GOOD READING FOR THOUGHTFUL PEOPLE.

SHOULD BE CAREFULLY READ THAT CORRECT CONCLUSIONS MAY BE ARRIVED AT.

PAUL G. SCHUB.

DEAR SIR:—Recognizing the fact that there is to a certain extent, a mutual dependency existing between the professions of pharmacy and medicine, and feeling that a better understanding of the function and duties of the two professions should be recognized and adhered to, we, of the medical profession of Cairo, object to the frequent habit of druggists of this city, of diagnosing diseases and prescribing medicines, for the following reasons:

First. The science of pharmacy does not include a knowledge of the science of medicine.

Second. You are violating the medical practice act, by so doing, and robbing the physicians of their legitimate business.

Third. You are practicing deception upon the sick; therefore we ask you to adhere to the law governing the practice of medicine.

Another grievance to which we respectfully ask your attention, is the matter of refilling prescriptions without authority of the physicians who have written them. The above practice is injurious to both patient and physician; the patient often suffering from the effects of improper medicine, and the physician because he is practically held responsible for the action of the medicine he did not prescribe.

Again we hold that the original owner of the prescription loses his ownership in the same, as soon as it is once filled and placed on file, and that he has no right to demand that it be taken from the file and be refilled, except by the order of the prescribing physician. We therefore ask you to discontinue the practice.

After due deliberation, we the undersigned members of the "Medical Association of Cairo" have resolved not to patronize directly or indirectly, any druggist, who shall after this date, be known to prescribe for any one requiring the services of a physician, or who shall refill or duplicate prescriptions without the written or verbal authority of the physician. Respectfully, W. R. SMITH, Pres't. J. C. SULLIVAN, V. P. G. G. PARKER, Sec'y. J. J. GORDON, J. H. BRYANT, C. W. DENNING, D. H. PARKER, J. S. PETRIE.

To the above resolutions speak for themselves, and although any unprejudiced person can readily read between the lines the real motives prompting the Cairo Medical Association to issue such a proclamation, I feel like making a few remarks:

I, for my part, do not know that I have been deceiving the public during the last 19 years past and do not intend to deceive it now, on the contrary, I will try, in the future, as I have in the past, to mind my own business and attend to the wants of my patrons to the best of my ability. I am neither begging nor buying any one's patronage, but my aim is to please each and every one, who kindly favors me with their calls. Respectfully, PAUL G. SCHUB.

—Hon. F. M. Youngblood was in the city yesterday on his way back from Pulaski county where he has been making a thorough canvass. He is sanguine of success.

—The Knights of the Golden rule have paid Mrs. Torrey the $1,000 due on her debt for membership on her late husband, and have also paid another installment on the claim of the widow of Mr. James Biggs.

—Mr. Jake Albright is again to take charge of the yards of the Wabash railroad at this point. He was here in the same capacity some time ago, when he made many friends here and proved his capacity for the duties of his position.

—The steamer City of Helena, while lying at the wharf boat here yesterday morning, swung around and ran her bow over guards of the wharf, breaking several of the uprights under the porch.

—Dr. Jones will leave Cairo to-day for New Orleans carrying with him a good impression of our city, its people and business enterprises. His article on Cairo has been delayed somewhat but is certain to appear inside of ten days.

—Grand Concert at the Presbyterian church to-night. Take your sisters, your cousins and your aunt, and go—get more than your money's worth and pay a deserved compliment to an energetic and deserving young lady.

—Dr. Parker was yesterday called upon to set the broken arm of little Willie Dabney, who fell from an elevation of some kind in the new building of Mr. Conrad Alba, in course of erection at the corner of 18th street and Washington avenue.

—Since yesterday Miss Laura Rennie is book-keeper in the establishment of Mr. S. Walters, and Miss Josie Winter has accepted the position vacated by Miss Rennie at the desk in the queensware house of Mr. Daniel Hartman.

—Much excitement prevailed here during yesterday afternoon, owing to a report that a destructive storm had occurred at St. Louis in the morning, and that it was coming this way. Whatever may have been the case at St. Louis, there was no storm of any dangerous character here.

—"What do you think about politics?" asked a good Republican of THE BULLETIN man yesterday. "What do you think yourself?" came the evasive answer. "Oh, I think," said the good Republican, "that everything would be much better, if everything was not so bad." And the conversation ended in a good-natured laugh all around.

—Mr. Gauss, of Chicago, who delivered a german speech for Republicans here some time ago, is to canvass Jackson county, making speeches in both German and English. He speaks at Chester to-day. For his own comfort we hope that he may not again have occasion to say as he did here, "I am sorry to see so many who are not here, but who ought to be here."

—Julius Verne writes graphically of an Englishman who went around the world in 80 days. John Thompson makes the same trip at the Opera House Saturday night, November 4, inside of four hours, and takes the entire audience along at the small price of fifty, seventy-five and twenty-five cents each. Tickets with staterooms can be had at Buder's.

—A towboatman named Charles Coleman, a general rough character, imposed upon a negro at the corner of 12th street and Commercial avenue last night, and the negro drew a knife and stabbed him in the back of the head, causing a wound which was last night supposed to be of a serious character. From what we could learn last night the negro was not much to blame.

