

TRY TO SMOTHER BIG MINE FIRE WITH BULKHEADS

Shattuck Officials Say Fire Will Be Out When the Bulkheads Are Removed Today.

DO NOT KNOW WHETHER SHAFT OR LEVELS BURNING

Flames Appear Above Opening When Bulkhead Was Taken Out—Origin Remains Mystery to the Officials.

Special to the Silver Belt. BISBEE, Ariz., November 22.—In statements made today by Superintendent B. M. Pattison and other officials of the Shattuck-Arizona mine, the fire that originated Tuesday night in the shaft or stopes of the Shattuck-Arizona mine has been smothered and that comparatively little damage has been inflicted, although it is impossible to assure the latter. The mine was opened yesterday for the first time since the bulkheads were placed, shortly after the discovery of the flames, and a great volume of gas and smoke poured from the shaft when the bulkheads were removed. The bulkheads were immediately replaced and will be left thus until tomorrow, when, after their removal, another volume of water will be sent down the shaft. An attempt will then be made to explore the underground workings. Absolutely nothing is known about the origin or location of the fire, as the mine has been inaccessible either from the shaft or through the drift of the Cuprite shaft of the Copper Queen, the only two means of entrance of the mine. The consensus of opinion is that the flames were confined to the shaft, although stifling fumes in the Cuprite drift have blocked the entrance, and the mines connect many hundred feet from the shaft of the Shattuck. The fire is evidently near the shaft or in it, as flames were visible above the opening, but the exact location, like the origin of the fire, can only be guessed at. Many theories have been advanced, some of which have been substantiated, but it is thought that roughly aired details will be learned, providing, of course, that the belief that the fire is smothered proves true.

BIG OCEAN LINER WITH GOLD GALORE ENDS FIRST TRIP

Mauretania Reaches America on Maiden Voyage with $12,500,000 in Gold

NEW YORK, November 22.—Poking her nose through a dense fog that hid the coast, the biggest and most luxurious steamship ever launched in any sea passed safely on her bridal voyage, when the Cunard line steamship Mauretania came to anchor off Sandy Hook lightship, five days, five hours and ten minutes from Queenstown. She was bearing a fortune of $12,500,000 in gold for the money market of the west and had fought her way through 3,000 miles of storm-swept ocean, battling every mile of the course to defeat the world's trans-Atlantic record of four days, eighteen hours and forty minutes, made by the Lusitania. Headwinds and tumultuous seas baffled the attempt, yet the Mauretania was the right to fly one "blue ribbon" at her peak. On Thursday the huge ship went 624 knots, smashing all marine records.

MISSIONARIES IN CHINA TO BE HELPED

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 22.—The state department has received copies of an edict issued by the Chinese imperial authorities enjoining territorial officials to assure utmost protection to foreign missionaries in China as well as to Chinese proselytes of the mission. The edict recites the fact that recently there has been a habit of circulating false reports about the work of missionaries and orders local officials to promptly post the edict and make provisions authorizing foreigners to preach their doctrines in China and that they are observed under penalty of condign punishment.

TO INVESTIGATE BANKS AND LAWS GOVERNING THEM

California Legislature to Appoint Joint Commission—Commissioners Ignorant.

WANT PRESIDENT TO RECONSIDER DECISION

Sunset Statesmen Seem to Want Roosevelt President for Third Term—Resolution to This Effect Introduced.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., November 22.—The senate this afternoon adopted the concurrent resolution calling for the appointment of a legislative commission to investigate banks and trust companies and the banking laws of the state. The measure calls for the appointment of three senators and three assemblymen with power to investigate banking institutions and corporations. Senator Anderson was opposed to probing the inside affairs of banks, he said, because it would excite people more and make conditions worse. Senator Belshaw ventured the opinion that if even "the bank commissioners were called before the committee to explain conditions and methods of banks they wouldn't know what they were talking about." "Bank commissioners don't know anything about banking," declared he, "because they are not bankers." Rooseveltism Assemblyman W. G. Smith today introduced in the lower house of the legislature a resolution asking Roosevelt to reconsider his decision not to become a candidate for re-election. The resolution will come up for discussion tomorrow and is as follows: "Whereas, the nation has enjoyed an unprecedented era of prosperity, we believe that the confidence reposed in our worthy president has in a large measure been responsible for the prosperity, and we believe that an announcement by Roosevelt that he will be a candidate would be the means of bringing order out of the present unsettled conditions. Resolved, That as the assembly assembled in extraordinary session requests the president to reconsider his decision not to become a candidate for re-election."

