

Pike County Press.

Comrs Office Nov 1 00

VOL. VI.

MILFORD, PIKE COUNTY, PA., FRIDAY, MARCH 29, 1901.

NO. 20.

THE NEWMAN ANCESTRY.

Isaac Newman was born in Stamford, Conn., June 3, 1741, son of Nathaniel Newman. He married March 11, 1765, Abigail Webb, born Oct. 17, 1735, daughter of Benjamin Webb, of Stamford. They had ten children. In the town records of Stamford is found a record of their marriage and date of birth of their two oldest children corresponding with the date on an old record written by Isaac Newman and now in possession of James Easton, of Otseville, N. Y., a great grandson of Isaac Newman. The record is on two sheets of paper sewed together. On the outside is written, "A book of my children's ages with my marriage." The following is a copy:

March 11, 1765, then Isaac Newman was married to Abigail Webb, And 1st, October 19, 1753, my daughter, Abigail, was born.
2nd, January 2, 1758, my daughter, Amy, was born.
3rd, December 22, 1759, my daughter, Rebecca, was born and died February 12, 1790.
4th, March 29, 1761, my son, Isaac, was born.
5th, April 11, 1763, my son, Jesse, was born.
6th, April 20, 1765, then my daughter, Rebecca, was born.
7th, December 29, 1768, my son, Eli, was born.
8th, May 22, 1770, my son, Thomas, was born.
9th, June 26, 1773, my son, Ira, was born.
December 22 then departed my daughter, Amy, in the 19 year of her age in 1778.
10th, November 3, 1776, then my daughter was born, Hannah by name.
September 11 my wife departed this life in the year 1786.
September 28, 1793, my daughter, Rebecca, lost her daughter, Laura by name, aged three years, two months and fourteen days.
December 22 my grandson, Jacob, was born in 1797.
April, 1801, my grandson, Webb, was born.

Isaac Newman was a blacksmith by trade. There is no record of when he left Stamford. During the war of the Revolution he lived in Westchester county, N. Y., where he had a blacksmith shop and worked at his trade and probably eight of his children were born there. He was a private soldier in Captain Gideon Seeley's Company belonging to a regiment of Associated Exempts in Westchester county, which regiment was under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Joseph Benedict. This regiment was employed in active service during the Revolutionary war and Isaac Newman was engaged in the battle of Whiteplain under General McDougal Oct. 28, 1776. After the close of the war Isaac Newman moved from Westchester county and, with his family, traveled by land on the east side of the Hudson river, crossing the river at Newburg in a ferry boat propelled by horse power, and settled in Upper Smithfield, Northampton county, where Milford now is, in 1785 or 86. Probably he was the first blacksmith who had a shop and worked there. His wife, Abigail Newman, died September 11, 1786, at Milford. Isaac Newman continued to reside there until about 1805, when he went to Saratoga Co., N. Y., and died at Charlton, N. Y., March 24, 1808, probably at the house of his son, Eli, who settled in that part of the State of New York. We have no record of the family of Eli Newman.

Abigail, daughter of Isaac Newman, was living in 1835 in the town of Candor, near Oswego, N. Y., with her son, whose name was — Silsbee.

Isaac Newman, Jr., born March 20, 1761, was a private soldier in Captain Gilbert Lockwoods Company belonging to the 4th Westchester Regiment New York State Militia, which regiment was under the command of Colonel Thadens Crane. This regiment was engaged in active service during the Revolutionary war. Isaac Newman, Jr., was living in 1815 in Fulton county, N. Y., and his post office address was Broad albion, he married and had one son Thadens and one or more daughters.

Rebecca Newman born April 29, 1765. She married Martin Luther Corwin about 1790. After their marriage they lived in the city of New York and on Long Island until 1811, when they moved to Orange county, at what was afterward known as Corwin Mill, she died May 30, 1828.

Thomas Newman, born May 22, 1770, came from Westchester county with his father, Isaac Newman, in

PERSONALS

Will Armstrong was in town last Sunday.

Geo. Buchanan was a recent visitor to the city.

Frank Seitz was in New York this week on business.

J. E. Boyd is confined to his bed with a severe cold.

Frank Jacobson has started business in New York this week.

