While it is known by everybody that McKinley will be renominated by the Republican national convention to be held in Philadelphia during the week of the 18th, interest is no less high on that account. It is admitted that the convention will be among the greatest in history on account of the importance of its results. Every one will therefore be anxious for a souvenir of the gathering. Appreciating this the Philadelphia Press has arranged to give free with every copy next Sunday a novel and attractive convention souvenir. On a ground 10 1/2 by 28 inches is printed a handsome picture of the convention hall, and in the panels appear the force of the leading Republicans who will be prominent in the work of the convention.

Death of John Toomey.

John Toomey, a well known resident of town, breathed his last on Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock at his home on South Centre street. The deceased had been ill for several months past. He was aged 85 years, many of which were spent in this section. Mr. Toomey was a man who possessed a large number of friends and acquaintances. He is survived by three sons and two daughters, as follows: William and Frank, Freeland; Daniel, Philadelphia; Mrs. Mary Brennan, Freeland, and Mrs. Kate Cronin, New York city.

The funeral will leave his late residence at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and proceed to St. Ann's church, where a requiem mass will be read, after which the cortege will proceed to Laurystown Catholic cemetery, where the interment will be made.

New Building Dedicated.

The Young Men's Christian Association building on East Front street, near Pine, was dedicated on Tuesday evening. The exercises included an address by State Secretary S. M. Baird, who delivered an interesting talk on the association, its works, objects and the good it has done throughout the nation. The progress of the Y. M. C. A. movement in Freeland was traced by Secretary E. W. Tuttle. Prayers and scriptural reading by Rev. W. W. Hartman and Rev. Frank Marshall, followed by singing by the Park M. E. church choir, concluded the program.

The building was erected by the local Y. M. C. A. and is especially adapted for its purposes. The association has a large membership in Freeland, and its promoters are working hard to increase it.

Taken to Wilkes-Barre Jail.

Joseph Warsosky, of Freeland, and three other Polanders of Upper Lehigh, were arrested on Monday evening and taken before Squire Buckley on complaint of Joseph Dieh, of Upper Lehigh, who charged them with lying in wait for him on Sunday evening and beating him on the head with stones. The testimony went to show that the beating was intended for another man, also from Upper Lehigh, who went home from Freeland Sunday afternoon, while the prosecutor, Dieh, did not leave town until 9:30 p. m. They met him between No. 6 slope and Upper Lehigh.

They were given a hearing and failing to procure bail were taken to Wilkes-Barre by Constable Molik in a bus by way of Butler valley.

At the Greek Catholic church on Saturday morning Rev. Martyak will marry Stephen Malinyak and Miss Dylak Sercha, both of Jeddo.

For the Fourth of July.

The celebration committee appointed by the Citizens' Hose Company to complete arrangements for the Fourth of July demonstration is confident of securing an orator of the day either Captain Clark, of the famous battleship Oregon, or Chaplain Chickwick, of the ill-fated Maine. Should the committee succeed in its efforts every organization within a radius of twenty miles should turn out on the Fourth to honor the guest.

The annual closing exercises and entertainment of St. Ann's parochial school will be held on Tuesday evening, the 26th inst., at the Grand opera house. In order to accommodate all who desire to witness the very interesting exhibition which the pupils give the entertainment will be repeated the following Thursday evening.

The Ninth regiment will leave Wilkes-Barre this evening for Rochester, N. Y., where it will participate in the reception to be tendered tomorrow to General E. S. Otis, late commander of the American troops in the Philippines. General Otis' wife is a Wilkes-Barre lady, hence the interest taken in the reception in this county.

Mrs. Richard Leahy, of Hazleton, who disappeared from her home four years ago, has been located in Philadelphia almshouse. Mrs. Leahy is slightly demented, and wandered from her home. The family had given her up as dead. On Monday her son received a letter from her.

The forty-second annual convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of the state of Pennsylvania began its sessions at Mahanoy City Monday afternoon. There are 1,100 delegates in attendance. The town is gaily decorated for today's parade of the members in Schuylkill county.

The differences between the miners and operators of the Durycia colliery have been adjusted after a three months' strike and operations were resumed this week.

Upper Floors Without Water.

A meeting of council was held Monday evening. The only important business transacted was to demonstrate that the architect of the Municipal building had overlooked the very important matter of providing water connections for the second and third floors of the building. As this is one of the defects which can yet be remedied, council ordered that it be given immediate attention by having the necessary pipes and water-stands placed in position. It was also decided to have the electric light wiring completed before the plasterers begin work.

In a discussion on finance it was suggested that the light recently placed at Fern and Main streets be taken off. The matter was referred to the light committee.

An invitation from the Citizens' Hose Company to participate in the Fourth of July demonstration was accepted.

Councillman Rudwick reported a nuisance near his property in the Second ward, and the sanitary committee was ordered to investigate. The general sanitary condition of the town was said to not be as good as it could be.

The street committee reported its inability to procure a profile of Adams street sewer.

The condition of the hose used by street employes, discussed at a previous meeting, was again taken up. From statements made by Street Commissioner Davis it appears that the street employes, after drying the hose, placed it improperly on one of the carts. The street commissioner was ordered to have his men correct their mistake next morning.

During the meeting the opening of streets in the northern portion of the borough was the subject of considerable discussion. The street committee recommended the acceptance of Fourth street, which has been offered by the borough by Councillman Schwabe. This, however, did not meet the approval of some of the members, as it will still be necessary to purchase land, to reach Fourth street from Ridge street. Action on the matter was deferred.

Upper End's Queer Politics.

From the Wilkes-Barre Record.

