

SAYS STRIKE WAS CAUSED BY SPIES

President of Telegraphers Accuses Corporation Spies of Causing the Stampede.

NEW LIGHT THROWN ON TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE

Small Believes that Spies Are Now Trying to Involve the Railroad Operators—No Arbitration Wanted.

The news famine in Globe continues and the only news from the outside is received in the papers received here daily. The Associated Press has discontinued the Silver Belt any news because Superintendent F. H. Lamb has notified them that it was impossible to send anything to Globe owing to the interference of railroad telegraphers.

Dangerous spies are in the Commercial Telegraphers union, according to President S. J. Small. These spies are responsible for the present stampede strike, he charges, and are also trying to cause a stampede of the railroad telegraphers.

"These spies are endeavoring to get us into as much trouble as possible," he said today. They manipulated things so that the stampede strike was begun, and are now using their every effort to spread the trouble to the railroad telegraphers.

"Do you charge them with bringing about the stampede strike?" asked International Secretary Russell, who as listening to President Small while he was making the charges.

"Yes," replied the strike leader. "We all know it is true and it is time for the public to learn the truth." President Small then said that huge financial interests were behind these spies.

The sensational statement of President Small placed a new light on the strike of telegraphers, and was said to demonstrate that the national officers had opposed the calling of the walk-out.

Officials of the telegraph companies said that they were securing new men every day. On the other hand, according to President Small, the entire south, the far west and the great northwest are without telegraphic communication.

Mr. Small gave out a sensational interview today as he prepared for his trip to New York on Saturday. "And I am not going there to seek arbitration," he declared. "All this talk about the companies doing a normal business is hush. The Western Union is only doing 2 per cent of its normal business. Ten per cent of this is done over the wires and 15 per cent is transmitted through the mails."

"Here is the condition in the south: New Orleans, Galveston and Memphis are not on the telegraphic map. You cannot send telegrams south of Louisville and there is only one operator at work there. It is connected with the Associated Press."

"This is the condition in the far west: San Francisco cannot be reached by telegraph. This is a condition that has existed since the inauguration of the strike."

"In the northwest: St. Paul is as far north as the two commercial companies can reach. Beyond that they are unable to handle a message."

"Reports from South Carolina indicate that every telegrapher in the state has gone on strike. That state is isolated from the world."

President Small said that he was willing that a committee should be appointed to investigate the strike-bound offices and ascertain whether they were running under "normal conditions," as the company officers claim.

"Superintendents Cook and Capen declare they are handling all the business that comes to them," said President Small. "We declare they are not. The way to determine is to send a committee of disinterested citizens through the offices and let them issue a statement to the public. That will settle it."

Neither of the superintendents was willing that a committee should enter the operating room of his company.

"It's our business and our's alone," declared Mr. Cook. "We are satisfied. Why shouldn't the men on strike be?" Union pickets today reported to headquarters that twenty strikebreakers employed by the Western Union and Postal companies deserted today.

strike, which was delivered today by President H. N. Sager of the Chicago Board of Trade, when he made this declaration: "It is time that the rulers of the nation step in and give these men justice. It is time that the conscience of the nation awake and rally to their relief."

"When a large class of working people of the intellectual caliber that these telegraphers represent is convinced that it is being wronged, and conditions arise, such as the strikers claim exist, it is high time for the moral conscience of the nation to awaken. I am going to a meeting of the strikers tonight and it is the first opportunity I have had to go."

GETS NEW MEMBERS FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Pat Rose, one of the members of the membership committee of the Globe Chamber of Commerce, started out to canvass the town on his own hook yesterday and before he got through he had twenty-two new members for the organization. Among the new members of the organization are H. R. Hovland, president of the Globe Consolidated Mining company, who is now in the city, and Mr. Hovland also enrolled the name of his partner, Hoyal A. Smith. Mr. Hovland states that the organization is a move in the right direction and he believes that the chamber will achieve splendid results for the city and the district.

Drunks Are Fined

In Judge Hinson Thomas' court yesterday Thomas Jackson and Albert Townsend were fined $7 each for being drunk and disorderly. They didn't have the necessary and went to jail for seven days each. F. E. Jordan was assessed $10 for a like offense, but paid himself out.

