Current News of Busy Globe Told in Brevities

New Court Reporter.—Ralph W. Sturgis has resigned his position as court reporter of the Fifth judicial district, to take effect in October, and his successor has been named by Judge Nave.

New Electric Machinery.—The first shipment of machinery for the new electric light plant arrived here yesterday and is now being unloaded.

Ryan Takes a Partner.—John J. Moloney has purchased an interest in the book and stationery business of Supervisor William Ryan and the firm will now be known as Ryan & Co.

Barrett to Move.—The Barrett Drug company will soon move into the Amster building, adjoining the postoffice.

Coming to Globe.—A Mesa correspondent, writing in the Phoenix Republican, says: James Daley has just returned from a visit to Globe, where he leased a building and will move his pool hall to that point.

Pleasantly Surprised.—On Tuesday evening Miss Fannie Bowden was pleasantly surprised by about forty of her young friends at the pleasant Bowman home in North Globe.

New Collection Agency.—James R. Gibson, late of the Maden Agency, and Frank W. McElroy, formerly with the Gila County Abstract company, have formed a co-partnership and have opened a collection agency. Mr. Gibson will officiate as general manager and Mr. McElroy as secretary treasurer.

The Stork Walks.—A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Crumb at the McLain ranch on Sunday night.

Another School Opens.—The school in Star Valley District No. 16 opened with a large attendance on Monday. J. G. Benneke is teacher.

Cases Continued.—The two cases set for trial in district court next Monday have, by stipulation, been continued until the November term. This will give Judge Nave an opportunity of protracting his visit on the Pacific coast.

Caught by Cupid.—A marriage license was issued yesterday to J. C. Givens and Miss Christa Wilkins, both of Globe.

Shy on Evidence.—The two young Mexican boys held for investigation in connection with the burglary of the Morelo store were discharged in Justice Thomas' court yesterday. There was almost a total absence of evidence.

Discharged from Hospital.—Julius Pileh, who lost the greater portion of his left hand in an accident at the Old Dominion planing mill last week, was discharged from the hospital yesterday. The surgeons found it necessary to amputate all of the hand, save the thumb.

A Romantic Zephyr.—George L. Borrough, employed at the Old Dominion smelter, picked up an ordinary beer bottle yesterday on the approach to the hall of Globe Miners' union, which contained a one-dollar bill and a note reading: "Finder will please address Miss Marie Vantrot, 312 Wesley street, Greenville, Texas." Borrough has addressed a letter to the young lady and is awaiting developments.

J. WATT HOGUE President JAMES W. HOGUE Vice President and Cashier Tommy's prize composition on hair, Indians fleas, and when it comes to the question of raising hair, the Apache Indian on the San Carlos agency is without a peer in his line. He has some talent in the arts of raising fleas and an occasional drunk. The mental strength in his field of thought raises the scalp line to such an extent as to produce a luxuriant hair growth. The Malay and the Hindoo run him a close second. The Fiji Islander and the Hottentots also raise good hair and some of the Cane grows well in swampy fields. Raising Cain is mighty dangerous work and the best workers in raising hair and Cain must usually have a swampy collection just below the hair line. Fish lines are used to fasten on to worms to wash them off in the water where folks hunt for fish. Some fish and some people bite at any kind of bait they see.