Charles Schanno expects to leave soon for a visit in the South.

Mrs. Marie Pivovet is paying a visit to friends in New York.

Miss Emma Kipp, of Hawley, is a guest with her sister, Mrs. Fred Gamble.

Mrs. Kate B. Van Weck is home from Washington, where she has been spending several weeks.

Mrs. H. S. Mott, of Washington, D. C., is making a visit with her mother, Hon. D. M. Van Anken.

Geo. A. Swope and family spent the Green last Saturday to attend the obsequies of his mother.

Mrs. Cora Bondsday, after a two-weeks visit with her mother, he returned to her home in New York.

Miss Lillie Buchanan has gone for an extended visit with friends in New Haven, Yonkers and New York.

Prof. Maxwell Summerville will sail Tuesday from New York in the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse for Paris, where he will be domiciled for some time.

Rev. Father Craft, who has been in Cuba and is now stationed in New York, visited his mother and sister at Red Pidge farm in Milford township this week.

C. W. Ball Esq., and John O. Westbrook Jr., Prothonotary were at Blooming Grove, yesterday on matters connected with proving the will of the late Jacob Kleinhaus, Jr.

Samuel G. and Edwin F. Peters of Bushkill, were in town yesterday. They speak quite confidently of the railroad being built as far their place this summer and Edwin F. is buying ties for the road.

Among the out of town friends present at the funeral of the late Jacob Kleinhaus Jr. last Saturday were George Salmon, Miss Eva Van Etten and Mrs. Emily Kleinhaus, of New York, C. F. Van Inwagen and wife, of Port Jervis, and Mrs. Edith Allen, of Boston, Mass.

G. K. Mueller, of Phila., who for two months has been a patient at Glenside Sanitarium returned home Wednesday. He made many friends here and was so pleased with the town that he declared he would highly recommend it to his friends, especially those suffering from nervous troubles.

W. Gordon Parker, who has just finished a story entitled "Two Boys in the Blue Ridge" and which has been accepted by a publishing house in Boston, was in town last Saturday. He expects soon to go to Arkansas city, Kansas, where his father, who was at one time engaged in the blue stone business in this county, now resides.

L. J. Middaugh, of Stairway, was in town recently, the same jovial Jack as of yore, though fortune has been somewhat harsh with him. Last summer he fell from a cherry tree and so injured his head that his eyes were made crooked and his sight affected and more recently a fire destroyed considerable of his property. Notwithstanding the difficulty with his sight, which a New York oculist failed to wholly remedy Jack says he can shoot about as well as ever which is notice to the "varmints" of Shohola to lay low if they value whole hides.

Notices.

The "Milford Lyceum" will be re-novated, on April 1st to the house of Mr. George Swope, where books may be obtained, as at present, on Monday of each week from 2 to 4 p. m. until the opening of the regular summer season in June, when the library will be open daily except Sunday. Due notice will be given of the date of the opening of the regular season. Meanwhile, a considerable number of new books will be added to the collection, and the patrons of the Lyceum can be assured of the continued attention of Miss Swope to their literary requirements.

By order of the Directors.
Milford, March 25, 1901.

Clare & Sanborn's Old Homestead Java coffee at Armstrong & Co.

BRIEF MENTION.

Mrs. Hamilton will offer for sale a good horse at her van on April 3.

Aguinado has been captured by General Fanston and taken to Manila.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hissam a daughter. The youngster appeared this week.

Mrs. Cornelia Van Etten is quite indisposed at her home in the Nyce house, on Broad street.

Miss Susan Nichols was confined to her room a couple of days this week with a severe cold.

A. Q. Wallace and C. P. Mott recently appraised the personal estate of the late L. W. Armstrong.

Lafayette Lullimore and wife were ordered a surprise party by a number of their friends Monday evening.

War seems to be imminent between Russia and Japan. The Czar is beset with trouble both at home and abroad.

Fred Kretz has resigned the position of sexton of the M. E. church and Louis Wagner has been employed in his place.

There is no manner of doubt, but he drouth was broken this week. Thunder showers prevailed and copious rains fell.