ALLEGED HORSE THIEF CAPTURED

Arthur Hale Wanted in Silver City Arrested by Ranger Bob Anderson

Arthur Hale, who for the past few months has been living in Gila county under the name of Smith, is in the county jail awaiting the arrival of an officer from Grant county, New Mexico, who will take him back to Silver City to stand trial for the theft of a team of mules early in the summer.

Hale was arrested at Timber Camp mountain by Ranger Bob Anderson, while he was working for Z. Hayes, a well known cattleman. The ranch is about forty miles east of Globe and the ranger brought his man in yesterday. Hale, or Smith, admitted to Sheriff Thompson that he is the man wanted by the Silver City sheriff.

C. D. Nelson, the sheriff of Grant county, has been communicating with the local authorities for some time, but it was only recently that Hale's identity became known to the officers. Anderson will receive a reward of $50 for the capture of Hale.

Hale evidently thought that he was far enough away from Silver City to be perfectly safe from capture, as he took part in the bronco busting tournament here on the Fourth of July under the name of Smith. He is a rather prepossessing young fellow and is not over 25 years old. Sheriff Nelson is expected here in a few days with requisition papers for Hale.

BOB DANIEL SELLS HIS MOUNTAIN VIEW SALOON

R. H. Daniel, who is now in jail waiting the action of the grand jury for the murder of James Brown was allowed to leave the county jail yesterday afternoon in order to close a deal for the sale of the Mountain View saloon in North Globe, of which he was the owner. He went down to the saloon in Sheriff Thompson's buggy, escorted by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Sturgis. The entire stock was sold to Thomas Donovan and L. H. Davis, who will operate the saloon under the firm name of Donovan, Davis & Co. Mr. Daniel also gave them a long time lease on the Mountain View property of which he is the sole owner.

Leaves for West

President Charles S. Smith of the Old Dominion and son Sumner left yesterday morning for Prescott. From there they will go to the coast for a few days and then to Colorado where Mr. Smith is interested in silver properties.

Judge Robertson Home Soon

Judge P. C. Robertson, who has been spending the summer on the coast, is now at Yuma paying a visit to his son, who is district attorney of Yuma county. The judge is expected home tomorrow or Tuesday.

Birthdays Surprise

Mrs. George Trener, wife of the popular Old Dominion shift boss, was the victim of an enjoyable surprise last evening at her home on School hill when a large number of her friends called to assist her in celebrating her thirty-third birthday anniversary. A portion of the Globe City band was present to furnish the music and a part of the evening was spent in dancing. Tempting refreshments were served and all had a delightful time. Mrs. Trener is the daughter of the foreman of the Eastpool mine, one of the largest tin mines in Cornwall, England.

LITTLE FELLOWS READY FOR FIGHT

Central American Armies Are Waiting for Orders to Commence Hostilities.

RECENT INVASION OF SALVADOR THE CAUSE

Guatemala and Salvador Will Be Pitted Against Honduras and Nicaragua—War Only Will Wipe Out the Insult.

MEXICO CITY, August 22.—Notwithstanding the strenuous efforts which are being made to avert the conflict it is now the opinion in well informed circles that little less than a miracle will prevent a clash and the initial battle is now only a question of days or hours. The armies of the four countries involved, Guatemala and Salvador against Nicaragua and Honduras, are in readiness to march into action at a few hours notice. For the first time yesterday the reasons which Guatemala will set forth as the cause belli were made known in this city. It is the recent action of Nicaragua in sending without warning or provocation an armed expedition on the Nicaraguan gunboat Momotombo against Salvador, the ally of Guatemala. This breach of the treaty of Amapala has never been repaired and continues to be an open question for discussion between Nicaragua on the one side and Salvador and Guatemala on the other. It is the general opinion in well informed circles that though this breach might and does constitute a casus belli, it is, at the same time, a matter which could be settled by arbitration with honor to all parties concerned.