—John Thompson who appears upon the Opera House stage Saturday night, is, without doubt, the most accomplished character actor in the United States. His perfect familiarity with the Irish, Dutch, Chinese, Italian, French and Hebrew character renders it possible to entertain an audience as few other actors can. Buder sells tickets including reserved seats at 75c, 50c, and 25c.

—A new time card takes effect on the Wabash road Sunday morning, the 5th instant. Passenger trains will then leave at 4 o'clock p. m. and arrive at 10 o'clock a. m. There has also been a great reduction of rates to Louisville, Ky., and New Albany, Ind. The present rate to the former place is $8.05, unlimited, instead of $9.75, limited, as heretofore. And the present rate to the latter place is $7.55 unlimited, instead of $9.50 as before.

—Two men attempted to board a skiff below the ferryboat landing yesterday morning. One of them was under the influence of liquor and the skiff was slightly over the influence of moving water. The two influences seemed to conspire for the destruction of the man, and he was dumped overboard head first. But the accident occurred close to shore, the water was not deep, and the other man rescued the victim of two antagonistic influences. Both men were fishermen from "across the water."

—Last night after dark a man, a woman, a boy, a girl, and a dog were making their way in Indian file down Eighth street, along the southerly side thereof, from Ohio leveetoward Commercial avenue. When about thirty feet from the corner the man who was in the lead, slipped down the side of the street and rolled down into the vacant lot, where he lay and groaned over a sprained ankle until his companions clambered down and assisted him up and home wherever that was. Further comment is unnecessary.

—The Gold-Horned band of the Original New Orleans minstrels drew large crowds of music-lovers in all parts of the city yesterday afternoon. There were 12 members of the band including the drummers, all dressed in neat, black uniforms.

The horns were beauties, of pure gold, with flowery carvings. The music was perhaps the sweetest ever heard here. There was not a harsh note, all was harmony. The band was followed around the city by an admiring crowd, and sidewalks, windows, doors and porches were crowded at many points along the line of march.

—The rain was the cause of a rather small audience at the Opera House last night to witness the New Orleans minstrels. But for the rain there would have been a much larger house. Those who went to the number of between three and four hundred, witnessed a good performance so far as songs and music were concerned, all of which was really fine, but the sketches and some of the jokes were stale. In fact, aside from the music and songs, the performance was not what those present had a right to expect, though, on the whole, they received the full worth of their money and trouble, and most of the gallery was very well pleased if frequent applause and laughter was any indication.

—Men were still at work yesterday forcing a pipe through Ohio levee for Mr. W. R. Halliday's corn meal mills. It was expected that the pipe would have pierced the levee and come forth in the trench back of the mills Tuesday night; but though yesterday at noon twenty feet more than were necessary to reach through the levee on a straight line had been forced in, there was no sign of its coming forth in the trench. It seems, therefore, that the pipe has again diverged and will come out at some unexpected place.

—Two negroes fought like tigers for about three minutes on Railroad street near Fourteenth yesterday afternoon. Jealousy was the cause of the quarrel, a "yaller gal" was the object of the jealousy and she was also the wife of one of the pugilists. The Darwinian theory as to the survival of the fittest may have been exemplified in this instance but the law of the land which had declared that the "Yaller Gal" belonged to her husband was sadly demolished, for the husband got licked and the other fellow took the "gal."

—A meeting of the board of directors of the Cairo Public Library and Reading Room was held at the library room on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Important business was transacted, including the adoption of By Laws for the government of the organization, and conduct of the library and the unanimous election by the directors of Mrs. P. E. Powell as librarian. Arrangements were made for opening the library in a short time, for two afternoons and one evening of each week. The officers of the board of directors elected for the ensuing year were, President, W. F. Halliday; Vice-President, Mrs. A. E. Safford; Secretary, Mrs. H. H. Candee; Finance Committee, Mrs. A. E. Safford, Mr. Wood Rittenhouse, Mrs. P. A. Taylor; Library Committee, Mr. W. R. Smith, Rev. B. Y. George, Mrs. H. H. Candee. The library will remain in its present quarters for the winter.

—The following well deserved compliment to Hon. John H. Oberly, the energetic chairman of the Illinois state Democratic central committee, comes from the Clinton Democrat, of Lock Haven, Penna: "While the party of bosses and spoils is rapidly losing its foothold in Pennsylvania it is gratifying to know that in Illinois it is 'getting good and ready' to take a long-hoped-for and permanent trip up Salt river. Both the Democratic and Republican parties of Illinois have their state tickets in the field and have thoroughly organized for the campaign with Hon. Jno. H. Oberly as chairman of the Democratic state committee and 'Long' Jones as chairman of the Republican state committee. In the selection of Mr. Oberly to this important and arduous position the Illinois Democracy exhibited an uncommon degree of wisdom. He is without question one of the shrewdest and far seeing politicians in the state and an able and eloquent orator of unrivaled popularity within its borders. His selection means a discreet, aggressive and successful fight. In an interview with a Chicago Times representative he expresses himself as confident of success, while 'Long' Jones says he does not believe his state is by any means sure for the Republican party. Mr. Jones must have a long head indeed and get up early in the morning if he hopes to successfully extricate his party from the unenviable position into which it has blundered by its deceitfulness and assumed love for prohibition. Mr. Oberly's father, it may be added, was in years gone by a prosperous and influential farmer of the Keystone state, and in consequence the honorable John still wears a few grains of hay seed in his very bushy head of hair—to the edification of his many Granger friends."