The serious illness of Senator Quay is denied by his son who says he is not able to discover any signs of nervous prostration.

A social and entertainment was given at the M. E. church Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Epworth League, $4.70 was realized.

The First National Bank of Milford possesses a certificate of protection against burglary issued by the Fidelity and Guaranty Co., of New York.

Horace O. Kipp has severed his connection with the firm of Rudolph & Tichenor in Middletown, N. Y., and entered a dry goods store in the same city.

Notary Public and real estate agent J. C. Chamberlain has removed his office to the Newman building on Broad street one door below the Crisima House.

Harry S. Angle has accepted a position in the post office here and will begin his duties Monday taking the place of Stephen Coddleback who retires to attend to his farm.

An alarm of fire yesterday morning brought out the department to the Townsend home. Some bedding in the attic near a chimney burning out caught but was soon extinguished.

The chap mentioned in this advertisement, clipped from an exchange, must be of peculiar construction and worth looking at. Lost, a gold watch, by a young man with open face and Elgin movement.—Hancock Herald.

A number of children in town are suffering with colds which necessitates keeping them in their rooms. Among the number are three of J. J. Poillon, three of Sheriff Vandermark and one each of E. S. and E. L. Wolf.

By a recent act of assembly honorably discharged soldiers, sailors or marines who die in indigent circumstances are entitled to burial in cemeteries by county commissioners who are authorized to purchase lots for that purpose.

It is rumored that Frank Wells will soon leave the rank of bachelorhood taking unto himself a southern belle. He is an energetic business man and no doubt will make a like success in this venture as he has in other pursuits.

The organ fund society of the Presbyterian church will hold a handkerchief and necktie sale in the church basement Monday afternoon and evening April 8. A musical program will be also given and refreshments will be on sale.

Mrs. Catherine Hamilton will have a sale of household goods on the farm occupied by her, on the turnpike, about 2 miles from town, April 3rd, beginning at 2 p. m. She expects to return with her son, Robert, who is expected East soon, and will likely make her future home with him in Washington.

John F. Kilgour, well known as the blue stone King, has been successful in his suit and will make business boom this spring he says. Every one who knows Mr. Kilgour will rejoice with him in his success, for if he has control of the capital it will soon find its way among a class who will be benefited by its diffusion. He is a generous distributor of the stone of war.

OBITUARY.

JACOB KLEINHANS, JR.

A career bright in promise for future usefulness and radiant with the hopes of loving friends for its success was terminated early last Thursday morning, March 21, when Mr. Kleinhaus after a protracted illness passed away at his summer home in Blooming Grove, whether he had come some two months ago in hopes of being restored from a malady which had severely taxed his strength. He was of a vigorous constitution active in habits and untiring in efforts until last fall when he was seized with typhoid fever, from this pneumonia developed and an abscess formed in his side which made an operation necessary, and from which various complications arose. He was obliged to give up temporarily his situation in the school at Baltimore in which he was professor of Mathematics and Modern History and after a trip to Virginia came to the spot where he first saw the earthly light and where he was destined to have it forever fade from his sight.

He was born in Blooming Grove in 1873 and was a son of the late Jacob and Mary, Mott, Kleinhaus. When very young his parents removed to Milford which has since been his virtual home.

After preliminary study he entered Colby University, Maine, where he took high rank as a student and evidenced much ability as a writer, and was chosen editor of the college paper. After graduation he secured a situation in a school at Baltimore where his pleasant manners, faithful application and scholarship secured him the respect and esteem of his co-educators and the students. It was his custom to bring a class of boys here for the summer vacation and to combine study with recreation. A visit to the camp would make evident the affectionate regard in which he was held by the youth in his charge.

He is survived by his mother, who is a daughter of the late Col. Henry S. Mott, and by full brothers John, of Blooming Grove, Edgar, of New York, and a full sister Bertha, and also by half sisters Mrs. A. Kirko White, of Allegheny, Pa., Mrs. Emily Van Etten and Mrs. George Salmon, of New York and Mrs. Eliza Smith, of Kansas City, Mo., and a step sister widow of the late Henry Kleinhaus a half brother. The remains were brought to Milford for interment in the cemetery here and the funeral service was held in the Episcopal church last Saturday afternoon.

