A woman seldom hits anything she aims at, especially if she throws herself at a man's head.

Be happy. Use Red Cross Ball Blue; much better than liquid blue. Delights the laundress. All grocers.

Comparative Possession.
"I have an abstract theory."
"That's nothing. I've got a concrete cellar."

As a summer tonic there is no medicine that compares with OXIDINE. It not only builds up the system, but taken regularly, prevents malaria. Regular or Tasteless formula at Druggists.

Envious, Perhaps.
"I'm afraid our friend Scraples is a Socialist."
"No. You misjudge Scraples. What makes him sore is the fact that in spite of the high cost of living, some men manage to lead double lives."

Remarkable Financiering.
"Figures don't lie."
"Don't they? Here's an item from New York that says a policeman there saved $30,000 a month from his salary of $2,800. Those figures must lie, for they won't stand."

Where He Balked.
"She has a terrible time with her husband."
"Yes, she is driving him to drink."
"Nonsense! If she was driving him to drink things would be different; she's trying to drive him the other way."

The Cannibals Need Food.
An officer of the French colonial army brought a letter from the chief of a group of missionaries in the southern islands of the Pacific not long ago, which winds up as follows: "I regret to tell you that our little company can do little against the fanaticism of these poor wretches. Moreover, famine is ravaging the country, for the harvest has been destroyed. Therefore the dispatch of more missionaries has become urgent."—La Petite Republicque.

HIS FIRST PATIENT NOT AN INVALID

Wonderful Revelations of the Stethoscope When Placed Over Girl's Heart.

BY BELLE KANARIS MANIATES.

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

The doctor sat in his office at the sanitarium of the sulphur springs contemplating a telegram in a perplexity which lifted at the entrance of a young man with laughing brown eyes and a complexion of deep sea tan.

"Well, Fred, for once you are on hand when wanted. What brought you here?"

"I was on my way north to spend my fortnight's vacation. Missing connections, I ran up to see you."

"Just in time to make yourself useful. It is imperative that I run down to Brighton for the day. I want you to take my place here."

"Great Scott, Uncle Walter! I haven't practiced for two years—not since I went into the manufacturing business."

"Well, you haven't forgotten how to examine hearts, have you? For the next two hours that is what you must do, and fill out these slips for the attendants. I do not keep the office open in the afternoon, and there are no patients here at present requiring much medical attention. I must leave at once."

He was gone before the young doctor could expostulate further. His first caller was a young woman whose grace and beauty made him change his attitude of mind toward his uncle.

"I wish to see the doctor," she said. "I am the doctor," he replied.

"We just arrived," she explained, "and I came to see about arrangements for the baths."

He took one of the slips from the desk.

"What is your name, please?" "My name is Elinor Grayson."

When he had filled out the slip with the exception of temperature for bath, he placed the stethoscope to her heart and began to listen to the fluttering beats of that organ.

"Oh, wait! Stop!" she cried in laughing confusion, as she arose from her chair. "I am not ill—I—"

"But," he expostulated, a puzzled pucker in his brows, "didn't you come to take the baths?"

"No!" she protested. "I came with my aunt, Miss Amantha Webb, who has rheumatism."

His discomfiture was soon relieved by his boyish mirthful laugh which rang out heartily and wholesomely.

"I beg your pardon!" he apologized. "You see I expected no one but invalids, and—well, I am glad that you are not one."

"Your mistake was very natural," she acknowledged.

He was about to explain that he was only a substitute doctor when the door opened and a patient entered. Miss Grayson at once left the office.

"Bring your aunt down at any time this morning," he said, holding the door for her to pass out.

For an hour and a half, he mechanically listened to hearts and filled out slips, while his own heart beat quickly at each opening of the door in expectation of seeing again his first caller.

At 11 o'clock he closed the office and hurried to the grounds, confident that she would be out of doors. He finally found her sitting on the wooded bank of a little brook.

"My aunt is asleep," she said looking up with a charming smile. "She will come in the morning to see you."

He seated himself beside her, and from disclosure of her aunt's rheumatic tendencies, they drifted into matters of the day, and presently she discovered with astonishment that it was the luncheon hour.

