YUMA MAN CHARGED WITH KILLING SEVEN

RECORD OF REVOLTING CRIMES REVEALED AFTER A 20-YEAR SENTENCE IS PASSED

KILLED WOMAN IN A MONROVIA, CAL., A NUMBER OF YEARS AGO

Investigation Discloses a Long List of Heinous Butcheries, and the Man May Be Tried for a Crime that Will Send Him to the Gallows.

TUCSON, Ariz., October 23.—W. F. Cooper, court stenographer for this district, returned yesterday from Yuma, where he has been in attendance upon the regular October term of court in that place.

Mr. Cooper stated this morning that during the term in Yuma, presided over by Judge Campbell, a Mexican by the name of Murillo had been found guilty of murder and that shortly after sentence had been pronounced, it was discovered that Murillo is also accused of murdering a woman in Monrovia, Cal.

As investigation was at once started by the authorities, and as time went on four or five other murders were brought to light, all of which Murillo is accused of committing.

Some time ago Murillo killed a man in Yuma, stabbing him to death. The fight started in a saloon during a drunken brawl and later on Murillo found his man alone in the yard behind the bar and pumped him.

and degree. Judge Campbell sentenced him to twenty years' imprisonment in Yuma. It was brought to light that Murillo is accused of the murder of a woman in Monrovia and the farther the investigation that was being pursued by the authorities went, the blacker became the record of the man. It is now thought that he is guilty of at least five other murders beside the one that he committed in Yuma and the one that he is accused of having committed in Monrovia.

MYSTERIOUS FIND OF EMPTY GRAVE

NEW MADE MOUND DISCOVERED IN A THICKET OF MESQUITE—EXCAVATION DISCLOSED THAT BODY HAD BEEN REMOVED.

PHOENIX, Ariz., October 23.—An uncanny and mysterious discovery was reported to the sheriff's office yesterday by a Mr. Walker, who owns a farm south of the cemetery. He said he had reason to believe that someone had dug a grave on his premises. It was located in a thicket of mesquite and might have remained undiscovered for weeks except for accident. His little daughter was riding through the thicket the day before and came upon a mound of fresh earth which had all the appearance of a newly made grave. Mr. Walker examined it and it had the same appearance to him. He set a Mexican to work throwing the loose earth out. The Mexican did not go about his task with a great deal of enthusiasm and the longer he dug the slower he dug. When he had attained a depth of three feet his superstitious fears overcame him and he refused to dig any more.

That was yesterday morning and Mr. Walker came to town and reported the incident. Deputy Sheriff McCann went with a couple of men and finished the digging. They threw all the loose earth out and found nothing, but they convinced themselves that the hole had been a grave. It was six feet in depth and about seven feet long. The ground in that vicinity is peculiarly hard, so that one would not dig such a hole for fun. The sides and ends of the hole were quite smooth, though not quite so regular as a grave made by a professional gravedigger would be, but the excavation was doubtless made in the night and in more or less haste.

The officers are quite certain that a body was buried there and removed recently. The matter will probably be further investigated. This grave is on the south side of the railroad track, opposite that part of the burying ground known as the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

JOHNSON PLACES A VALUE OF $27,250 ON NAME

HAS BROUGHT SUIT TO RECOVER THAT AMOUNT FOR FALSE IMPRISONMENT

A CASE WHICH ORIGINATED OVER TRIVIAL INCIDENT IN THE EARLY NINETIES

Powers Persecuted Johnson and Now Johnson is Prosecuting Powers—Both Are Mining Magnates, Owning Rich and Important Properties.

TUCSON, Ariz., October 23.—Most everyone down in Santa Cruz county knows James Johnson, who lives in Patagonia and for more than a year has been opening the Ivanhoe mine, eight miles west of that town. Then there is Frank Powers, known not only in Santa Cruz county, but throughout the territory as the owner of the really famous World's Fair mine, located twelve miles east of Patagonia, and held by the owner at a valuation of about $1,000,000. Here you have the principal characters in a dramatic comedy that commenced out there some few years ago, and has now reached Tucson on a transference to the district court here by agreement.

Johnson was arrested late in 1903 charged with digging holes in and building fences across a highway down in that county, at the instigation of Powers. Johnson was bound over to the grand jury upon a felony charge. In December of the same year he was indicted by the grand jury. In June, 1904, his case reached the trial stage, but he was discharged upon motion of the district attorney, who declared that there was insufficient evidence upon which to base the serious charge made.

Now comes Mr. Johnson with an action against Powers, alleging that by reason of the foregoing he was out in time and direct expense the sum of $250, and a further sum of $2,000 in attorneys' fees. It is further alleged: "That he was greatly injured in his person by being imprisoned and by being forced to leave his home and attend the trial of the case, and that he was greatly injured in mind and body by the great agony and worry occasioned by being thus prosecuted as a criminal to the sum of $15,000. That he has been greatly scandalized among his neighbors and injured in his good name and reputation to his damage in the sum of $10,000."

FLOOD IN SALT RIVER SUBSIDING

DAMAGE TO HEAD OF ARIZONA CANAL IS MUCH LIGHTER THAN WAS AT FIRST REPORTED—BIG FORCE AT WORK REPAIRING.

PHOENIX, Ariz., October 23.—The flood in Salt river is rapidly subsiding, but the stream is still far from normal. The water is flowing over the joint head dam, but it is thought that by tomorrow that structure will no longer be hidden from view. The damage to the Arizona head was even more slight than was reported Saturday to Engineer Reed. The distance across which the top of the dam has been washed off, leaving the base intact, was estimated at one hundred feet. Engineer Hill, when he returned Saturday night, said the damage did not extend over seventy feet.

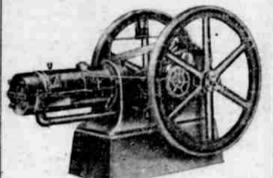

The loose rocks laid on top of the foundation were merely toppled off on the lower side of the dam. Here they are far from useless, since they afford that much extra support for the base. Men were set to work early Saturday morning blasting out huge rocks from the quarry above with which to repair the damage. Engineer Reed said this morning that it would not be longer than four or five days at most until everything was in shape again. The water which remains in the Arizona does not amount to a great deal, but will serve to furnish the farmers with stock water enough to last them until the ditch is again running full capacity. The stream measures up between 500 and 1,000 inches today. Saturday it was 1,200 inches, and it was hoped this would be permanent. That, however, was impossible. The decline of the river's water naturally caused a smaller stream to be forced into the canal. Several wagonloads of men and supplies were sent up yesterday to help out the force already on the ground.
