BRIEF MENTION

The Milford Field Club gave a bridge and 500 party at its house last Monday. The cops and snobs were given by guests, among the number Mrs. M. L. Harmon donated a dozen. The prizes were handsome and the event was greatly enjoyed.

Port Jervis fans are disgusted over the loss of the game with Milford last Saturday and attribute it to being obliged to play against ten men, chief of whom was the umpire. The score was seven to six in favor of Milford and the P. J. team had never before been beaten. In the game with Yale Wednesday Milford got 3 runs and Yale failed to score.

The Paupers Power Company is buying land in the vicinity of the proposed dam which looks as if it intends to do some work. It is understood the ex-Lieutenant Governor Waites is largely interested in the project.

Col. Roosevelt is mixing in politics, as all good citizens should do, but whether happiness and content as a result will happen to the regulars or insurgents seems to be a problem which only time will solve. Both claim that he is giving them both and go from his presence smiling, on one side of the face or the other.

State Roads Commissioner Hunter visited the new road lately finished in Lebanon and after inspection it was concluded to oil it. The surface soon grows dusty and grinds up and oil acts as a binder and is very beneficial to that kind of road. The new State road in Monroe county will have the same treatment.

Lewis Kieswetter of Hohenock has sued W. V. Hilliard for $15,000 money loaned to rebuild the bridge of the M. & N. Y. railroad at Marimora, the one proposed to rest on wooden piers, and argument was had this week in Goshen to dismiss the action, it being contended that the parties were non-residents of N. Y. and the business transacted was in N. J. and Pa. and the N. Y. Courts had no jurisdiction.

One result of the political scandals that have recently come to light in more than one state is an increasing demand for men of higher character and greater efficiency to fill public office. No longer, except in extremely rare instances, will people accept any kind of man that party bosses choose to bring forward.

As affording some idea not only of the prevalence of tuberculosis, but also of the strenuous and pathetic effort to recover from its ravages is the authoritative statement this week year some $15,000,000 are spent by victims for quack remedies that afford no relief, but frequently work incalculable harm.

The greatly decreased number of dead and wounded Fourth of July victims is eloquent testimony to the value of constantly striving to secure reforms. For years the agitation for a "safe Fourth" has been a going on, and this year good results have been attained.

Every decent, law-abiding person, and that means the great majority, must ardently hope that the nation has endured the last disgrace of a prize fight. Apparently the days of the prize ring are numbered. One cannot conceive of a more disgusting and brutal spectacle than that of two men pummeling each other black and blue, for the sake of the money that is in it. When two men fight because of some quarrel, then, however much we may deplore the act, some palliation may be made for it. But there is none for a prize fight or prize fighters. It is simply a brutal exhibition for money and to satisfy the morbid, vicious tastes of degenerate men.

Thomas Trax has given up keeping his house and gone to board with Mrs. Beardsley. He will pass his 58th milestone Sunday, and is vigorous for one of his years.

Hon. Joseph C. Sibley has revised his figures of expenses in his late campaign for congress and they were $42,518 43, more than $4 for every vote he received. Details as to how the money was spent would be interesting. Were any votes but or was the cash all spent for advertising. If so that is a good district for printers to live in.

The Council has been applying to several of the side streets in town, and practically all the streets inhabited will be treated. The chief reason is a great success and is a thing of great satisfaction.

Dry weather and the extreme heat were hard on gardens and grass and grain likewise suffered.

FOR RENT—To suit mer goods, furnished house foot of Broad St. F. P. SAWYER.

Hon. William S. Bennett of New York has announced himself a candidate for Governor of the state. He has made an excellent record in congress and would be a strong factor, but it may be doubted whether conditions are favorable for the republicans over there this fall. He would be as likely as any one to heal the differences.

Gifford Pinchot who has gone to California will engage in stamping that State in the interest of men nominated for Congress who will fight for conservation. They may be classed as insurgents and are opposed to Cannon and the Payne tariff bill. While conservation will be his topic in every speech yet they will be political in character, because conservation has become a political issue.

Mrs. Samaan of Tuckahoe, N. Y. came to town this week to pass the summer.

Mrs. J. de G. Van Ertlen and son of Tuckahoe are expected next Monday to pass several weeks here.

Charles P. Knapp of Deposit who was convicted of receiving funds in his bank when he knew it was lousy out, has begun his term of 15 months in jail.

Sol. D. Rosenbaum has sold his farm in Lebanon to Alexander Hill of Brooklyn who takes possession next Monday. Mr. Rosenbaum will move to Matamoras where he will reside in a home he is building and which is nearly completed.