He walked up to the sanitarium with her and left her at the elevator. Having determined to offer his professional services to his uncle for a fortnight, he did not inform her that he was not the regular physician.

When he went into the dining-room, he saw Miss Grayson sitting at one of the tables chatting with a man whose face seemed familiar to him. As he passed, he heard her explaining to her companion that he was the doctor. During the meal his memory succeeded in identifying the man as one with whom he had placed a large order for goods a couple of weeks before.

After dinner, he was unfortunate in not being able to get a glimpse of her, and he returned to the doctor's office from where he was summoned to the bedside of patients who were confined to their rooms with slight ailments. After this he strolled again through the grounds. When near a little vine-clad pergola, he heard her voice. In answer thereto he heard another voice saying: "No, there is only one doctor in the institution, Doctor Morgan, a kindly elderly gentleman with white hair."

Morgan reflected, in consternation, that the girl's companion at breakfast had doubtless informed her that he was manager of an automobile company, and now this person was confirming her suspicions. At this moment a bellboy came to inform him he was wanted to prescribe for a new patient.

BLUEJAY LIVES IN WOODS

Hawks, Owls and Other Birds Are Teased and Tormented by These Noisy Birds.

The bluejay likes best to live in thick woods, but it often comes into open fields, orchards and near dwellings in search of food. When it discovers you it assumes a proud and angry air of conceit and defiance.

The bluejay's upper parts are purplish-blue. The lower parts are purplish-gray. The wings and tail are bright blue with black bars. The tail feathers are tipped with white. It has a crested head.

The bluejay builds its nest about twenty feet above ground. It is made of twigs and fine roots. From four to six eggs are laid. They are of a greenish drab color flecked with brown.

Doubtless the bluejay helped to name itself, as its common utterance is a long drawn, "jay, jay, jay." This cry, with the bright blue color, has given it its name.

While the jay sings no song it is able to imitate the calls of other birds, by which means it often attracts them. It likes to tease and torment the owl and especially the little sparrow hawk. This is done by imitating the cry of a wounded bird, which draws the hawk near. Then several jays will dart at the hawk squealing and frolicking about in great glee. Sometimes the play ends in a tragedy, for the hawk pounces upon one of them, to the dismay of the others. Jays may be caged and tamed like crows and some writers say they can be taught to utter words.

HANDS ITCHED AND BURNED

Warrenton, Va.—"My little girl was troubled with eczema for three years. Her hands burned and itched and looked as if they were scalded. She could not sleep at night; I had to be up all night to keep her hands in warm water. She rubbed her hands and large white blisters came full of yellow water. Then sores came and yellow corruption formed. She could not take hold of anything with her hands. I used an ointment and tried a treatment, but nothing did her any good, so I got some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After bathing her hands with the Cuticura Soap and applying the Cuticura Ointment I was astonished to see the great relief, and Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured her hands in three weeks." (Signed) Mrs. John W. Wines, Mar. 8, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."

Everybody in Hard Luck. Suddenly he stepped up to a gentleman, who was waiting for the tram, and tapping him lightly on the shoulder, said: "Excuse me, but did you drop a five-pound note?" at the same time holding out in his hand the article.

The gentleman questioned gazed a moment at the note, assumed an anxious look, made a hasty search of his pockets, and said: "Why, so I did, and I hadn't missed it," holding out an eager hand.

The elderly hunter took the name and address of the loser and, putting the note in his pocket, turned away.

"Well," said the other, "do you want it all as a reward?"

"Oh, I did not find one," remarked the benevolent one with another beam: "but it struck me that in a big place like London there must be a quantity of money lost, and upon inquiry I found that you are the one hundred and thirty-first man who lost a five-pound note this morning."—London Answers.

Couldn't Happen to Them. Mike got a job moving some kegs of powder, and to the alarm of his foreman, was discovered smoking at his work.

"Jerusalem!" exclaimed the foreman. "Do you know what happened when a man smoked at this job some years ago? There was an explosion that blew up a dozen men."

"That couldn't happen here," returned Mike calmly.

"Why not?"

"'Cause there's only you and me," was the reply.—Everybody's Magazine.

