GENERAL LOCAL ITEMS.

Notices in these columns, ten cents per line, each insertion. Marked *

—Mr. Wm. Wolfe is quite unwell.

—Miss Lida Pitcher is reported on the sick list.

—Meerschmump pipes and cigar-holders, a large stock at F. Kormeyer's.

—Judge Harker is holding court at Murphysboro.

—Hon. John H. Oberly returned to this city yesterday.

—The police force was not increased last night—in fact no nominations were made.

—Meerschmump pipes and cigar-holders, a large stock at F. Kormeyer's.

—Mr. E. C. Ford's old stand, immediately above Dan'l Hartman's store, is now occupied by a second-hand clothing dealer.

—Mr. Goldstine, of the enterprising firm of Goldstine & Rosenwater, returned from New York yesterday, after an absence of several weeks.

—Mr. Joseph Virnan, who has been quite ill with pneumonia of late, appeared on our streets again yesterday, for the first time since his illness.

—John Flemming, a white man, was yesterday fined five dollars and costs, for a violation of chapter five, section twelve of the revised ordinances, which forbids the use of improper language.

—F. M. Ward comes to the front with the assurance that the fuel famine is over, as he will keep on hand at all times, good wood and Indiana coal. See notice.

—At present the central office of the telephone exchange is occupied only until nine o'clock at night, but after the system is in perfect working order, connections will be made at any hour of the night.

—Ill health caused Mr. Geo. Lattner to dispose of his saloon. He will spend a short time in the country with the object of recuperating his health after which he proposes to run several teams in this city.

—Joe Roberts, the newspaper man who in trumpet tones is demanding that his subscribers pay their subscription, was in the city yesterday and left for Murphysboro this morning, to attend the session of the circuit court.

—A petition is to be presented to Gov. Cullom, asking that John Bulliner be pardoned. Bulliner was sentenced in 1875 to twenty-five years' imprisonment in the penitentiary, for the murder of George Sisse, at Carbondale.

—Governor Cullom says in his message that on the first Monday of the present month the last dollar of the state debt was paid, or if any small balance has not been presented, the money is now in the state treasury to meet it, and will remain until it is called for.

—We received the second copy of the Ava News yesterday—Edited by Mr. Scott Singleton. Like good liquor, it improves with age, and if properly supported, we can vouch for it that Mr. Singleton will give the Ava people a paper of which they may be proud.

—A switchman employed in the Illinois Central yards, whose name is Egan, yesterday afternoon, had a foot and ankle badly crushed by the cars running over it. The accident was caused by the ice along the track which caused Mr. Egan to fall down. He was taken to his home, on Eighth street, between Poplar and Commercial in a wheelbarrow, where he received immediate attention.

—The city council last night, by a suspension of the rules, passed an ordinance raising the mayor's salary to one thousand dollars per annum. It also agreed to light the city and accepted the bid of Mr. Gerould—which was that he would light each lamp with a four-foot burner for two dollars and seventy-five cents per month, if the city would repair the lamps that are now in a broken condition.

—Henry Fletcher, who, it will be remembered, is confined in the county jail for passing counterfeit money, was discovered yesterday by Sheriff Hodges to be making preparations to escape from his cell. He had gotten possession of a file and an ordinary table knife in some way and with the former had transformed the latter into a saw with which he had already severed two or three of the iron bars in his door. The sheriff removed him into another, and a sater cell.

—Mr. J. T. Rennie, proprietor of the "Vulcan Iron works," has formed a partnership with Mr. J. G. Bernard, of Terre Haute. The new firm, known as Bernard & Rennie, will shortly make some extensive additions to the present establishment, which will enable them to do all manner of iron work, from the finest down to the heaviest. The new firm will not fail to build up an extensive and lucrative business since both members of it are well and favorably known throughout this part of the country.

of the appropriation in the state treasury. It is to be hoped that there will never be cause for its expenditure at this point and, in all probability, our wish in that regard will be verified.