The Water Company of Matamoras is distributing iron pipe for use in putting in a plant. About 4 miles of pipe will be laid.

Cities and many towns are protesting against the moving picture shows of the recent fight at Reno, and in many places they will be barred.

Attempting to catch trains last Monday at Philadelphia Dr. Jacob Saldaña, a Baptist minister, and F. H. Lindeer, inventor of the "pay as you enter" cars, were killed about an hour apart. In both cases the bodies were ground to pieces.

A third party is in prospect with former State Treasurer as the nominee for Governor. Labor, interest and the farmers are said to be in harmony with the movement.

New York State has a new auto mobile law which goes into effect August 1. A series of questions must be answered by owners of cars and applicants for a chauffeur license, which are designed to fully identify the machine and its owners and to show that drivers are competent and experienced and that the car will be run with proper regard for the safety of patrons of the highways.

Rose a daughter of the late Louis and Margaretha Roebette died at her home in this town last Friday aged about 25 years. Her mother and two sisters, Mrs. Flora Smith of N. Y., Lizzie at home and one brother John living in Ohio survive. The funeral was held Monday and interment in Milford Cemetery.

C. A. Merrill has several excellent boats to hire at any time of day at his boat house foot of Ann Street. It is pleasant to pass an evening on the river rowing or drifting these moonlight evenings.

Six hundred and seventy two boxes each containing 5000 lbs cream corn destined for Galveston, Texas, were seized by the government at New York last week because they contained lactic acid and were unfit for food. The corn is sold to children and after the cream is consumed they are taken and it is claimed they are deleterious to health.

A white naggot sometimes destroys garden truck, especially cucumbers and cauliflower. They may be checked by dusting around the plants with shaker lime, which has been sprinkled with turpentine or carbolic acid. After the pests have entered the plants this would of course be ineffective, and the only way would be to use a carbolic emulsion.

Potato beetles have been more troublesome than usual this year and every grower should take steps to get rid of the larvae so they may be out of the way next year. Take half a pound of Paris green, or two or three pounds of arsenate of lead in fifty gallons of Bordeaux mixture, ten cents of lead is best and spray the leaves. The lead alone will kill the eggs, but the mixture will prevent tungsten or plant diseases.

Adrian Nichols and Frank Gargan are here to play ball with the club this summer.

State Zoologist Surface is authority for the statement that Paris green may be applied to kill cabbage worms without rendering the cabbage unfit for use. He advises half a pound of Paris green in 50 gallons of water sprayed on. A little soap may be used to make it stick. The cabbage heads form within outward and they are constantly throwing out or spreading the leaves to which poison has been applied.

Any shortcomings in the PRESS this week may be laid to moving. To do so was a task but we are now located in our new home on Ann St. where we will be pleased to welcome callers and we extend an invitation to all to drop in and see us. If the latch string does not hang out the door knock easily turns.

E. F. Wolfe has been confined to his home the past week by illness. He never has recovered fully from the severe attack of typhoid fever he sustained some time ago and his ambition keeps him busy when he should rest and recuperate.

Gifford Pinchot who has been spending a couple of weeks at Grey Towers left this week for a trip to California. He is expected to return here about August 1st.

C. W. Ball Esq. was in New York the first of the week.

Last Sunday was the hottest day of the year and in cities there were several deaths and many prostration by the heat. The mercury here climbed to 94 in the shade, and the air was full of humidity.

Can a rattlesnake climb a tree? Prof. Surface declares they are not built for that business, but plenty of them seem to be crowding into civilization, driven from the mountains to get drink. Look out for them along the streams.

Thirteen out of 14,000 of the Pa. railroad trainmen and conductors have voted to strike for more pay. If the Company does not accede to their demands.

Air navigation is dangerous business, several aviators have been killed recently. The desire to break records and make daring flights leads men into taking great risks and the list of fatalities bids fair to compare favorably with that from running autos.

Milford's nice will contend with Stroudsburg tomorrow. This should be a good game.

This issue of the Press is from its new home on Ann Street. It has been a busy week moving machines and getting things in shape, but we have accomplished the task and now feel very much at home and cordially invite every one to see us. We will be pleased to meet and greet you.

A new counterfeit $10 gold certificate is being circulated.

The Democrats have concluded not to recall their convention, to force Grim off the ticket but all those who are dissatisfied with his nomination will join the third party movement. Independents will hold their Convention July 28th.

One reason why stocks seem to be shrinking may be that water is drying out of them. There are a lot which need to go through a wringer and the public should fight shy of them until they have gone thru the process of being squeezed.

