The company is in good condition, both financially and financially, yet a better attendance at the meetings would be of much benefit to all. The meeting adjourned after expressing a desire that a full attendance of all the active members be present at the next meeting.

Meeting of the Game Club.

At a regular meeting of the Freeland Game and Fish Protective Club, held at the store of Hugh Malloy on Tuesday evening, the following business was transacted, with President May in the chair. Roll-call of officers, all present; minutes of previous meeting read and approved. Committee on protection reported having hired one watchman on October 15. Watched one day at Scale Siding, one at Tannery, two in the Oley Valley and Braderville and two at Mt. Yager. On Sunday, October 13, four watchmen were on the hunting grounds, and on Sunday, October 20, there were one at each of the following places: Hilderbrands, Mt. Yager, Braderville and Tannery. The president called the attention of the club to certain reports in regard to hunters purchasing ferrets to be used this coming season in hunting rabbits. Political Freedom for Workingmen.

Under the head of "Political Freedom" Mr. T. Hayes of Dickinson City, Lackawanna County, has an able, well-written and lengthy article in the last issue of the Journal of United Labor. Mr. Hayes was formerly a resident of Drifton, where he was discharged, along with six other miners, fourteen months ago, for daring to assert his manhood and ask for the enforcement of the mine ventilation law. He is an intrepid writer upon economic and labor subjects and can always be found in the fore of any movement that will assist the working classes. Under the nom de plume of "Spread the Light" Mr. Hayes was a frequent contributor to the columns of the TRIBUNE before his removal.

Killed at Eckley.

John Steinhiser, aged 20 years, died at Eckley last Thursday evening, the result of an attempt to board a moving train. The young man was employed as stationary engineer at No. 10, and in attempting to mount the cars to ride home he made a misstep and caught under the wheels, which passed over his right leg and took it off. An attempt was made to remove him to the Drifton hospital and he died while on the way.

Special Terms of Court.

Owing to the large number of criminal cases to be disposed of and the insufficient time to try them in, Judge Rice has ordered that there be two terms of special quarter sessions held in December, the first to begin on the 2nd and the other on the 16th. Judge Rhone has also ordered a special term of orphans' court, to begin on Monday, November 11, and last one week.

Making Tracks for Philadelphia.

The Lehigh Valley surveyors have run from four to six lines from points between Bethlehem and Easton to Philadelphia. All of them are east of the North Penn. Road, and one of them reaches near Germantown Junction. Another has so far reached a point not far from Bustleton. Still another terminates for the present near Holmesburg Junction, and the stakes of another survey have been driven as far east towards the Delaware River as Tullytown, a station on the New York division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, a few miles north of Bristol. By any of the routes the company would have to build about 50 or 60 miles of railroad.

Gowen as a Labor Advisor.

A new labor union, which will comprise all the miners of the anthracite region, has been started at Pitston. It is proposed to organize a labor exchange, similar to the coal exchange, and when difficulties arise both parties can meet and discuss. The exchange will be composed of three officers; a general superintendent, general secretary and grand advisor. Franklin B. Gowen is named for the latter place, with a salary of ten thousand dollars a year. The union will also nominate legislative candidates to be voted for in 1890. The most unique thing about this union is the proposition to make Gowen its advisor. How a man, who from the top of his head to the sole of his foot and in every drop of his blood is a corporation lover, and whose career in this county at least was one long and bitter struggle to crush labor unions, can be found acceptable in any position of such a union is an enigma that we can't solve. If the new union with a Gowen attachment takes a hold among Schuylkill miners then we shall be prepared to hail the dawn of the millennium.—Shenandoah Sentinel.

THE CASE OF FATHER BOYLE.

Another Appeal Made to His Friends for Funds to Assist Him in Obtaining a New Trial.—Letter From the Priest's Counsel.

EDITOR TRIBUNE.—In a previous issue of your paper you kindly called public attention to the case of Father Boyle, now under sentence of death in Raleigh, N. C., and your notice was the means of bringing some substantial aid for his defense. I may mention here that on the day of your issue Mr. Joseph Neuberger handed me his check for a very respectable amount to aid to defend Father Boyle and several Protestant gentlemen also contributed very liberally. Since then I received from Col. T. C. Fuller, the leading counsel for Father Boyle, the following letter:
RALEIGH, N. C., October 6, 1889.
JOHN D. HAYES, ESQ.—
DEAR SIR.—In sorrow and sadness I have to inform you that last night at 11:15 o'clock the jury returned a verdict of guilty against Father Boyle, and he was sentenced to be hanged on the 28th of November. We have appealed to the Supreme Court, which is our court of last resort, and we think we have some prospect of getting a new trial. I send you by to-day's mail four newspapers which together contain a tolerably full and accurate report of the evidence.
As I feared we were compelled to take a jury from the country, not one man from the town could we secure. The jury was composed of plain honest citizens without an educated man among them a verdict of guilty was returned here in North Carolina usually accords fully with the belief that the Catholic Church and its priests are almost, if not completely, the sum of all villainies; and hence my fears as forementioned in my last letter to you have been realized.
Raleigh has a population of about thirteen thousand, which is about one-fifth of the number of inhabitants of the county of Wake. After the evidence was in at least five-sixths, I should say, of the people of Raleigh became convinced that the prisoner was not guilty; hence you will observe, from the report of the proceedings last night, Father Boyle was several times loudly applauded by the great throng which filled the court house. If we succeed in getting a new trial I shall feel quite confident that next time we can secure a verdict of acquittal. If we fail to get a new trial, I believe that the men and the women of Raleigh will present such a petition to the Governor as will secure a pardon, or at least a commutation.
I assure you again that Father Boyle's counsel, without any abatement of zeal, will save his life if it is possible to do so. Sincerely, your friend,
T. C. FULLER.

