—Printing and ruling at THE BULLETIN job office.

—Misses Lizzie McCarty, and Maggie Sullivan will leave Wednesday for New York, where one of them will meet her future husband. A farewell ball is to be given them at the Hibernian engine-house to-night.

—Try Mary Ann. 3t

—The river rose one inch during the twenty-four hours ending at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon leaving it at four feet nine inches on the gauge.

—We will show you the largest and best selected stock of boys and children's suits in the city. Chicago Clothing House. 2t

—Mr. Benjamin Hagey, formerly of this city, now agent for the Phoenix Assurance Co. at Texarkana, Tex., was in the city yesterday, enroute for St. Louis.

—Commercial printing at THE BULLETIN office.

—Yesterday's rain was neither very general nor heavy enough to meet all needs. It was better than nothing, however, for it gave us at least several days relief from dust.

—MULE for sale; $100 offered, $110 asked; sound, gentle, strong, and a good pulifer. Apply to C. Hughes, BULLETIN office. 3t

—Work on the old Mississippi levee, by the St. Louis & Cairo road, is progressing slowly down toward the point. Yesterday the track had been raised as far as the brick yard of Mr. Jacob Kline.

—A small sum of money was found in store of Mr. C. R. Stuart, which owner may have by calling on Mr. Stuart, proving ownership and paying expense of advertising.

—Gentlemen who came in from Hodges Park and other points yesterday say that the rainfall was quite heavy there. At Sandusky, however, it was rather light. Where the rain was heavy it came in simple time to save crops, etc.

—Wedding invitations at THE BULLETIN office.

—Two-cent letter postage went into effect yesterday. Quite a number of three-cent stamps are still out among business men, which cannot be exchanged for two-centers at the office and will have to be used as heretofore.

—J. and L. Burger's dry goods store will be closed to-day until 7 p.m. in respect to the Jewish holiday. It —Probably one of the heaviest passenger trains that ever went out from here left on the Short Line Sunday afternoon. Eight coaches were nearly all crowded with passengers mostly bound for St. Louis to attend the festivities there.

—Try Mary Ann. 3t

—The papers incorporating the firm of Chas. O. Patier & Co. have been received from Secretary of State Dement, and the new order of things will be established in a week or ten days. In the meantime, the business goes on just as it has done for years.

—Thos. J. Rude, chief clerk in the St. Louis & Cairo railroad office at this place, leaves for an extended visit north to-day. He has been here for the past eight months and has made many friends during his sojourn here, and leaves with the happy wishes for his future welfare by his many friends.

—Mrs. Capt. W. H. Tenslow and Miss Mary L. Williams arrived in the city on Friday last from Virginia. Miss Mary has been absent from Cairo for the past three months and brings Mrs. Tenslow with her to enjoy the glorious autumn weather that is so celebrated here. Mrs. T. will remain a guest of W. M. Williams for a month or so. —New type at THE BULLETIN office.

—Mr. Patrick T. McAlpine, late foreman in S. Rosenwater's City Shoe store, has gone into partnership with Mr. J. C. Roland. Custom shoemaking of all styles will be a specialty, we defy competition in regards to prices and workmanship. Call 8th street, near Commercial avenue.

—Ladies should go and see Mrs. S. Williams' stock of Jersey jackets that are offered for $2.25 and $2.50. A new line of millinery of every description is also on exhibition. The Jockey Cap will be found there in all colors, likewise velvet ribbons in every shade, for dress trimmings. You will find everything that is new and attractive in the millinery line and will be waited upon by ladies experienced in the business and accommodating. 3t

—Mr. J. B. Dorman, advance agent of the Edward Remenyi concert troupe, which is to appear at the Opera House here next Monday, was in the city yesterday, concluding arrangements for the appearance of the company. Mr. Remenyi is recognized as the finest performer on the violin in the country. He and his troupe have been engaged for the grand concert at St. Louis during the Veiled Prophets celebration there, to which the price of admission was $5, and they scored great success.

—THE CAIRO BULLETIN finds fault with the manner in which the council proceedings of its city are published. It should not complain about a thing of that character, because it has something of a contract that will be fully scrutinized. We propose to put such appliances to work that will secure the state against any fraud in that $5,000 note and letter head contract. If THE BULLETIN fairly fills the bill, it shall have full credit, but at the same time its figures shall go before its home patrons, who have as much right to low rates as has the state of Illinois. Let THE BULLETIN come on with its linen paper at $2.25 per ream.—Barton's Free Press.

Barton can come on with his "appliances," etc. He will find THE BULLETIN bids on work, not after the Boston style, with fraud in sight. THE BULLETIN has the ability and does furnish to its home patrons any quantity considered linen paper, first-class, at $2.25 per ream. Where THE BULLETIN beat Barton was in having me to do the work and the machinery to do it with. THE BULLETIN pressroom was exactly three days doing what Barton would have required nearer three weeks to do—printed 30,000 note heads and 20,000 letter heads for The Southern Illinois Normal on first-class "C. S." linen paper exactly to sample furnished with our bid.

