By yesterday afternoon's weather report rain was reported from the northwest as follows: Dubuque, 19 100; LaCrosse, 2 100; Memphis, 4 100; Yankton, 2 100. At Pittsburg it was too small to measure. The thermometer was generally high, ranging between sixty-five and eighty-four.

Huff, the mutinous mate of the tow-boat Henry Lourey, who is in jail at Memphis was investigated Thursday on arrival of Capt. Long from this city. The local inspectors suspended his license pending the investigation.

The increase in cotton-spinning in the South is indicated by the statistics of Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, North Carolina and South Carolina, which show an increase of 361,000 spindles during 1881 and 1882. This represents an investment of $9,763,200 in machinery and a consumption of 120,000 bales of cotton a year.

In one of the Western Indiana railroad cases pending in the circuit court at Chicago a summons was served on Jay Gould at the Grand Pacific hotel. He made his appearance at noon unrecognized, and was compelled to introduce himself. Although president of the Wabash road, he testified that he did not know where State or Twelfth street was. He was speedily dismissed from the stand.

A private telegram received in St. Louis Tuesday from Capt. Eads, stated that in consequence of severe cold and of overwork, he had been ordered by his physician to rest for a while, and that he would leave Washington for Old Point Comfort Monday evening. A later dispatch said that there was no cause for alarm. Mrs. Eads left on the Vandalia train Tuesday night for Old Point Comfort, accompanied by Mr. Ewell M. Henry.

The intentions of the late Henry W. Longfellow regarding the disposition of his estate will be a considerable extent frustrated by the decision of the probate court to the effect that the erasures which occur are to be considered no part of the will, and that the interlineations are of no effect. This view is based upon the principal that the man who makes a will can only alter it by a codicil.

The Ohio river rose half an inch during the twenty-four hours ending at one o'clock yesterday afternoon, at which hour it marked thirty-two feet three inches on the gauge. During the same time the rivers fell five inches at Chattanooga, one foot four inches at Cincinnati, two inches at Louisville, two inches at Nashville, and eight inches at St. Louis. It seems to be certain that the river will fall here to-day, and continue to do so for some time to come.

The steamship British Queen arrived from Liverpool Tuesday with several cases of small-pox in the steerage. This is proof of the argument of the Mississippi valley sanitary council, in session in this city some weeks ago, that contagious diseases are introduced into this country from foreign countries, and gives weight to their demand that the federal government, not municipal and state governments, should bear the expense of preventing the introduction of such diseases into this country.

George W. Atkinson, of the "London Sporting Life" sent the following dispatch to Richard K. Fox of New York: "Tug Wilson will fight Sullivan if you will match him, and he will at once leave for America on receiving answer. Geo. W. Atkinson." Mr Fox replied: "I will match Tug Wilson to fight John L. Sullivan for $500 a side for the championship of the world; send him over at once; cable when and what steamer he leaves on; have forwarded draft for expenses of the journey." Wilson, otherwise known as Joe Collins, is reputed to be the best pugilist in England.

On the 17th inst., there will be a total eclipse of the sun, but the exhibition will only be open to its full extent in northern Africa, Egypt, the Sinaitic peninsula, Teheran and Shanghai. Parties of observation have gone to the Sinaitic peninsula and to Teheran, where the eclipse will be seen to the best advantage. Parts of southern Europe will be favorable for partial views. On May 28th, 1900, this eclipse will be on again, its central line passing from New Orleans to Norfolk. This will be the only total eclipse in the United States in the remainder of this century. Its central line will be sixty miles wide, and it will sweep all the Atlantic States.

The polar region appears to be extending south and bringing its inhabitants with it. An unusual number of icebergs have been encountered in the path of travel between New York and Liverpool in the last three months, and mariners believe that the ice berg limit is gradually extending towards the south. The steamer Glamorgan, which arrived at Boston from Liverpool Monday, coasted for 160 miles along an ice field and passed one hundred icebergs, on which were many seals and some polar bears. According to the geologists, the glacial cap which now covers the north polar region once extended as far down as the line of the great lakes, with projections into the states of Pennsylvania and Ohio. Are we to take these vagrant ice-floes and mountains, inhabited by polar animals, which are so frequently found along the ocean track, as a sign that the glacial period is about to come round again?