The mandamus proceedings to compel the supervisors of Pittston township to approve the bond of Tax Collector Whalen was argued before Judge Lynch on Monday. The court took the papers. The case is a peculiar one and shows the weird politics of Pittston township. At the last election Whalen and a man named McNally were candidates for tax collector and the vote was a tie. McNally withdrew and Mr. Whalen was appointed to the office. Two months later it was represented to the court that Whalen had failed to qualify by furnishing a bond and upon petition Thomas J. Flanagan was appointed to fill the vacancy.

On Monday an attorney stated that Supervisor Clishman had approved of Whalen's bond, but that Supervisor Keefe had refused to do so unless Whalen paid him $300.

Another attorney on behalf of Flanagan, the second appointee, stated that Supervisor Keefe had approved of Flanagan's bond, but that Supervisor Clishman refused to do so unless he was paid $600.

It looks like a case of double-headed holdup and the "politicians" of Pittston township were thoroughly ventilated between the two attorneys. The argument will also dispose of a rule granted on Whalen to show cause why his appointment should not be revoked.

Miners Return to Shamokin.

From the Shamokin Dispatch.

Some of the miners from this region, who allowed smooth tongued individuals to talk it into their heads that large profits awaited them in the soft coal regions, have returned home, utterly disappointed with the outlook and disgusted with the treatment they have received at the hands of the coal operators.

Francis Kerlin and John Wilson, who left Shamokin, about the 14th of last month, with C. F. Winley for Pittsburg, where they were promised big wages, returned last evening. They tell a story to the effect that the times are exceedingly hard in the region where they went; the collieries working only one or two days a week. They were treated with contempt almost everywhere and finally have come back to Shamokin.

Hazleton's Dual School Boards.

The board of six which is now in control of affairs in the school district of the city of Hazleton does not propose to turn over the government to the board of twenty-two school controllers until it is ousted from office by an order of court. It was expected that the Hazleton case would be easily settled after the supreme court decided the Pittston case and the board of twenty-two organized and was ready to relieve the board of six of its work, but the latter believe it is still the legal board and will retain control unless the court otherwise decides.

The board of twenty-two recently entered quo warranto proceedings to oust the board of six and on Monday argument was heard by the court.

A decision by Judge Woodward yesterday ousted the board of six.

MINING IN THE STATE.

CHIEF OF THE BUREAU OF MINES MAKES HIS REPORT.

Statistics of Coal Production in Bituminous and Anthracite Regions—Miners Unjustly Condemned and Inspectors Receive Unmerited Praise.

The annual report of James E. Roderick, chief of the state bureau of mines, has been published by the department. Extracts of the report have been printed and commented upon in these columns, and the portions not heretofore covered by the TRIBUNE relate principally to statistical matter of this great industry.

The report states that bituminous coal is mined in twenty-eight counties in Pennsylvania, and anthracite in ten counties, and in the thirty-eight there was mined the magnificent aggregate of 127,101,167 tons. Of this 54,034,234 tons were produced from 366 mines in the anthracite region and 73,066,945 tons from 776 mines in the bituminous region.

The average number of days worked in the mines of the anthracite region last year was about 120; the average quantity produced per day was about 300,000 tons. The average number of days worked in the bituminous mines was 206; the average daily production was 246,848 tons.

In the anthracite coal regions there were 360 mines in operation last year; there were employed inside and outside of these mines the large army of 140,583 persons.

In the counties in which bituminous coal is produced there were 776 mines in operation during 1899, and 91,442 persons employed inside and outside the mines. In view of the large increase in the number of mines in the coke regions, which are very gaseous, Mr. Roderick recommends that the bituminous region be redistricted and that twelve districts be made of the present ten.

Mr. Roderick says he recently visited a large number of mines and reports that he found that the superintendents and mine foremen in charge were making honest efforts to comply with the mine law and were even actually doing much more than the law required, especially in the matter of ventilation. In the thirty years that the anthracite mine law has been in operation 9,575 persons have lost their lives in and about the anthracite mines, or an average each year of 319.

The infamous libel on the miners and mine workers, noted some time ago in these columns, then follows. The chief says the awful loss of life in the mines is not caused by any defect in the law, neither is it the fault of the mine inspectors. The latter are thus paid for the political services which they render Mr. Roderick and his master, Matt Quay: "They are a most intelligent and hard working body of men and thoroughly practical, and the principal causes of the accidents can be truthfully traced to the neglect of the employes themselves."

Mr. Roderick says that the dangers resulting from the mining of anthracite coal are increasing each year and unless the unskilled labor of the present should improve greatly in the practical knowledge of mining and above all use all known precautions while following this most hazardous of occupations better results cannot be expected.

He suggests that the English-speaking employes can also help greatly to reduce the number of accidents by being careful and vigilant in the performance of their labors, thus setting a good example to their fellows who are not familiar with the English language.

The inventors of electrical appliances not having made peace with the Republican machine of the state up to the time the report was filed, the chief says: "Besides the increase in danger from explosive gases, other elements of danger have been introduced into the mines in the use of mining machines and electricity. These have been introduced during the past ten years, and it is my opinion that the use of electricity in any form in coal mines is a menace to life, limb and property."

POLITICAL POINTERS.

The Fourth district Democratic legislative convention will be held at Hazleton on Monday, June 25, when a candidate will be named for the lower house. The delegate elections will take place the Saturday evening previous.

The man who can "influence" voters is now in demand by the Republican candidates, and this is where the fellow with a large gall pulls the candidate's leg by representing himself as an influential worker.

Congressman Connell has been renominated by Lackawanna Republicans. The Crawford county system was tested there for the first time.

W. L. Creasy, the Democratic leader in the legislature, has been renominated by his Columbia county constituents.

Senator Scott, in his appeal for renomination, pledges himself not to vote for Quay for United States senator.

The Atlantic base ball league has disbanded. Scranton and Wilkes-Barre clubs have entered the Eastern league.