Ever since President Zelaya's attack on Anajutla, President Figueroa has felt deeply aggrieved and became convinced that only war would wipe out the insult inflicted by his southern neighbor. In this opinion, it is said, he was completely alone in administrative circles, and it was only the threat of his cabinet ministers that they would resign in a body in the event that President Figueroa declared war that prevented the opening of hostilities three weeks ago. It is said that even though war is imminent the Salvadorean cabinet continues to oppose it. It is said that six weeks ago, at a meeting of his cabinet, General Figueroa declared that his forces would march upon Nicaragua within fifteen days. This announcement created a great sensation and pressure of all kinds was brought to bear in the interest of peace. The principal argument was the rapidly diminishing reserve fund in the national treasury. But Figueroa was obdurate and it was not long before the Salvadorean executive learned that President Estrada Cabrera of Guatemala, his ally, shared his opinion that only blood could wipe out the stains placed upon the pages of Salvadorean history by the willing and wily hand of Zelaya. The most surprising development, however, was that Guatemala, which had only recently escaped from what might have been a very serious entanglement with Mexico, should have taken the offensive and declared Salvador's cause its own. It was the transformation of the ally into the principal, and today Salvador stands as the ally ready to second the action of her northern neighbor. The game became more exciting when it was learned that Zelaya, far from feeling any apprehension as to final results, welcomed the issue with Estrada Cabrera as the aggressor and Figueroa as an ally, and immediately settled all doubts in the minds of the Hondurans as to the stand which should be taken by them by the extensive circulation of the report in that country of the old but much repeated story of the intention of Guatemala and Salvador to conquer Honduras, and so divide it that Salvador should have its first and Guatemala another seaport on the Atlantic. This, it is said, has always been Zelaya's winning card when playing for Honduran support, and it is also said that no revolutionary movement can stand up against it.

As to the final result, the consensus of opinion seems to be that after a long and bloody war Guatemala and her ally will crush the forces of Zelaya and Davila. But the former taking the offensive will cause greater loss of life and a greater delay in deciding the question than should Zelaya and Davila take the offensive. The only hope of pacifying the belligerents is active and effective interference. It is believed that Mexico will maintain neutrality from the start, but it is confidently believed that the American government will raise a warning finger. If this sign is not heeded, the big neighbor of the north may adopt more active measures, but quick action will not be required should the United States hope for the preservation of peace.

WASHINGTON, August 23.—A distinct forward movement toward the establishment of permanent peace in Central America was made today when, upon invitation of the state department, Senator Ugarte, representative in this country of the provisional government of Honduras, called upon Acting Secretary of State Adee and was by him informed that the American government had decided to extend formal recognition to the government of President Davila.

CASE AGAINST CHARLEY DAVIS IS DISMISSED

The preliminary hearing of Charley Davis, charged with the murder of W. H. Kenny several weeks ago, was dismissed yesterday for lack of evidence. Davis had been arrested after the coroner's jury had exonerated him from all blame in killing Kenny, and his hearing was set for Thursday. It was continued until yesterday morning and on motion of District Attorney Henry the case was dismissed and Davis' bondsmen were exonerated. There was no evidence on which Davis should be held to the grand jury.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS WILL GIVE PERFORMANCE

Lawrence McCarthy, an actor of national reputation, who has been in Globe for the last month, announces on behalf of Pinal Mountain Lodge, K. of P., that on the evening of September 11 the play of "Damon and Pythias" will be presented at the Dreamland theater by Mr. McCarthy, supported by a company of local thespians selected from the local lodge. The veteran actor states that the play, although produced by home talent, will be the finest ever seen in this city. Mr. McCarthy has put on the performance in other cities of Arizona and the territorial press has been high in its praise of him and his performances.

ALLEGED WIFE BEATER HELD TO GRAND JURY

Guy Dixon, who was arrested several days ago at Solomonsville on a charge of beating his wife in Globe several months ago, was given a preliminary hearing in Judge Thomas' court yesterday afternoon. His wife was the only witness against him and no defense was made. Dixon was held to the grand jury on a charge of aggravated assault but was released upon his own recognizance.

"KID" THOMPSON WANTS A PARDON

Former Arizona Desperado Now Serving Life Term in California Makes Appeal.

GAVE NOTABLE SERVICE WHILE IN YUMA PRISON

Rendered Valuable Aid During Flood—Has Been in Prison for Train Robbery for the Last Thirteen Years.