Gillett Gets Busy. SACRAMENTO, California, November 22.—Gov. Gillett today took a hand in the work of the legislature and quickly brought order out of chaos. Evidently fearing the body would accomplish nothing in the way of affording relief to the courts by empowering them to transact business on special holidays he summoned a subcommittee of the judiciary committee of each house to confer with him. The committees met the governor and within a half hour came to an agreement on the necessary amendments to the statutes which will throw open the doors of the courts. The governor was particular that the measure be broad enough to permit grand juries to make investigations of crimes and return indictments on holidays.

UNEMPLOYED RUSH ACROSS FRONTIER

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., November 22.—Unemployed laborers from the United States are pouring over the frontier into Canada, drawn by tales of great Canadian prosperity and demand for labor in railway construction camps. Hundreds who land in Canada are paupers and as there is no work for them it is almost certain that they will spend the winter as vagrants in county jails. United States officials, it is claimed, when these men seek to return, will refuse all but American citizens and all others will be required to pay the head tax.

Upon leaving the White House after being with the president an hour and a half, Morgan, on being asked in regard to developments, replied that conditions in New York were reassuring. He said that everything possible is being done to relieve the money stringency and that the situation is satisfactory. Morgan said his object in coming to Washington was to see Cortelyou in furtherance of a conference he had with the secretary in New York last week, at which time means were discussed for further relief of the situation. He saw Cortelyou before going to the White House and called on the president to pay his respects. Morgan will probably return to New York tomorrow. He could not say whether he would again see the president before leaving.

MINING STUDENT HELD FOR CRIME

Believed to Have Been Implicated in Murder Committed Last Summer

BERKELEY, Cal., November 22.—Although suicide as the result of unrequited love was thought to have caused the death of Frank Bellows, who was found lying dead in Claremont in July, the police have taken into custody Henry G. Kleinschmidt, a young student of the college of mining of the University of California, and are making a thorough investigation of the reason for Kleinschmidt's request addressed to the coroner after Bellows' death that the matter be hushed up because it involved an innocent girl. Both men are said to have been attentive to the same young woman and Bellows was known to have called on Kleinschmidt the night before his death. Kleinschmidt denies that he had any quarrel with Bellows and insists that there is no reason for detaining him.

WANT SUSPENSION ASSESSMENT WORK UNTIL JANUARY '09

Governor Kibbey Favors the Movement to Be Inaugurated by Chamber of Commerce

MEETING WILL BE HELD TONIGHT TO TAKE STEP

Believed that Congress Will Grant Suspension at Session Which Begins Early Next Month—Some Opposition.

There will be a special meeting of the Globe chamber of commerce tonight in the district courtroom to consider the adoption of resolutions asking other similar bodies in mining districts to petition congress for a suspension of assessment work on mining claims until January, 1909, such as was granted by congress in 1893-1894. The movement was started by a number of Globe district claim owners who took up the matter with Governor Kibbey yesterday. The governor promised that he would do all in his power to bring the matter to the attention of congress, through Delegate Mark A. Smith, and through a personal appeal to President Roosevelt. Congress meets early next month and it is believed that a suspension of assessment work would be granted almost unanimously by the national legislators if properly brought to their attention. There is a variance of opinion as to the benefits to be derived from such a measure, among the mining men of the Globe district, a number of whom were seen by a Silver Belt representative last evening, but a majority appear to favor the movement. All interested in mining, whether or not they are members of the chamber of commerce, are invited to attend the meeting this evening at 8 o'clock and take part in the discussion.

MRS. BRADLEY HAD A FEW RELATIVES WHO WERE INSANE

Witnesses Testify that Taint of Insanity in Family Was Quite Strong

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 22.—The criminal court in which Annie M. Bradley is being tried on the charge of murdering Senator Brown will hold no session tomorrow. When court adjourned today the defense had practically completed the presentation of proof and there is very little remaining except the testimony of experts, who will be introduced for the purpose of showing that when Mrs. Bradley shot Senator Brown she was insane. Practically the entire day was consumed by the defense in presenting evidence by witnesses from Salt Lake City to show that there was a taint of insanity in her family, and especially on her mother's side. Judge Henderson, Brown's former partner, reiterated that when Brown signed the statement acknowledging the children by Mrs. Bradley he might have been intoxicated. Lyman Shrewsbury, postmaster at Bonny Done, Cal., related by marriage to Mrs. Bradley, said that her grandfather is now paralyzed, that her grandfather in her mother's side had been wrong in her mind and that his own wife, a sister of Mrs. Bradley, had been irrational whenever she worried, for several years before her death. Shrewsbury said that on one occasion Mrs. Shrewsbury became so fierce it was necessary to take her to Los Angeles. At that time she was armed with a knife and revolver and had no doubt that at such a time his wife was insane. He said that another sister of Mrs. Bradley's mother, Mrs. Ryan, had been sent to an asylum. He was several times prompted by Mrs. Shrewsbury and said that Mrs. Bradley's reputation in Utah was good.