I have carefully read all the papers in connection with this case. The Polanders are not only that Father Boyle is innocent of the offense charged, but that he did not receive anything like a fair trial. His counsel did all that men could do; but with the terrible prejudice against him and his counsel, and it is possible there will be more bloodshed.

Base Ball Player Killed.

James McCarrick, a young man residing at Newtown, met with a horrible death on the Central Railroad Saturday night. About 10 o'clock in the evening he was in a saloon at Ashley, and while there a fight arose in which he took part. He was worsted and was thrown out on the street. He wandered on the railroad track, and, probably becoming exhausted, laid down to sleep. About midnight an empty engine came along and ran over him. The engineer noticed that the trucks of the tender were dragging and he stopped the locomotive to investigate. McCarrick's mangled remains were found tied up in the wheels. Both legs were cut off. The unfortunate man lived about an hour after the accident. He was a single man and had gained quite a reputation as a ball player, being a member of the Sugar Notch club. He played with that club at the Freeland park on July 7, and his work as catcher did much to win the game.

Whetstone Back to the Coal Regions.

An attorney for several New York and Philadelphia capitalists has purchased a controlling interest in the Mine Workers' Publishing Company of Pottsville, and the present business and editorial management will shortly be succeeded by new men, at the head of whom will be a well-known Philadelphia newspaper writer, none other than the late Claude G. Whetstone, formerly of Drifton, whose rapid rise in journalistic circles has often been noted, will assume the position of manager.

Working the "Duplicate" Trick.

The board of mine examiners of the Pitston district has discovered a new scheme on the part of foreign laborers to evade the laws regarding certificates. One of the new men who has secured a certificate entitling him to work hands his paper over to a fellow countryman, who has been less fortunate. The latter secures employment on the strength of his companion's certificate, while the other appears before the board, and upon the plea that his certificate has been lost or stolen, secures a duplicate. Such a case came before the board last week the applicant being an employe at the Keystone colliery. The man was refused a duplicate certificate, the board having good grounds to believe that the method above described had been used to deceive the examiners.

DEATHS.

SWEENEY.—At Freeland, October 19, Denis, infant son of Patrick and Ellen Sweeney. Interred at St. Ann's on Monday.
The next convocation of the Knights of Malta, who were in session at Wilkes-Barre last week, will be held in Williamsport.

Trouble About a Polish Church.

Trouble has been brewing in the Polish Church at Plymouth for some time past. The congregation is the largest of the Polish nationality in the coal regions, and there are two factions in the church—the Poles proper and the Lithuanians. Two months ago Bishop O'Hara removed Father Wagnier, who is a Lithuanian. The Polish faction wanted a Polish priest as his successor, but the bishop appointed Father Burba of Hazleton, a Lithuanian.

The poles took possession of the parochial residence, and when Father Burba went to Plymouth he was warned that if he entered the church it would be at the risk of his life. Bishop O'Hara sent disinterested parties to talk with the Poles, but all to no purpose. Early Tuesday morning the bishop went to Plymouth and told Father Mack, assistant at St. Vincent's Church, to go to the Polish Church residence and demand admittance in the name of the bishop.

When Father Mack called at the house he was warned by the inmates to leave. Upon the advice of the bishop he went before Judge Martin and had a warrant issued for the arrest of the poles in the house. When three constables reached the house the inmates pulled their guns and ordered them away. A large crowd had collected, and while the Poles had their eyes on the people in front of the house, the constables broke open a rear door and surprised three Poles who were in the dining-room. They were disarmed and taken to the lock-up, followed by a large crowd.