The pall bearers were W. A. B. Mitchell, E. T. Rivers, J. J. Poillon, W. F. Chol, F. B. Thrall and Dr. H. E. Emerson.

MRS. FANNIE GENTHER SWEPENISER.

After burning nearly a century the flame of life was suddenly quenched last Saturday morning, March 23, when Mrs. Swope passed to the great beyond. She was born in Philadelphia, April 12, 1810 and came of revolutionary stock. In early life she married George N. Swope, of the same city, whose ancestors were also distinguished for zeal in the country's cause, and after living for some years in New York and California they came, in 1860, to Green township this county where she has since resided and where her husband died in 1888.

She is survived by one son George A., commissioner clerk, of Milford. The funeral was held Monday.

JOHN J. BEARDON.

John J. Beardon, who came to Milford some time ago in search of relief from that fell disease, consumption, with which he was afflicted, died at his home, on Broad street Monday, March 25th, at 3:45 p. m. He was born in Dover, Dutchess county, N. Y., Jan. 18, 1856. Prior to coming to Milford he was for 20 years a conductor on the Bushkill branch of the Long Island railroad. He is survived by his widow and one sister, Mrs. Kate Bumpster, of Danbury, Conn.

The remains were taken yesterday to Pawlings, Dutchess Co., for interment.

A Widow's Love Affair

Receives a setback. If she has offensive breath through Constipation, Biliousness or Stomach Trouble, Dr. King's New Life Pills always cure those troubles; clean the system sweeten the breath, banish headache; best in the world for liver, kidneys and bowels. Only 25c at drug stores.

JOHN F. KILGOUR WINS SUIT.

A recent issue of the Passaic Daily News says that in the suit brought by J. F. Kilgour, the well known blue stone operator, against W. E. Scott and the National Bank of Port Jervis, Kilgour for the fifth time has won out in the United States Courts. The decision is a sweeping one in effect and decides that Kilgour is entitled to redemption of all his property although the time for redemption may have passed. The property is in Passaic and consists of quarries and mills along the line of the Erie. The paper states it has inside information that Kilgour is forming a blue stone company of great magnitude.

A man giving his name as Joseph Vanderhoff, and claiming Parsippany, N. J., as his residence, came to town last week with a horse and wagon. He offered the horse for sale for $125 but found no buyer. He then went to Port Jervis traded his wagon for a road cart came back and went up the turnpike to Hawley. There he traded the horse and wagon for another outfit receiving $25 to boot. He then offered the whole establishment including robes for sale for $15, but finding no purchaser bought a ticket for New York and got on a train on which Sheriff Vandermark happened to be sitting

SUSPECTED A HORSE THIEF.

On the way the Sheriff received a telegram from Bradens, with whom the man had traded, requesting him to hold the horse dealer as a suspected horse thief. The Sheriff investigated the man across the river under the pretense that he would buy the horse and wagon but could not get the money without coming over to Matamoras. Arriving there he arrested and brought him to jail and after making efforts to discover whether the property had been stolen and failing to obtain any evidence he took the man back to Port Jervis Saturday night and turned him loose. This person claimed that his act grew out of trouble with his wife, and also a financial difficulty in which his father, who he stated is a farmer and horse dealer, was involved. His notions indicated that he was either drunk, crazy or a horse thief.

THE WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., MARCH 25, 1901.

Should the Republicans of the next Congress use the tariff to put a curb upon trusts? That is substantially the question asked by Representative Babcock, of Wisconsin, when he introduced his bill in the House to repeal the tariff on manufactured steel and iron. Mr. Babcock, who is now in Washington, is still asking that question, and he is trying to add emphasis by including tin plate and plate glass in his bill before it is re-introduced in the next House. Speaking on the subject Mr. Babcock said: "The Republican party is a party of progress. Its great hold upon the people is due to its aggressiveness and its willingness to meet problems. We have now a new and very serious problem before us in the effect on the tariff creating trusts, and we ought to meet it. I am certain that a large majority of the House favors the bill. When the American protective league gave a banquet recently, and this matter was discussed by one or two speakers, Congressman McCall, of Massachusetts, was charged to the echo when he predicted that changes in the tariff would have to be made, and that it was best to let such changes be made by the friends of the protective system. I am not an enemy of protection, but I know that the first principle of protection is protection of the people. When I see American manufacturers in a position where they can charge the American people what they see fit, and yet can sell the same goods abroad for a much lower sum, I think it is time for Congress to step in and work a reform. This is the part of wisdom, good judgement and good sense, for if we do not do it, we will presently find that the people have risen in revolt and placed in power a party which is hostile to all kinds of tariff. I would not abate a jot or tittle of protection where it is needed. All that I contend is that the protective principle, having given a tremendous advantage to the manufacturers, is now being used to the detriment of our own people. I do not think this should be allowed."

