ARE YOU A HUSTLER?

If you could learn how to become a successful Lawyer within 3 months from the time you begin to study, you would consider it worth a fortune.

If you could learn how to become a successful Physician within 3 months from the time you begin to study, the chances are that you would hang out your shingle just about 3 months from to-day.

I can offer what I know is just as great an inducement to such as are just fled.

If you are honest; if you are ambitious to get on in the world; if you are energetic; if you have something to work for; if you have an object in life; if you are not afraid to work like every man must work in order to write "Success" by the side of his name; if you want to learn a profession which, to the man who succeeds, is the most independent and grateful profession of which I have knowledge; if you want to Engage in Business for Yourself, without the investment of any capital excepting your Brains—Energy—and Time; if you feel that you can meet these conditions, then I can teach you a profession within 90 Days that will enable you to take care of yourself at all times in any civilized community in the world.

In no profession of which I have knowledge are the opportunities either as great or as quick of realization as in that of Life Insurance.

Life Insurance Solicitors earn from nothing to $30,000 per year, and one man has as good an opportunity as another.

With the aid of my Insurance Works, any man of average intelligence can quickly acquire the benefit of Years of practical Field experience—obtained at a cost of Thousands upon Thousands of Dollars—and can, by proper study, qualify himself for intelligent work within a period ranging from 30 Days to 3 Months—according to the application and qualifications of the apprentice.

Fully 90 per cent. of all the Life Insurance Solicitors who resign give up in disgust, simply because they were never taught the business and undertook to sell something they didn't know anything about.

My publications represent—up to date—an actual Cash expenditure exceeding Three Thousand Five Hundred Dollars—($3,500)—and an amount of Time the money value of which—to me—would not be covered with $20,000.

My works are not for sale at the present time, at any price, but I furnish the use of them

Free of Charge to solicitors operating through this agency; exacting only a proper Bond of good faith for the prompt return of the works on written or verbal demand.

To a certain percentage of solicitors the equipment which I furnish may have no value; but it is worth a fortune to all who are not led to use it.

There is a good opening for Solicitors who enjoy the confidence of the community in which they live; who can meet the requirements outlined herein.

The Following Testimonials may be of Interest:

NEW ORLEANS, La., January 6, 1894. M. L. COHN, ESQ., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

DEAR SIR—The announcement of the completion and publication of "The Field Worker," press proofs and manuscript per month profit in my work, gives me much pleasure.

With "Quickstarts," the only clear and forcible exposition of legitimate life insurance, and "The Field Worker," the first practical instructor in securing applications, and your other special literature and calculations, equipment for successful work, I have secured the oldest writers in the country, have secured them in 2 years of experience.

To the novice in insurance your system of education is simply invaluable, while by it men are enabled to do business as quickly as writers, provided they have brains—and you almost supply the brains. To the agent, old or new, who wants to know how to secure business, I would say: "Place yourself under Mr. Cohn's instruction."

With best wishes, I am, Yours truly, C. A. COOK.

Mr. Cook solicited for the Washington Life for about 18 months, and in November, 1893, connected with my agency. He has since fully doubled his insurance ability.

NEW ORLEANS, January 20, 1894. MR. M. L. COHN, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

DEAR SIR—Replying to your favor of recent date—I cannot begin to properly estimate the value of your works upon Life Insurance.

They are a complete and thoroughly practical treatment of a scientific subject which requires as deep and constant study as any other profession. To beginners they do not understand, into an intelligent worker, capable of handling a great topic in a master's fashion.

Without your Field Worker, Quickstarts, Literature, etc., I should have become discouraged before I knew enough to realize the possibilities of the business; with them I can foresee a future dependent only on my own exertions. I can readily see wherein your productions are invaluable to the most experienced solicitors. To beginners they simply save the time and expense involved in years of Field experience.

Yours very truly, HARRISON P. HESTER.

Five months before this letter was written, Mr. Hester knew absolutely nothing of Life Insurance, his first experience dating to his connection with my agency. Before resigning his previous occupation, Mr. Hester for about three weeks devoted his evenings to a study of my works. Mr. Hester's success has been remarkable.

MORRIS, Minn., October 3, 1892. MR. M. L. COHN, ST. PAUL, MINN. FRIEND COHN—I have yours of the 1st, and appreciate your satisfaction. You find your share in the results that I have accomplished. I always say to Mrs. Wellington that when I can get a full day with you, I wish an extra hundred thousand of business. Your book is worth its weight in gold to the agent who knows how to use it. I would not do without it for $500, nor for several times $500—if I could not replace it.

You will notice that I have more than doubled my business of 1892 up to date this year, thanks to your valuable assistance. Will run in Saturday.

Yours truly, J. F. WELLINGTON.

Mr. Wellington, at the date of this letter, had been for eighteen months in the service of the New York Life, during which time he doubled his capacity as a writer and is now making a record that is hard to beat.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 3, 1893. MR. M. L. COHN, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

MY DEAR SIR—I take this method of extending to you my grateful and sincere thanks for your work "Quickstarts," and the Literature of Incalculable benefit to me in the prosecution of my business. I consider the work of a solicitor half assured when he is armed with the Arsenal you so ably provide.

It seems to me that if you would place your works on a list of recommendations and the public generally, the tendency would be to elevate the profession, and by education of the people accomplish what can not be effected by any other means. With best regards and wishes for your success, Yours truly, WM. WINTER.

Mr. Wm. Winter, formerly associated with the Penn Mutual, is now Executive Special Agent for the New York Life Insurance Co., with Headquarters at Shreveport, La. Mr. Winter has made a Record of which any Solicitor may be proud.

As much valuable time is lost in explaining the rules of this office to applicants who can not or will not furnish a Bond, I desire to emphatically state that no contracts will be entered into with solicitors, nor will my copyrighted works be supplied, unless a Bond is furnished for the prompt return of the works on written or verbal demand. Applicants must be well connected and with records that will bear close investigation.

On the other hand, I make no charge for the equipment which I furnish, and guarantee to facilitate the business of, and render invaluable assistance to, such as fulfill the conditions, whether experienced or inexperienced.