Surveyor General Ingalls yesterday received a letter from W. H. Thompson, better known as Kid Thompson, who is serving a life sentence at Folsom for train robbery. He has served thirteen years of the sentence. Thompson asks the surveyor general to start a movement for securing a commutation of the sentence, according to the Republican. Thompson is encouraged to make this appeal by the fact that he served a term in Yuma while General Ingalls was superintendent of the prison in 1881, and when he assisted in performing a signal service to the people of Yuma.

Thompson writes: "Like a bad penny, I seem to turn up pretty regularly, but as I am now about to make an effort to regain my liberty after having served thirteen years of a life sentence in prison, I know of no one to whom I can apply in my extremity, better able, and I hope willing, to help me, than yourself. I venture to recall to your memory the memorable flood at Yuma where you so heroically worked to save the life and property and where and when I, to the extent of my limited ability, seconded your efforts. I trust that you can conscientiously overlook my many errors for the sake of one good deed rendered, etc."

The surveyor is asked to bring the matter to the attention of Gondolfo & Sanguinetti, Ed Tovrea and others who lived in Yuma at that time, as well as the officials of the Southern Pacific, who then promised to assist the writer for his performance on the night of the flood. The warden at Folsom, he says, will assist in the movement to the extent of testifying to the good record the writer has made in the prison.

Thompson, who was for some years regarded as a bad man in this territory, is said to be not of a naturally bad disposition, but that the spirit of adventure led him into his many crimes. It is forgotten for what particular offense he served at Yuma, but after that he participated in one or two railroad robberies in this territory. He was not arrested for any of them, though. But in 1893 he and another man robbed a train north of Los Angeles and Thompson fled to Arizona. He was captured not far from Phoenix and was detained at the jail of this county until he could be removed to California.

Couldn't Prove Charge

W. L. Andrey, bartender at McDonough's, who was arrested on the charge of assaulting Jerry Dougherty, had his trial yesterday afternoon in Judge Thomas' court and was discharged. Dougherty, it appears, was drunk and rather obstreperous at the time that Andrey ejected him from the third parlor and the victim of the alleged assault was unable to remember whether or not he had been struck by the bartender.

DESPERADO FAILS TO PUT UP FIGHT

Juan Ponce, Who Sent Word to Morenci Deputy Sheriff, Takes to the Hills.

ALLEGED MURDERER IS A RANK FOUR-FLUSHER

Officers Went to Capture Him at Silver Bell and Bold Bad Man Hides Out—Man Arrested for Him by Mistake.

To put it in common terms, Juan Ponce is a four-flusher. Ponce is the would-be desperado who shot his wife some time ago in Morenci and after giving authorities a lively chase skipped out, later sending a threatening letter to Deputy Sheriff Glen Scott of Graham county, daring the officer to follow him. Ponce in the letter to Scott stated that he had a gun and would use it on the deputy at the first opportunity, and in the letter made several other statements which would indicate that he was a bad man.

Scott immediately accepted the challenge of the desperado and in company with Deputy Mungia of Graham county started for Silver Bell, where it was reported that Ponce was in hiding. Upon arrival in that camp, the officers were informed that Ponce had taken to the hills, and they started at once in pursuit. The mountains around Silver Bell were thoroughly scoured, but no Ponce was to be found. In disgust the two deputies abandoned the chase and returned to Silver Bell. Shortly after their return to the camp, much to their surprise, they were informed that Ponce was in a building down the street a short way and was making no effort to keep his presence in town a secret. The officers at once started for the building where the outlaw was said to be, and finding a man they supposed to be Ponce they placed him under arrest. The man who was arrested denied that he was the one wanted, however, claiming that he was a miner and saying that the first he had ever heard of Ponce was when the Citizen containing the story was received at Silver Bell. The two deputies from Graham county were rather inclined to believe the man's straightforward story and after a short time they were able to verify his statements and he was turned loose.

Ponce is evidently one of those bad men who grow brave as the distance between him and his pursuers becomes greater. That he was in Silver Bell at one time is believed by both Scott and Mungia, and the local authorities are also inclined to the same belief. Ponce after putting some distance between himself and the Graham county officer, who was on his trail, being strong in the belief that he was safe, wrote the challenge to Scott and then heard from Silver Bell. He evidently had taken up the gauntlet which he had so recklessly thrown down, and hid the trail. When he saw that his bad had been called by the intrepid officer from Morenci, Ponce lost his nerve and immediately took steps to get out of the way.