The egg with the mysterious prediction and other ominous marks upon it has, since the announcement in THE BULLETIN of the appearance of such an one in Ballard county, Ky., become a very multitudinous article. The St. Joseph (Mo.) News has learned that a hen in Savannah, in that state, recently laid an egg on which appeared the gloomy words: "Trouble in June." The lady who owns the hen has been offered $25 for the egg, though why on earth any one should want to pay that much just for proof that there's going to be trouble in June is something that we can not understand. But there's no doubt about the trouble that's coming in June to some people. A day or two ago a Mrs. Ashton, living down town somewhere, took out of a nest an egg laid by one of her hens, which bore on the outer side of the shell the entire form of a lizard, almost as perfectly as any artist could have drawn it with nitric acid or anything else. The lizard's form extends more than half way around the egg lengthwise, and is bent in the form of the figure "6." Next!

"Old Jim," the only out and out Democratic negro in the city, was taken to the hospital yesterday, afflicted with varioloid. He has for years been living in a little shanty on Fourteenth street, between Poplar street and Commercial avenue, where he has kept a sort of charity hospital at times for the afflicted of his own race. Because of his Democratic propensities he has suffered much persecution; he has been abused by his neighbors, excommunicated from public gatherings by his copred brethren, and threatened by anonymous communications. But against all these he maintained a firm stand in his convictions of right, and pursued the even tenor of a quiet, unsuspecting life. His Democracy was his guardian angel, and but for that he would long ago have been hurried away from the stage of usefulness upon which he has been so important a figure. His Democracy will sustain him now in the hour of his affliction, and it will bring him forth from the contest with the dreadful disease clothed with glorious victory.

On Tuesday, the 9th instant, a special convolve will be held in this city by Cairo Commandery No. 13 K. T. It will be a grand affair as a large number of invitations have been sent out to the Knights Templar of nearly all the principal cities north and south, east and west of us. So far over one hundred invitations have elicited favorable replies from Knights in all parts of the country and it is safe to expect that at least one hundred and fifty gallant Knights will be here on the day of the convolve. This company will comprise some of the most prominent men from their respective states, accompanied by their wives; the gathering will therefore be one of unusual brilliancy in this city. The programme will consist principally of work in the lodge during the day, and at night a grand banquet will given the guests and their ladies at The Halliday. Orders have been left Mr. L. P. Parker to have spread on the festive occasion the finest tables ever spread in this state, and anyone who knows aught of the culinary capacity of The Halliday will not doubt but that the order will be fully carried out.

Two negro sharpers were detected by Officers Martin and Mahanny yesterday forenoon in an attempt to play a confidence game upon a country man from Kentucky. They met their intended victim at the Illinois Central passenger depot and there engaged him in conversation, during which they made themselves very agreeable and professed to be going the same way as he, down to Cottonwood Point. They succeeded in gaining his entire confidence and led him up the levee toward the stone depot where a boat was lying, which they intended to board for down the river. On board the boat they drew the cards and, when the boat landed at the lower wharf where the officers were waiting, the countryman had offered to bet ten dollars that he could draw the marked card. But the officers spoiled the game and broke up the party by taking the two negroes under arrest. They took their prisoners before Magistrate Comings, where they gave their names as Haywood Simmons and Harry Doty. They were fined one hundred dollars and costs each and given a stay of one hour, of which they availed themselves with alacrity. The last named of the two rascals is the same who some time ago went through the Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans train immediately after its arrival and picked up a number of hats, umbrellas, ulsters, etc.; but for which offense he was not prosecuted because the conductor of the train refused to appear against him.