Popular Exploration. North polar exploration had attracted the attention of adventurous and ambitious men for nearly 400 years before Peary reached the top of the world. Search for the south pole has always proved less attractive, and only during the last 140 years have explorers turned their attention toward the globe recently reached by Amundsen.

Diplomacy. "Mrs. Jinks always has such a good time when she goes anywhere. How does she manage to convey the impression she is a widow?"

"She always makes an allusion to her tardy husband, as 'my late husband.'"

Appropriate. "That angling friend of yours certainly has a fitting physique."

"In what way?"

"I noticed he has fishy eyes and a decided catch in his voice."

A great majority of summer illnesses are due to malaria in suppressed form. Lassitude and headaches are but two symptoms. OXIDINE eradicates the malaria germ and tones up the entire system.

Easy. "I put the wrong couples together at that dinner and I don't know what to do about my mistake."

"Why, re-pair them."

People who build castles in the air are never sure of their ground.

The World's Wheat Crop. Statistics from abroad recently compiled give the comparative production of the world's wheat crop as follows: United States, 200; Russia, 194; France, 98; British India, 77; Italy, 52; Hungary, 34; etc. As to the yield per acre of territory, the order is quite different, this being: Great Britain, 21; Germany, 19; France, 14; Austria, 13; Canada, 12.4, etc. The United States occupies the ninth place with a figure of 9.2.

RELIEF.

The Editor—Well, there's hardly any chance of our going to war with Japan.

The Reporter—I'm glad of that. I never could spell those Japanese names.

A Word to the Wise. The proverbial advice, "Cobbler, stick to your last," had an apposite exemplification in the following anecdote, for which Zion's Advocate is responsible:

A colored man was brought before a police judge, charged with stealing chickens. He pleaded guilty, and received sentence, when the judge asked how it was managed to let those chickens right under the window of their owner's house when there was a dog in the yard.

"Hit wouldn't be of no use, Judge," said the culprit, "to try to 'splain dis thing to you all. Ef you was to try it, like as not you would git yer hide full o' shot, an' git no chickens, neither. Ef you want to engage in any rascality, judge, yo' bettah stick to de bench, whar yo' am familiar."

Sparrow Sets House Ablaze. An English sparrow was the cause of three houses catching fire at Lawrenceburg, Ind., recently, and had it not been for the prompt work of the neighbors and friends all would have been destroyed. The sparrow was building a nest under the eaves of the home of Mrs. Mary Webber, and it picked up a long cotton string from a pile of rubbish that had just been burned. With the burning string in its beak, the sparrow flew to the roof of Mrs. Sophia Shafer's house, then to Otto McCright's house and then to the roof of Emanuel Wuest's home, where it dropped the burning string. A fire started in the shingles of each building. Each was extinguished by neighbors before much damage was done.

Orphanages in Turkey. There are 22 orphanages in the Turkish empire, conducted by Americans, enrolling 3,000 inmates. In connection with these orphanages an industrial work has sprung up which gives employment to over 10,000 people in addition to the orphans. The work is largely done by the widows and orphans and includes rug and lace-making, various forms of embroidery, and other domestic work. The product of these institutions finds a market abroad.

Opening Up Lhasa. Lhasa, which is the capital of Tibet, for generations was known as the Forbidden City, because of its political and religious exclusiveness. In 1904 a British armed expedition opened the mysterious old city. Previous to that time practically every European traveler had been stopped in his efforts to reach the place. The population in Lhasa is about 35,000.

Important to Mothers. Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher. In Use For Over 30 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria.

Its Class. "I don't like this chicken-raising for a man to go into."

"Why not?"

"It's such a hen-pecking kind of business."

Sounds So. "How oddly that man cleaning the machinery talks."

"How do you mean?"

"I heard him telling his helper to save the waste."

The woman who cares for a clean, wholesome mouth, and sweet breath, will find Paxtine Antiseptic a joy forever. At druggists, 25c a box or sent postpaid on receipt of price by The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass.

The Natural Inference. "While out motoring the other day, I ran across an old friend of mine."

"Was he much hurt?"

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind-colic, etc. a bottle.

More often it is the man who gets justice that kicks.

Ten smiles for a nickel. Always buy Red Cross Ball Blue, have beautiful clear white clothes.