Scott and Mungia, convinced that Ponce had given them the double cross and made good his escape, after making such fierce talk, passed through this city last night on their way home. Both stated that it was their opinion that the last had been heard of the fire eating Ponce, but they both declare that if they ever get their hands on him, or get within shooting distance of him, it will be taps for the bad man.

A ROMANCE THAT BEGAN IN GLOBE

Former Railroad Man Wins the Daughter of British Nobility—Wed in New Mexico

(Special correspondence) SILVER CITY, N. M., August 20.—One of the prettiest romances in real life came to a climax in this city this morning when Miss Ethel Vivian Bramwell of Maidstone, Kent, England, and Mr. Van A. Pollock of this city were married by the Rev. Mr. Wheatley. The romantic meeting, courtship and happy final are worth recording. Miss Bramwell and her brother, the Hon. H. Percy Bramwell, grandchildren of the late Sir Percival Ewing Bramwell, an English nobleman and distinguished in British politics, and children of the late Colonel John W. Ewing Bramwell, A. D. C., while making a tour of the states, visited Globe, Ariz., on their way from the Grand canyon to Yosemite Valley, California. During the stay in Globe Mr. Pollock, who was then employed on the S. P. railroad, was instrumental in discovering part of the lost baggage of Miss Bramwell, which had been sent by mistake to another city.

The smile which the now Mrs. Pollock bestowed on him while thanking him for his exertions on behalf of herself and brother made a deep impression, and from that moment a mutual feeling of admiration dates. The stay in Globe was prolonged and Mr. Pollock became the companion and guide of the distinguished visitors. On their departure for the Yosemite, near which Mr. Bramwell owns a large section of orchard and vineyards, a promise of prompt report of arrival was given and from this a correspondence, which only terminated at the altar, commenced. Mr. Pollock in the meantime removed from Globe to this vicinity, and his fiancée concluded to make him a happy man, and as she smilingly remarked, "carry him home to England." The honeymoon will be spent in traveling through the eastern states, visiting Jamestown and Niagara, from which latter place they will go on an extended holiday, via Montreal, to the bride's home in England. The young bride is the only daughter of Colonel Bramwell, and an heiress to several thousand pounds sterling, and mistress of a pretty and lucrative estate in England. It is the intention of Mr. and Mrs. Pollock to return and permanently reside in front of Green's saloon on the other side of the bridge. Mr. Pascoe was thrown from the rig, landing on his head, and for about five minutes he was unconscious. When he regained his senses he was able to get home without assistance. Considerable excitement was caused by the runaway, and it was reported shortly afterward that Mr. Pascoe had been killed.

MACHINIST FOUND DEAD IN OIL POOL

El Paso Police Mystified by a Supposed Crime Committed There Friday Night.

THREE FEET OF WATER AND OIL HIDE BODY

Gash on Head Is Only Indication of Foul Play—Was Employed as Machinist by the Southwestern Company.

EL PASO, Texas, August 24.—With a gash behind his left ear and blood coming from his mouth and ears, the body of Gregorio G. Garcia was found yesterday morning shortly before noon at the bottom of the trench of an engine pit in the El Paso & Southwestern roundhouse in East El Paso.

Garcia was a machinist employed in the Southwestern shops here, and disappeared Thursday afternoon. Yesterday morning a fellow mechanic made the gruesome find. The body was covered with the oil and water which filled the trench to a depth of several feet. There were no marks of violence about the corpse other than the gash on the head, about an inch in length, which, with the contusion around it, had been apparently inflicted with some blunt instrument.

The pit where the body was found is probably three or four feet deep with a narrow trench, about eighteen inches wide, running down its length. In this trench water and oil from the engines had accumulated to a depth of three feet, and the body was hidden beneath the greasy fluid.

Coroner Marshall viewed the remains and made inquiries of several of the employees of the shops, but was unable to gather any information leading to the cause of the machinist's death. The certificate signed by the coroner reads death caused by the deceased having his head crushed.