In view of the fact that Cairo is soon to have the champion base ball club of this part of the country's word of advice bearing on this sport is not out of place. Base ball as a profession never before had such fair prospects as at the present time. There never before was such an array of able bodied ball-tossing talent in the field, and never before such opportunity for these muscular youths to earn an agreeable livelihood if they will only behave themselves. The only thing that can keep the game from drawing its bad management. Even in New York, where the interest for years has been at the lowest ebb, a game between the Metropolitan and Chicago last Saturday drew an attendance of more than 5,000. People are perfectly willing that club and players should make money if they will only play good, honest base ball. In order to do this it is essential that the players keep sober, take good care of themselves and learn to subordinate their personal notions, and above all their loud mouths, to team discipline. Very few people care to see two uniformed gangs of braggarts play ball with their mouths, but almost anybody is glad to see a game that shows system and organization. For players to lose their tempers and get to "chinning" among themselves is a much worse exhibition than any ordinary display of muffinism. Whenever a player becomes unmanageable he becomes useless. The season opened Tuesday and these suggestions are offered gratis in the hope that the experience of many past years may not be forgotten this summer by the club or clubs which may cater to the Cairo public.

A circular has been received at this office stating that, as reports have been extensively circulated and published that Mrs. Jesse W. James was preparing or dictating a life of her husband and his brother Frank James, she has made an affidavit before a notary public in St. Louis in which she says: "Though I have frequently and publicly declared that I know absolutely nothing concerning any and all crimes charged to the commission of my husband, and that under no circumstances would I lend my name to any publication descriptive of his career, yet I am again required to reassert all that I have previously said, and to also particularize the cause for this repetition. A publisher of St. Louis, named J. H. Chambers, has had circulated broadcast an assertion that he was having prepared by a writer named Frank Triplet, a book on the lives and career of Frank and Jesse James, and that all the matter it would contain would be furnished by me. This statement is absolutely false, as I am not, never have been, and never will be—because I cannot—furnish any facts criminalizing either Frank or Jesse James. I visited St. Louis on the 28th of April, accompanied by my attorney, Hon. R. J. Haire, of Kansas City, to attend to some private business; while stopping at the Southern Hotel, J. H. Chambers, previously mentioned, intruded himself into my presence (during the absence of my attorney), accompanied by reporters of several of the St. Louis papers, then by a conscienceless, systematic course of philandering and prompting, created purport interviews with me to the effect that he, Chambers, was preparing a work on Jesse James after my dictation. During the entire day I was so beset by Chambers and reporters, I was fairly distracted with a sick headache, and was otherwise in such a distressed condition of mind as to be almost irresponsible for my words or acts. All these alleged interviews are base fabrications, and represent me directly contrary to the definitions and purposes I have always had.

GOODS

FURNISHING

GOODS

Of Every Description, from the minutest article up to a Youth's or Gentleman's Complete Outfit. A large Assortment of STRAW HATS AND STIFF BRIMMED FEALT HATS of the latest styles just received.

ADVANTAGES WE HAVE:

FIRST—The quantity of merchandise we buy to supply our numerous stores. SECOND—We have ample capital and are prepared to buy cash down. THIRD—We are at all times represented in eastern markets by a resident buyer, who is always on the lookout. Now, it is with taking advantage of these opportunities that we do from time to time, name such apparently ridiculously low prices. For instance we are selling Middlesex Blue Flannel Suit, each suit bears the ticket with full name Middlesex Co. $10.00. None genuine without ticket. A very nice Cheviot Suit for $9.50, worth $15.00. A very noble Red Silk Mixed Suit at $12.50, worth $19.00. We do not sell goods for less than cost. We want it distinctly understood that we make a small profit on everything we sell, for that principle by which a merchant can sell goods for less than cost, and still keep store, has never yet been discovered. Come and see our goods. You will not be importuned to buy.