Helen Olmsted has sold a lot and a half on Ann St. to Mrs. E. H. Noyes who expects to build a home on it.

Mrs. E. J. Perot of Montrose, wife of a former rector here is a guest in town.

Mrs. A. Q. Wallace has gone to Scranton to visit her sister.

Mrs. H. F. Decker is visiting her son Frank at Lesterboro, N. Y. A Night in Darktown which was very successfully given last April by local talent will be repeated this evening in Brown's Hall. Tickets 25 cents and proceeds for benefit of Milford B. B. C.

B. B. Price of Scranton, who was nominated for Lieutenant Governor by the Democratic Convention at Allentown and who said he would not run, keeps his word by sending a letter of declination to the Secretary of the State Committee.

A Convention of Independents will be held in Philadelphia July 27 to place a third ticket in the field. There are several who are willing to sacrifice themselves for the honor of being its head.

Herbert Palmer left this morning for Greenville, Mercer County, Pa. where he has secured a situation in a printing office.

Fewer casualties were noted in this country this year than last owing to the teachings for a safe and sane Fourth. People have found out that it pays to be careful.

Henry Wohlbrunn finds his laboratory arduous and has secured an assistant to help him scrape slugs and ever flowing leaks.

Because the new postal savings bank bill does not provide that funds may be joined to residents of the community it is not meeting with favor in the country. The money would be sent to Baptist centers where it would be absorbed by the trusts and large corporations. An amendment permitting the funds to be loaned at a low rate of interest in the places where they are deposited should be made. This would make it popular.

I Bradford county a mail carrier had some supervisors arrested for not removing loose stones from the road as the law directs. Six voluntarily paid fines and costs but three refused until the court said they must. This should be a lesson to others and there may be some in this county who may like to lead.

Age of Niagara Falls

To the question: "How old are the Niagara Falls?" geologists have returned replies varying by tens of thousands of years. At first it was estimated that the Niagara river came into existence through charge. In the level of the land around the great lakes about 55,000 years ago. Later this was reduced to only 12,000 years. Lyell increased the estimate again to 3,500 years, and still later other scientists lowered it to about 9,000 years.

Some Probable Results.

The ease with which aviators can drop dummy bombs on dummy ships and forts gives us some idea of what would happen in war if real bombs were dropped on real ships and fortresses.

In all probability, as the result of these successful experiments, we are on the eve of a radical change in naval and military construction. If a bomb dropped on the deck of a $12,000,000 battleship from an aeroplane can destroy that ship or put it out of the fighting line, then the days of such ships are nearing an end. No government would be foolish enough to squander so much money and throw away the lives of a crew of a thousand men.

Such a change as above indicated would be hailed as a welcome relief in every land where the taxpayers are suffering under the load of tremendous taxation which international rivalry and jealousy imposes upon them. Indeed, it will may be, that such a change may usher in the day of universal peace, for horrible as warfare on sea and land is, aerial warfare would be even more revolting. How much better for the taxpayer, for the prosperity of a country and for mankind in general, if the money now annually spent for war ships, which in a few years become obsolete, were spent upon schools, technical training, and other things that make for human good.

Carries this week used orange as bombs and dropped them accurately on a vessel, demonstrating that the destruction of a warship or a fortress is entirely practical, while the speed with which an airplane moves makes it almost impossible to hit them with anything but shells.

About Free Bridges

A story is being circulated in this county, probably for political effect, that in the event of the State buying the bridges and making them free the burden of their repair and maintenance will be placed on the counties in which they are. Mr. Marvin, who is chairman of the Commission on Penna. says there is absolutely no truth in the story, that the bill which he is preparing will provide for all expense in connection with free bridges being borne by the States. With some few exceptions along the Delaware the bridges pay small dividends to stockholders, and they are at best risky property. In the case of Milford Bridge after the one was carried away in 1888, it became a grave question whether a new bridge could be built, but the great inconvenience and serious loss of trade was incentive to a number to rebuild. A debt was incurred and stockholders waited for ten years while the receipts were being used to pay off the debt before they received a dividend. There was more sentiment than profit in the venture, but it was realized that the town and citizens of New Jersey were suffering loss in business because of its absence. It benefits the whole county, as does the one at Dingmans, which is also financially unproductive, and even if the adjoining counties had to bear some share of the cost of maintaining them the people could well afford to do so for the sake of the accommodation they afford. But do not be deceived into the idea that a vote for Mr. Marvin means that you may be taxed to pay for bridges. Nothing of that kind will happen if the States buy and own them.