While the police were on their way to the parsonage for the second time a large crowd gathered around the lock-up. The Poles, under the lead of Martin Wilkes, tried to release the prisoners. When they reached the lock-up Constable Michael Melvin was on guard. Wilkes ran up to him and said: "What are you doing here? Let me go. Melvin could reply Wilkes caught him by the back of the neck, threw him off the steps and when he was prostrated on the ground jumped upon him. "I kill you," Wilkes exclaimed. And he would have done so had not a young man named Griffiths interfered. He picked up Melvin's revolver, which had fallen from his pocket, and ordered the Polanders to fall back. Melvin was taken home on a stretcher. It was found that his left leg was broken below the knee and several ribs cut in the chest. His wounds are serious but not necessarily fatal. Wilkes and a number of other Polanders were arrested and placed in the lock-up.

The excitement over the affair still continues. There are six Polanders in possession with a large stock of arms and ammunition. They announced yesterday that the building would be held at all hazards. Another attempt to enter will be made this afternoon by the sheriff and county sheriff, and it is possible there will be more bloodshed.

Alley Ball at Mountain Park.

The alley ball match at Mountain Park Monday morning for the double championship of Luzerne and Lackawanna Counties and a purse of $500 was an interesting and exciting contest and resulted in a victory for the Luzerne champions. The Luzerne players were Thomas Dullard and John Callaghan of Wilkes-Barre, while the Lackawanna representatives were John Rickerby and Hugh Kelly of Old Forge.
The game was opened very shortly after 11 o'clock. The Lackawanna men won the toss and took first innings. They scored three. The Luzerne boys showed superior play from the start making four runs in the first inning, a brilliant game and for the first half of the game drew steadily ahead. On the fifteenth innings the score stood 10 to 9 in favor of Luzerne. Interest ran high and the Luzerne men were full of enthusiasm and bet all they could get on their men.

But with the opening of the second half the score began to change. The Lackawanna boys got into better form and played well together and in splendid style. They steadily closed up the gap and when at the close of the 24th inning the score stood 24 to 23 in favor of Lackawanna, the spectators grew wild with excitement and betting ran high. But the Luzerne boys pulled themselves together and fought manfully, playing with marked skill and strategy. At the 29th innings they were one ahead and when the game closed on the 31st inning the score stood 41 to 34 in favor of Dullard and Callaghan.

Just after the close of the game a dispute arose between Dullard and the well-known sprinter, and some men from the West Side, who were witnessing the game. The West Side men claimed that Cannon had wagered some of the stake money, which they said, he had no right to. The quarrel ended in a fight in which Cannon was badly hurt. He was knocked down and kicked. One kick inflicted by a man named O'Brien from Luzerne Borough struck him on the eye, cutting a terrible gash and drawing the eye partly out of the socket. Cannon was taken to Wilkes-Barre, where Dr. O'Malley replaced the eye and sewed up the wound. Last evening Cannon was totally unable to see with either eye, and it is greatly feared by the doctor that he will become permanently blind in the injured eye, though the other will be all right in a short time.

Weekly Coal Report.

The anthracite coal trade has not changed in any material feature since our last report. The restriction of production continues, the tonnage statements of the several anthracite carrying roads showing a decreased output of over two and one-quarter million tons for this year to the 12th instant compared with last year to the corresponding date. It is not at all probable that the output this year will be within 3,000,000 tons of the figure attained to in the year 1888—but we should not forget that the output in that year was phenomenal. The New England markets are now well supplied with coal, but they will require consider-

STATE NEWS.

—The Hazleton borough school board has passed a resolution prohibiting the use of the school rooms for election purposes.

—William H. Bartholomew was convicted of murder in the first degree in Easton, on Tuesday, for the killing of Aaron W. Dillard.

—Peter Baranowski was hanged at Pottsville yesterday morning for the murder of Mrs. Puttavitich and Agnes Katch in May, 1888.

—Andrew Harscher, a miner, was killed by a fall of coal Tuesday in Mount Pleasant, and his laborer, John Ignatz, was seriously injured.

—Judge Rice has ordered that there be 1700 names placed in the jury wheel in 1890. This will be the largest number ever put in the wheel in this county.

—Michael McPhillips was killed yesterday at Hazleton by being struck by the crank on a fly-wheel of an engine, and Adolph Jakh was killed by a fall of top rock in a mine.

—The Debating Society of Fredericksburg, Berks County, has come to the conclusion that "a cross and clean woman does not make a better wife than a dirty and a good-natured one."

—Sheriff Robinson of Lackawanna County offers a reward of $75 at Plymouth on Tuesday that Steadman and McClinton would have not less than $500 money. He could not get any takers for the bet.

—Edward P. Darling, a prominent attorney, died at his home in Wilkes-Barre, on Saturday. He was executor and trustee of many large estates and was connected with several banking institutions.

—The position of mail agent between Hazleton and Easton must be anything but a sinecure. Since the Democratic incumbent was removed some months ago there has been three different appointments and as many resignations. H. C. Brown of Rohrsburg tackled the job last week.