J. BURGER & BRO, At Palace Clothing House, 108 Commercial Avenue.

The public debt statement for May 1 shows that the debt was reduced $14,415,000 in the month of April, and $198,748,000 in the ten months ending the 30th of April. Two more months remain of the current fiscal year that ends June 30, and if the present rate of payment shall be maintained the total reduction for the present fiscal year will be $154,000,000—the largest reduction ever made in one year. The total debt now less cash in the treasury, is $1,711,850,000. But take from this the greenbacks, $345,749,000, and the navy pension fund, $14,000,000, which are not expected to be paid, and the proportions of the debt are reduced to $1,351,100,000.

The Indians who are raising all the fuss in Arizona, requiring the presence of a large portion of the United States army, number, all told, about 350, all but 100 of whom are women and children. To put down these 100 fighting red men, the Treasury will doubtless be released of two or three millions of dollars. This money, spent in Indian schools and preventing white men from squatting on Indian reservations, would be well spent. It is now wasted and shamefully employed. Our government now spends $2,000,000 a year to keep up twelve forts among the Indians, and only $500,000 to keep up three Indian schools. There should be fewer forts and more schools.

Another strong proof that the Illinois Central railroad company was not a secret party to what Grandmother Argus is pleased to call "the war upon the St. Louis and Cairo railroad company," but which is more properly the city council's defense of the city's interests against the unreasonable demands of a wealthy railroad corporation, is the fact that it, the Illinois Central company, sought to assist the St. Louis & Cairo Railroad Company to ENTER THE CITY. Believing that it had claims upon ground along the St. Louis and Cairo company's new right of way, which, if released and ceded to said company, would enable it to make satisfactory arrangements with the city council, the Illinois Central railroad company sought to relinquish its claim upon said ground and convey them to the former company. It was only after a thorough investigation of maps and records, which proved that the Illinois Central railroad company had no such claims as it thought, that said company abandoned its efforts in behalf of the St. Louis and Cairo railroad company, as against the city council. The recklessness with which old Grandmother Argus has perverted the truth in discussing this matter is really unpardonable; in a newspaper which professes to have some regard for truth and common honesty it is positively disgraceful.

In his private letter to Col. Hamilton concerning the proposition made to the sub-committee of five, President Whitehouse says, "as the Wabash company has refused to join with the St. Louis and Cairo company in building the proposed embankment along the city's levee, therefore, by the terms of the said proposition, the latter company should be allowed to enter the city on the new right of way without any conditions." President Whitehouse has been systematically careless in his assertions upon matters of importance. Just like Old Grandmother Argus, he has taken for granted what he thought would best suit his purpose for the time being, and then boldly made assertions without regard to their truthfulness. In this case the truth is that the Wabash company has not refused to join in the proposed work, but has the matter still under consideration. President Whitehouse also complains that the city council's and the committee's demands of the St. Louis and Cairo railroad company are unfair because the same demands are not made of the Wabash company. It is evident that President Whitehouse does not understand the situation. He seems to think that the case of the Wabash company is parallel to that of the St. Louis and Cairo company which is not so. The Wabash company asks no additional franchises, in granting which the city could impose conditions. When the Wabash company does ask permission to cross the city's levee in order to reach the right of way on the city's Mississippi side, then conditions may and very likely will be imposed and enforced. When this time arrives it is to be hoped, and it is safe to expect, that the city's righteous demands will be complied with without any exhibitions of stubbornness on the part of the company's officials. Upon motion of Mr. C. O. Patier, the committee replied to Col. Hamilton's letter, reiterating the proposition previously made upon recommendation of Alderman Halliday at a meeting of the committee of twenty-five, to the effect the St. Louis and Cairo railroad company build the proposed embankment conjointly with the city, instead of with the Wabash railroad company. The committee further says, in substance, that this proposition is made in order to test the sincerity of the railroad company in its offer to build its share of the embankment, and that if the committee's proposition is not complied with, the committee shall deem it its duty as mediator between the city council and the railroad company at an end.