—Mr. Chas. Slack, who has for fourteen years occupied the responsible position of foreman in the Vulcan Iron works of Mr. J. T. Rennie, left for Terra Haute by yesterday afternoon's Illinois Central train, where he will superintend the large foundry and machine shop of Mr. J. G. Barnard. Mr. Slack is an excellent machinist, who enjoyed the entire confidence of his former employer, as his long stay of fourteen years testifies, and we must say that we regret his departure.

—The Bloomington Daily Pantagraph contains the following: "Mr. Oberly is being entertained by Mrs. Matt Scott. He will bring his family here about the time the new daily appears, and is looking out now for a suitable residence. Mrs. Oberly is said to be a charming lady of rare intellectual endowments. She is a Baptist, is very plain in dress, and not much given to society affairs. The family consists of seven daughters, ranging from young ladyhood to babyhood. John himself is the only boy in the family."

—A large crowd gathered at Temperance hall last night, to take part in the sociable and dance given under the auspices of the Temperance Club. At the proper time the ladies of the club spread a splendid lunch of which everybody partook heartily. Dancing commenced at the usual hour and ended at the usual hour. There was no limit to the fun, and everybody entered into the amusements of the hour with a vim. None can say that the means of enjoyment were not ample and of a character which insured general interest.

—Tony Denier's Pantomime and Specialty company will visit Cairo Friday and the evening. This is what the St. Louis Republican says of their performance in that city: "Tony Denier's Pantomime and Specialty company opened a season at the Olympic theatre on Sunday night to a full attendance. The entertainment is called, 'Tinkled or Humpty Dumpty Re-hatched.' It is a novel medley of dumb show, mechanical tricks, acrobatic and musical, singing and dancing novelties, with occasional glimpses of spectacular. It is a lively potpourri performance in three acts, full of variety and merriment, and is an agreeable change from the old style pantomime. The pantomime performers proper are good, the feature being Geo. H. Adams, who is the funniest trick clown in the country. The newly-hatched 'Humpty Dumpty' made a hit with the audience of Sunday night, and promises to entertain large audiences at every performance of the week. The children will have a chance to laugh heartily at it, Thursday matinee and night."

—Mr. Frank Pettit has recently made several inventions that are by no means to be made light of. One of them is a thirble water cut-off on which he, not long ago, received a patent. It is a very simple and practical affair and the only invention of its kind in existence. Beside this, he has a patent on a double water cut-off, which is also a recent invention and pronounced superior to most others by experienced tanners. He is now engaged in manufacturing a water-boiler for saloons, which may be set upon the stove and is both practical and handsome. It is made of highly polished copper and is adorned in various ways. A water and steam gauge in front shows how much water the boiler contains, as well as how hot it is and many other arrangements tend to make it very useful to bars where any manner of hot drinks are sold. Some idea of its beauty may be obtained when we mention that, with all the adornments, it cannot be sold for less than forty dollars, while a plain one can be sold for three dollars. No patent has yet been obtained on the invention.

—In our search for news yesterday evening we were lead to the hall of the Temperance club on Tenth street and, prompted by a lively interest in the organization, we entered and were struck by the pleasant appearance of the place. The members of the club have transformed the rough walled room, into an attractive place, where everybody may go and feel at home and be entertained any time during the day. The room is furnished with several tables, a desk, an organ and a number of chairs for the accommodation and pleasure of visitors; newspapers and a library are placed at their disposal, and many mottoes and pictures are hung conspicuously around the room, all having a tendency to elevate the moral status of the frequent visitor. Among the mottoes we noticed the following: "Touch not, taste not, handle not," "Lead us not into temptation," "Welcome home," "God is our hope," "Faith and charity," and over the platform, which, by the way, has been newly carpeted, hung the blue banner of the club inscribed in gilt letters as follows: "Cairo Temperance Reform Club. Organized Nov. 11th, 1877." The ceiling and its supports, as well as the walls, have been newly and handsomely painted and papered; chairs have been substituted for benches; a hat-rack has been placed near the door for the accommodation of gentlemen, and in the rear right hand corner a screen has been drawn behind which stands a cooking stove, kitchen-saf, shelving, etc., for the use of the ladies in preparing the numerous toothsome articles with which they so elegantly spread the large tables for the benefit of their guests upon occasions such as was enjoyed by a large crowd at the hall yesterday evening.