NOTEABLE WEDDING. Tuesday forenoon at Nashville, Tenn., Mr. W. G. Davis and Miss Annie Scratch were united in marriage.

Mr. Davis is manager of the Cairo Oil works and is a gentleman who, during his comparatively short stay among us, has gained the esteem and respect of every one with whom he has come in contact. In his marriage "the society of the single" in this city has lost one of its most popular members. Mrs. Davis is the daughter of a well-to-do widow lady of Nashville, and was an ornament to society there. The couple arrived in this city yesterday, taking up their quarters at The Halliday, where they were received by a host of the friends of the groom.

A DISTINGUISHED PASSENGER.

On the Iron Mountain train which left the Union depot in this city yesterday was a little woman, a little old woman, neither good nor bad looking, just betwixt and between; dressed in a dress of subdued color and plainly made, and a hat trimmed with a single maroon colored feather and a few ribbons and spangles. She wore also a satchel and a handkerchief by her side and a dark veil partly over her face. She was seated by herself in a seat near the rear end of the car and seemed to be occupied with her thoughts, to the exclusion of what was passing around her. She would not have attracted any attention from any one who did not know her, but a gentleman who had seen her before and who had heard of her as millions of other people also have, took the liberty to address her. "Excuse me, madam," said the gentleman, "but isn't your name Mrs. Jesse James?"

The little woman looked up in a puzzled sort of way, evidently surprised that any one here should address her by her name, and she answered by the monosyllable "yes."

"May I ask what the reason of your presence here is?" continued the gentleman. Without any confusion or hesitation Mrs. James answered that she was on her way from Huntsville, Ala., to Kansas City, but further than this she said nothing, and her curious interviewer took his leave with a few words of apology.

A DESPERATE BREAK.

There is positive, reliable information that Governor Cullom who is one of the Republican candidates before the next legislature, for the senate, to succeed David Davis, is now making desperate efforts to procure the election of such candidates to the next legislature as will give him their voices and influence. As governor of the state he has control of a large force of office holders who will work for him early and late, to the neglect of their own and the states affairs. But in addition to this it is now known that in nearly every district in the state he will have his emissaries a day or two before the election, who are instructed to "trade votes on anything for members of the general assembly." Cullom recognizes the fact that if he would win in the race for the senate, he must use vigorous measures, and he has instructed his agents to "sacrifice state, congressional and county tickets in order to win the legislature" for himself.

Democrats should therefore be on their guard. The race for senator lies now virtually between Cullom and a Democrat. If the Democrats are wise and awake to their own interests, Davis' successor will be one of their own political party. But in order to accomplish this every Democratic candidate for the legislature must receive the full vote of his party; there must be no "plumping" in this district but a full vote and an even division. If this is not the case, one of the Democratic candidates in this district may be defeated, and such defeat may result in the defeat of a Democratic candidate for the United States senate in the next legislature.

That there is no necessity whatever for "plumping" in order to save one or the other of the Democratic candidates in this senatorial district, is sufficiently guaranteed by the live Democratic majority of nine hundred and seven which stands forth from the vote of 1880. That the Democracy has success within its reach, almost within its grasp, is admitted even by well posted Republicans. The Democracy is harmonious everywhere; the tickets of the party in every part of the state have the undivided support of all the voters of the Democratic faith; the central committee is active, is operating the political machinery of the party ably and energetically and effectually, and if the voters will do their duty as they see it plainly before them success is ours in every department of the state and federal governments.

Perhaps no better proof of the certainty of Democratic success under wise management could be asked than the nervous anxiety of the Republican managers of the campaign. We will say nothing about the discouraging reports of Republican correspondents in Republican counties, writing to Republican papers. The following letter received here a short time ago by a gentleman who is not quite so good a Republican as he once was, will prove enough:

HEADQUARTERS OF REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE GRAND PACIFIC HOTEL, CHICAGO, Oct. 1, 1882.

DEAR SIR—Success at the ensuing election depends largely on the personal efforts of active Republicans, and, knowing your devotion to the party in the past, I appeal to you with confidence and ask you to contribute as far as you can to the success of the straight Republican ticket. Personal work is needed, and I trust you will see to it that all Republican voters are out on election day.

DANIEL SHEPARD, Secretary. Democrats must now take advantage of the discomfiture of their opponents and meet the desperate means to be employed by Cullom and his emissaries with a full vote and a firm stand for all their candidates.

Extravagance is a crime; and ladies can not afford to do without "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," why by preserving and restoring health, preserves and restores that beauty which depends on health.