Republicans are beginning to realize that Congressional action may be necessary to stop the wholesale disfranchisement of voters in Southern states. Senator Burrows, of Mich., who will be chairman of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections said on the subject: "The new Maryland ballot law is very likely to bring to the attention of Congress various so-called disfranchisement laws, and open the whole question of representation in Congress on the basis of men who are not legal voters under state laws. Congress does not desire to discuss these subjects, but, in my opinion, the question will be forced upon us for determination by the unwise action of some of the states. We have now before us the example of a great state, endeavoring to disfranchise some 50,000 citizens in order to give one political party control of the legislature. There is no fear of negro domination. That is not the excuse for the law. Certain Democrats seek to control the affairs of the state, and to accomplish this purpose to disfranchise a sufficient number of the opposite number. It is nothing more than this." As Senator Burrows sees it, the question presents three phases: "The effect disfranchisement has on the basis of representation on the lower House; the propriety of accepting Senators in Congress who have been elected by legislatures elected after a large number of voters were disfranchised so that the legislatures would be favorable to certain men, and the public policy of permitting political parties to disfranchise a large number of their opponents to maintain their dominant position in the State."

The resignation of Attorney General Griggs has been formally accepted by President McKinley to take effect the 31st inst., and Mr. Griggs will, much to the regret of the President and all his colleagues, next week resume the practice of law. Notwithstanding several circumstantial stories to the contrary, it can be stated on the highest authority that no other change in the Cabinet is contemplated for the immediate future. In other words, no other member of the Cabinet has announced any intention of resigning.

John F. Kilgour

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOSEPH R. DURLING.

Mrs. Durling died at her home in this Borough Wednesday afternoon, after a brief illness. She was a daughter of William H. and Phoebe Margaret, Fields, Probusco and was born at Sparta, New Jersey, May 30, 1837. In 1849 her parents moved across the mountains and she has resided in this section ever since. In 1850 she married Jonathan Hunt, who, dying, she married Joseph R. Durling May 14, 1896. Besides her husband she is survived by children of her first husband as follows: William P., Charles R. and Florence, Elizabeth wife of Norman Tuttle, all of Carbondale, Pa., Hattie wife of William Wright, of Sparrowbush, N. Y., Jonathan M., of Bushkill, Pa., and Elmer E., of Port Jervis. The surviving sisters are Phoebe Ellen, wife of Daniel Jagger, of Delaware township, Mary Catharine, wife of G. W. Deppu, of Sandyston, N. J., Drusilla, wife of Jacob H. Shafer, and a brother W. Scott, of Milford Boro. The funeral will be held to day and interment in cemetery at Dingman's Ferry.

Milford Hand Laundry.

The undersigned has opened a laundry on Centre Square Milford, Pa., in the store room formerly occupied by Geo. Dauman, and will do all kinds of work pertaining to the business with promptness and in a neat careful manner. A share of the public patronage is respectfully solicited.

JOHN L. GOCHLEY.

Easter Sunday New York Excursion.

Easter Sunday April 7th, 1901, the Erie will run a special train leaving Port Jervis, at 7:00 a. m. to New York at the popular rate of one dollar for the round trip. Returning tickets good only on special train leaving New York, Chambers street at 7:45 p. m. Here is an opportunity for the people of Milford and vicinity to visit the great churches on Easter Sunday in New York at very little cost for the round trip. It

The most effective little liver pills made are DeWitt's little early risers. They never gripe.