—The police business was quite dull yesterday—the offenders being few and far between. The only case disposed of was that of a colored woman in Judge Olmsted's court. She was charged with disorderly conduct and was brought before his honor on a charge of venue from Squire Osborn. The charge was sustained, and the prisoner fined five dollars and costs.

—Cairo is a city. It is not a town nor a village. It has outlived and thrown aside the attire of childhood and youth and donned the fashionable attire of the full fledged able bodied gentleman. It stands six feet high in its stocking feet and, as it elevates its eyebrows with dignified mien, casts a sidelong and contemptuous glance at such villages as Paducah and smaller places which says: "I am somebody—what are you!" Improvements are no sooner thought of than made. In short, its course is forwards—not backwards. This being so, it will not surprise our readers that we are about to have a club—not a religious nor literary club—but a club, the object of which is social enjoyment; where our young men can quietly meet, smoke their cigar, reading their newspapers, or spend an hour or two in a pleasant chat without interruption and without coming in contact with those whose company is not agreeable. The club is not yet a thing of the present, but of the near future. Rooms have been secured in the second story of the White building, on the corner of Sixth street and Ohio Levee, which, after being handsomely furnished, will be occupied until more central and agreeable rooms can be obtained. We suggest that at its first meeting the club pass a series of resolutions, condemning the telephone and pronouncing it too expensive a luxury for use in their rooms.

OBERLY'S OVATION.

TWELVE HUNDRED DEMOCRATIC PATRIOTS GATHER AT BLOOMINGTON AND GIVE THE PROSPECTIVE DAILY THE BENEFIT OF A BIG BOOM.

A DINNER SUMPTUOUS IN QUANTITY AND ELEGANT IN QUALITY IS SPREAD BY THE DEMOCRATIC LADIES OF THE CITY.

The Pantagraph and Daily Leader, two republican journals published at Bloomington, devote a considerable amount of space to an account of a democratic love feast held in that city, in the interest of the prospective democratic daily, on the anniversary of General Jackson's victory at New Orleans. After mentioning the charming weather and various other causes which conspired to make the day a flattering success, the Leader says:

As is well known to all of our readers, the Democratic citizens of McLean county are about to launch upon the turbulent journalistic sea, a new craft representing the views of that time honored party. The nucleus of the movement was formed by the ladies, and it remained for them to introduce the child to the world with proper eclat. The amount of stock mentioned in the charter, viz., $20,000, having been subscribed and Hon. J. H. Oberly chosen as manager and editor, it was thought expedient to thoroughly organize and get the machine in running order. To-day being the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans, in which that great exponent of simon pure democracy, Andrew Jackson, so distinguished himself, it was thought fitting that this should be the occasion of the formal launching of the new ship.

The early morning trains brought in scores of the rock-tooted, hickory-shirted faithful, so that by eleven o'clock, when the business meeting was called at Durley hall, there were about twelve hundred persons, stockholders and friends of the enterprise present. An organization was effected by the selection of Dr. T. P. Rogers as chairman, and J. O. Pullen, secretary. The first business to come before the meeting was the choice of a board of directors. After an animated discussion, it was decided to have the board consist of eleven men. The city stockholders desired to have only five or seven, but the tillers of the virgin soil wanted a larger representation and carried their point by shouting louder when the vote was called.

Nominations being in order, the following list of candidates were placed in the field: L. L. Burr, city; I. Vanordstrand, Heyworth; T. J. Bunn, city; S. H. West, west; H. I. Deal, Allin; Wm. Condon, city; J. H. Oberly, city; M. T. Scott, city; James S. Ewing, city; Willard Parritt, city; T. D. Colson, Gridley; C. Dawson, Lexington; T. W. Keys, LeRoy; Dr. Crigler, Saybrook; James Cook, city; Mr. Victor, Normal; John Gregory, Normal; John W. Trotter, city, and John T. Lillard, city. Dr. T. P. Rogers and R. E. Williams, Esq., were mentioned, but declined the honor with thanks.