No testimony has been taken by Coroner Marshall, but an investigation will be held with a view to discovering if possible the cause of death. Whether the machinist was murdered and his body thrown into the water, with the idea of concealment, or whether his death was accidental is a question that will probably not be determined by the investigation, as no witnesses have so far been found who can throw any light on the mystery.

Garcia was 28 years old and a very intelligent Mexican.

SPLENDID RECORD AT COPPER GULF

Former Globe Mining Man Is Making Good in New Mexico—Is Regular Shipper

There is considerable local interest in the Copper Gulf Development company of Silver City, N. M., a flotation of Messrs. Hovland and Smith, who promoted the Globe Consolidated. E. A. Wayne, formerly superintendent of the Globe Consolidated, is general manager of the company and also a director and his many friends in Globe will be pleased to learn that he is making good in his new position. The Silver City Independent says of the progress at the mine and the recent election of officials:

The Copper Gulf Development company, operating the Virginia and other properties in the copper belt in the Barro, recently closed a most successful year. The richness of the Virginia mine has been known for years, as it was one of the first properties in the Leopold district to show large bodies of ore. The new company which acquired the property only a year or so ago, has done much development work and in addition has made the mine a steady producer. It is not known to what extent the company has been sending out the ore, but it must be in the neighborhood of a carload a day. Mr. E. A. Wayne, who is general manager of the company, has proved himself a capable man.

The first annual meeting of the company was held in Silver City last week when the directors present visited the scene of the company's operations at Leopold and made a thorough inspection of the property and the work being done. Everything was found to be satisfactory and Mr. Wayne was complimented on his management. He was again appointed general manager.

The following members of the company were present: Thos. A. Merritt, T. H. Merritt, L. M. Merritt, C. F. Joyce of Duluth, Minn.; H. B. Hovland, H. A. Smith, Bisbee; E. A. Wayne, Silver City. The following comprise the officers for the ensuing year: President, D. L. Fairchild, Duluth; vice president, H. B. Hovland, Bisbee; E. A. Wayne, general manager. These gentlemen, with L. M. Merritt of Duluth and Walter A. Barrows of Pennsylvania form the board of directors.

ELKS AND EAGLES WILL CLASH TODAY

Exciting Ball Game Anticipated Between Two Popular Globe Lodges

The ball game between the Elks and Eagles this afternoon is expected to be one of the most exciting contests ever witnessed in this city. Only last night was the lineup of the two teams made public and the announcement was immediately followed by considerable betting activity among the followers of both teams. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock. Horns will be provided for rooters whose volleys are not strong on any rooster roasting the umpire. Both managements wish it distinctly understood that the ball players, as the umpire is a volunteer and consequently will get no pay. Ed Stewart, the Elks twirler, was up until midnight practicing for the game and at 1 o'clock this morning announced that he was in condition to pitch the game of his life. John Atkins, the Eagles' curve, mixologist, cut out his usual night sluff game and got in fine shape by rolling boulders down the side of the Pinals, and at 2 o'clock this morning he is reported to have retired after eating a hearty meal consisting of fricassee chicken and white wine.

The next game with which the Globe team will play will be with the Corbets of the Tucson City league next Sunday and another game will be played on the following Monday, which will be Labor Day. The Corbets have defeated the Armstrongs, who played here last Sunday, but were themselves defeated last Sunday by the Groves of the league. The battery for Globe on Sunday will be Collins and Pinyon and the Tucson battery will be Myron and Elgin. Smith will probably pitch the second game for Globe.

Phoenix is having a hard time getting together a baseball team that can deliver the goods. The defeats which Globe administered to Curley Biederle's team seems to have put them to the bad and with a bad drubbing by the combined Prescott and Humboldt nines, has evidently put them down and out. The Phoenicians, however, promise to have a strong team in the Tucson tournament in October.

Humboldt no longer has a ball team. The boys from the smelter town, or rather the Los Angeles boys who have been playing there, were simultaneously released after Prescott had taken a bad fall out of them, and now most of the Humboldt players are holding down positions on the Prescott team.

Freddie Green, Globe's star fielder, has played in every game this season without making an error. In one of the games he held down second bag.