—As Thomas Brennan, aged 14 years, who lives at Sturmerville, near Wilkes-Barre, was returning home from a store Saturday night, several Hungarians who were passing opened fire upon him. A bullet entered his abdomen, and he now lies at the point of death. The Hungarians were arrested.

—Ottavio Javani, an Italian boarding master, was found dead near his home at Mount Carmel, Monday morning. On Sunday he quarreled with John Mercana, one of his boarders, of whom he was jealous. As both Mercana and Javani's wife have disappeared, foul play is suspected.

—The Polish Alliance of Wilkes-Barre, composed of the prominent Polish citizens of that city, passed a resolution last week to keep out of politics as a society. This was done to check the annual movement of the Republicans, who have heretofore used certain influences to capture the vote of the Poles of this county.

—The Lehigh Valley is said to be pleased with their new style of dirt-throwing engines. Three have been in use now for some time about Mahanoy City and Delano as "shiflers" and whilst not speedy they pull big loads. Two more are under construction at Delano and it is likely that all freight locomotives in the future will be of that class.

—While a train of cars was being pulled up at the Ashley planes on Tuesday the man whose duty it was to give the signal to stop forgot to do so, and the force with which they came against the second plane broke the rope, and they started down at a terrific rate, crashing into a truck on which were three men—W. H. Adams, John Roat and Hugh Ferguson. Adams and Roat were badly injured.

—A test was made on the Jersey Central on Monday of the Kirwan Electrical Station Indicator between Wilkes-Barre and New York. The experiment was a decided success, and all through trains between Scranton and New York will be equipped with the new apparatus by next Monday. The system was invented by Dr. Kirwin of Wilkes-Barre, and consists of an endless canvass upon which the names of the stations are printed. The name of each station appears in full view of the passengers before the train reaches the place.

—The United Labor League of Philadelphia, which embraces over 70,000 working people, passed a resolution Tuesday evening asking all organized labor in Pennsylvania to vote and work against Henry K. Boyer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, on the ground that he had voted against the Australian ballot measure, which was introduced and defeated at the last session of the legislature. This action was taken upon the report of Secretary Barrett that a letter had been written extorting Boyer asking for his reasons for so voting, and that, although sufficient time had elapsed for a reply, none had yet been received.

I find Ideal Tooth Powder is without exception the best I have ever used. With its aid I keep my teeth very clean and white, which I was unable to do with any other powder I have ever tried before. So says Ferdinand E. Chartard, Baltimore, Md.

By the way, will you buy and use Ideal Tooth Powder? or can you thoroughly recommend it? H. E. Nichols, Dentist, St. Helena, Kansas, says, Ideal Tooth Powder is in my estimation, just what its name indicates. An engraving 20 x 24 is given with each two bottles. Price 25 cents per bottle.

The anthracite coal trade has not changed in any material feature since our last report. The restriction of production continues, the tonnage statements of the several anthracite carrying roads showing a decreased output of over two and one-quarter million tons for this year to the 12th instant compared with last year to the corresponding date. It is not at all probable that the output this year will be within 3,000,000 tons of the figure attained to in the year 1888—but we should not forget that the output in that year was phenomenal. The New England markets are now well supplied with coal, but they will require considerable more before tidewater navigation closes. The demand for vessels to carry coal Eastward is good, while vessels are scarce, and, in consequence, the freight rates have been again advanced. There is still a good demand for coal from the West, both for shipment via lake and rail and all rail routes, and this is likely to continue for several weeks yet, until lake navigation closes for the season. A large part of the anthracite which was stored at the receiving ports on the great lakes early in the season has already been distributed throughout the West, and this has enabled the shippers to forward more coal. It is the opinion of a number of the most experienced operators and shippers that from now on until the end of the year the anthracite trade will continue fairly active and in a healthy state.

The total amount of anthracite coal sent to market for the week ending October 12, as reported by the several carrying companies, was 763,896 tons, compared with 854,460 tons in the corresponding week last year, a decrease of 90,564 tons. The total amount of anthracite mined thus far in the year 1889 was 26,947,567 tons, compared with 29,243,729 tons for the same period last year, a decrease of 2,296,162 tons.—Ledger.

Either of the following engravings, "Evangeline," "Bayard," "Monarch of the Glen" or "The First Step," without advertisement, is now being used by the makers of Ideal Tooth Powder. These are not cheap lithographs, but works of art. A. D. Bowman, Dentist, Nicholia, Idaho, says, I am using your Ideal Tooth Powder, and find it superior to all others.

The engraving "Evangeline" arrived safely on the 19th of December, making it seem like a Christmas gift. Trusting that Ideal Tooth Powder may flourish, I remain, yours respectfully, Elois Earnings, Denver, Col. One of these engravings without advertising on it worth $1 retail is given with each 25 cent bottles of Ideal Tooth Powder.