Before the result of the balloting was announced, several speeches were made, including an address from Mr. Oberly, who was loudly applauded. He said that the democratic party was not dead, and no other county in the state offered a better field for a democratic paper than this particular locality, and if the party would give it the proper support, there was no reason why it should not live to a good old age; He would not promise to make the paper a success, but he would promise to keep the journalistic lamp trimmed if hard work would accomplish anything. He was ready for the sacrifice. Mr. Oberly is a man of pleasing address, and a speaker both eloquent and interesting. At the conclusion of his remarks he was followed by Squire Wakefield, of Heyworth; an old-time Jackson Democrat, and who has lived to see death in the midst of several party organs. Captain Springfield, who came to McLean county before the deep snow, and has voted the democratic ticket at all times and under all circumstances, said he wanted an organ. He had not taken any shares, but for the political salvation of the rising generation, the democrats of McLean county should by all means have an organ. S. H. West was then called for, and promised his individual support to help the organ along. Mr. West also remarked that he had gone off with the farmer's movement, a few years ago, but to-day he was a full-fledged democrat, and had come back to stay. Mr. James S. Ewing spoke briefly and offered various suggestions which he thought would not come amiss to give life and stability to the organ.

Mr. West then brought up the subject of a name, which called out a humorous reply from Mr. Oberly. He thought that as the infant's birth was due to the efforts of the ladies, they should be privileged to name it, and their husbands expected to buy its dresses.

On motion, the matter of a name was left to the board of directors, with instructions to consult the feelings of the ladies.

About this juncture gnawing hunger began to get in its work, and the meeting adjourned to the Democratic club room in the old Pantagraph building where three long tables with a capacity of 200 plates, were groaning with the weight of eatables and attractively garnished with silverware, fruit, fancy cakes, etc. The attention to the wants of the guests, shown by the ladies was perfection itself, the crowds being received and served with a warm hospitality that was truly charming. About five hundred hungry appetites were satisfied without any perceptible diminution in the quantity which was enormous, and the ladies find enough left to give a hearty meal to every destitute family in the city, and we are pleased to state that the ladies have decided to dispose of the residue in this way. It was a bigger thing than the parable of the loaves and fishes, and the recently annihilated democracy threw off its burial garments and was jubilant again.

After the gorging was over the Durley Hall meeting was resumed and the result of the voting announced the starting of the paper with the following:

BOARD OF DIRECTORS. I. Van Orstrand, Heyworth; T. J. Bunn, city; S. H. West; H. I. Deal; William Condon, city; M. T. Scott, city; J. S. Ewing, city; T. D. Colson, Gridley; James Clark, city; John Gregory, Normal, and J. H. Oberly, editor and manager.

The board is now in session and among other things has decided to issue the first edition about February 1st. At a meeting to be held within a few days, the foreman, local editor, etc., will be engaged.

The first copy is to be printed on silk, and Dr. Worrell has offered $25 for it. It will be sold at auction.

OBERLY'S BOOM.

Springfield Journal (Rep.) Hon. Jon. H. Oberly's boom for the inauguration of a new democratic daily newspaper in Bloomington, was started last Saturday. It was Andrew Jackson's Day—the 8th of January—and, therefore, deemed a favorable time for such an undertaking. The "faithful" came together in force from all parts of McLean county, perfected their organization, elected Mr. John H. Oberly director, editor and manager, listened to one of his thoroughly prepared extemporaneous speeches, and then, five hundred of them, sat down to a grand banquet to which they are reported to have done substantial justice. It was furnished by the ladies of Bloomington, and was probably the first square meal most of them had partaken of in a decade. After this was concluded the doctors were consulted and the opinion expressed that, according to the natural order of things, the accouchment of the promised journalistic infant should take place about the first of February, and public expectation was advertised to be on tip-toe for the great event about that time.

Bloomington is a rich and growing city, McLean, a populous county. Mr. Oberly, a talented and experienced journalist, and the democracy of Illinois in need of an organ; everything would, therefore, seem to be favorable to the success of this one, and we express for it, in advance, our very best wishes.