NOTES FROM SANDYSTON

Counties in New Jersey which have tried the three Commissioner plan in place of the present Board of Freeholders are high in its praise. The Editor of the Newton Herald says the way our present Board built macadam roads will not need the 3 Commissioners.

The way our macadam roads are being repaired, and built, the three Commissioners cannot cause any job soon, and a majority of the voters think so too.

The Montague Creamery has been leased by Mr. Silar, who also operates the Bevens Creamery, possession given Aug 1st.

He pays within 1 of a cent exchange prices for 10 months and 1 cent off for two months.

The Annual Harvest Home of the Layton M. E. Church will be held on its grounds on Wednesday afternoon and evening August 24th.

The crusher and steam roller will be put at work this week. There are 38 men on the job, and this week will see many more.

Under the management of foremen Thompson and Redding the work is being vigorously pushed Sunday goes in with the rest.

The dry weather is making itself felt as the ground is very dry. Corn needs rain and many places look as if they needed immediate attention. The Contractor on the Layton-Father's road is being delayed with his work of grading in that our officials are not furnishing piping and building the necessary bridges.

Now that the road is graded, it will have to be dug up just because some of our officials are not attending to their business.

Barton Litts who has been working at Madison, N. J. for the past year returned to Layton last week, and says Sandyston is good enough for him.

Miss Mary Tuttle's matron of the Merriam Home in Newton spent a few days last week visiting among relatives.

Fred C. Soule, special agent of the Census Bureau, passed through this valley questioning the owners of grist and saw mills as to their annual output. He stated that crops looked the best in Vernon Township.

Miss Myrtle Depue of Newton is spending a few days with her parents at Layton.

EDWARD M. WESTBROOK, HIRAM WESTBROOK.

Nose Bleed

Nose bleeding is a symptom and while not in itself alarming should be watched if frequently recurrent. Severe cases often amount to hemorrhage and a doctor should be seen. Plugging the nostrils is often necessary and a recumbent position. For ordinary nose bleed try a rapid chew lozenge motion of the jaws, also soaking hands and feet in very hot water.

Mrs. F. J. Herbst, who runs a car very well, had the misfortune Wednesday to hit a heavy wagon loaded with iron pipe, on the road below Dingmans.

Deceptive Advertising

If the rule false in one thing false in all holds good it would not be advisable to make a statement in an advertisement which is not in accordance with truth. Looking over a recent number of a summer resort guide we find it stated that a house in Greeley has an elevation of 3000 feet and several others are given altitudes above the highest point of land in the county. These misstatements may not be in themselves very distressing but if all the attractions named for the houses bear the same proportion of exaggeration what effect must they have on the confiding city guest who is lured by the representations in the advertisement to visit them. Not even a quart of the best Pike County aviation juice could give him an elevation of 3000 feet and he would leave with expressed disgust over the attempt to deceive him. There are sufficient genuine attractions in the county to entice the city denizen here and keep him charmed with his surroundings and satisfied with the location, and he will return to his home pleased and anxious to come back another year. That is an inexpensive and successful advertisement, but when he leaves dissatisfied because he has been deceived he spreads his tale among all his friends and does irreparable damage to the place. It is better far to have a man go away saying that half of the beauties of the county were not told. There are sufficient natural charms in the county to satisfy the most fastidious seeker after the picturesque and romantic and the real elevations are ample for health and comfort. There is no need to attempt deceit in any of these respects. Get the people here with honest representations and they will go away with regrets and a determination to return and bring all their friends. The best advertisement possible is a thoroughly satisfied customer.

Many Varieties of Beans

The bean that we eat in some form nearly every day, that almost everybody likes, is comparatively new as an edible. Our common everyday bean is a native of South America and was introduced into Europe, whence it came to this country during the sixteenth century and now is represented by over 150 cultivated varieties. The big, broad bean is the bean of history and its origin is so remote that it is doubtful. It is probably a native of southwestern Asia and northeastern Europe.

WANTED!
Farm with good apple orchard, brook, unfalling spring, moderate price. — Hoffman, 206 W. 113, New York

Intensive Farming
From all accounts the average farmer in this country does not more than half farm his land. That is, he does not get from the land more than one half of what he would get if the land were properly cultivated. It is said that the yield per acre of wheat, oats and other crops is not one half of what the European farmer gets. Some say that this is due to difference of climate and soil. But that does not account for it considering that in almost any district in this land experience shows that a farm systematically and thoroughly cultivated will produce often twice as much as the adjoining farm. The one remedy, apparently, is to get back to the land, have smaller farms and go in for intensive farming.