—The schools opened yesterday for the term. All but one of the rooms were opened and to judge from the number of children on the streets going to and from school, there was a good attendance in all these rooms. The one exception is in the colored school, where a teacher is still lacking owing to the several resignations.

But a colored man, J. H. Carter, of Marion, Ind., has signified his intention to take charge of this room and he will be here to-morrow when every room in the schools will be in full blast.

—Selma, Ala., has the most wonderful artesian well in the world. Two separate streams of water of entirely different properties flow from this well. This effect is produced by the insertion of a two-inch pipe within a four-inch tube. The larger pipe descends four hundred feet; the water has no mineral qualities, and is very cold. The inner pipe descends seven hundred feet; the water is strongly impregnated with sulphur and iron, and compassed with the temperature of the twin stream, is quite warm.

—Try Mary Ann. 3t

—Yesterday being the 1st of October, Mr. Birch, therefore agent for the Mobile & Ohio road only, took charge of the combined freight agencies at this point of the Mobile & Ohio, the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific and the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern railroads. The headquarters of this combination will be at the new Mobile & Ohio freight depot, where all the freight of these three roads will be handled. Commercial avenue will, therefore, henceforth, not be troubled much with freight traffic.

—Paducah News: "The local editor of THE CAIRO BULLETIN is respectfully informed that boy of cigars the News' reporter won from him in that base-ball match has not materialized at this office as yet. Cairo Argus please copy." The News' man is "off his base." If we remember aright, the News' man's wager was that the Cairo club would be beaten "two to one." According to the News' own account of the game the day after, the score stood 7 to 9. The News' man has evidently borrowed and "gone through" the Argus already.

—Mr. Daniel Hartman returned Sunday from a tour of the important cities of the east, where he selected a large stock of fancy goods of all kinds for the coming holiday season. The high-grade agitation here caused him to pay some attention in the several large cities he visited to the work on real estate performed there, and he declares that he saw done what he never believed mechanical skill capable of performing. A trip of inspection of this kind would probably do much to cure some people of the impression that the improvement proposed here is beyond the reach ordinary means and skill.

—Capt. T. N. Kimbrough, of the Waverly house, two years ago offered to raise his large house and the street in front of it above high-water mark, and would have done so if other property holders had agreed to do likewise. He believed then and he does now that whereas, under present conditions, his property is worth probably ten thousand dollars, it would, if raised as proposed, be worth forty thousand—he would refuse to take the latter sum, if it were raised now. But lately he had invested his surplus money in another enterprise, from which he did not desire to withdraw it, hence he had signed the foregoing paper.

Yet, if his neighbors were in favor of going up and the council ordered the street to be raised, he would be among the first to go to work and would put his hotel up to the new line.

—Mr. Desdemona said he gave his name to Mr. Saup and didn't know what that gentleman did with it. He is for raising if Mr. Saup is, and is against raising if Mr. Saup is against it.

—These five are all of the signers we were able to interview last evening. Of the other four Messrs. Cunningham and Kleb were just advocates of street filling movement, have, after matured deliberation, come to the conclusion that the filling scheme to the proposed height would be impracticable at the present time.

To whom it may concern: We the undersigned few citizens and property owners on Commercial avenue, who have been here more or less enthusiastic over and in favor of the proposed high grade movement, have, after matured deliberation, come to the conclusion that the filling scheme to the proposed height would be impracticable at the present time.

rectly and indirectly, the change would cost him from five to six thousand dollars, which would be more than he would like to expend. He fears also that in case the street were raised and Washington avenue remained low, business men would leave Commercial avenue for the bottoms and business would follow, which would hurt him materially. He would have a law passed compelling owners of low lots to fill them up to the present grade, would have half a dozen pumps put in operation, run by the several steam mills and manufacturing establishments, and would trust to the levees for security against the rivers and to internal enterprise for advancement.

Mr. Peter Saup was also a hearty supporter of high grade not a month ago; but he has reconsidered the matter and changed his opinion entirely. He has several houses on the avenue now and draws good rent from them. He believes he would not receive any more rent if he were to raise his houses, so that he would only be out the cost of raising. He believes also that business would be driven away from the street; that his property would decrease rather than increase in value. He believes that Cairo has not the facilities to become a city of any size, anyhow; that there is no demand for a large city here, as the surrounding country is not such as would require a large distributing point.

Mr. Peter Neff was also strongly in favor of raising not a month ago. He is strongly in favor of it yet, provided the filling will not be confined to Commercial avenue for a number of years. He fears that retail business will be driven back to the low streets if high grade is inaugurated on Commercial avenue alone, which would cause the abandonment of the houses on Commercial avenue, just as was the case on Ohio levee. The change would cost him not less than fifteen thousand dollars, which he could not now afford to spend. He would have to tear down his little brick at the corner of Eighth street and put up a new one, much more expensive, and the new one would not bring him any more rent than the present one does. He was getting high up into the fifties now, and did not care to go into huge enterprises requiring heavy expenditures of money. He believed that we are safer against overflow than ever before and might not be troubled with another flood for many years. He was doing very well with his property now, but did not think that he would do any better if he made the changes suggested, at least not enough better to