Never trust your secrets to the mails or the females, either.

One way to become popular is to let other people impose on you.

To prevent malaria is far better than to cure it. In malarial countries take a dose of OXIDINE regularly once each week and save yourself from chills and fever and other malarial troubles.

Some people spend their lives in trying to acquire money to spend.

MAST TREES FOR THE CROWN

Mark of the Broad Arrow Was Placed on Pines in Plymouth Colony.

In the provincial charter of 1691, under which the Plymouth colony and the province of Maine were united with Massachusetts, it was provided that all trees of the diameter of 24 inches and upward at 12 inches from the ground, growing upon land not heretofore granted to any private person, should be reserved to the crown for the furnishing of masts for the royal navy. Harper's Weekly observes:

A surveyor general of woods was appointed to see that this provision of the charter was carried into effect. Near the coast all white pines of suitable dimensions were marked with the "broad arrow"—three cuts through the bark with an ax, like the track of a crow. This was the king's mark.

Long after the revolution had obliterated the royal authority men who had been taught in boyhood to respect the king's mark hesitated to cut such trees.

In felling a tree it was necessary to "bed it" to prevent its breaking. This was done by cutting the small growth and placing small trees across the hollow, so that there should be no strain upon one section more than upon another when the monster pine struck ground.

The mast was hauled out of the woods on one strong sled, whether in winter or summer, and so many oxen were required that the hind pair were often choked in crossing a hollow, being hung up in their yoke by the pulling of those ahead of them.

A mast hauling was a great event, and everybody within walking distance came to see it.

PUTTING HIM WISE.

He—I'd kiss you if I had the sand. She—There's sand all about us. Help yourself.

Cold Blooded and Death Dealing CHILLS. Cheatham's Chill Tonic is the only medicine which has entirely cured me of chills. After spending a great deal of money for several years to get cured, I bought and used your Cheatham's Chill Tonic which cured me and also two of my children. I recommend it to all as the best Chill Tonic I ever saw, says Mr. T. J. House of Bulcher, Texas. Guaranteed to cure malaria or price promptly refunded. All dealers sell it in 50c bottles. Mfd. by A. B. Richards Medicine Company, Sherman, Texas.

Too Much of a Good Thing. "I was very happy," said the professor, "when, after years of wooing, she finally said 'Yes.'"

"But why did you break the engagement so soon after?" asked his friend.

"Man, it was she that dissolved it."

"Really?" said his friend. "How did that happen?"

"It was due to my accused absent-mindedness. When, a few days later, I called at her home, I again asked her to marry me."

A Diagnosis. "What's the matter with your husband, Mrs. Mixey?"

"The doctor says he's got a bad attack of ammonia."

"Then I guess it's apt to be fatal, for it's bound to take his breath."

Regular practicing physicians recommend and prescribe OXIDINE for malaria, because it is a proven remedy by years of experience. Keep a bottle in the medicine chest and administer at first sign of Chills and Fever.

After Dark. "Honest as the day is long, eh?"

"Absolutely. But you'd better keep your chicken coop locked."

As a summer tonic there is no medicine that quite compares with OXIDINE. It not only builds up the system, but taken regularly, prevents malaria. Regular or Tasteless formula at Druggists.

And many a girl who starts out with the intention of making a name for herself winds up by turning the job over to some man.

CRITICAL TIME OF WOMAN'S LIFE

From 40 to 50 Years of Age. How It May Be Passed in Safety.

Odd, Va.—"I am enjoying better health than I have for 20 years, and I believe I can safely say now that I am a well woman. I was reared on a farm and had all kinds of heavy work to do which caused the troubles that came on me later. For five years during the change of life I was not able to lift a pail of water. I had hemorrhages which would last for weeks and I was not able to sit up in bed. I suffered a great deal with my back and was so nervous I could scarcely sleep at night, and I did not do any housework for three years."

"Now I can do as much work as any woman of my age in the county, thanks to the benefit I have received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I recommend your remedies to all suffering women."—Mrs. MARTHA L. HOLLOWAY, Odd, Va.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. We know of no other medicine which has such a record of success as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for woman's ills.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.
