any group of Assemblies, not yet organized into a division, but desiring to form one, may send a representative and the same will be accorded full privileges. The name of the place of meeting and hotel arrangements will be announced later.

Festivities This Month.
Ball for the benefit of the defense fund of Father McFadden, Gweedore, Ireland, at the Opera House, Friday evening, August 16.
Picnic of the Jeddo base ball club at Jeddo, Saturday, August 17.
Excursion of Freeland Citizens' Hose Co. to Glen Onoko, Tuesday, August 20.

BASE BALL.

—Eleven won and six lost.
—Summit Hill and Jeddo play at the picnic of the latter club on the 17th inst.
—At Catastagna Saturday Leighton was defeated by the home team. Score, 5-3.
—The Norwalk (Conn.) club of the Middle States League may play here on Sunday.
—Challenges from the Weatherly and Coal Dale clubs for the Tigers have been received at this office.
—Chris. Fulmer, recently released by Baltimore, has signed as captain and manager of Shenandoah.
—Norristown, of the Middle States League, is beginning to waver and will probably drop out. Can Freeland fill the vacancy?
—A trip through the lower portion of Carbon County by a representative of the Tribune yesterday afternoon found base ball boiling hot.
—Irwin and Beecher, late of Wilkes-Barre, are playing excellent ball for Washington. They have strengthened the tail-enders wonderfully.
—The leaders of the National League and American Association are in close quarters. New York is only ten points behind Boston and eight points separate Brooklyn and St. Louis.
—The Clippers of Newtown and Rosebuds of Ashley played for $25 a side at Wilkes-Barre Saturday afternoon, the Clippers winning by a score of 7-3. Kane threw for the Rosebuds.
—Hazelton has lost twelve of the sixteen games played. If Freeland couldn't do that much we would advise them to disband. Hazelton should step down and make room for a club that can play ball.
—Catastagna has a record of twelve won and none lost. With such an excellent record they should not be afraid to meet Freeland. A game between those clubs would prove unusually interesting.

—The six games in which Freeland was defeated this year were all lost in the seventh inning. This inning has come to be regarded as Freeland's "fatal." Six inning games would be sure victories every time.
—The Freeland club is playing nearly every Sunday and seem to think they are doing the right thing. How about those who attend these Sunday games? Do they get anything out of it? Do they get their money's worth and what more could anyone ask.
—The Middle States is the only league of any importance that is not playing under the national agreement, and this gives its players the privilege of jumping their contracts when they please. The sooner this league get under cover the better, and then when a good player is secured they can hold him.

—The Brooklyn-St. Louis game at Ridgewood Park, Brooklyn, was witnessed on Sunday afternoon by an audience of 16,974. Brooklyn is known as the "City of Churches." Freeland's attendance at Sunday games average about 1600, and Freeland and vicinity has fifteen churches. "Quest, isn't it?"
—A Summit Hill yesterday afternoon the Shenandoah amateur and Summit Hill clubs crossed bats and played one of the finest games of the season. Shenandoah had Keenan and Heffernon in the points, while Gormley and Christian were the battery of the home team. The innings were played out, and each club had succeeded in making two hits but no runs, when they mutually agreed to call it a draw. The battery work of both clubs was very good.

Weekly Coal Report.
The anthracite coal sales agents met at New York last week, and, after comparing notes on the condition of the coal trade in general, they wisely resolved to leave well enough alone, and, consequently, did not make any advance in the circular prices, which it was thought they would do. The question will be taken up again on August 14, when it is expected an advance of from 10 to 25 cents per ton will be made, the new prices to take effect on September 1. The demand for coal, while limited, is improving, and the production of coal continues large, though for the past two weeks the output has been somewhat restricted by the flooding of a number of important mines in the Lehigh and Schuylkill regions.
The retail coal dealers of Philadelphia are experiencing much inconvenience and annoyance caused by the inability or disinclination of one or two large individuals firms of anthracite coal operators to fulfill their contracts for the sale of blocks of 1000 tons of coal made in May for delivery by July 31, at cut prices. The retailers who entered into such contracts with the operators and shippers, in turn, taking advantage of the low prices at which they agreed to purchase the coal, made engagements to fill the orders of their regular customers for their fall and winter supplies of coal during the dull summer months, being glad of the opportunity to furnish the excellent quality of coal sold them by the individual firms referred to at the concession in prices made by themselves. The scarcity of cars and the heavy movement of iron ore on the North Pennsylvania Railroad and the Lehigh Valley Railroad has been a source of inconvenience for a week or two past, an embargo having been put on shipments of Lehigh coal to the line and city trade which was lifted on last Friday. Some retailers are of the opinion that more coal was sold on the special contracts than the operators have been able to mine, and, having oversold their output and being unable to fill their orders, the shippers now want to cancel their contracts and compel the retail dealers to pay the current price for anthracite if they want the special orders supplied. The retail dealers having contracted to sell the coal they agreed to buy at the cut prices are now in a quandary, as they say they will have to supply the coal sold to their patrons at the prices agreed upon. What the outcome will be remains to be seen.
The total amount of anthracite coal sent to market for the week ending July 27, as reported by the several carrying companies, was 880,069 tons, compared with 878,297 tons in the corresponding week last year, an increase of 1772 tons. The total amount of an-
